IMPROVED CAVALIER COAL

Cavalier Coal has individuality. In all sizes it satisfies those who like big blocky coals because even the smaller sizes burn long and steady, without constant watching. Leaves only a little bit of ash. You'll like this different coal.

Chemacol Processed COAL

Chemacol Processing really does improve coal. Makes it dustless for one thing. But, more than that, it causes the gases in the coal to unite with oxygen at a lower temperature and burn with a fiercer, more intense heat. Also prevents most of these gases being wasted as soot and smoke.

JACKSON FARMER HAS MARE WITH TWIN MULE COLTS

Jackson.—Missouri and Texas aren't the only states in the Union where mule colts are raised—they are to be seen on many farms in Minnesota. But it's seldom that twin mules are born, and even more unusual that they live for any length of time. A mare with twin colts, both in fine condition, is owned by Ernest Thompson, Jackson county farmer, who resides in Petersburg township. The mules are about two and a half months old, and are sound in every respect. There isn't a single doubt but that they will grow up some day to do plenty of work on the Thompson farm. But Thompson will be lucky if he can figure out some way to be able to tell which is the "gee" mule and which the "haw" when he comes to hitch them up to the plow!

Oldest Suit of Armor

The oldest suit of armor in the world—dating back to about 600 B. C. is exhibited by the Royal Ontario Museum of Archeology at Toronto. The priceless treasure is the gift of a British collector. Discovered in Lake Trasimene, central Italy, 50 years ago, the suit is made of small bronzed scales, overlapping. It is form-fitting and of great strength.

Larson Funeral Home is Again Admitted to Order of Golden Rule

"Over in China" says Carl Larson of the Larson Funeral Home, "families don white to show they are in mourning. In Mexico, street cars are often used instead of funeral cars and automobiles. Instead of throwing themselves on the funeral pyres of their husbands, widows in India now shave their heads, and become menials in the households of their mothers-in-law. I wonder how American women would take to that idea!"

Mr. Larson, who has just received notification that he has been accepted for the sixth year as the local member of the Order of the Golden Rule, went on to explain that the Order has, in its executive offices, a vast amount of material touching upon the funeral customs of different nations.

"You see", he said, "there are members of the Order in Great Britain, France, Australia, China, India, Africa, Canada and the United States. It is interesting to observe how greatly funeral customs vary, and, to me, it is an amazing thing that funeral directors, in all these different countries, should be members of an organization which started here in the United States, merely for the purpose of making it easy for Americans, in nearly any community, to select a reliable funeral director capable of rendering modern service at a moderate price.

"Now the traveler in distant countries will find displayed the same familiar symbol which we have used for the last five years; the knight and shield, with the motto 'Service Measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule'.

"That motto seems to appeal in any language, and in any land, no matter what the burial customs of that country may be."

Cleanliness is Chief Guard Against Boils, Medical Group States

Among the classic afflictions of mankind, boils, since the time of Job, have seemed to most of their victims like a visitation of the supernatural.

Sometimes they come in a series which defies treatment, according to a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today.

In those cases, however, the victim may generally hope for eventual relief because the body automatically produces its own immunity after awhile and throws off the infection.

A number of treatments are available, and some of them prove quite effective, to cure this most painful malady according to the bulletin. They all begin with very careful personal hygiene, with daily baths and changes of clothing and avoidance of anything that might irritate the skin.

Boils or "furunculosis" are the result of a skin infection and anything that helps to keep the offending organism from transference from one surface of the body to another will help to limit the boils.

X-ray has been found to be very helpful to heal them quickly and to raise resistance against the infection. It is used most effectively in connection with surgical opening of the boil when the doctor judges that the proper time for opening it has come.

Opening of the boil is an operation which should be done only under aseptic conditions by an expert, however, and never attempted by any but a physician. Serious infection and spreading of the organism that is the cause of the trouble are all too likely to follow.

Good personal hygiene to keep the skin clean and free from irritations and friction; also, of course, general good health to maintain a high resistance to all kinds of infections are the only known protection against boils.

FINDS BIG TARANTULA IN BANANA SHIPMENT

Bronson.—Unpacking a crate of bananas, a large tarantula hopped out on the floor before John Vik, Bronson grocer. After a hard chase it was finally cornered and captured by Vik, who placed it in a glass jar of alcohol and now has it on display. This playful little creature, about five inches long, covered with hair and equipped with an unbelievable number of legs, is known as one of the most poisonous spiders of the south and evidently made its home in the fruit shipment, since it was packed for transportation up north.

The Ginkgo Tree

Although the Ginkgo tree is claimed as a native of China, because the first trees came to Europe and later to America in a roundabout way from that country, it has never been observed growing wild. Fossil remains of this tree have been found on more than one continent. Therefore it is assumed that it once occupied a wide range of territory.

Edible Clams and Mussels

Fresh water forms are quite different from the edible clams and mussels from the sea, but they have been used at times for human food. Shell-mounds left in various parts of this country show that fresh-water mussels were common in the diet of the prehistoric people.

Capital News Review
By A. I. Harris

The Division of Women and Children, State Industrial Commission, reports that during the month of September approximately 100 major violations of various labor laws relating to the employment of women and minors were found by the investigators. Of these violations 10 were for paying minors less than the minimum wage, 40 for working women in excess of the legal maximum of 54 hours, or failure to keep required records of working hours, 2 were for illegal employment of minors under 18 years in beer parlors, and 30 represented failure to comply with state sanitation regulations.

Food for hot lunches in rural schools during the winter months was assured with the announcement by L. P. Zimmerman, SERA administrator, that the surplus commodities division will be ready to function within about 60 days.

Already 3,216,000 pounds of canned meat and 420,000 pounds of California prunes have been allotted to Minnesota for distribution and buyers are in the New York, Chicago and San Francisco commodity markets contracting for supplies of dairy products which are expected to be available in 30 or 60 days.

Both food and raw materials will be distributed to relief clients by the SERA surplus commodities division under the same general plan as followed out last winter. More than 278,400 pounds of evaporated milk have been allotted to Minnesota for November.

Mr. Zimmerman urged counties to apply for sewing projects stating that the SERA now has on hand 200,000 yards of material for dresses and a large amount of cotton and wool for comforters.

The food for hot lunches will be distributed to schools and other accredited agencies requesting them Mr. Zimmerman explained.

Now and then there appears some newspaper comment indicating that a few persons still think the only function of the state drivers license bureau is to issue licenses. Actually, the issuing of a drivers license is only the beginning. In fact the issuance of a license in itself means nothing to the cause of public safety unless it is followed by constant checking of the accident record of every driver and the suspension or revocation of licenses where such action is indicated under the law. Even this, of course, would fail of effect except for the cooperation of local police officers and sheriffs in enforcing the act of the license bureau. Safety groups everywhere are urging rigid enforcement of standard drivers license laws as one means of controlling the reckless drivers who every day spatter our highways with the blood of innocent men, women and children.

In line with its "quality" egg program for 1935, the state Department of Agriculture has available interpretations of the egg law. In short, the laws provide that every buyer of uncandled eggs must have an egg buying license conspicuously posted in quarters adequate for candling and grading eggs. In addition, candling certificates shall be placed in and on each case of eggs. All eggs must be candled and graded and a return statement made to the farmer showing the number of ones and twos in the lot. All cold storage eggs must be labeled as such. It is estimated by Lou Broderick of the agriculture department that if Minnesota could command a cent a dozen premium on its eggs it would mean a boost in farm income of more than a million dollars annually.

In matters of peace and social welfare, the Scandinavian countries lead the world. Because Minnesota is perhaps the most advanced of the United States in social thinking and because it is the chosen state of Norwegian immigrants, the visit of Wilhelm Morgenstierne, Norwegian minister to this country, to Minnesota on Leif Ericson day was doubly significant. Mr. Morgenstierne declared that not only do the United States and Norway "have the same colors in their flags, but also the same ideals in their hearts." Further, he said, "never before has democracy had to face a more serious crisis than it faces today. The very meaning, the foundation, of democracy—the right and the duty of the majority of any nation to shape the destinies of that nation—is being challenged." Apparently, Mr. Morgenstierne is well aware of the fascist threat in America."

The Minnesota State Fire Prevention association is attempting to make young students conscious of the fire peril. In line with its educational program it is offering 15 cash prizes for the best essays on fire prevention written by Junior High School students and freshmen in high schools. The first prize will be $25, the second, $20; the third, $15; the fourth, $10; the fifth, $5 and ten prizes of $2.50 each. The topic is: "What I can Do to Prevent Fires." The essay must be confined to 200 words, written in ink or typewritten on one side of the paper. To date hundreds of essays of high quality have been received. All schools have been notified.

Farm fires can be laid to six causes, according to Dewey Johnson, state fire marshal. In order of their importance they are: Lightning, chimney and defective heating apparatus, matches and smoking, spontaneous ignition, gasoline and kerosene, electricity. These fire hazards, Mr. Johnson said, are easily eliminated by protective equipment and by reasonable caution. In particular, he advises that all farm buildings be safe guarded by lightning devices. Wire fences should be grounded to protect human beings and live stock.

Using Lots of Straw for Bedding is Profitable

What to do with surplus straw is a big problem on many farms. Some farmers burn straw; others do not believe this is wise. S. B. Cleland, farm management specialist of the agricultural extension service, University Farm, St. Paul, recommends that farms having surplus straw use it very liberally as bedding for livestock, thereby getting as much of it as possible mixed with the manure.

Such a plan not only gets rid of a lot of straw, but keeps the livestock more comfortable. Moreover, it provides for getting the straw back on the land, when the manure is spread, thereby returning considerable humus and some fertility to replace that removed by the grain crop. Another great advantage of this liberal use of bedding is that it helps save the very valuable animal manure, especially through soaking up the liquids which which are especially rich in nitrogen and phosphorus.

This suggestion is highly endorsed by livestock husbandman and by Geo. H. Nesom, extension soils specialist, who says another good way to convert straw into manure is to allow livestock to run to the stack. In this way a large amount of straw will be trampled underfoot and mixed with manure from the animals.

Growing With Your Child

Do Children Need to Play?
By the Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

"What difference does it make whether they need to play or not? They're going to play, anyway!"

That is the attitude expressed by a good many people who don't stop to think that anything as universal and all-satisfying as play must have some more meaning than is casually assigned to it. Even today, when children's needs are a great deal better understood than they've ever, been before, there are few enough people who see in play its real significance. To interrupt a child who is "just playing" is a common thing, even tho the interruption may be entirely unnecessary.

Why do children need to play? Well, first of all, they need to play in order that they may grow, both mentally and physically. Most of us would agree that children need exercise if bones and muscles are to develop as they should, but many of us haven't thought of there being any connection between play and brain development. A recently described case makes this connection clear. A boy had his hands swathed while he was still an infant, owing to a skin condition which encouraged his scratching himself. Later on he contracted the thumb-sucking habit and his hands were again wrapped so that his use of them was severely restricted. Up to the age of six his hands were always covered at night, and tied, spread out above his head. When he was seen at this time his mental development was so retarded that it was at first supposed that he was inherently very dull. But when put into a normal situation, and allowed the full use of his hands, he progressed so fast as to make it obvious that his supposedly permanent retardation was the result solely of his crippling environment.

This is of course an unusual case, but the same type of occurence is going on all the time, in a less noticeable way: the baby who is not allowed to move about freely, and who talks late; or the blind baby who does not learn to use his hands because he cannot see what other people are doing.

A second reason why children need to play is that play encourages the use of imagination, initiative, and self-reliance. Imagination, if not harnessed to activity, may lead into a world without solid foundations; hence the desirability of letting children test out their play ideas that otherwise might continue to drift hazily in their heads. The child who has the opportunity to try things out for himself will develop a practical self-criticism that will be of use to him always. No matter how original his ideas may be, how many possible solutions to a problem he may think of, it's the working out of the bright ideas that is valuable. Whether a child is making a sailboat, building a tower of blocks or devising a costume for a puppet, he must translate his ideas into actualities before he can judge as to their value.

Self-reliance comes only from doing for oneself. It can't possibly be built up by having things done for one. The child who is allowed a sufficient amount of freedom in which to revel in the play activities natural to his age is developing habits of planning his own affairs and relying on his own abilities that will be mighty useful to him later on in connection with his work. If on the other hand, he has some one constantly hovering over him, suggesting that he may fall, that this is dangerous, and if he does that he'll get his clothes dirtied, the attitude he is going to feel toward this tyrant who is always interfering may hang over into adult life, and a chip-on-the-shoulder attitude toward his boss be the lamentable result.

Last of all, play, when other children are included, becomes a child's best possible training in how to get along with people—one of the things most necessary to his success in life.

IMPROVED

CAVALIER COAL

Cavalier Coal has individuality. In all sizes it satisfies those who like big blocky coals because even the smaller sizes burn long and steady, without constant watching. Leaves only a little bit of ash. You'll like this different coal.

Chemacol Processing really does improve coal. Makes it dustless for one thing. But, more than that, it causes the gases in the coal to unite with oxygen at a lower temperature and burn with a fiercer, more intense heat. Also prevents most of these gases being wasted as soot and smoke.

JACKSON FARMER HAS MARE WITH TWIN MULE COLTS

Jackson.—Missouri and Texas aren't the only states in the Union where mule colts are raised—they are to be seen on many farms in Minnesota. But it's seldom that twin mules are born, and even more unusual that they live for any length of time. A mare with twin colts, both in fine condition, is owned by Ernest Thompson, Jackson county farmer, who resides in Petersburg township. The mules are about two and a half months old, and are sound in every respect. There isn't a single doubt but that they will grow up some day to do plenty of work on the Thompson farm. But Thompson will be lucky if he can figure out some way to be able to tell which is the "gee" mule and which the "haw" when he comes to hitch them up to the plow!

Oldest Suit of Armor

The oldest suit of armor in the world—dating back to about 600 B. C. is exhibited by the Royal Ontario Museum of Archeology at Toronto. The priceless treasure is the gift of a British collector. Discovered in Lake Trasimene, central Italy, 50 years ago, the suit is made of small bronzed scales, overlapping. It is form-fitting and of great strength.

Larson Funeral Home is Again Admitted to Order of Golden Rule

"Over in China" says Carl Larson of the Larson Funeral Home, "families don white to show they are in mourning. In Mexico, street cars are often used instead of funeral cars and automobiles. Instead of throwing themselves on the funeral pyres of their husbands, widows in India now shave their heads, and become menials in the households of their mothers-in-law. I wonder how American women would take to that idea?"

Mr. Larson, who has just received notification that he has been accepted for the sixth year as the local member of the Order of the Golden Rule, went on to explain that the Order has, in its executive offices, a vast amount of material touching upon the funeral customs of different nations.

"You see", he said, "there are members of the Order in Great Britain, France, Australia, China, India, Africa, Canada and the United States. It is interesting to observe how greatly funeral customs vary, and, to me, it is an amazing thing that funeral directors, in all these different countries, should be members of an organization which started here in the United States, merely for the purpose of making it easy for Americans, in nearly any community, to select a reliable funeral director capable of rendering modern service at a moderate price.

"Now the traveler in distant countries will find displayed the same familiar symbol which we have used for the last five years; the knight and shield, with the motto 'Service Measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule'.

"That motto seems to appeal in any language, and in any land, no matter what the burial customs of that country may be."

Cleanliness is Chief Guard Against Boils, Medical Group States

Among the classic afflictions of mankind, boils, since the time of Job, have seemed to most of their victims like a visitation of the supernatural.

Sometimes they come in a series which defies treatment, according to a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today.

In those cases, however, the victim may generally hope for eventual relief because the body automatically produces its own immunity after awhile and throws off the infection.

A number of treatments are available, and some of them prove quite effective, to cure this most painful malady according to the bulletin. They all begin with very careful personal hygiene, with daily baths and changes of clothing and avoidance of anything that might irritate the skin.

Boils or "furunculosis" are the result of a skin infection and anything that helps to keep the offending organism from transference from one surface of the body to another will help to limit the boils.

X-ray has been found to be very helpful to heal them quickly and to raise resistance against the infection. It is used most effectively in connection with surgical opening of the boil when the doctor judges that the proper time for opening it has come.

Opening of the boil is an operation which should be done only under aseptic conditions by an expert, however, and never attempted by any but a physician. Serious infection and spreading of the organism that is the cause of the trouble are all too likely to follow.

Good personal hygiene to keep the skin clean and free from irritations and friction; also, of course, general good health to maintain a high resistance to all kinds of infections are the only known protection against boils.

FINDS BIG TARANTULA IN BANANA SHIPMENT

Bronson.—Unpacking a crate of bananas, a large tarantula hopped out on the floor before John Vik, Bronson grocer. After a hard chase it was finally cornered and captured by Vik, who placed it in a glass jar of alcohol and now has it on display. This playful little creature, about five inches long, covered with hair and equipped with an unbelievable number of legs, is known as one of the most poisonous spiders of the south and evidently made its home in the fruit shipment, since it was packed for transportation up north.

The Ginkgo Tree

Although the Ginkgo tree is claimed as a native of China, because the first trees came to Europe and later to America in a roundabout way from that country, it has never been observed growing wild. Fossil remains of this tree have been found on more than one continent. Therefore it is assumed that it once occupied a wide range of territory.

Edible Clams and Mussels

Fresh water forms are quite different from the edible clams and mussels from the sea, but they have been used at times for human food. Shell-mounds left in various parts of this country show that fresh-water mussels were common in the diet of the prehistoric people.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

There is no recession in building activity around town and apparently the hammers and saws and concrete mixers are going to be kept going as long as the weather permits outside work.

Two elections are out of the way but the main bout is still ahead of us. Candidates for the various city offices to be filled November 5 are entering the field and by the time the clerk's office closes Saturday there probably will be competition for each job. Several of the present office holders are already in the race. Mayor Frank Rinkel, appointed to the office several months ago, now seeks election and during the next two weeks will undergo his baptism of fire as a politician. Fortunately for those directly involved, the city election means only a short campaign. It will soon be out and over and then, let us hope, we will be through with elections for a while and can settle down to the regular routine again—that is until next Spring when the big 1936 presidential campaign will get under way.

Postmaster Andy Anderson denies that the dry victory in Pennington County indicates a drift away from Roosevelt.

Ted Christianson spoke a kindly word for "rugged individualism" in his talk at the Auditorium Saturday. For several years some of the "ruggedest" individuals Minnesota has ever produced have been saying mean things about the very quality that has made them outstanding. It is "rugged individualism" that makes men great in any field of endeavor, be it politics, business, science or religion. It is to men who have possessed this quality that our country owes its greatness and it is high time that its desirability be defended.

Teachers and teachers of teachers are assembled in Thief River Falls this week to attend and take part in the program of the Northern Minnesota Education Association. Of course the city is glad to have this opportunity to play host to such an organization but the principal satisfaction derived locally from the meeting is the opportunity it provides to hear a group of distinguished speakers. Several of those on the program are men of national reputation. Their appearance here naturally becomes a big event in the life of a little town.

Four queens is generally recognized as a hand that can't be helped a great deal and it is our off-hand opinion that it would be difficult to improve on the four queens who won the popularity contest conducted by the Junior Civic & Commerce Association. It was a nice draw.

No one disputes the fact that the benefits to be derived from the social security legislation now under consideration are highly desirable. The objections of those who oppose such legislation are based on the fear that the costs will be too great. In various forms of insurance and savings many individuals now provide their own security against sickness and old age. The amount of security they provide for themselves depends upon two things, their ability to pay the cost and their willingness to sacrifice present pleasures. And in buying collective security the problem is pretty much the same. It isn't a question of how much security we would like to have but rather how much we are able and willing to pay for. It must be paid for and we, the masses of the people, will pay for it. Those who labor in the fields and in the factories will be the principal beneficiaries of any system of collective security but they too will carry the greater part of the burden of cost. Perhaps it is unfortunate that this is true but it is true nevertheless. Wish thinkers and demogogues might tell us that each man, woman and child in the country should have two automobiles. And it would be possible to provide each person with two automobiles but in order to do it we all would have to work a little harder and save a little more. And so it is with any other thing that we would like to have, including a regular pay check whether we work or not. Someone, some place, somehow, must labor that much harder and save that much more if that pay check is to have value. And until the rules of simple arithmetic are changed that sad fact will continue to be true.

Somehow or other it is difficult to associate the idea of a circus with frosty weather but that's the way they do things nowadays and we really are going to have a circus in town next month—animals, clowns, the man on the flying trapeze, pink lemonade and everything else that goes to make a circus what it is. And the auditorium, which has served many purposes in the past, will be an excellent substitute for the "big top" in November.

We would get more thrills out of the horrors of the Ethiopian war if the names weren't so hard to pronounce.

It really is a toss-up as to which group is most elated over the result of the vote Monday, the extreme drys or the extreme wets. Up to the present time there has been no demand for a recount from our neighbors down in Red Lake county.

Now that we have a fine bridge and a beautiful approach to the bridge, all we need is a road leading to the approach. This will come sooner or later of course but if it doesn't come sooner than the end of Uncle Sam's spending orgy it might be an awfully lot later. It would be tough if we had to wait for the rest of the road until we had another Democratic postmaster.

"SUCCESS EASIER THAN FAILURE"

I do not write for readers who expect to become president of the United States or as rich as John D. Rockefeller. Either luck or peculiar genius is required for such achievement.

I write for people of modest ambition. I can tell them how to be comfortable, if not distinguished; how to enjoy the respect of their friends and neighbors, if not the applause of the nation.

Many years ago E. W. Howe, the Kansas sage, wrote a small book which he called "Success Easier than Failure." The theme of the book was that nobody can go to the devil without a good deal of determination. The man who lives beyond his income and fails to pay his bills is hounded by creditors. The man who drinks too much suffers from a sour stomach and an aching head. The man who gambles faces humiliation of possible bankruptcy. The glutton bears the pain of indigestion. The thriftless father becomes dependent in old age.

Nature seems to do her best to keep us moving in the proper paths. She makes it easy, pleasant, and stimulating to succeed. She makes it hard, unpleasant, and humiliating to fail.

Do not accuse me of writing bunk. Forget the success that is measured in millions of dollars and high position. Think of success in modest terms.

My barber, for example, followed the plain rules of success. He practiced his trade for fifty years, owned a small shop, reared a family, acquired a home, and banked enough money to support him in his late years. Throughout his life he enjoyed the respect of his customers and neighbors. He was denied no reasonable desire.

Upon retirement, the old barber offered his shop to an assistant for a small sum on terms that could easily be met from earnings. It was an opportunity for an independent livelihood for life. The assistant accepted the offer and became proprietor.

Nothing exceptional was required for success. The new proprietor knew the trade and was liked. He merely had to attend to business. Success was easier than failure, but the young man was determined to fail.

He slept late. He spent his surplus earnings. He got into debt and gambled. His worries led to indifference. In less than a year he lost the shop.

What a lesson in concrete application!

These are days of sober thinking, days when the copy-book maxims are again being recognized as wisdom. Those who sneered at hard work, thrift, temperance and dependability are wondering what is wrong. This is the time to tell them because they are willing to listen.

Good times will not be long delayed. All of us will soon be back at work. Let us adjust ourselves to realities, and pursue the easiest course to happiness. This means doing our job well, saving a little money, behaving ourselves, and reaping the inevitable reward.

STATES SHOULD NOT SURRENDER

(Calvin Coolidge)

While we ought to glory in the union and remember that it is the source from which the states derive their chief title to fame, we must also recognize that the national administration is not and cannot be adjusted to the needs of local government. It is too far away to be informed of local needs, too inaccessible to be responsive to local conditions. The states should not be induced by coercion or by favor to surrender the management of their own affairs.

No method of procedure has ever been devised by which liberty could be divorced from local self-government. No plan of centralization has ever been adopted which did not result in bureaucracy, tyranny, inflexibility, reaction and decline. Of all forms of government, those administered by bureaus are about the least satisfactory to an enlightened and progressive people. . . Unless bureaucracy is resisted it breaks down representative government and overwhelms democracy.

MR. FARLEY POINTS WITH PRIDE

(Minneapolis Tribune)

It is not often that a New Dealer refers to the Democratic platform of 1932, but for Postmaster General Farley that delicate subject which is so circumspectly avoided within his party holds no terrors whatsoever. The chairman of the Democratic national committee, as a matter of fact, not only refuses to ignore that neglected document, but even goes out of his way to cast fond and prideful glances at it. The other day, for example, Mr. Farley said:

"At the famous 100-day session of congress practically every plank of the platform was written into legislation. Never had a party so faithfully fulfilled its promises."

To say that this assertion ranks as news is to put the case mildly. President Roosevelt has never claimed a faithful fulfillment of that platform's promises, and so far as we know, no member of the seventy-fourth congress has had the temerity to do so. Yet Mr. Farley makes the claim, and never bats an eyelash. So far as he is concerned, apparently, the federal budget has been balanced, the costs of the federal government reduced 25 per cent, and the waste and inefficiency incident to a growing bureaucracy abolished. Looking about him at the scores of new bureaus and commissions the New Deal has created, at the more than 150,000 new jobholders who have been added to the federal pay rolls, and at the national debt which has been increased by billions of dollars since March, 1933, Mr. Farley can still take pride in the faithful fulfillment of his party's promises.

This is, we submit, a most amazing phenomenon. We are almost convinced by it, as a matter of fact, that Mr. Farley either never read the Democratic platform, or that he was speaking, on that particular day, with all his fingers crossed.

No other conclusion is possible than that the administration at Washington is an irresponsible, spending government, its spending conducted by those who have no knowledge of how wealth is produced, and perhaps care less. No living man knows the contingent liabilities of the Federal Government. There is a real fear as to the security of our government and our people. Whenever a government has continued to spend more than it has taken in it has destroyed in whole or in part its currency. This brings pain and poverty, and the great middle class is crucified.—Lewis W. Douglas, Former Director of the Budget.

Topics of the Times

By N. A. H.

Given two days of vacation, the school youngsters are convinced that the teachers convention is a worthwhile institution.

Statistics reveal that every tenth family in Minnesota bought a new car this year. And the other 90 per cent are wishing they may be able to do it next year.

It will have to be a drawerless federal bureau if one is set up to regulate the nudists.

That program in the Auditorium Saturday afternoon received stiff competition from the radio broadcast of the Minnesota-Nebraska football game.

Words that go together—palatial and yacht.

The next question is whether the ducks have remained up north here patiently waiting for the opening of the hunting season.

The government seems to be having trouble filling the CCC camps. It may be necessary to raise the boys' pay.

In view of its season-opening proclivities, the state conservation commission might better be called the exploitation commission.

Speaking of that young girl who chased John Barrymore around the country, Billy Noonan truly says she deserves a big hand—and where it will smart good and plenty.

Cream Test Should be Approximately 35 Pct. Says U Farm Dairy Man

Dairy farmers frequently ask what per cent of fat should be contained in the cream delivered to the creamery? Prof. W. B. Combs of the dairy division, University Farm, St. Paul, says this has but one answer—that cream testing between 35 and 40 per cent is the most desirable from an all-around economical standpoint.

"The test of cream sold is a problem of vital interest to the farmer," Mr. Combs continues. "When the farmer sells thin cream or one testing around 25 per cent fat, he practically gives away many of the valuable food constituents of milk which are contained in skimmilk. One should think of cream as containing fat and skimmilk. Every 100 pounds of skimmilk given away in cream is like giving away so much valuable food from the farm. It has been shown that 100 pounds of skimmilk is equivalent in feed value to about one-half bushel of corn. Thus, if a bushel of corn is worth 50 cents, skimmilk is worth 25 cents per 100 pounds and should be kept on the farm and fed to livestock such as poultry, hogs and calves.

"A thin cream requires more equipment and more handling per pound of fat than does a heavy, thick cream. This directly affects the cost of manufacturing butter and eventually reflects on the price of butterfat. Every producer of cream should make an effort to regulate his separator to produce a cream testing near 35 per cent butterfat. This type of cream possesses higher keeping qualities, requires less space or fewer cans in transportation, results in a larger proportion of skimmilk remaining on the farm, and can be handled much more economically in the manufacturing plant.

"Everyone concerned loses money when the farmer produces and delivers to the creamery a thin or low-testing cream," declares Mr. Combs.

MONGREL DOG KEEPS LONELY VIGIL FOR MASTER'S RETURN

Brainerd.—The picture of a dog's undying devotion to his master may be seen in life form on the steps of St. Joseph's hospital at Brainerd. Not yet full grown, a sad-eyed, pathetic looking shepherd guards the hospital entrance day and night, anxiously stirring whenever someone goes in or comes out. For three weeks he has remained at the post of duty. No amount of coaxing or persuasion will move him. Since he won't budge, doctors and nurses have taken pity on him. They urge him to eat, but his sacred duty comes first. After 21 days, waiting for the return of a master or mistress who may not return, who may have left the hospital through another door, or who may still be receiving treatments inside "Old Faithful" grows lonelier and more dour looking, hourly—and waits, and waits and waits.

MOTHER BEAR EATS CUB CAUGHT IN STEEL TRAP

Roseau.—A mother bear and her two cubs have been the object of an armed search and a great deal of excitement in Clearriver. The bears have been making inroads on sheep in the neighborhood, and farmers thereabouts decided that it was time to make rugs out of them. The bears, however, took refuge in a dense brush tangle, from which they were not to be routed. Traps at last proved the undoing of the two cubs, but the mother bear is still at large. A strange incident is reliably reported regarding one of the trapped cubs. The mother bear, finding her young one in the trap, liberated it by tearing off its leg at the shoulder. Then, probably unnaturally stirred by the sight and smell of blood, the mother bear carried the cub a short distance, ate part of it, and buried the remains under the leaves.

News of 10 Years Ago

From the Times of Oct. 22, 1925

As a result of frequent rains in past months, it is necessary to operate the Diesel engines in the municipal power plant only a short time during the heavy evening load, Superintendent Ole Legvold reported. —The Woman's club launched a project to raise funds for a swimming pool in the city.—C. D. Gustafson is representing the Minnesota Implement Dealers association at a national convention of dealers in Chicago.—O. A. Naplin was in Crookston Tuesday to attend a Farmer-Labor conference. —The local creamery paid a top price of 51 cents a pound for butterfat in September.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed in this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

It was a happy, young, strong man, full of hope and enthusiasm who together with his young wife and infant daughter, last May set sail for dark Congo Africa, expecting there to spend his strength in his Master's service as a missionary. I shall not soon forget the expression on brother Fritzell's face as he spoke of his missionary opportunities in Africa and the day he was to leave for that field.

Little did I realize, that five months after his departure from this country, I should pick up the daily paper to find Rev. Fritzell's picture on the front page together with the announcement of his death in the jungles of Africa. The family had but been on the field three weeks when Rev. Fritzell was called to his reward leaving a lonely wife and helpless daughter behind.

Rev. Fritzell was the pastor of the local Baptist Church in 1931 and 1932. During that time he made many friends in this city. I am sure we would like to have paid tribute to our friend, but distance made it impossible for us to attend his funeral and in that manner show our sympathy to his dear wife and daughter, who are now left in dark, heathen Africa without a husband and father to whom they can look for protection and help. What better could a friend do under such circumstances, than to send a few dollars in cash to help and encourage the bereaved ones in their loneliness in that strange country?

Our Sunday school is sending their birthday offering to Mrs. Fritzell next Tuesday, and anyone wishing to add to this fund, may leave their donations to the undersigned, and your name and the amount you give will be sent to Mrs. Fritzell with the gift. Let every Christian pray God to direct you in this matter, and then give as he may put it in your heart to give, that there may be a blessing in the giving as well as in the gift.

Sincerely, V. T. Bjorklund,

Stones in Washington Monument

There is a general impression that the Washington monument has been constructed of the finest stones from all the states, but this is not true. One hundred seventy-nine stones have been contributed by cities, counties and states and a few foreign countries, but the bulk of the monument is constructed of New England granite surfaced with Maryland marble. The upper 60 feet of the monument is marble.—Literary Digest.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

The most significant statement made at the Joe Wolf love feast at Long Prairie was made by Mr. Wolf himself when he declared that President Roosevelt "is going to have a tough fight". This frank confession agrees with a statewide sentiment that in Minnesota 1936 is going to be a Republican year. Thirteen months before the election the political pot in Minnesota boils as it seldom has that far in advance. Republicans who would not lift a finger a year ago are today burning with party zeal and vigorously demanding a place in the sun. All these signs and admissions are significant.

Mike Holm, Secretary of State, last week attended meetings at Des Moines, Iowa and at Springfield, Illinois in his capacity of registrar of motor vehicles. He was accompanied by his first assistant, J. P. Bengtson. The meetings were sectional and national and designed to secure uniformity and improvement in motor vehicle laws and the administration of motor vehicle departments.

While movements of this kind work slowly and much more inconspicuously than the ballyhoo of politicans, they also work more surely and more effectively.

It is quite possible that Mike Holm gave more than he received at these meetings. Not only does his administration of the Minnesota motor vehicle department hold the blue ribbon for economy in the United States, but it leads all in service and efficiency. The Minnesota department is the only one in the country that affords motor car owners a day and night information service; the only one that pushes delinquent tax collections and has complete transfer, dealer and nonresident permit records. While rendering these and other noteworthy services the Minnesota department nevertheless issues license plates more economically than does any other state.

The Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research has made a search for sources of tax revenue which might be used instead of the sales tax. The Institute's report indicates what will happen if the attempt is made to up income tax rates to a point never before known in this country. One study made by the Institute estimates a tax yield of $13,900,000 or somewhat less than the amount expected to be secured from the sales tax proposed in the omnibus tax bill last winter. This estimate would hit the man of small and moderate income as follows:

Tax on $1,000 net income, state $30, federal $40 —total $70.
Tax on $2,000 net income, state $100, federal $80—total $180.
Tax on $4,000 net income, state $360, federal $160—total $520.
Tax on $6,000 net income, state $780, federal $320—total $1,100.
Tax on $8,000 net income, state $1,260, federal $600—total $1,860.
Tax on $10,000 net income, state $2,100, federal $700—total $2,800.

It is evident that the man of small income would pay heavily, and peculiarly, he would pay the state far more than he now pays the federal government on an income tax only slightly less than the World War taxes.

The estimate of yield is on the basis of the present state yield, but it is the experience of history that the law of increasing rates and diminishing returns would largely reduce the actual yield.

Another study made by the Institute, just about as nauseous to take, is a filing fee tax, a soothing term for a head tax which, if applied to every state resident of legal age, is estimated to raise not more than $3,075,000.

The Minnesota state highway department, suffering from many and grievous knocks and blows, has one staunch friend. It's the maker of signs. Signs multiply on the state highways in geometrical ratio. A curious motorist counted; found 40 signs within one mile, and found 100 within five miles.

They still have blood in their eye at Virginia. On the streets of that fair city, known far and wide as the "Queen City of the Iron Range", it is gospel that City Attorney Luke Burns, militant Farmer Laborite and super-militant booster of his home town as the one and only proper site for Minnesota's proposed new hospital for the insane, has struck a hard and fast bargain with President Roosevelt, or even more to the point, with Harry Hopkins, whereby not a cent of federal funds will ever go to the hospital at Moose Lake, but abundant streams of magic federal money will flow when and if Virginia is chosen.

They are cocksure on the street at Virginia, also, that the doughty Lunke, backed by a fiercely aggressive public sentiment, and conniving with Attorney General Harry Peterson, is going to knock out, lock, stock and barrel, Chapter 683, Laws of 1935, being the hospital site commission act, and plump the whole mess down in the lap of the next state Legislature.

Two trial balloons, sent up by a worried game and fish department, which sorely needs money for the faithful who are game wardens, have plopped miserably after hardly getting off the ground.

First it was hinted that an open season for big game might be necessary owing to the scarcity of feed threatening deer with starvation, but it seems that deer this year are plump and sleek as they naturally ought to be after a season of rains and rank vegetation, so that one wouldn't work. Next it was suggested that rabbits are scarce this year compelling wolves to hunt the deer; ergo, it is mysteriously necessary to declare an emergency and have an open season. "Turn the hunters, as well as the wolves, loose on the deer," commented State Auditor Stafford King.

The game and fish fund war chest of game wardens, was down to $89,208 on October 7th.

TAKE IT FROM AN OLD HIGHWAY ENGINEER
CONCRETE Costs less!

"YOU may be surprised but concrete is the cheapest pavement money can buy. Costs less to build than any other pavement of equal load capacity. Far less for surface maintenance. Consider too, that concrete saves you money in car operation. Yes, sir, wherever the road will carry 100 vehicles a day or more, vote for concrete. You'll be money ahead."

You pay for the maintenance. The federal government supplies large sums for highway construction but Uncle Sam requires that the State of Minnesota maintain these highways. That's why it's important to build concrete roads. Their upkeep won't eat up all future highway funds.

TWO MEN GET BOUNTIES FOR RUNNING OVER WOLVES

Pine City—Two Minnesota men were the very happy recipients of $15 each, in separate parts of the state last week, thru very little fault of their own. Each man had the fortune to win a race between the car he was driving and a wolf, to the tune of a state bounty of $15 for the hide. Near Pine City, Billy Mista, clerk of the district court, speeded up his car when he thought he saw a jackrabbit or a dog some distance ahead. The wolf was going like the "mill tails of Gehenna", but Bill's car was going faster and soon overtook the wolf, ran over it, and knocked it for a goal. The county auditor paid a $15 bounty. Near Long Prairie, within an hour or two of the Pine City incident, Anton Buelow, of Birthdale, ran over a young wolf and killed it. Buelow did not know at first what he struck, believing it to be a fox rather than a young wolf. Todd county pays $2.50 in addition to the state bounty of $15, so Buelow collected $17.50.

CONTRACTS TO BE SIGNED NEXT WEEK BY WHEAT RAISERS

County Agent Lists Series of Meetings Starting October 21

Commencing on Monday, October 21st, wheat growers in Pennington County will have an opportunity of signing applications for a new wheat allotment contract. The following sign-up days have been scheduled in this county:

Oct. 21, county agent's office, Thief River Falls, for North twp.

Oct. 22, county agent's office, for Silverton, Smiley, Kratka and Cloverleaf twps.

Oct. 23, county agent's office for Rocksbury, Sanders.

Oct. 24, St. Hilaire creamery for River Falls and Black River twps.

Oct. 25, St. Hilaire creamery, for Bray and Polk Centre.

Sign-up will be continued for some time and everyone interested is encouraged to make out an application.

The last contract has been very favorable according to County Agent R. M. Douglass, for the price of wheat is up and the carry-over in the United States nearly down to normal. Every producer should come into this voluntary program to obtain a parity price for wheat.

This year rye will be handled through this association the same as the wheat and for those producers of rye in this county, this program should be of interest. The contracts are not in the county to date but as soon as they are received every rye grower will be notified and he can make out an application if he desires to do so.

The state conservation commission Thursday voted three to two against a proposal for a short 1935 deer hunting season in Minnesota. The body declared no "emergency" exists to warrant opening the season, even for a brief period. Voting for a short season were Commissioners Richard R. Bailey of Virginia and Dr. D. F. Ederer.

Heavy Influx of Meats From Foreign Countries Hurts Domestic Market

Heavy importations of foreign meats and meat products constitutes one of the most unhealthy conditions existing in the present market on livestock in this country, states the livestock market bulletin issue by the Central Co-Operative Association, a livestock selling agency at South St. Paul which is owned and controlled by livestock producers of the Northwest.

Since our markets began to reflect the abbreviated supply of meat animals in higher prices foreign countries have been eager to sell their meats and meat products on our markets. Consequently there has been a steady increase in shipments to this country, and from the latest reports, there seems to be no signs of abatement in this unfavorable trend.

During August this year, foreign imports of meats and meat products were the largest for August since 1930 when tariff rates on imported meats were elevated to a level which was deemed prohibitive to large importations. In spite of the tariff rates, our markets have been attractive to foreign countries and as a consequence, our domestic markets have been handicapped with added competition of large quantities of beef, pork, tallow, poultry and other meat products.

During the first eight months of this year 258,062,877 lbs. of foreign meats and meat products were dumped on our markets, compared with only 28,961,799 lbs. during the corresponding period in 1934. In other words there were more than eight times as much imported as a year ago, or the increase amounted to 790 per cent.

WATERFOWL AND PHEASANT SEASON OPEN AT WEEK-END

Conservation Commission Announces Opening of Hunting Period

Hunting enthusiasts of this vicinity are marking time until the opening of three game bird seasons in the state during the current month. Open seasons for the taking of ringnecked pheasants, migratory waterfowl and bob-white quail are included in the offering of the state division of state division of game and fish to outdoor enthusiasts who enjoy getting out in fields and woods and on lakes and streams seeking elusive small game.

In 74 of the 87 counties of the state it will become legal to take ringnecked pheasants starting at noon Saturday, October 19.

The annual open season on migratory waterfowl will commence Monday, October 21, and will continue until Tuesday, November 19, with shooting daily from 7:00 o'clock A. M. until 4:00 o'clock p. m., except on the opening day when 12:00 o'clock noon is the designated starting time.

Monday noon, October 28, is the time set for the opening of the legal season on bob-white quail in 13 counties.

In Houston, Fillmore, Mower, Freeborn, Winona, Olmsted, Dodge, Steele, Waseca, Wabasha, Kanabec, Pine, Carlton, Crow Wing, Cass, Hubbard, Clearwater, Becker, Mahnomen, Clay, Norman, Polk and Red Lake counties, where the ringnecked pheasant season closes at sunset Sunday, October 27, the bag limit is three male birds in any one day with six male birds in possession at any one time.

A daily bag limit of ten migratory waterfowl in the aggregate of all kinds, of which not more than four shall be geese or brant, has been established. The possession limit is the same.

The taking of wood duck, ruddy duck, bufflehead duck, swan and greater and lesser yellowlegs is prohibited this season.

A Federal stamp costing $1 is required for the shooting of migratory waterfowl. Before hunting waterfowl, the hunter must validate his stamp by writing his signature in ink across the face of the stamp.

Hunting of upland game birds—ringnecked pheasants and bob white quail—is limited to afternoons only from 12:00 o'clock noon until sunset each day during the open season. Migratory waterfowl may be taken only from 7:00 o'clock A. M. to 4:00 o'clock P. M., except on the opening day when shooting may start at 12:00 o'clock noon.

400 Motorists Lose Drivers Licenses in Three Months Period

Four hundred Minnesota motorists were penalized for serious driving offenses in the past three months by the suspension or revocation of their drivers licenses, according to a Highway department announcement. Loss of license followed convictions for driving while drunk, careless driving, leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving, driving without the permission of an owner and other charges.

The offending drivers lost the privilege of operating a motor car for periods ranging from 30 days to indefinite revocation. In the latter case, the license can be restored only by court action, and not sooner than one year from date of revocation.

As licenses are suspended or revoked, the names and addresses of the drivers are supplied police departments, sheriffs and the state highway patrol, whose duty it is to see that the law against driving without a license is enforced.

PIONEER OF RIVER FALLS COMMUNITY ENDS LIFE FRIDAY

Washington Adams Had Been Resident of Community Since 1879

Washington Adams, the first settler in what is now River Falls township, ended his life Friday by hanging himself in a fit of despondency in his homestead cabin on his farm south of St. Hilaire where he had established his home with Mrs. Adams in 1879. He was 84 years old.

Mr. Adams was born in Ohio in 1851, coming as a boy with his parents to Kandiyohi county where he spent his early years. He was married in 1875 in Willmar to Rachel Sorsdiel, who preceded him in death in 1933. A foster daughter, Mrs. Rupert Nelson, died in 1929.

Rev. E. A. Cooke officiated at the funeral rites, which were conducted Monday afternoon at the Methodist church in St. Hilaire. Interment was in the cemetery east of that village.

TAX REFORM WILL BE SESSION ISSUE, LEGISLATOR SAYS

Need System of Expenditure Control, Rep. Severtson Declares

That tax reform will be one of the leading issues in the coming special session of the Minnesota Legislature was predicted today by Representative S. Theodore Severtson, of Fillmore County, a member of the tax committee of the House.

"At the last session a great deal was said on the subject of taxation. Numerous studies were made, but when the end came the big problem still remained. And yet, I feel that considerable progress had been made because all this study and interest will be a good starting point for the next session," Representative Severtson said in a talk in Minneapolis today.

"In the last session, I was one of the sponsors of the expenditure control should be the foundation upon which all other tax reform legislation should be built," he stated.

"It is a safe starting point because it will guide us in avoiding many of the pitfalls of the past; because it will give us control of the tax situation. If we raise new revenue, or in the work of equalizing taxes, expenditure control will also have the effect of holding levies down, and of keeping bond issues within limits that will not be responsible for bankrupting taxpayers," Severtson pointed out.

"This expenditure control bill has the support of such organizations as the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, and of the county taxpayers' associations thruout the state, as well as thousands of unselfish citizens in the ranks, who hope to see the legislature get at the bottom of the tax trouble. To reach that trouble we must institute legislation that will give some measure of reasonable control to the people who will be called upon to pay all the costs, that is the taxpayer. That is why we need to start, first of all, with the problem of controlling taxes that have up to now gone completely out of control," Representative Severtson stated.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Early Day Local Institutions

The second installment of the article on Thief River Falls in the Soo Line book written in 1905 deals with the Creamery which is described as one of the finest in the state. The account reads:

"The main building is 26x70 with engine room 16x14, and an ice house 24x26. The main building is furnished with a large storeroom upstairs and the whole building finished in first-class shape.

"The machinery consists of 10-horse power White's gasoline engine and small boiler for heating water. One large Disbrow combined churn and worker, two 300-gallon Farrington cream ripener vats, one Ideal Babcock tester, one Sanitary milk vat, one 80-gallon weigh can, milk scales, butter printer, sanitary milk pump, water vats, buttermilk vats and a large number of cream carrying cans; one large 3000 pound capacity milk separator, one Ideal milk heater, and all other necessary fixtures that go to the making up of a first-class creamery. There is also a large cold storage room for the butter. The creamery is located on the bank of the river, making the drainage the very best.

"There are, in connection with the creamery here, three well-equipped skimming stations, consisting of a 5-horse power White gasoline engine, 3000 pound capacity milk separator, milk vats, milk heaters, saintary milk pump, water vats, small boiler and all other necessary fixtures. The buildings are 18x24, all finished in good shape. There are also nine small cream stations in connection with the creamery here. They are scattered throughout the country in the most convenient places.

"The present management of the creamery are deserving of a great deal of credit for the push and energy they have put into the business here. They are working to make it a lasting benefit to the farmers and the farmers are beginning to appreciate the work being done and are planning to give it their hearty support and patronage. There is nothing that adds more to the country and the prosperity of the towns than a good creamery, well patronized by the farmers.

"We understand that the management is thinking some of making this a co-operative creamery. This is a step in the right direction and the farmers and business men should take hold and help to make it a success. Stock will be sold on time at a low rate of interest, thus giving the farmer a chance to be a partner in the business and profits without any of the hardships usually had in starting a co-operative concern.

"Farmers, lend a hand; grasp the opportunity and all work in unity.

"The Hanson & Barzen Milling Co. have, during the past year, erected one of the largest and best flour mills in northern Minnesota, and equipped it with the most modern and up-to-date machinery, which runs continually night and day, summer and winter, manufacturing flour which is shipped all over this section. Their leading brand, "Viro," has become a household word and a household necessity in nearly every home in this section.

"The city has two cement brick plants, which have been taxed to their fullest capacity during the summer, furnishing cement blocks for the numerous buildings that are being erected. There has been at least ten large cement business buildings erected during this year, and next year will see as many more.

"The people of the city are disposed to encourage the location of more factories in their midst. In the past they have been handicapped on account of railroad facilities, but the advent of the "Soo" removes the handicap. Located as they are on the "Soo" main line from the Twin Cities to Winnipeg, and also being the terminal point of the line they are building west to Kenmare, N. D., which, in conjunction with the Great Northern that is extending its line north from here, gives the city railroads in all directions and makes it one of the best shipping points in this entire section. This is not the only inducement for the location of factories; they have something besides this to offer, and that is cheap power. Few, if any city, in the northwest, can boast of a better water power than Thief River Falls.

PROWLERS WIN FROM CROOKSTON 13-0 ON FRIDAY

Milt Nesse and Hill Star In Prowler Victory Over Crookston

The football fans that came down from Crookston last Friday received quite a jolt when the Prowlers emerged victorious by a score of 13-0 over the Crookston Pirates.

Crookston kicked off to the locals and right there they started a march down the field which the Pirates could not stop until the locals had gained five consecutive first downs. But it seemed that Lady Luck was with Crookston during the first half because every time the Prowlers would get deep in the Pirate's territory the ball would go to Crookston either on downs or a fumble. They then punted out of danger. The first half ended in a scoreless tie with Crookston continually punting.

In the third quarter the locals again went deep into Pirate territory. This time they got a first down one yard from the goal. The right side of the line then opened a hole and Hill ran over for the first touchdown. The ball failed to go between the posts on the try for point, and the score stood at 6-0 in favor of the Prowlers.

Once again in the fourth quarter the locals went to the one yard line. This time the touchdown was made on a pass to Hill from M. Nesse who was entirely open. Atkins kicked the goal making the final score of 13-0.

Even though it was Hill who made the touchdowns, Milt Nesse was the one who gained the most yardage and did most of the ball carrying. He also intercepted two passes. Mickleson made a nice play when he recovered a punt blocked by M. Nesse putting the ball in scoring territory for the second touchdown.

Crookston punted eleven times to the Prowler's four and made four first downs to the Prowler's sixteen. Most of the fumbling, however, was with the locals.

RALLY-WHO

The object of this column is to put Everybody on the "carpet". If you don't like it, tell us about it and we'll surely dig up some dirt about you to print.

Seems as though Gordon H. has become quite increasingly fond of the football star with the railroad map on his face. No luck to you. You belong with the freshmen.

All the football boys must have had instructions last Friday, or were the Pirates just lazy?

If the freshmen girls would expel some of their pep on the football field instead of in the gym and disturbing the whole school it would be to much better avail.

NORTHERN M. E. A. TO CONVENE HERE

Thief River Falls to be Host to 700 Teachers

The 1935 convention of the Northern Minnesota Education Association is being held Thursday and Friday of this week, October 17 and 18.

There will be six programs including one each morning, afternoon, and evening. All the meetings will be held in the auditorium except the session on Friday morning which will be held in the high school.

Some of the outstanding features are the following: an address on "Personal Adequacy" by Lloyd C. Douglas, author of "Magnificent Obsession"; Arthur Kallet presenting a lecture on "The Great American Guinea Pig"; an address by George E. Sokolsky on "Social Justice and the American System"; an address by Lotus D. Coffman, President of the University of Minnesota, and a concert by the Little Philharmonic Orchestra.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

As the Englishman would say, "Topping old parade we had on Friday, eh what? Jolly day, too, wasn't it?" And we gave Crookston a swell beating too, just to prove our parade meant something. Everybody see the honorable scar a certain junior boy was decorated with? (Football isn't all in vain, huh?) Saturday night gatherings at a certain senior girl's home are eagerly looked forward to by a certain few who are waiting for the first snow to fall so they may fully appreciate the fireplace. What junior boy has been going around with a stiff neck the past week? (What have you been craning your neck for, J. A.?) It couldn't be M. A. could it? What [illegible] junior basketball star is returning school this week? Welcome home again, Eric. What romance between the past grad boy and pep girl is holding the record for length at the present time? (Aint love grand?) What senior girl is missing a football junior boy as a result of football? (But she doesn't miss him half as much as he misses her.) What's this we hear about a certain senior girl? Somebody's jokes are getting stale. How is the swell boner pulled in one of Coach Lee's classes? Some up-and-coming senior wrote the following in an exam: "One man's meat is another man's vegetables."

ETIQUETTE

Most of us seem to leave our manners outside the door when we enter the school building. School is one of the best places to practice [illegible] because there we are [illegible] under the observation of [illegible] teachers and students.

STUDENTS ARE ADDRESSED BY LEGION LEADER

Harold N. Rogers Speaks to Lincoln Students Thursday

The Lincoln High School student body was addressed on Thursday afternoon by Harold N. Rogers of Minneapolis, State Commander of the American Legion. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Claffy.

A great believer in children, Mr. Rogers testifies that association with young people is a way by which you may be kept young. The two essential things in a high school boy or girl are character and scholarship. Character is a matter of conscience (if you have or have not one) and the ability to say "no" when the rest of the gang says "yes". Scholarship is not merely a matter of marks for every person has not the same intellectual capacity but it means doing the very best possible for you.

Mr. Rogers ended his speech by telling each student to keep a certain amount of optimism and cheerfulness. This he did by relating a story of a negro going to Memphis who stopped three times at intervals of about an hour-and-a-half to ask how much farther he had to go. Receiving the same answer each time, he decided that it was all right anyway because he wasn't losing any ground.

All of the students were grateful to Mr. Rogers for his very inspiring talk.

MEET THE PROWLERS

James Peterson—162 pounds, 5 feet 10 inches, junior guard. "Pete" is a newcomer to Prowler football. He played last year at Belle Plaine where he held down a tackle position and made a letter. This year he has played both tackle and end as well as guard and now he plays offensive guard and defensive fullback. He has played all games so far this season except at East Grand Forks where he was kept out by an injury. The left guard position is now being hotly contested for by Peterson, Gibson, and Ade Lorentson, who is out at present with a broken rib.

Walter Gibson—128 pounds, five feet six inches, senior guard. "Gib" is a senior playing his first season of football. In spite of his miniature stature he is one of the strongest defensive players the Prowlers have. His size enables him to slip through small openings in the offensive line and to get through for his hard, sure tackles.

Loren Stadum—142 pounds, six feet one inch, freshman end. "Honey" is the only first year man who has had a chance to see action this year and he has shown up well in those chances. His great height enables him to snag passes when surrounded by opposing players. With a year of experience behind him he will undoubtedly be one of the outstanding players next year.

Harley Kelly—140 pounds, five feet nine inches, junior back. "Bud" is playing his first year on the team. Besides his back position he has played left guard and may be shifted there at any time. Recently "Bud" had the hard luck of injuring his ankle and this will keep him out of football this year, but he is expected to come back strong next year.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Next week Miss Leavitt will have library lessons for the freshmen who are new to our school. They will go to the library in their vacant periods.

The District Meeting of Parents and Teachers was held in Detroit Lakes on October 17-19. Mrs. Gaston Ward of this city was a delegate.

NO BLUE PRINT

"He says he is a self made man." "I don't doubt that he did the [illegible] work, but the plans and specifications were made by a [illegible]."

CLASS SUPPORT

Class dues! Clashes due!! And clashes do begin when class dues are in order. Some pay willingly and promptly; some, willingly but slowly; some, slowly but unwillingly; some don't.

Why do we pay class dues? Why go to great efforts to get a sizeable surplus in the treasury?

In economics we learn that the purpose of the government is to do for the members of society what the members cannot do as individuals. And that is the reason we have a class organization.

In order to be effective, the government must levy taxes. We call them class dues.

What benefit is derived from having a class treasury with paid-up dues? How does the individual benefit from paying his or her class dues?

Beginning at the ultimate end of all class dues, we have a Prowler. It is common knowledge that putting out a Prowler is not profitable enterprise. But the classes all want a Prowler—and so class dues.

Between the beginning and the end, we have the other things which make high school enjoyable. The parade last Thursday nipped a hole in the treasury of three classes. Every class must sponsor a masquerade and a prom at considerable expense.

Then there are the little things such as flowers for sick or injured members of the class.

But, first and last, (and in between) the Prowler is the primary object of class dues. The others fall in line, after considering our annual.

Support your class, whether you are a freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior! It pays!

PROWLERS MEET WARREN FRIDAY

Injuries Will Keep Kelly and Lorentson From Line

At three-thirty Friday afternoon the Prowlers meet their traditional rivals from Warren High School. Although the Prowlers are favored over the light inexperienced team from Warren, the game should turn out to be a battle. Last season the Prowlers won twelve to zero in a hard fought game over a team they were expected to beat by a much larger score. This season the visitors may spring another surprise.

The Prowlers have been followed by that master jinx "Old Man Injury" for the last two weeks. Neither Lorentson nor Kelly will play this game. Lorentson may be ready but will probably be saved to be in top-notch condition for Bemidji. Kelly is out for the season with a fractured ankle. The scramble for the left guard position is still on between Gibson and Peterson and it is not yet certain who will start. Besides one of these two Coach Lee will probably start Jung, Atkins, Hetland, Hudderford, Mickleson, Al Nelson, Hill, M. and J. Nesse and Art Nelson.

ALUMNI NEWS

A reading was given by Dorothy Fowler, Oct. 6th in the Norwegian Danish Methodist Church. The church is on Fourteenth Street, San Francisco, and was given for their Rally Sunday Service.

Another interesting item received here by her friends was that she attended the wedding of Elsie Ann Heald, niece of former President Hoover, and Arnold Greenvold, which was held at Stanford Memorial Church on Friday, September 13. Dorothy also attended the reception which followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Heald at 6-8 Webster Street, Palo Alto. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover attended the ceremony, but could not remain for the reception as Mr. Hoover was due at Los Angeles for a talk.

Melvin Wedul, who graduated in 1932 from Lincoln High School and who now attends Moorhead State Teachers' College, was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting held Tuesday night, October eighth. This is a high honor as the Y. M. C. is an association of world wide renown. The students of Lincoln High School extend hearty congratulations and best wishes to its fortunate and deserving alumnus.

PARADE FEATURED PRIOR TO GAME WITH CROOKSTON

Student Body Parade Thru Town Before Crookston Game

On Friday, the eleventh, a pep parade was held instead of the usual pep fest before the football game between the Crookston Pirates and the Prowlers.

The pep band followed by the rooter king, Bob Wessling, with his two assistants, Edna Lee and Lois Engen, lead the procession. Next came the pep squad followed by the junior class contribution, the hamburger wagon, with Ernest Cole as chief cook. The sophomore class was represented in the parade by a stretcher with Roy Lee playing the part of the Pirate. The freshmen came next with their numerous signs. A goat and clown were also part of their display. Following this came the senior class hearse with its six grave diggers, the four pallbearers, and the eight mourners. Last but not least came the student body. This parade was about two blocks in length.

The band played a few selections at LaBree and Second Street. At the corner of Third Street and Main Avenue the cheer leaders lead the students in a few yells. After giving these yells, Mr. Orwoll led the parade to the football field where everyone became interested in the game.

GYM GEMS

How many of us do our daily dozens? Whether you do regularly or not, you gals in gym will from now on. The first ten minutes of each gym period will be spent in exercising to correct the defects in each girl's posture.

SOPHS DEFEAT FRESHMEN 19-0

Initiation Game Played Monday Afternoon After School

In what appeared, in the first quarter, as though it would be a 50 to 0 walk-away, the sophomore football heroes defeated the freshman 19 to 0. The more experienced sophomores started their march to victory early in the first quarter. "Babe" Nesse, on the fourth play of the game, spun over right tackle for the first counter. They failed to convert so the score remained 6-0. After the kick-off they immediately started another drive which was climaxed by Roger Wessling's touchdown on a reverse around left end. They again failed to add the extra point after two penalties and the first quarter ended 12-0. The second quarter was uneventful, the sophomores having lost their pep and drive of the first quarter.

The second half was much slower, neither team really showing much of what it takes, probably because of the lack of good reserves. The sophomores counted their final touchdown in the third period as Wessling again crossed the goal line and "Babe" Nesse plunged over for the extra point. The fourth quarter featured the freshmen as "Pug" Lund filled the air with passes in such a way as to keep the sophomores on the defensive. The freshmen were unable to do anything but keep the sophomores from scoring. "Babe" Nesse very fittingly closed the game with a long end run almost breaking into the clear for a touchdown.

For the freshmen Lund and the smaller Stadum were outstanding in the back-field while Snelling played a good defense game. Among the sophomore backs Wessling, "Babe" Nesse, and Haugh-um were consistent ground gainers. The ends and center played good defensive ball. The final tally was as follows: sophomores, 19; freshmen, 0. The sophomores are now to be given a party by the freshmen.

NIGHT PEP FEST WILL FEATURE BEMIDJI CONTEST

First Night Rally Will be Held on Lincoln Baseball Field

Due to the success of the parade before the Crookston football game, the pep squad, pep committee, and Progress staff are already making plans for the bigger and better pep fest before the Bemidji game Saturday, October 26. In former years, night pep fests have been held with great success. By this method, the entire student body would be requested to assemble at high school at seven o'clock. Torches of poles with rags tied around them and dipped in oil will be made by a committee composed of the following: Robert Wessling, Malcolm Magnuson, Francis Engle, Gordon Neset, Marjorie Matheson, Ariel Reidy, and Brunell Erickson. Another committee consisting of the following: Ariel Reidy, Audrey Anderson, Herbert Schroeder, Leonard Helquist, and Marjorie Matheson, have collected firewood of all sorts for a bonfire on the baseball diamond after the parade. A pep band will furnish the music, and the pep squad will perform.

As this sort of thing is new to the present student body, their cooperation is absolutely essential to insure the success of the pep fest. Such organization as the band, pep squad, and cheer leaders are doing their best to help it along and if the student body will cooperate in every way, it may be the beginning of a new type of pep fest.

The full order of the parade will be as follows: First the drum major and pep band. Then the pep squad. Finally the classes: senior, junior, sophomore, and freshmen in order mentioned.

The parade will start from school, march down First Street to LaBree, up LaBree to Third St., over Third St. to Main, down Main to First and back to school for the bonfire and pep fest. Yells will be led between Main and LaBree on Third Street. At the pep fest at the baseball diamond behind the high school there will be pep talks and music by the band.

Remember all the classes are to be assembled at high school at seven o'clock and the parade will start promptly at seven thirty. To make your class outstanding every one of you must be present.

Malcolm Magnuson has just announced that we are exchanging school papers with the Crookston and Warren high schools. We also receive the Concordia College paper each week. These papers will be kept in the library for you to read at any convenient time.

DRIVE TO PROVIDE JOBS GOES AHEAD, CHRISTGAU SAYS

Authorizes Work to Begin on WPA Project at Sanatorium

Victor Christgau, state works progress administrator, said this week the drive to provide jobs immediately for unemployed will proceed according to schedule. Minnesota's quota of the 3,500,000 persons on relief rolls in the United States which the federal government hopes to employ by November 1 is 71,000. It is estimated that federal agencies other than WPA will absorb at present 17,700 of this number, leaving a total of 53,300 to be employed on WPA projects. Whether or not the goal is reached is contingent now upon how fast funds are released by the comptroller general's office in Washington.

Sufficient WPA work up through this week had been authorized for the assignment to jobs of 19,310 workers. Of this number 3,984 will be put to work on 62 new projects authorized this week for the nine WPA districts in the state.

Mr. Christgau also announced that applications for WPA administrative positions no longer are being accepted by either the St. Paul headquarters or district offices. The administrative staff is complete, he said, and the announcement was made to save both individuals and the personnel offices from interviews for jobs not available.

The 62 projects on which work was authorized this week to begin as soon as materials and equipment are secured, by counties and towns, include one from Pennington county:

Thief River Falls—repairs and new construction at tubercular sanitorium, federal $5,608, sponsor $2,588.

State Asks for Bids on $240,000 Highway Jobs

Bids on highway jobs totaling approximately $240,000 have been called for October 25 by the Minnesota Highway department. This is in addition to a $600,000 letting previously announced for the same date. Four grading and 3 graveling jobs and 8 railway crossing automobile flasher signal installations are in the new call for bids. Work will be in Beltrami, Carlton, Clay, Dakota, Faribault, Grant, Isanti, Kandiyohi, Mille Lacs, Le Sueur, Scott and Wilkin counties.

Also present at the luncheon meeting in the Lincoln hotel were a number of Red Lake Falls businessmen, who assembled to hear an address by John DeWild of the trade extension division of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association. H. C. Swanson presided over the meeting. Among those present were A. E. Mattson and N. A. Holen of the Times.

Willard Yonke Makes Good Record in State Ton Litter Event

Four-H boys and girls enrolled in poultry, fat lambs, fat barrow and baby beef projects exhibited their animals at the annual achievement day at the fair ground Saturday.

The turnout was not as large this year as usual probably because of the good prices of poultry as many of the boys and girls had sold their poultry before this time and many of the lambs had already been sent to market.

The following boys and girls won in the different classes and will receive free trips to the Junior Livestock Show to be held in South St. Paul in November:

John Norman, St. Hilaire club, turkeys; Jeanette Treit, Northfield club, chickens; Leo Jensen, Highlanding club, fat lamb; Roy Jensen, Highlanding club, fat lambs; Gerald Yonke, River Falls club, fat lamb; Stanley Rothman, River Falls club, baby beef; and Willard Yonke, River Falls club, fat barrow.

Willard Yonke was also enrolled in the statewide ton litter contest. He had an exceptionally fine litter of 13 pigs which when weighed up on October 4th, weighed 3155 lgs., an average of 242.7 lbs. each on the 181st day.

Hubert Huff, potato winner, will exhibit his potatoes at the Winter Shows at Crookston and will receive a junior short course trip next spring.

Minnesota's October CCC Camp Quota Fixed to Total 3,200 Boys

Minnesota's state tax levy for 1935 and collectible next year will be less than 14 mills and may approximate 13.60 mills, it was estimated Monday by Matt Desmond, deputy state auditor. Certification of the state tax rate to county auditors is not required this year until November 15, by reason of a law passed by the 1935 legislature, postponing date of certification from October 1 as in previous years. State officials said that the state levy must be higher than the 11.05 of last year because of greatly reduced real estate and personal property valuations and new requirements for state funds.

PUBLIC ASKED TO ATTEND THURSDAY PROGRAMS AT U

Residents of Minnesota who are in Minneapolis on a Thursday and find time on their hands at 11:30 a. m. are invited to attend a convocation meeting in the University of Minnesota auditorium. Distinguished speakers from many fields, art, literature, politics, economics, travelers and the like, are chosen as speakers. The meetings are open to the public without charge. The auditorium is at the center of the campus, easily reached from the Washington avenue side.

GRYGLA

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Barstad of Goodridge visited with friends and relatives in town Wednesday.

Edith Engelbert who has been acting as chief chef at the Linn Cafe has severed her connections and will shortly leave for Minneapolis where she will be employed.

Another of those enjoyable coffee parties will be held in "Big Grass" this Sunday. The A. B. Anderson family will entertain and extend to all a cordial invitation to attend. —Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Peterson and Miss Adelaide, accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Brown went to Thief River Tuesday. Miss Adelaide gave a piano recital which was much enjoyed by those in attendance. —Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Sheldrew and Miss Jacobson spent last Friday at Grand Forks, N. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Erickson and P. J. Levang with Sidney Fladeland as chauffeur, made a business trip to Warren last Monday. —Machinery has now been installed and the first churning of butter was completed in the new building this week. Needless to say the building, outside and inside, presents a very neat and attractive appearance and some contrast to the old structure alongside of it. Bids are called for the old creamery which when sold will be torn down and moved.

Palmer Fonnest severed his employment at Groven's and this week began the operations of the new cream station. This station is located in a new building just south of Linn's cafe. Ole Hylland has been employed to fill Palmer's place at the pool hall.

While on the road to Thief River Falls the other day Harry Farmer had the misfortune to take his new Oldsmobile for a "roll". Travelling at a fair rate of speed one of the rear tires blew out and before the car could be stopped it rolled completely over. Sofus Bjertness and Hans Rud were passengers. Sofus had the misfortune of breaking his nose and minor bruises while Hans has been reclining for a few days at the hospital with some busted ribs. The body on the car suffered badly, so bad in fact that Harry is now the owner of a new Pontiac.

While Time marches on, so does the progress in the village and this week the Walle cafe is undergoing transformation. The building as is, will be moved back on the lot and then a new structure will take its place next to the sidewalk.

Card of Thanks

I sincerely wish to thank all my good friends for the loyal support and the votes I received during the contest sponsored by the Junior Civic and Commerce Association of Thief River Falls.

—Gertrude Engelbert.

ODD BEET GROWTH

Chaska.—A cow beet which literally tied itself into a knot last summer, was produced by James Welter, Chaska. The plant was found on the Welter farm, northeast of the town. An eighteen-inch root of the beet had tied itself into a perfect knot, growing into a loop, and then passing through it again. The beet is on display in a Chaska office window.

It takes mild ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette.

During the year ending June 30, 1900, the Government collected from cigarette taxes $3,969,191

For the year ending June 30, 1934, the same taxes were $350,299,442 an increase of 8725%

Cigarettes give a lot of pleasure to a lot of people.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.

But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.

Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos. Everything that science knows about is used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

We believe you will enjoy them.

GRYGLA WOMAN IS VICTIM OF PEAT FIRE LAST FRIDAY

Mrs. Thone Nystul, Living West of Village, Dies From Burns

Mrs. Thone Nystul, 77 years old of the Grygla community, died at 8 p. m. Friday, the first victim of numerous peat fires and minor prairie fires burning in eastern Marshall and western Beltrami counties.

Mrs. Nystul was severely burned at 3 p. m. when her clothing caught fire as she was attempting to prevent a peat blaze from reaching a neighbor's hay stack.

The tragedy occurred on the Nystul farm ten miles west of Grygla. The woman was found unconscious by neighbors several hours later and was taken to her home where she was placed in a physicians care. Her body was badly burned.

Mrs. Nystul is survived by two sons and two daughters.

Reports were that none of the numerous fires in the district had reached dangerous proportions although the hay land over the peat area was dry due to the lack of rain.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday in St. Peter's church near Grygla for Mrs. Nystul, Rev. S. T. Anderson officiating.

Mrs. Nystul, born in 1858 in Norway, was married to Ole Nystul in 1878 coming with him to this country in 1906. After living at Leonard, N. Dak. for two years, they moved to Marshall county in Eckvold township where they have since made their home.

Surviving are five sons, Aleck and Oliver of Leonard, N. Dak., Hans, Goodridge; Adolph and John of Fargo; and two daughters, Ingeborg in China and Mrs. Arthur Ulstad of Benson.

MIDDLE RIVER, HOLT CITIZENS OPPOSE REFUGE

Adopt Resolutions Oct. 16 Objecting to Mud Lake Project

CONTEND AWARDS ARE INADEQUATE

Declares Project Will Hurt Villages by Limiting Territory

At a meeting held at the village of Holt on the evening of Oct. 16, 1935 there was a thorough discussion of the proposed migratory waterfowl refuge in the area east from Holt known as Mud lake before a large assembly of citizens from Holt and Middle River communities. The result of the discussion was the passage of the following resolution by overwhelming majority.

Be it Resolved, by this meeting of citizens from the Holt and Middle River communities held at the village of Holt on Oct. 16, 1935, That we object to the migratory water fowl project in the Mud lake area and especially to the inadequate awards made by the commissioners therein for the following reasons, to-wit:

"It is reactionary from the viewpoint of the farmers.

It tends to restore a wilderness too close to civilization.

It would destroy itself anyway by formation of peat again.

It will restore mosquitos as well as ducks and geese.

It will restore water-logged soil far beyond the area now condemned.

It is taking property without adequate compensation being made therefor.

It puts the state into the business of raising meat producing fowl and fish in competition with producers of other meats.

It will injure two villages and possibly two more to the east by limiting the territory from which marketable farm produce comes.

It will not affect the climate to any noticeable extent.

It will not restore fertility to old lands.

It will not ease the tax burden on other real estate as the causes of this condition are of a general nature.

The question of whether a state may condemn lands for the use of the federal government is now before the U. S. Supreme Court on an appeal from the high court of the State of New York.

During dry years especially the Mud lake area has furnished very valuable supplies of hay for stockmen near and far.

This area and adjacent lands affected are not sub-marginal lands with relation to production of grasses, grass seeds, cattle, sheep and butterfat and wool.

This project does not involve the conservation of BENEFICIAL natural resources and the awards will not rehabilitate the present inhabitants in the area from the net amounts after deducting indebtedness on account of bonded towns and school districts and tax delinquencies.

Limiting productive areas at home to help other communities, states and countries is inconsistent and inequitable in the distribution of privilege.

Be It further Resolved that a copy be given the press, the commissioner of conservation, the biological survey bureau of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the judge of the fourteenth judicial district and the county board of the county of Marshall.

Geo. Fricker, Chairman.

CANDIDATES IN RACE FOR CITY OFFICES NOV. 5

Rinkel, Prichard and Harris in Contest for Office of Mayor

SEVEN SEEK POST OF MUNICIPAL JUDGE

All Aldermen File Again for Office Except Jung and McFarland

Up to the filing deadline Saturday preceding the municipal election Tuesday, November 5, all but two members of the present city administration had filed for reelection, with enough more names entered to insure a brisk campaign during the remaining ten days. M. T. McFarland, alderman-at-large, and Walter Jung, second ward alderman, were the only incumbents who did not file to succeed themselves.

A three-cornered race for mayor is in prospect with the filing at the last minute Saturday of Paul Harris, former alderman, shortly after former Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., had filed in opposition to F. A. Rinkel, incumbent. The only office for which there is no contest is that of city treasurer, Mrs. Thora Nelson, incumbent, being the only one to file for the post.

A lively contest for the office of municipal judge is assured with seven candidates in the field, including Lars Backe, Lincoln Arnold, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, F. J. Dudley, James A. Burrell, E. B. Bakke and R. M. Aalbu.

The list of aldermanic candidates follows:

At large, two to be elected: Carl Christofferson, incumbent; H. W. Kinghorn, H. O. Melby, Severn Brandon and Jacob N. Olson.

First ward: Emil Griebstein and W. J. Doullie. A. J. Rau, who had entered the race as a third candidate withdrew his name Tuesday.

Second ward: S. Salveson and Algot Johnson.

Third ward: W. K. Knight, incumbent, and John Baker.

Fourth ward: P. O. Myhrum, incumbent; Harry Lund, Lloyd Akers and Fred Forsberg.

Noted Men Address Educators in City

Authorities in Many Fields Speak at Auditorium During Convention

The large gathering in attendance in this city last Thursday and Friday at the biennial convention of the Northern Minnesota Education association listened with close attention to a series of informative addresses, each delivered by an authority on his particular subject.

Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, referring to the 12,000,000 unemployed youth not now attending school, said the only solution is to send them back to school to continue their education and fit them for new kinds of service opened up by intelligent planning. He stated that the CCC camps do not begin to solve the problem, since they care for only about a quarter million young men.

Lloyd C. Douglas

Lloyd C. Douglas, noted author, said that while until recently this was exclusively an old man's world, the coming of the machine age changed the picture and created a place for young men. He illustrated his point by saying that young men formerly grew whiskers to make them look mature so that they could have a place in the economic world, while now the older men shave off their whiskers. The question as to progress in the world, he said, is not "Are you coming along?" but "Are you coming along willingly and cheerfully?"

Dr. John G. Rockwell

Dr. John G. Rockwell, state commissioner of education, declared that education in the future will have to work against conditions that make wars possible and that permit widespread unemployment problems and depressions. Man, he said, has not yet begun to avail himself of the facilities offered by education for the control of his environment. Stating that Minnesota has 40,000 subnormal children of school age, he said that only 8,000 are receiving special instruction to make them socially useful.

Dr. George E. Sokolsky

Speaking from the background of a man who has spent many years living in and studying the communistic government of Russia, Dr. George E. Sokolsky, author and economist, made a strong defense of the capitalistic system as it exists in the United States. Declaring that the standard living in this country is too high compared to that in other nations, he asserted that American relief workers have a higher living standard than have officials of the Russian government. Wealth in the United States, the speaker said, is more widely diffused thru stock ownership, savings accounts and life insurance than under any other form of government.

Arthur Kallet

Arthur Kallet, former secretary of Consumers' Research, Inc., criticized manufacturers of certain widely known food and drug products for making false claims in their advertising, inspired by the fierce competition for business. He stated that the situation has been permitted to develop because the present federal food and drug laws are inadequate to protect the consumer.

3D PARTY LEADER TO SPEAK IN CITY FRIDAY EVENING

Congressman Amlie of Wisconsin Will Discuss 1936 Campaign

Thomas R. Amlie, progressive congressman of Elkhorn, Wis. will speak at the municipal auditorium Friday evening.

Mr. Amlie will start his address promptly at 8 o'clock as he is to leave for Minneapolis over the Soo Line at 10:10 to address the Saturday Lunch Club in that city on Saturday.

Mr. Amlie's topic will be "Why a Third Party in 1936?" and he will deal with the possibilities of electing a third party candidate for the presidency in 1936 as well as with the economic consequences of the New Deal. His tour is being financed by subscriptions by friends of the third party movement and there will be no admission charge to the meeting. The public is invited to attend.

50 EAST COUNTY PEOPLE DISCUSS ELECTRIC PLANS

Senator Tungseth Speaks at Meeting in Goodridge Tuesday Night

A group of 50 residents of Eastern Pennington and Marshall counties attended a meeting in Goodridge Tuesday evening to discuss the possibility of constructing a transmission line for electric current under the program of the Rural Electrification administration. Representatives were present from Goodridge, Highlanding, Grygla, and the townships of Cloverleaf, Goodridge and Valley.

Senator E. L. Tungseth was present to discuss various features of the program and to outline methods of organization. Committeemen were appointed for the communities represented, and they were instructed to make a survey of the field and propose the field to be served by the line, depending largely upon the number of patrons obtained.

Arrangements were made to hold another meeting early in November.

CIVIC GROUP HEARS TALK THURSDAY BY DR. L. D. COFFMAN

Large Number of Schoolmen Also Present at Noon Luncheon

Members of the Civic and Commerce association, together with a large group of schoolmen assembled in the city for the biennial session of the Northern Minnesota Education association, last Thursday noon heard brief addresses by Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, and Lloyd C. Douglas, prominent author. The speakers were introduced by Supt. Morris Bye of the local schools after W. L. Carlisle, president of the civic group, had extended a welcome to the guests.

Dr. Coffman emphasized the value of the research work conducted at the university as a means of aiding in a solution of the economic problems, and cited examples of projects now under way. He stated that the work is handicapped by a lack of funds, and suggested that some of the money now being spent by the federal government might well be assigned to furthering research work.

Saying that it is difficult to be temperate in one's opinions, in a time of economic stress, Mr. Douglas pointed out the need of developing a spirit of tolerance toward the opinions of others, at the same time expressing his opinion that the country is now convalescing from the depression period.

TOMMERDAHL IS ACQUITTED AT NOON TODAY

Has Been Deliberating Manslaughter Case Since Wednesday at 2

ACTION NECESSITATED FULL WEEK FOR TRIAL

Several Other Cases Were Settled out of Court During Week

After deliberating since shortly after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, a district court jury shortly before noon today returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Irvin Tommerdahl, charged with second degree manslaughter following the death in St. Hilaire September 7 of Lloyd A. Ross, who was fatally injured when struck by a car driven by Tommerdahl.

The task of selecting a jury to hear the case got under way Wednesday afternoon of last week, and not until noon yesterday was the hearing of testimony and pleas by attorneys in the action brought to a conclusion. The case occupied more time in court than any in the memory of Adolf Eklund, veteran clerk of court.

H. O. Chommie, defense attorney, required nearly four hours to complete his final plea to the jury, while County Attorney H. O. Berve, prosecuting the action, spoke for an hour and a half.

Much of the argument in the case revolved around the point as to whether or not Tommerdahl was driving at a reckless rate of speed as he passed thru St. Hilaire the night of the fatal accident. Wylie Ewing and Morris Melby, who were at the scene of the accident, testified that the car seemed to be proceeding at a rapid rate.

Mr. Chommie, in explanation of Tommerdahl's failure to stop after the accident, said the young man had meant to do the right thing but didn't know just how to go about it. In further extenuation he cited the fact that Tommerdahl had answered frankly all questions put to him by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck and Police Chief A. D. Stenberg.

Several cases scheduled for jury trial were settled out of court during the past week, including the action of George W. Curtis vs. A. C. Olson and J. H. Hermanson, and condemnation appeals brought by A. G. Langelette, Edward Heglie and Abraham Johnsrud. A jury trial got under way Wednesday afternoon in the case of H. J. Wood vs. Olga Jelle of Western Beltrami county, involving payment for a quantity of hay.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Waco, Texas—Raising of a $50,000 endowment fund to promote temperance among young people of Texas was adopted as one objective of the United Texas Drys at an organization meeting here Sept. 25 and 26. The constitution of the body, which is intended as a permanent organization, with headquarters at Dallas, sets up as its aim the "extermination of the beverage liquor traffic in Texas."

Support of a dispensary system of liquor control was urged by Bishop H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth, state chairman of prohibition forces in Texas, who was elected chairman of the new United Texas Drys. He emphasized the need for embodying in the new Texas liquor control law, now being considered by the Texas Legislature in special session, provisions minimizing the sale of liquor and removing the profit motive in its sale.

"If you remove the profit motive you will break the back of the liquor traffic," he said. "Elimination of social drinking—that is, drinking in public places, would cause sales of liquor to drop to a minimum. The State should get every dollar it can out of the liquor trade in order to eliminate profits."

The organization setup includes a president, nine vice-presidents, a secretary, a treasurer, an attorney, a state representative and a board of directors of 75 members. Dr. L. D. Young was named secretary; E. A. Everts of Dallas, treasurer; Elgar P. Henry of Dallas, attorney; and Jeff Davis of Dallas, state representative.

Dr. Young, addressing the delegates, deplored the fact that while there are over 1,000,000 church members in Texas, only 500,000 votes were cast in the recent election at which the Texas prohibition amendment was repealed.

"If we would demand a million voters in Texas we would be dry," he added.

River's Current Very Strong

The current of the Main river in Germany is so strong that steam-powered vessels can make little headway against it.

Growing With Your Child

Don't Teach Your Child to be Afraid

What did you do when three year old Tommy came in with his knee streaming with blood? Looked horror-struck, rushed madly for the iodine, perhaps? Many a child to whom his first sight of blood has been only an interestingly-novel experience has had his interest changed to fright by the alarm and excitement of his mother.

How did you behave when that thunderstorm came up so quickly, when the clouds blotted the light out of the sky in a hurry, and the wind suddenly flattened the trees in the yard? Probably you dashed about banging down windows, hurrying clothes off the line, perhaps you even grabbed the baby and bolted down cellar. While there may have been need for haste, there was also need for assuming calmness and deliberateness in your actions so as to prevent the amount of panicky fear in the young child to whose welfare you are devoted. Many a child has, through watching his mother's actions on such an occasion, formed such alarming ideas that for years after he knows better he cannot entirely rid himself of what he knows to be an exaggerated and unwarranted fear of storms.

What did you say when you went on that trip this summer, and found that because there was no pasteurized milk to be had, you must go to the trouble of boiling the children's milk? Did you enlarge on the dangers of raw milk, and paint a picture so vivid that "germs" have assumed too momentous a meaning in your children's lives? There have been many cases recorded in which mothers through too much and too earnest discussion of health problems, carried on before children, have brought about such fear in their children as to make them over-finicky and fastidious about germs, disease, foods, etc. One little girl developed a horror of being kissed because her mother had talked so emphatically about the spread of diseases in that way. A boy became so suspicious about milk that it was considered best to say nothing and let him go without it for a while, in the hope that he would gradually forget his anxiety about its purity.

Children reflect the behavior and attitudes of parents in many ways, some of which we are more aware of than others. We are unlikely to notice, or at least to understand, the origins of the fears that children have picked up from us, because we are unconscious of having made so great an impression by our talk or conduct. It doesn't bother a child so very much to have us get excited about things he understands—but let us become emotional about something that is mysterious to him, and we are paving the way for the possible acquisition of a lasting and haunting fear or anxiety. To Tommy, the sight of blood was at first merely interesting, since the cut he got was not painful. Only when it became mysterious because mother got so wrought up did it form the basis for a long-lasting nausea at the sight of blood. The person who as a baby associates the mystery of a thunder-storm with the strange phenomenon of his mother, his all-wise, gentle, devoted mother losing her head and running around in circles, may wonder, years afterward, why he has such a dread of wind and lightning. The child who has been made over-cautious about his health may become a miserable hypochondriac, always morbidly worrying himself and every one around him with his imaginary ailments.

We need to be a good deal more thoughtful about the things we talk about before children, and the way we act under stress, to keep in mind that because children's experience is so limited they are apt to attach more importance than we realize, to unexplained events or behavior.

High School Football Players Require Most Protection, Say Medics

Most of the serious football injuries that are directly attributable to the game occur in high school and sand lot football according to members of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

These findings were printed in Minnesota Medicine, publication of the association, recently, and are cited as a warning to parents and secondary school authorities to supervise young players carefully.

The reasons for it lie partly in the fact that there are more high school than college football teams and partly that the high school and sand lot teams are less experienced and less well-equipped and directed.

Head injuries are the most serious. They are due to blocking and being blocked. Every player needs protective headgear, even in the sand lots. But the headgear should not be so hard that it becomes a danger to an opponent in the game.

The lighter protection used around the legs and thighs for speed these days makes muscle injuries and bruises much more common. They are often neglected or improperly treated and lead to serious disabilities.

The low tackle is dangerous to knees and feet though ankle injuries occur more often from running over rough ground than from tackling. Tackling the mid-thigh region is much safer.

Injuries are more likely to happen to fatigued and slightly injured players than to fresh uninjured players. Coaches should be careful to rule out the former and also to see that their players have thorough medical examinations to find those with damaged hearts and lungs before they are allowed to join the squad.

4-YEAR OLD GIRL HAS THREE ESCAPES FROM DEATH

Sleepy Eye—Only four and one half years old, little Marilyn Edwards of Morton has gone thru three experiences that have nearly cost her her life. By all rights, the star that guides her destinies must be shining very brightly and vigilantly. When only seven months old, she swallowed an open safety pin, but after being rushed to a doctor, the pin was safely removed and she was back at play the next day. Less than two years later, Marilyn climbed into her father's car, removed the brake, and went for a wild ride, ending up by crashing into a tree with considerable damage to the car but none to herself. Her third harrowing experience occurred the other day when the little tot went over to a neighbor's yard to watch a man chop down a tree. Marilyn got there just in time to see the tree fall. The tree cracked and groaned and fell to the ground directly over the little girl. There were no bones broken, and the following day Marilyn had only a slightly lame back to remind her of the experience, for a protruding branch of the tree protected the child from being crushed by the trunk of the tree. Her luck is a marvel to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards, but her freakish escapes are just ordinary events in the life of little Marilyn, who has already forgotten about her latest incident.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

Dr. John G. Rockwell, commissioner of education for Minnesota, is apparently deeply interested in physically handicapped persons for many, if not most of his public address, deal with this subject at some length.

The following statement is attributed to Dr. Rockwell: "No physically handicapped person should be allowed to compete with an able bodied person for a job as long as the able-bodied person is out of work. Many years of experience have taught me that all physically handicapped persons are also mentally handicapped. All physically handicapped persons should either have pensions or be placed in institutions."

The state tax levy rise to new heights again this year and will be about 1.5 mills higher than the all-time high of last year. The actual figure will be in the neighborhood of 13.5 mills as against 11.95 mills a year ago.

The levy will be somewhat smaller than was estimated when the Legislature adjourned last spring owing to the fact that the Rural Credit Bureau will ask for no levy but will borrow from Peter to pay Paul, thus continuing its indebtedness and postponing its payment to a later date. The Rural Credit Bureau levy for 1933 was 1.25 mills and for 1934 1 mill. The reason given by the Rural Credit Bureau for omitting a levy this year is that it can borrow money on the open market at a lower rate than it can sell tax certificates for. This is true; but this line of action continues the debt and increases the interest which must be paid in the end.

A political advantage is gained for the administration, however, by reason of the fact that the all-time high of 1935 will be 13.5 rather than 14.5 mills.

A hard-hearted Legislature, looking rather coldly upon the lavish expenditures of the new Driver's License Department, refused last winter to vote it new largesses and left it to worry along on its income.

The department was in a blue funk about it for a time. It laid off most of its 48 employees and cut its payroll from $5,600 a month in April to $1,600 in May and June. It has now somewhat recovered from its fright, however; the salary of the genial Gil Carmichael, chief of the division, appears to be safe, and he may even be able to pay the rent on the division's luxurious quarters on University Avenue.

Receipts of the Driver's License Division for the third quarter of 1935 were $12,000 or $4,000 per month. On July 1st of this year the division had been in existence for 18 months and it would almost seem that everyone in Minnesota had parted with his two-bits and was possessed of a driver's license. Nevertheless, an average of 10,000 drivers' licenses were issued each month for the ensuing three months, and that rate seems likely to be maintained.

As a result the economy spasm of May and June has subsided and the payroll is up again to some $2,500 per month. With Minnesota's 87 clerks of court doing most of the work, the Driver's License Division may still be able to maintain itself in comfort if not in the luxury to which it treated itself in the early days of its lush receipts.

Although the great depression is not yet over, shipments of iron ore this season have already up to October 15th added $1,038,192 to the Minnesota permanent school fund.

Ponder this: in a year when operations are still materially curtailed, Minnesota state-owned iron mines yield a sum the income from which will add more than $30,000 per year every year for all time to come for the public education of the children of Minnesota. There have been years, and these years will return, when the state-owned iron mines have added more than $2,500,000 to the permanent school fund of the state.

The permanent school fund of Minnesota, the largest in the United States with the exception of Texas, amounted to $65,699,319.64 at the end of the fiscal year, June 30th, 1935. On the same date the University permanent fund was $6,429,399.12, of which more than four and one-half million has been derived from iron ore. The swamp land fund, one-half of the interest on which goes to the support of the public schools, was $11,869,273.01 on June 30th last and the internal improvement land fund, the interest from which goes to roads, was $380,805.68. The total of all permanent funds of the state, which must "forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished", was on June 30th, 1935 the great sum of $84,464,797.45, and that total will be largely increased each year for many years to come.

Of the permanent school fund of Minnesota, more than one-half, namely $33,334,188.89, has been derived from the royalty received by the state from the operation of state-owned iron mines.

FARMERS GET BIG CHECKS FOR GRASS SEED SHIPMENTS

Baudette.—Some big checks have been received by farmers for grass seed sent out at Baudette. Harold Bruber received a check for $2,200 for one load of clover and timothy seed, while B. D. Webber received $1,550 for his, and Arthur Holmgren got $956. In spite of the fact that the grass seed yield per acre in the Baudette section is lower than last year, more seed than in 1935 will be shipped out. Twenty carloads had been shipped last week, with about the same amount to go. The total amount received by farmers will be less than last year, owing to low prices, but the increased amount shipped out is due to bigger acreage.

CHASES JACK RABBIT 11 MILES IN AUTO

Springfield.— Most car drivers have had the experience of chasing a jackrabbit in front of their car for several blocks at night, but a Springfield party trailed after one for exactly eleven miles recently. During this time the speedometer registered an average of 25 miles per hour. Not until the eleventh mile did the rabbit pause for a rest and then when one member of the party got out to catch him, thinking the rabbit done for—Brer' rabbit just ups and starts down the road as fresh as ever to show that his endurance hadn't even begun to ebb away. It finally took a well-aimed stone to stop what was beginning to be a burdensome chase.

HIJACKERS DECAMP WITH SLOT MACHINE

Browntown.—Hijackers are becoming bold around Browntown, McLeod county. Last week a couple of them walked into a restaurant and picked up a slot machine, placed it in their car and drove off before aid could be summoned or an alarm given. A confederate, holding a lead pipe, kept a customer from giving an alarm under threat of using the pipe over his head. No trace of the "pirates" has been found but reports have come in that the same racket is being practiced in other places. The hauls obtained run high in many cases, and it is sometimes difficult to secure help from the law, because of the doubtful legality of many slot machines.

Brides Are Tattooed

Among the Latukas of the Upper Nile the women are tattooed by being scarred. In the Solomon Islands a girl is not eligible for marriage until her chest and neck are thoroughly and painfully decorated with tattooed symbols. Certain Australian tribes scar the backs of their girls before marriage. Primitive Formosans tattooed girls' faces as a preparation for matrimony and in New Guinea certain native girls are tattooed all over their bodies, saving only their faces. The tattooer in these communities has a high place in the social life of the tribe.

"I thought it was poor-memory . . ."

". . . actually, though, I didn't even suspect it—until I had a sight test.

No wonder I couldn't remember faces! I never saw details clearly enough to distinguish the little differences that recall people to our minds."

I believe I merit a place on the city council to represent first ward citizens because your fight is my fight in the never ending battle against greed and political opportunism. Changes for the better can only come by electing to office men who are truly independent and who have back of them a consistent program of necessary changes. I may say I stand for strict economy in the expenditures of city funds, law enforcement, tax limitation on real estate, and prompt attention to local needs. As an independent citizen I will not be dominated by any click or group and my action and vote will be determined solely on the basis of the welfare of my constituents and the people of the city of Thief River Falls.

To the Voters of the City of Thief River Falls

I hereby respectfully ask for your vote and support for the office of Municipal Judge at the City Election to be held November 5th, 1935.

I am one of your pioneers in this city, took an active part in its organization, also active in establishing for the city its owned and operated light plant, assisted in the organization of the Independent School District, and served as one of the members on the School Board continually for twenty-three years.

My public record and qualifications are well known to most of you. I was your first city clerk and served as such for sixteen years. I was Mayor for four years, and after that I served as Probate Judge of Pennington County for twelve years.

I trust you feel that I am deserving of your vote and support, and assure you it will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,
LARS BACKE
Candidate for Municipal Judge.

HOG RAISERS ARE URGED TO VOTE IN CORN-HOG BALLOT

Pennington Co. Signers to Vote by Mail Before October 26

"Do you favor a corn-hog adjustment program to follow the one expiring November 30, 1935?"

The Agriculture Adjustment Administration is putting this question up squarely to corn and hog farmers in the referendum October 26. On their answer will depend the decision of the AAA as to whether or not a new program will be offered.

In a message to University Farm, St. Paul, announcing the referendum, G. B. Thorne, director of the division of livestock and feed grains of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, said:

"The public hearing in Washington, September 26 and 27 has disclosed economic and legal justification for another corn-hog program, providing there is adequate evidence it would be sufficiently supported by farmers to make it administratively practicable. The determination as to whether or not another program will be developed now rests with the producers."

Similarly, the following statement was made in a recent AAA bulletin: "Unless the results of a referendum indicate a strong desire for continuing cooperative control of corn-hog production, no adjustment program will be offered."

"This being the case," says Hans Anton, chairman of the county corn-hog committee, "a failure to vote may be interpreted as an unfavorable vote, and a substantial number of such failures to vote may kill the program. To prevent such an interpretation, all persons eligible to vote should vote in this referendum.

"Voting 'Yes' will not obligate the voter in any way to accept any contract that may be offered as a result of the referendum. It merely indicates his belief that a program generally similar to the 1935 program should be offered, and leaves him free to accept or reject the contract when offered."

Because of scattered signers in Pennington county ballots will be mailed out to each corn-hog contract signer. These should be returned to the county agent's office before October 26th. The county committee will meet on the evening of October 26th to count the ballots. The committee urges every signer to vote.

Quakes Cause Damage in Montana Capital

New earth shocks shattered glass and tumbled chimneys in Helena, Montana Monday—the tenth consecutive day of intermittent tremors.

The fresh rumblings came as steaming stew and soup warmed the homeless temporarily sheltered from snow-tinged winds and while a repair job of million dollar proportions was being planned.

Commerce was at a stand-still, save in food shops, in the state capital city of 12,000. Pedestrains took to the middle of the downtown streets, all closed to vehicular traffic.

Engineering surveys indicated, however, that the structural network of the larger buildings was unscathed.

NEW OLDSMOBILE IS NOW DISPLAYED BY LOCAL DEALERS

Northern Chevrolet Co. Announces Improvements in New Models

A model of the new 1936 Oldsmobile was placed on display last Friday by the Northern Chevrolet company, local dealers, the car body lines as well as chassis improvements.

Modernly streamlined, long and low, the Oldsmobile is presented in six-cylinder and eight-cylinder models featuring Turret-Top bodies, knee-action wheels, super-hydraulic brakes and No-draft ventilation. Every model has either a big built-in trunk for baggage or a commodious luggage compartment.

In connection with the new cars, the local dealers announce a new GMAC six per cent finance plan sponsored by the General Motors Acceptance corporation for purchasers of 1936 models. They stated that the entire cost of financing for twelve months is but six per cent of the sum of the unpaid balance plus insurance, or at the rate of one-half per cent a month.

Killed Next Day After Finding Accident Victim

Harold E. Young of Perham, who assisted Willis L. Thompson in finding the body of Pearl Hanson and taking it to Warren on Monday evening of last week, was accidentally killed when a truck struck his car near Fisher on Tuesday, says the Warren Sheaf. Mr. Young had recently made an extensive trip to the west and was a guest at the T. T. Thompson home, leaving there Tuesday morning in best of health and spirits. He was a salesman for the Johnson Candy Co. of Minneapolis, but had made arrangements to continue his medical course at the University of Minnesota.

Next to General Hugh Johnson's rest periods, perhaps the shortest thing in the way of vacations is a naval building holiday.—San Francisco Chronicle.

1936 PLYMOUTHS ARE BEING SHOWN AT LOCAL DEALERS

New Cars Are Longer and Lower and Offer Many New Features

Roomier rubber-cushioned bodies and double-strength frames combine with new safety developments in automobile headlighting to distinguish the 1936 Plymouth models, which are on display at local dealers this week-end.

Bigger and more massive in appearance, the new cars are longer and fully one inch lower in overall height than previous models. Two score design and engineering changes have been incorporated into the new models. Smart streamlines slope back from the stylish new radiator grille to accentuate the long, low contours of the body.

The characteristic Plymouth sailing ship emblem on the radiator crown is enclosed in a teardrop outline. This same tear-drop design is carried out in hood louvre decorations and headlamp lines. The windshield is larger and slopes back at a more acute angle, cutting down wind resistance.

Rich, comfortable interiors provide four and one-half inches more passenger space lengthwise and about two inches more elbow and shoulder room. A rear compartment foot rest, built into the back of the front seat in the two deluxe four-door sedan models, has the effect of adding about three inches more leg room to the already lengthened interiors.

Naming the "Tarheels"

The name "Tarheels" was first given in derision by Mississipians to a brigade of North Carolinians who in a battle of the Civil war failed to hold their position on a certain hill, having "forgotten to tar their heels that morning."

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Ole Legvold is walking around with his fingers crossed these days, hoping the engines will keep going another two weeks. The three units are barely able to pull the load now and by the time the new engine is ready to take over the job it may be necessary to ask for a little co-operation from consumers in reducing the peak. During the seasons of long days the lighting load does not come on until after the commercial and cooking load is off. As the days get shorter the demand for these services overlap, greatly increasing the before six o'clock peak. The new engine is expected to be ready for operation early in November so fortunately the period of suspense will be short.

That much discussed special session of the legislature has been definitely set for December 2 and now the argument over taxation will start all over again. The purpose of the special session will be to take action on the federal social security program, which would be a simple matter if it did not involve the problem of raising more money. And to the state that is a real problem. With one exception, Minnesota now has the highest per capita state tax of any state in the Union. Owners of real estate are demanding tax relief and will vigorously oppose any further increases in state levies. In other words the money to be raised will have to be raised from other sources. And that's the rub. No one wants to pay the bill. Sentiment seems to be growing in favor of an income tax that will really produce revenue. That means lowering exemptions and broadening the base, which means more tax payers and incidentally more voters to complain about increasing public expenditures. And that thought in turn worries the tax spenders. What to do. What to do.

Uncle Sam is making progress with the program to remove settlers from sub-marginal lands to farms of greater producing possibilities. But this problem is not in any sense an emergency relief measure and it will be well to proceed slowly in a program of this kind. Mistakes are inevitable but these mistakes can be reduced to a minimum if the problem is approached as an experiment. For an experiment it certainly is. In this territory the field work is apparently being handled by competent men but while there is no reason to question the sincerity of those who direct this program from Washington there is good reason to question the knowledge of some of the officials of the problem they are trying to solve. A recent order from headquarters indicates that they have no grasp whatever of the situation. According to this order every new farm dwelling built by the government for these transplanted settlers must be wired for electricity and must have a bathtub and an inside toilet. One would expect even a college professor to know better than to issue an order like that. They probably would be surprised to learn that the street car service is very poor in the territory north of Ditch 20.

Thief River Falls has a football team again and there should be an interesting game over in the back yard tomorrow afternoon when Buck Robbins turns his Bemidji squad loose. According to Buck Robbins himself the Bemidji team is as good as any ever turned out by that city and we know they have turned out some powerful teams. But the result should be one-sided either way and whichever way the score goes it should be a good game to watch.

NATURAL LAWS WILL PREVAIL

Philadelphia lawyers are now trying to apply farm relief practices to their own profession, the bar association having gone on record in favor of limiting the number of lawyers who would be permitted to practice in the city. They are proceeding on the theory that by plowing down every third lawyer the remaining two-thirds might enjoy that abundance in which they believe all lawyers are rightfully entitled. The plan would probably prove quite popular to all members of the profession except those who were to be plowed under.

Ridiculous as the idea may seem, it really is typical of the attitude of most of us toward our particular field of endeavor. There are too many newspapers, too many doctors, too many farmers, too many grocers, and so on down through the entire list. Unfortunately no government can guarantee a satisfactory living to any particular group of people. Those who choose to become butchers or bakers or candle stick makers will have to continue to take their own chances in their respective fields.

It is through the exchange of services that people find employment. If a proper relationship could be maintained among all the various groups that perform useful services then there would be plenty of work for everyone. So called hard times seem to be a natural way of re-establishing these relationships. Artificial attempts to control these natural and necessary adjustments retard recovery and every fixed and rigid regulation that does not yield readily to the pressure of the law of supply and demand prolongs the period of readjustment which we call a depression.

Nature is a ruthless ruler and there have been many things about what we speak of as natural laws that seem needlessly harsh. It is only as we learn to understand those laws, however, that we can find justification for them. Some day when we have reached a more advanced state of enlightenment perhaps we will seek solutions to more of our problems through the free and unhampered operation of natural laws rather than through futile attempts to amend and modify those laws to suit the vagaries of our constantly shifting inclinations.

NOT A HIGH AVERAGE

Governor Olson may be an able lawyer but he has rather a low average in the cases in which he has been involved as governor that have gone to the Supreme Court for final judgment. The Court ruled against him in the Highway Department case and ordered contractors who had been favored by his limitation on bidders to return a third of a million dollars to the public coffers. In a bond sale case the Court held with those who objected to a block of state bonds being sold to a Dubuque, Iowa, broker without calling for bids. And last week the Court ruled that the Governor had no authority to assign a judge of his own choosing to try a particular case, the case in question being one in which the governor has taken a peculiarly personal interest. In a decision written by Justice Julius Olson the Governor was gently reprimanded in the following language:

> No Governor should be placed in the light of one who seeks conviction of a person by means of anything having even the appearance of advantage. The necessity of protecting the judiciary from executive encroachment is obvious. Nothing could be more harmful to the orderly administration of justice than to permit or sanction what is here sought.

We have sometimes wondered if Governor Olson were campaigning against a man who had made as many mistakes as he has made, if he would be as generous to that opponent as his opposition has been to him.

AS A MAN OF THE WORLD SEES US

George Sokolsky, who spoke on "Social Justice and the American System" at the Education Association meeting last week, expressed the opinion that our people have become a nation of "bellyachers". That was the impression we made upon him when he returned to this country after spending fifteen years in Europe and Asia. After spending year after year in countries where the masses of the people lived practically on a sub-subsistance level, with none of the comforts of life that we have come to consider necessities, he was unable to understand why we do so much complaining. While he urged the need for reform and further improvement, he ridiculed the idea of scrapping a system that had given us the greatest diffusion of wealth and the comforts of life the world has ever known.

Speaking more informally to a smaller group Friday evening he expressed some rather interesting views on the present situation in Europe. It was his opinion that eventually Italy and Great Britain would each take a share of Ethiopia; the Ethiopians would then learn to wear shoes and have less hook worm, and Emperor Haile Selassie would move over to the Riviera and enjoy life with the other ex-rulers of the world. He seemed to think that the thing would work itself out to the benefit of all concerned. He scoffed at the idea of America refusing to sell munitions to the warring nations. If we don't sell them some other country will and we might just as well provide the employment for our own people, he argued.

Perhaps it is well that the world is not made up entirely of people who think as Sokolsky does, but after spending a pleasant evening in his company we came away to conclude that the country wouldn't suffer if we had a few more practical minded Sokolskys and a few less visionary sentimentalists. Whether or not his materialistic attitude was right, it certainly was refreshing.

Topics of the Times

Don't say Thief River Falls youngsters aren't ambitious. One of them, after inspecting the Times "Can you beat it" display, wanted to buy a 52-lb pumpkin to use for a jack-o-lantern.

Cheerful thought—Current real estate taxes don't become delinquent for a whole week yet.

The latest standing army consists of the Dionne quintuplets. They're learning to walk.

We are advised that one kind of business that never seems to need a breathing spell is monkey business.

Billy Noonan of Baudette, authority on feminine fashions, reports that skirts are to be 16 inches from the ground, adding that it will be pretty tough for the girls who learned to walk too soon.

If the fighting continues much longer, either Italy or Ethiopia may be forced into a declaration of war.

What's in a name? A Minneapolis man named Warmington heads a refrigerator dealers' association.

The Liberals last week won the Canadian elections and it remains to be seen how liberal they are going to be with government funds.

Citizens may not complain over much about not calling it Hoover dam if the administration doesn't go ahead and baptize it Sodie and Buzzie dam.

It is possible to get a smile out of so serious an enterprise as a teachers convention. For instance the printed program for last week's meeting in the city contained the following item: Dr. Clyde Milton Hill will speak on the subject, "Are the Young People Going to the Devil?" Make your reservations with Supt. Morris Bye.

And by an appropriate juxtaposition the two numbers presented by the high school boys' double quartet were "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes" and "There Is a Tavern in Our Town".

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Thomas Minehan, former University of Minnesota sociology instructor who a few years ago left his class-room to rub elbows with our youthful vagrants in box cars and flop houses, issues a warning to this country which should be taken seriously. In a recent address he stated that unless we give our young people a proper place in our economic world, "the nation will face the greatest crisis in its history." He pointed out that there are over 7,000,000 unemployed young people in this country who are not in school and who are drifting into crime and delinquency. Authoritative reports from school authorities as to the number of high school and college graduates who find employment given credence to Mr. Minehan's assertion. The handwriting is on the wall and if we do not heed it we will have only ourselves to blame.

Minnesota bankers in increasing numbers are availing themselves of the new bond information service inaugurated last summer by the State Banking division, according to Elmer A. Benson.

Prof. Lawrence R. Lunden, head of the bond department of the banking division and also a member of the faculty of the business school at the University of Minnesota, is furnishing the service. Having available wide sources of information in the investment field, Prof Lunden is able to give complete and impartial analysis of various bond issues, whether of governmental bodies or private corporations.

In three days last week a squad of seven state highway patrol officers tested the brakes on 2,455 automobiles and checked the driver's license of each motorist at the same time. With 70 patrolmen carrying on such activities throughout the state it is easily seen that it pays the average motorist to keep his car in good condition, carry his driver's license at all times and obey the traffic laws. The patrol keeps a special lookout for drivers whose licenses have been suspended or revoked but who try to continue driving in defiance of the law.

Henry Zon, who did his newspaper reporting at the Capitol, has returned after a year as English correspondent for a national news gathering agency with some information regarding the present line-up in Europe.

Zon says that Italy faces a serious situation at home as well as the concerted opposition of France and England in its Ethiopian adventure. Labor disturbances, in some cases amounting to riots, he says, have taken place in Milan, Palermo and other sections, while in the North he reports that an entire regiment mutinied and went back home. Reporting these alleged events made him persona non grata with Italian authorities, and kept him out of that country. Yugoslavia, he says, is becoming more and more crowded with deserters slipping over the border.

From Germany, Zon said, reports leak out of increasing living costs and decreasing wages. He is of the opinion that Hitler will soon be in the same position as Mussolini, being forced to go to war or face a disintegration of his terrorist regime at home.

On Oct. 1 Carl R. Erickson, commissioner of purchases, turned down all bids on snow fences for the highway department. He said he considered them "out of line". He called again for bids for the same article and the result was an $8,000 saving to the state. The Reliance Fence Co., of Bemidji was awarded a contract for 210,000 feet of fence.

On April 20 there was a bank robbery at Ellsworth. This is the only bank holdup in Minnesota this year, according to Melvin C. Passolt, chief of the state crime bureau. Of the three bandits taking part in the raid, one has been apprehended and the other two are known and are being sought.

It has been the intent of the Minnesota school system to provide 12 years of elementary and high school training to every child in the state. In recent years, however, economic conditions prevented a number of children from attending school. To combat this the State Executive Council made available $216,000 to help needy high school pupils. The Federal Youth program does not make high school students eligible for aid; only those in college may share in its benefits. Minnesota believes in education and will see to it that its youngsters have an opportunity to learn.

Those who have not seen the state capitol grounds for five years would never recognize them today. Under special orders from Governor Olson a highly successful attempt has been made to beautify the grounds. New trees, hedges, flowers and grass have been planted. The newest development is the hedge which is being planted in front of the state office building. When the tasty landscaping has been completed the Gopher State's capitol grounds will be second to none in beauty.

The law which authorized the construction and operation of a state radio broadcasting station for use against crime provides that boards of county commissioners shall see that equipment has been installed in their counties whereby the station may be utilized. Melvin C. Passolt, chief of the state criminal apprehension bureau, has notified the county boards that the station is now in operation. Within the month all sheriff's offices in the state will have receiving sets set in to the station's frequency. Fourteen sets will be installed in cars owned by operatives of the crime bureau.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21, 1935 (U. S. D. A.): Monday's receipts here were 14,600 cattle, 2,000 calves, 3,000 hogs, 25,000 sheep, receipts in all departments being about the same as those of last Monday.

Hog trade was unevenly 10-25c lower, better 140-180 lb. clearing at $10.00-10.10, a few 140-160 lb. $10.15, desirable 180-260 lb. $9.85-10.00, 260-350 lb. $9.25-9.90, good sows $8.50-8.75, sows being about steady.

Another generous supply of plain grassy cattle appeared at the week's opening, and grain-feds were practically absent. Most grassy killer steers brought $5.00-7.00, on a slow weak market. She stock was largely 25c lower than Friday, common heifers $4.00-5.00, better grades $5.50-6.50, best Montanas Saturday $6.75. Low cutter and cutter cows made $2.75-3.50, beef cows $3.75-4.25, good westerns $4.75, a few $5.00 [illegible]

The community extends its sympathy to the Nystul family in the loss of wife and mother thru fire. It seems that Mrs. Nystul in offering a helping hand, as she always did, went on her own initiative to try and check a fire which was getting close to a neighbors hay stack. In some way her clothes became ignited with dire results and only lived a few short hours thereafter.

The many young friends of Floyd Granger were in attendance at a birthday party held in his honor last Saturday. Needless to say the youngsters had an enjoyable time topped off with refreshments.—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Severson of Thief River have rented the Oscar Knutson farm and already moved thereon.

Till God called her home, where she suffers no more.
No one knows the silent heartache, Only those who have lost can tell of the grief that's borne in silence for the one we loved so well.

Sadly missed by Nels Johnson and children, Mrs. O. H. Hall and family.

STUDENTS' DADS TO VISIT CAMPUS ON NOVEMBER 2D

Game Between Gophers and Purdue Will Feature Day's Program

Purdue, which promises to be a competitor of Ohio State for the Western Conference football championship, will be Minnesota's opponent in Memorial Stadium on Dad's Day, November 2, when the fathers of all Minnesota students have been invited to visit the university to see how Mary and John are doing.

Dad's Day has become an annual event at Minnesota, on which the busiest member of the family is asked to drop things for one day at least and visit the teachers, the classrooms and living quarters with whom and in which son or daughter is spending four of life's most important years. He will also have a chance to see what the junior members of the family are getting for the money he is asked to "send at once" every now and then.

A special section of good seats is reserved each year for the Dad's Day crowd, where fathers who want to see a game may sit, and, if they wish, take the members of their family with them.

The Dad's Day dinner will be served in the Minnesota Union at 6 P. M. President L. D. Coffman, Dean E. E. Nicholson and others will make brief talks to the visiting fathers.

Cards of invitation have been mailed to all of the fathers. If possible they should be returned to Dean Nicholson not later than October 26.

Purdue has started its football season with a rush, and the game between Minnesota and the Boilermakers on November 2 is certain to be one of the season's closest. From this range it appears likely to be a repetition of the Nebraska brawl in which the Gophers barely edged out with a narrow-margin victory.

Maybe the law should be changed to require every public employe to collect his pay directly from the people.—Indianapolis News.

Director Swenson of Game and Fish Division Ousted

Director Erling Swenson of the game and fish division was ousted Tuesday by Commissioner E. V. Willard of the state conservation department.

The dismissal order is effective October 31, when A. C. Hanson, managing editor of the Conservationist, and public relations director of the conservation department, will succeed Swenson as acting director.

The dismissal of Director Swenson, Minneapolis attorney who succeeded William Stewart following the latter's death two years ago, climaxes the controversy over the suspension by Swenson of Reuben Grandquist, White Bear game warden.

CRAZED MAN ENTERS BARN, DEMAND $1000 FROM FARMER

Verndale.—Imagine the amazement of Lute Hinman, farmer near Hewitt, when a crazed neighbor walked into his barn during milking and demanded $1,000 from him! Claude Miller, later declared slightly deranged, made the demand with the utmost of confidence, in spite of the fact that his "victim" was hardly in a position to hand out more than 10 cents from the jeans of his overalls. Miller is the same man who was found guilty of twisting the tracks out of shape on the Great Northern railroad a few years ago, and then flagging the train, thinking he would be rewarded for preventing a wreck. He had been turned over to the sheriff of Todd county, who had him examined and finding him slightly deranged had him taken to the state hospital in St. Peter.

At 83 a Tennessee farmer has journeyed to Knoxville, 41 miles away, for the first time in his life. It must be the gypsy in him.—San Francisco Chronicle.

NEW FORD MODELS NOW BEING SHOWN BY LUND & TUNBERG

Conservative Streamlining and Improved Chassis Mark 1936 Models

Ford V-8 models for 1936 went on display throut the nation Saturday, and one of the new models has attracted much attention in the display room of Lund & Tunberg, local dealers.

Body lines which strike a new note in conservative streamlining, a new treatment of the interiors and three important refinements in chassis engineering summarize the principal improvements. There are no radical changes. The 85-horsepower V-8 engine, of which more than 2,000,000 are now in operation, is unaltered.

Of the three principal chassis improvements, one — improved steering—is aimed at greater ease and safety of operation. Two others tend to greater comfort. One is the use of new steel wheels which lessen the unsprung weight and thus provide greater riding comfort. The other is an improved transmission using quiet helical gears—formerly used only in second and high speeds—in all forward speeds and reverse.

A new front-end treatment gives added distinction to the body lines. The hood is longer extending gracefully over the attractive new radiator grille. With its vertical slots and more accentuated "Vee", as well as its smoothly rounded lower edge which blends with the streamlined curve of the inner portion of the fenders, the grille contributes a new note of smartness.

Fenders are streamlined, a wide inward flare giving them an imposing appearance. Louvres are of new design. Horns are now recessed in the fender aprons back of small round grilles beneath the streamlined headlamps.

Thirteen body types are available, ten with de luxe appointments and three without. These are:

De Luxe: Three-window coupe, five-window coupe, roadster with rumble seat, phaeton, cabriolet with rumble seat, convertible sedan, Tudor sedan, Fordor sedan, Tudor touring sedan and Fordor touring sedan.

Without de luxe equipment: five-window coupe, Tudor and Fordor sedans.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT NORTHERN MINNESOTA TEACHERS' MEETING

sota speech clinic. Summaries of some of the principal addresses appear elsewhere in this issue.

One of the outstanding features of the convention was an excellent concert presented at the Auditorium Friday evening by the Little Philharmonic Orchestra of Chicago under the direction of George H. Shapiro. The group, composed of fourteen outstanding musicians, rendered selections from Mozart, Schubert, Sibelius, Debussy, Wagner and Mendelssohn.

Bemidji was awarded the next biennial session of the Northern Minnesota group.

Musical numbers for the various programs of the two-day convention were supplied by groups from the Thief River Falls schools and by the Alvarado school band.

The following resolutions, drafted by a committee headed by T. C. Ullering, were adopted at the convention:

Resolved: That we express our appreciation to the officers of the Northern Minnesota Education Association for the splendid program arranged, to the speakers for their inspiring addresses, to the faculty of the Thief River Falls schools for the efficient arrangements pertaining to the convention, and to the citizens of the city of Thief River Falls for their hospitality.

Since the greatest wealth to be conserved in our country today is youth, therefore be it resolved: that the teachers of the Northern Division of the M. E. A. devote themselves anew to the rehabilitation of youth in the new social order, by assuming a positive responsibility in the various communities to the fulfillment of this task.

Resolved: that we reaffirm our stand to improve the status of teachers including salaries, security tenure, freedom of teaching, and other conditions of work.

Resolved: that we urge the legislature of the State of Minnesota to appropriate sufficient funds to pay the state aid in full.

To develop higher standards of educational service, including teaching, administration and finance, be it resolved, that we continue the campaign for federal aid to education without federal control and for a department of education with a secretary in the President's cabinet.

One of the surest ways for this country to keep out of war is to refuse to sell any foreign country anything whatever on the installment plan.—Helena Independent.

NEW PONTIAC FOR '36 ON DISPLAY AT THRONSON GARAGE

Line for Next Year Offers Straight-Eight, Six and De Luxe Six

One of the new Pontiac cars for 1936 was placed on display Saturday by the Thronson Motor company, local dealers. The new line embraces the straight-eight, six and deluxe six, which T. M. Thronson, manager, says are priced within the range of the lowest priced cars on the market.

The "silver streak" radiator and hood grill that formed the central motif of 1935 continues as the basic theme, with certain "pleasing changes that reflect even greater refinement of taste and more artistic beauty," the announcement said.

"Improvements included in the 1936 line," it said "are greater in number than they were for the 1935 models and fully as important to the motorist. Pontiac engineers have gone through the chassis and bodies, feature by feature, refining and perfecting, keeping in mind the comfort and convenience of the motorist and the economy, performance and safety of the car."

There are 19 body styles, six each in the straight eight and deluxe six and seven on the six chassis.

Crookston Man Drowns Self in Red Lake River

The body of Oscar Anderson of Crookston, who wandered from his home Thursday night was found in the Red Lake river at four p. m. Nelson, Polk county coroner, said that Mr. Anderson committed suicide by drowning himself sometime after eight p. m. Thursday and ascribed as a cause for the act, "a lapse of memory caused by a nervous breakdown." He said there will be no inquest. Mr. Anderson was born in Crookston December 21, 1895 and was married.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but, after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 3½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosyphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvres permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.

HIGH COURT BARS JUDGE MONTAGUE IN BANCO TRIAL

Says Governor Olson Exceeded His Authority With Appointment

Governor Floyd B. Olson exceeded his legal authority when he appointed a special judge to preside at the Clay court district trial of Northwest Bancorporation officials on alleged fraudulent stock sale charges, the state supreme court ruled in a decision filed last Friday.

The high court made absolute a writ of prohibition barring Judge James E. Montague of Crookston, of the fourteenth judicial district, from presiding at the trial of E. W. Decker, former chairman of the Banco board, on grand larceny charges in the seventh district at Moorhead. The appeal was made to the supreme court by Attorney General Harry H. Peterson on behalf of the governor, from the order barring Judge Montague issued by Judge Don M. Cameron.

The supreme court decision, written by Justice Julius J. Olson, held that the governor lacks the right to designate a presiding judge when a judge in the district in which the trail is scheduled is available for service and is not disqualified because of prejudice or other reason.

Homes of Candidates

There is no provision of the Constitution requiring the President and Vice President to be from different states; in 1840 Harrison and Tyler, both born in Virginia, were elected President and Vice President.

Regional Fire School is Planned at Baudette Wednesday, October 30

The chief of the Baudette Fire Department, Ray J. Flynn, with his officers and firemen, together with Mayor C. H. Dodds, have joined hands with the office of the Minnesota State Fire Marshal to hold a regional fire school at Baudette on Wednesday, October 30th.

Cooperating with Chief Ray J. Flynn, and the Baudette Fire Department in making the first annual border regional fire school a success, will be such well-known Minnesota "smoke eaters" as Chief J. P. Franzen of International Falls and his Department; Chief Milton Fish of Warroad, with his Department and Chief Ole Osterland of Roseau and his Department.

The program put on at this school will include Fire Drills, Evolutions, Ladder-raising technique, salvage work, Venting, First-aid, Hydraulics, Hose Layout, and all other subjects which are dear to the hearts of firemen and which will aid them in perfecting themselves in saving the lives and property of their home towns.

Hunters Warned to Report Game Taken

Every holder of a Minnesota hunting or trapping license must make written report to the Director of the Division of Game and Fish not later than January 1 of all game taken. Failure or neglect to report may bar license for the succeeding year. Reports of game taken are important in the program of wild life management instituted by the Game and Fish Division. More intelligent planning will be possible if hunters cooperate in supplying these reports.

RED LAKE FALLS CUTS DEBT $38,200 IN PAST 20 MONTHS

City Liquor Store Shows a Profit of $41,393 to October 1

The bonded indebtedness of the City of Red Lake Falls was reduced another $10,000.00 when the city administration met in regular session on Monday of last week, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

With this reduction of $10,000.00 in bonds which are called, the municipal indebtedness of the City of Red Lake Falls has been reduced $38,200 since February 15, 1934, or, in a period of twenty months.

This indebtedness includes $30,000.00 in bonds and $8,200 in outstanding city warrants. This reduction in outstanding indebtedness also means a saving of $2,292.00 in an annual interest charge. The bonds which have been called carried an interest rate of 6 per cent, the same rate that was paid on outstanding city warrants.

According to city officials a reduction of from 25 to 30 mills in the tax rate is contemplated for next year as a result of this material reduction in indebtedness, no levy being necessary to care for called bonds and interest on the called bonds.

Funds used for the reduction of the city's indebtedness comes as profits from the Red Lake Liquor Supply, which store showed a net profit of $39,765.00 up to September 1, and $41,393.00 by the October 1, 1935 statement. There has also been charged off $4,112.00 for store equipment, making an actual total of operating profit of $45,050.00 up to October 1.

New Head of District Works Progress Setup

C. L. Berggren of St. Paul arrived in Detroit Lakes last week to assume the position of director of the district office, Works Progress Administrator. Berggren succeeds D. H. During the past few months, Berggren has served as assistant state administrator to Victor Christgau, state administrator, with headquarters at the central office in St. Paul.

Northern M. E. A. Presented Noted Speakers at Convention

A large number of teachers from northern Minnesota gathered in this city Thursday and Friday of last week, October 17 and 18, for the biennial convention of the Northern Minnesota Educational association.

Heading the list of speakers was Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, President of the University of Minnesota. The subject of his address was "Youth and Tomorrow's Problems." Other noted speakers included the following: Dr. Clyde Milton Hill, chairman of the department of Education, Yale University, who spoke on "Essential Equipment for Teaching"; Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas, author of "Magnificent Obsession", whose subject was "Personal Adequacy"; Arthur Kallet, former Secy. of Consumers' Research Inc., with his address "The Great American Guinea Pig"; Dr. Bryng Bryngelson, Head of Speech Clinic, University of Minnesota, who spoke on "The Left Handed Child"; Dr. de Berry, Psychiatrist, University of Minnesota Student Health Service, was "The Genesis of Emotional Problems of College Students"; George E. Sokolsky, who spoke on "Social Justice and the American System"; Dean J. C. Brittweiser, Dean of the school of Education, whose subject was "Positive Teaching"; and others.

One of the most delightful sessions and one which was a treat to all music lovers was the program presented in the auditorium Friday evening by the Little Philharmonic Orchestra with George Shapiro the conductor. All members of this orchestra are famous musicians having played with symphony orchestras throughout the world.

Several luncheons and dinners for the different groups were given during the convention. The Schoolmaster's Dinner was held at the Trinity Church parlors Thursday evening. Bemidji State Teacher's Alumni gathered for a dinner at the Evelyn Hotel Friday evening. The alumni of Luther, St. Olaf, and Concordia Colleges held their reunion at the Trinity Church the same evening.

This is the first time the Northern M. E. A. has convened in this city and the public as well as the teachers were benefited by the enjoyable programs.

The new officers elected are as follows: President I. C. Morris, Superintendent at Aitkin; Vice President, W. G. Claffy, Principal, Thief River Falls; and Secretary-Treasurer, A. C. Clark, Teachers College, Bemidji.

The delegate to the State assembly from Thief River Falls is Miss Lydia Barton of Central School.

SECOND ASSEMBLY PROGRAM GIVEN TUESDAY EVENING

The Lombards Present Program of Music

Promptly at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, October 15, in the City Auditorium Mr. Claffy introduced the Lombards in a program of melody and mirth.

The Lombards opened their program with a musical poem followed by a group of songs including "Just a Song at Twilight," "Sweet Genevieve," and "Moonlight and Roses." Mrs. Lombard drew a whistling accompaniment to the last one. Most of the numbers were introduced by a poem.

In the operatic part of the program Mr. Lombard sang a selection from the opera "Carmen" and the song "I Love Life." He gave an unique impersonation of an old man singing the "Cobbler's Song" while repairing an old shoe. He also sang the "Vagabond Song."

A novel entertainment, the smoke picture, followed. After covering a platter with soot, Mr. Lombard drew a figure similar to the eastern shoreline of the United States. After marking off the Great Lakes, several towns and returning much soot, the product, by turning the platter upside down, developed into a portrait of Black Beauty.

Mrs. Lombard gave a recital of several piano selections. The first selection was the piano story telling of the ringing of the chimes of a cathedral in Poland until the cathedral crumbled in ashes. She gave a classical version of "The Turkey in the Straw". Mr. Lombard told of a recent dream she had had. The dream was to the effect she was in Heaven, and she heard the selections by famous composers. While telling her dream, she played a few bars from some of the well-known pieces by these famous composers.

Mr. Lombard then sang "On the Road to Mandalay." He added a touch by arranging a lyric to fit in with our modern era. Because he used the name Chevrolet in his modern version, he gave "An Automobile Poem" using the names of many makes of cars. In a little way Mr. Lombard analyzed the poet's lines of the song "Annie Laurie".

Mr. Lombard produced a musical instrument somewhat like the [illegible] on which he played two selections. In the first the musician [illegible] [illegible], with the accompaniment of Mrs. Lombard, who played the piano and whistled, was "When I Grow Too Old to Dream."

Mrs. Lombard gave two short [illegible]. The first concerned a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and the second about a [illegible] [illegible].

With the costume of an old hat [illegible] [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Lombard portrayed a photograph of their aunt and uncle taken from a family album. They also found pictures of our football "heroes" and our "rooster king."

The last number on the program was that of Mr. Lombard playing on the organ grinder.

BEMIDJI TO BE OPPONENTS OF PROWLERS HERE

Prowlers Given Chance to Hand Bemidji First Loss Friday

Friday afternoon at 2:30 the Prowlers will be hosts to the Bemidji Lumberjacks in the feature game of the season.

The strong Bemidji team comes here as a slight favorite being as yet undefeated and untied. Bemidji will put in a team that has a letterman for every position and two for some positions. Last week the "Jacks" defeated Wadena 47 to 0. This is just one example of the kind of scores they have been running up. In only two games this year have they been held under forty points. One of these games was against East Grand Forks who was defeated 11 to 0. Galloway, who caused so much trouble to the Prowlers last year, and Le Faive are expected to start at the ends. The other starters are as follows: at tackle, Buckland and Denowski; guards, Fort and Swisher; center, Tesch; and in the backfield, Gould, Baer and the two basketball stars Siosson and McCornick.

The prowlers are still carrying "Old Man Injury" around. This time it is Al Nelson with a broken nose and Roger Wessling, a promising sophomore with an injured ankle. Coach Lee is still working to get rid of the backfield fumbling and to get the line tackling harder. The Prowlers have also been trying out some new plays for Bemidji. The usual lineup of Jung, Gibson, Adkins, Hetland, Gunderson, Mickleson, Al Nelson, Art Nelson, Hill, and M. and J. Nesse is expected to start.

NORMAL TRAINING NEWS

The Normal training students have been observing reading classes in the Northrop and Knox schools and have taught in the first and second grades. They have also been studying pictures and the meaning of the different colors.

All the students attended the M. E. A. on Thursday.

The students received their report cards Wednesday afternoon, and everyone was more than pleased with their marks.

Although Carlan Dakken has been absent for the past week, we all hope she will have fully recovered when she returns.

The Lincoln High School extends its most sincere sympathy to Anna and Florence Hanson in their bereavement upon the death of their sister.

"A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT"

In just three weeks the seniors will entertain the juniors at the annual Junior-Senior Masquerade. Three weeks is a long time. But it passes quickly when costumes are in order.

Next week the Progress will have an article with hints for masquerade costumes. However, originality always shines at a masquerade. Start thinking! "Well begun is half done."

PROWLER

The seniors have organized a Prowler staff and progress has been made toward producing the 1936 Prowler. This will be the first ninety-six page Prowler since 1932, and it promises to claim a top notch in the history of Lincoln High School.

Already the Art Department has begun its work. The Feature Department also has a few pictures. Football will soon have its position in the temporary make-up.

The theme of the Prowler has not been definitely decided although a few ideas have been circulating.

In the line of pictures, the Prowler will have approximately twenty-five for each major sport and group pictures of inter-class sports. All classes will have pictures of its members, together with a group picture of its officers. It will also include pictures of the faculty.

The Prowler will contain everything that the other Prowlers had and then some!

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

A week following the senior fling, the juniors present their class play, "Seven Chances," a humorous "catch-as-catch-can" story. At the present, the junior cast is working diligently to master the play. With six weeks of hard work completed by November 22, the junior class will have a presentation that will outshine any performance in recent years.

INTERVIEW WITH THE LOMBARDS

Name: Mr. Lombard.

What did you do before going on the road? I was with the English Opera and Civic Opera for eight years, and Mrs. Lombard played four years in stock companies and chautauquas.

How many years have you been on the road together? About twenty years. The stock company that Mrs. Lombard was in (of course, she wasn't Mrs. Lombard then!) happened to play in the same town where I was singing in Grand Opera. We met and very soon were on the road together.

Where did you get the idea, Mr. Lombard? I majored in geology in college, but after college I was given an opportunity to sing. Then I really began taking singing seriously. This eventually led to our show.

What do you like most about your work? I enjoy the singing most.

Do you travel all of the time? Yes, the whole school year. We often work for chautauquas in the summer. We were on the radio from WLS, Chicago, for some time.

Where is your home when not working? In Beloit, Wisconsin. We have a ten-year old son there.

Do you travel all over America? Yes, from coast to coast.

Have you ever had any exceptionally interesting experiences in your work? Yes, very many. Someday we are going to write a book on them.

Where did you perform before coming here? In Greenbush. From here we go to Mahnomen, Crookston, etc. We average three programs a day, most of them being in the daytime.

Which would you rather entertain, students or adults? Students, they are more peppy!

Do you ever appear more than once in a town? Yes, sometimes we play as many as three or four times in the same town, always with a different program, however.

THE PROGRESS POKES ITS NOSE AROUND

Name: Mr. J. K. Montague.

College or university attended: Gustavus Adolphus College. I majored in English—speech, and history.

In what extra-curricular activities did you participate?: Debate and Extemporaneous Speaking.

What subjects do you teach?: English.

Have you ever taught before and if so, where and for how long?: I taught in Wakefield, Nebraska, one month before coming here.

What do you think of the spirit of L. H. S. pupils?: They are a live, active and agreeable group of young people.

Do you think any more subjects ought to be added to the curriculum?: There ought to be a full year of compulsory public speaking in every high school.

What extra-curricular activities do you coach?: Debate and the Progress.

What do you think of the public address system?: I think it is an excellent system.

Do you believe in out of school studying?: I believe that only the best students should be able to finish in school time.

What do you think of Thief River Falls?: It is a very progressive, congenial little city.

Home address: Willmar, Minnesota.

Where did you spend your summer vacation?: Here and there.

Nickname: Monty.

Hobby: Conversation.

What is your advice to L. H. S. pupils?: There are always two groups to whom advice may be given, those who need it and those who don't. Those who don't need it just don't need it, and those who need it won't take it anyway, so I never give it.

GYM GEMS

Now that the contest for the "gym holiday" is half over, I suppose we all want to know how each of the teams rate. In the list below you'll find the period of gym, captains of the two teams, score at the end of the first game, and the score after the second game for each team.

Fourth period, Tuesday and Thursday:
Enid Olson, 154—73.
Joyce Bennes, 75—121.

Fifth period, Tuesday and Thursday:
Helen Anderson, 130—137.
Vivian Havel, 53—55.

Sixth period, Tuesday and Thursday:
Margaret Gustafson, 129—112.
Yvonne Anderson, 92—115.

Fourth Period, Wednesday and Friday:
Beatrice Hebert, 115—150.
Mary Chommie, 130—95.

Fifth period, Wednesday and Friday:
Eileen Ihnsen, 95—70.
June Wilson, 88—160.

Sixth period, Wednesday and Friday:
Ardith Haney, 104—117.
Bernice Syverson, 164—106.

After reading these you know that the girls are surely working hard for the "gym holiday" but it's only half over—soon let's wait and see who'll be entitled to a real "gym holiday".

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Olson's English classes are studying the composition of the short story.

Miss Steenerson's English classes have started to study grammar after finishing a unit on short stories.

Miss Tandberg's English III classes are now studying the unit on Colonial American Literature.

Miss Dahlen's eighth grade classes are now fitting their patterns before they start cutting their projects.

The Home Economics I classes, taught by Miss Lunder, are studying breakfast diets.

The Prowler committee met Monday, October 23, in Room 110. Mr. Claffy presided. The meeting was a very general discussion with the editors of the various departments telling approximately how many pages of the "Prowler" their respective department would fill. The price of the "Prowler" was briefly discussed.

PROWLERS CRUSH WARREN FRIDAY AFTERNOON 39-0

Coach Lee Tests Many New Players in Game

Last Friday the Prowlers literally trampled over a comparatively weak Warren team to a victory of 39 to 0.

In the opening minutes of play the Prowlers rammed their way through the opposing line until they were within easy scoring distance. Hill then plunged over for the first touchdown of the game. Adkins kicked the goal making the score seven to nothing. The second touchdown was made in the first quarter, also, when James Nesse skirted left end for 22 yards. The kick for extra point was blocked. Soon after this Warren made a nice punt to Hill who fumbled around with it for awhile before he finally picked it up behind the goal line. He got to about the one foot line when he was downed. The locals then punted out of danger.

In the second quarter Hill gave the local fans something to yell about when he made a 45 yard run around right end. Milt Nesse took the ball from there over for the third touchdown of the game. Adkins converted so that the score now stood at 20-0. It wasn't long before the Prowlers had forced Warren back down the field again. They had to punt, or try to, because Adkins blocked it and recovered on the ten yard line. Robert Wessling then carried the ball through the center of the line for eight yards and Milt Nesse took it the remaining two yards. On the try for extra point Dicken fumbled, Adkins picked it up and ran around left end thus making the point. At the end of the second quarter Milt Nesse punted from the 50 yard line out of bounds on the four yard line. So came the end of the first half.

One more touchdown was made in the third quarter on a long pass from Hill over the goal to Mickelson. The extra point was not made.

In the fourth quarter the Prowlers made the final touchdown of the game when Milt Nesse passed from his own 45 yard line to J. Nesse who carried it over. And again the try for extra point failed making the final score of 39-0 favor of the locals.

Here are a few statistics on the game:

	Prowlers	Warren
First downs	15	4
Forward passes	12	5
Passes completed	4	0
Passes that were intercepted	2	0
Total gain on passes	130 yds.	0
Punts	5	9
Fumbles	1	1
Penalties	4	6
Total loss on penalties	35 yds.	60
Total yardage gained	355 yds.	200

AMONG THE 600

The collection of class dues is now in progress among the various classes. The seniors are to pay one dollar each semester, while the juniors are to contribute one dollar at the present time or fifty cents each semester. The following have been selected to collect in the various English classes: seniors—Ardella Gjernes, Alice Ann Severson, Edna Lee, and James Nesse; juniors—Elizabeth Dahlen, Helen Anderson, James Peterson, and Alfred Nelson.

The goal of the higher class dues is to produce a better and more interesting "Prowler."

A freshman class meeting was held in the assembly, Monday afternoon for the purpose of introducing a system to collect class dues. Each student of the freshman class was asked to pay fifty cents to the collectors.

NIGHT PEP FEST PLANS COMPLETED

Parade is Included in Plans for Night Rally

Plans for the night pep fest before the Bemidji game Friday, October 25, are well under way.

The parade will start from the high school at 7:30 Thursday. The order of the parade will be as follows: First the pep band, then the pep squad, and finally the classes: seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, in the order named.

The parade will start from the high school, march down First Street to LaBree, up LaBree to Third Street, over Third Street to Main, down Main to First, and back to school. Yells will be given at intervals in the marching.

Torches are being made for the parade by a special committee and another committee is collecting firewood for the bonfire to be held on the baseball diamond after the parade.

After the parade there will be a bonfire on the baseball diamond behind the high school. The pep band and pep squad will perform, and pep talks will be given.

The pep band, pep squad, cheer leaders, Progress staff, and the special committees are doing their best to make a success of this new type of pep fest, but the real success depends upon the cooperation of the entire student body. Everyone remember to be at the high school at seven o'clock and all lined up and ready to start the parade promptly at seven-thirty.

Record Reigns

Louis XVI's reign of 72 years, from 1643 to 1715, is the longest in modern history. King Pepi II of the sixth Dynasty ascended the throne about 2566 B. C. at the age of six and reigned for more than 90 years. Emperor Francis Joseph of Austro-Hungary reigned nearly 68 years; Queen Victoria of Great Britain nearly 64 years; George III of Great Britain 60 years, Pedro II of Brazil 58 years.

Temperature of the Sun

The interior temperature of the sun is estimated at about 50,000,000 degrees. Temperatures of that magnitude produce vast radiation pressures, and if any of the internal pressure should find a vent to the surface it would have no difficulty in throwing to a height of 50,000 miles a section of the atmosphere, over an area of 1,000,000 square miles of surface.—New York Herald Tribune.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Thief River Falls 30 years Ago

As this is typed the three-day Fall Festival is in progress at Thief River Falls. From the standpoint of this article we are interested in the tribute to the Soo Line. The following paragraphs are from the Soo Line guide book published in 1905-6. It contains, it will be noted, considerable information of a historical nature. While the project was apparently largely commercial the company performed a real service in getting out the book:

"The dam is located in the heart of the city on the Red Lake River, which is fed from the Great Red Lakes and affords an abundance of water, and with a fall of 15 feet at this point develops about [illegible] power. Part of this power is now used for driving the flour mill, and also for the electric light at [illegible] er works plant; but there is still plenty to spare. One of the great advantages the power has over others is the freedom from excessive floods and high water in the spring.

"The Red Lake River is navigable to the Lakes. Down this river the logs for the saw mill are brought, and along the Lakes and along the streams that run into them, is timber enough to last for many years. There are also great quantities of spruce, tamarac, cedar and popular, as well as many varieties of hard wood. This city is the natural and only point for manufacturing into lumber this immense body of timber.

"This city has two large department stores, the oldest of which is Langseth Bros. This store was established in this city in 1887. It was then the leading store, as it is yet. In that year Funk and Langseth started a little trading store in the lower end of the town. Business was slow those days, the trade being mostly with the Indians. But it prospered and continued to grow. In 1893 the commodious building they now occupy was built, and in 1902 Anton Langseth was taken into the firm, Mr. Funk having retired some years prior. Since that time the business has been run by the Langseth Bros. This store now carries one of the largest stocks and enjoys as large a trade as any store in northern Minnesota.

"The Golden Rule has come to be a household word among the housewives of this city. In 1902 O. J. Schei & Co. located here, and have, by their excellent business methods, built up a large and flourishing trade. This store carries a large and complete line of clothing, dry goods, groceries, crockery, notions, in fact nearly everything. They, during the past year, moved into their splendid quarters in the Evenson Block. The present store is modern and up-to-date in every respect, and is a model that merchants in other towns would do well to follow when making improvements. The volume of trade done by this firm is equaled by few stores in much larger cities, their customers coming from a radius of many miles to trade at the "Big Store" that has but one motto—"Money back, if goods are not entirely satisfactory".

"There are also six general merchandise stores, four hardware stores, two clothing stores, two furniture stores, two farm implement dealers, some half a dozen good hotels and numerous restaurants, three sound financial institutions (one national and two state banks), two good newspapers, the Thief River Press and "The News." In fact nearly all lines of trade and all professions are well represented.

"The city is in great need of a first-class hotel. The hotels it already has are good and have all the business they can take care of, but a large, modern hotel would be a splendid investment in this progressive and fast growing city.

"As stated before, the citizens will be pleased to entertain any factory proposition, and anyone contemplating embarking in the manufacturing business, or looking for a new location, would make no mistake in investigating the advantages offered here.

"The First State Bank, the oldest [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in this city, was organized in 1892, as the Polk County Bank [illegible] [illegible] of the Scandia American Bank of Crookston. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] was then, and is still the [illegible] [illegible] Scandia American Bank. [illegible] [illegible] was run as a private bank until the 18th of May, 1896, when it was incorporated under the laws of Minnesota as the First State Bank, and was sold to the present owners in June of the same year. The following month, Messrs. C. L. and later H. G. Dobner moved to this city and became the active managers of the bank. During this same year the building in which they are now located was built and occupied by them. The capital is $30,000, surplus $17,500, which will soon be increased to $20,000, thus giving them ample capital with which to do business."

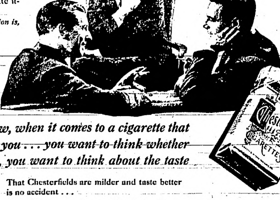
...but, after all is said and done, it's the cigarette itself that counts
...the question is, does it suit you?



Now, when it comes to a cigarette that will suit you... you want to think whether it's mild, you want to think about the taste

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident...

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobaccos to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.

HOMECOMING TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY AT N. W. SCHOOL

N. W. Aggie Football Team to Compete With Grand Rapids Eleven

Elaborate plans are being made for the Annual Home Coming celebration which will be held at the Northwest School Saturday of this week. The feature of the day will be a football game between the Northwest School Aggies and the North Central Aggies from Grand Rapids. Coach Christgau has developed out of comparatively new material a team that is expected to make a good showing in the initial inter-school contest of the season. Last year the Grand Rapids Aggies defeated the home team on their own field by a top heavy score and hence are determined to maintain this record this year.

Former grads have been invited to attend a special school assembly which will be held in the late morning. It is expected that Superintendent R. L. Donovan, together with Coach C. L. Cole, will represent the visitors, while Superintendent A. A. Dowell, Coach R. J. Christgau, and Captain Noel Hanson will respond. The football game which is scheduled for the afternoon will be followed by the alumni banquet. The evening will be devoted to a dance and party in honor of the guests. Special committees have been appointed to take charge of the various programs and other entertainment features that will be held during the day.

On Saturday, November 2, students and faculty will be hosts to the fathers and mothers at the Annual Parents' Day celebration. With the largest attendance in the history of the school, it is expected that over three hundred parents will take part in the day's program.

Fire Hits 3 Business Places in McIntosh

Fire, believed to have started from a kerosene stove, gutted the interior of three business places in the same building in McIntosh Thursday morning. Edna's Beauty parlor, the Wold Jewelry shop and the offices of George Ketman were burned when the fire swept through the lower story of the building.

Northwest to Hear Famous Opera Stars

Grand Opera—the myths and legends of the peoples of many lands set to the music of the world's greatest composers—will be made available to the people of the northwest at popular prices through a week's engagement of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company at the Lyceum theater in Minneapolis Armistice week. This company of internationally known opera stars has been engaged through the sponsorship of the Minneapolis Junior Association of Commerce to present nine of the better known operas including "Lohengren" "Aida", "Madame Butterfly", "Cavalleria Rusticana", "Pagliacci", "La Traviata", "Faust", "Ill Trovatore" and "Tannhauser." Goeta Ljunberg, who has been singing the dramatic soprano roles of the Wagnerian operas and other roles with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York for the last four years, is to be the guest star of the Minneapolis engagement.

Young Republicans of Minnesota to Meet in Minneapolis Nov. 1-2

Definite action to arrange to bring about a state meeting open to all the young men and women between the ages of 21 and 40 who are interested in Republican principles and the future welfare of our state and nation, was taken at a recent meeting of the temporary State committee of young Republicans. The committee has as it head Leslie L. Anderson of Minneapolis.

While definite principles and policies will be left to the State Convention, which will convene for a two day period commencing November 1st, 1935, at the Nicollet hotel, Minneapolis, it is the hope of most of those active in bringing about this organization that the main objective of the young men and young women in this State interested in the Republican principles of government will be to see that these principles are perpetuated and to lend their support to Republican candidates who will carry out Republican principles of government.

It is also the hope of most of the members in the organization work that renewed interest will be taken by the people of this state in the Republican party, and that in order to bring this about it is quite necessary that young men and young women become now actively interested in this organization.

Featuring the program Wednesday afternoon will be an address by J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food, as well as talks by other prominent speakers, in connection with the dedication of the Cass-Clay Cooperative Creamery association, of which A. H. Koops of Glyndon is president.

Dr. A. A. Dowell, superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, will preside as toastmaster at a banquet Wednesday evening at 6:30 in the Comstock hotel. In addition to entertainment supplied by the Moorhead Chamber of Commerce, there will be talks by Dr. E. W. With the Thursday morning program devoted to the men's and ladies' butter judging contest at the Cass-Clay creamery, a series of addresses will be given in the afternoon at the Armory, the speakers including F. B. Fitch, chief of the division of dairy husbandry at University Farm; Mrs. A. J. McGuire of the U. S. department of agriculture; B. J. Ommodt of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Minneapolis; and James H. TEACHERS SEE DOUBLE WITH SEVEN SETS OF TWINS

Chatfield—Altho the school at Chatfield is unable to boast of quintuplets, quadruplets or even triplets, it proudly challenges any town school of its size to equal a record of seven sets of twins attending classes at the same time. Hilda and Julia Loughrey, in the normal training department, are so alike their classmates are unable to tell them apart. In the Junior class are two sets of twins in Raymond and Ronald Kelsey, and Betty and Beth Hanson. Raymond and Ronald fool those who do not know them well, but Betty and Beth are not alike. In the Freshman class are Maynard and Myron Cocker, at whom the teachers just point, being unable to tell which is which. Elizabeth and Lyman Delaney, also freshmen, are very similar in appearance, also. In the 7th grade are Betty and Burton McBroom, very much alike, and in the 3d grade are Edwin and Elwin Hendickson, who can substitute for each other readily without anyone knowing the difference.

When coal is Chemacol Processed it is dustless, it is true. But, more than that, this combination of chemicals creates what is known as a catalytic agent—a "little helper". This ignites the natural gases in the coal, giving intense heat and prevents much of the waste of gas in the form of soot and smoke.

CORN-HOG MEN IN COUNTY O. K. U. S. PROGRAM

192 Out of 200 Signers Vote for Continuance of Program

VOTE IN STATE WAS SIX TO 1 IN FAVOR

Wallace Announces Aim Will be to Increase Pork Production

The New Deal's agricultural program won a decisive endorsement from Pennington county signers of corn-hog production control contracts when 200 out of 260 county signers responded Saturday to a mail ballot on the question of continuing the program. Of the total of 200 ballots cast 192 voted in favor of continuance and only eight against.

Every one of the reporting counties in which elections took place Saturday have returned a majority for the AAA program and in some counties the vote was more than 10 to 1 for the program.

"It looks to me as if the Minnesota farmer vote would go better than 7 or 8 to 1 and indicates clearly the farmers want a continuation of the AAA program of production control," Dr. Andrew Boss of University Farm, state AAA director, said today.

"The farmers believe it is better to maintain some semblance of production control rather than permit production to run wild and have all the marketing evils precipitated that accompany the production of surpluses," he said in expressing his satisfaction over the vote.

The vote was on continuing for the 1936-1939 crop years the AAA production control programs for corn and hogs. It was national in scope and all farmers who raise corn and hogs were invited to participate. It was expected that more than 1,000,000 farmers throughout the country would participate and that in Minnesota some 75,000 would express themselves.

It was indicated the pork production increase would be 25 to 30 per cent over this year. Present high prices of pork have been much under discussion recently, with critics of the New Deal stressing them, and AAA officials saying that the shortage of hogs was caused by the drouth, not by the AAA policy of controlled production.

While the aim will be to increase production, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace was quick to assert that efforts will be made to avoid "excessive over-production in subsequent years."

CHEVROLET MEN ATTEND SCHOOL HERE WEDNESDAY

Sixty From Thruout This Section Informed of New 1936 Models

One of the most unusual schools ever held here was conducted Wednesday at the Evelyn hotel where Chevrolet dealers and members of their organizations convened for an intensive course of study based on Chevrolet's new 1936 product, soon to be announced.

The schools are part of a countrywide program which has as its immediate objective the training of the entire Chevrolet retail personnel. Its ultimate goal is the realization of maximum customer satisfaction in the new Chevrolets, which a full knowledge of the car on the dealer's part alone can assure.

The sessions here were held under the direction of L. C. Lust, district manager, and were attended by dealers and salesmen from this city, Bemidji, Northome, Blackduck, Bagley, Fosston, Erskine, Fertile, Ada, Red Lake Falls, Argyle, Stephen, Kennedy, Hallock, Roseau, Warroad, Spooner, Greenbush, Newfolden, Middle River and Karlstad. A total of 60 were in attendance. Meanwhile, members of the local zone organization will hold similar training courses in other points thruout the Fargo zone, these, as well as the local program, being under the supervision of D. H. Smith, zone manager.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Lust just returned from Detroit, where they and their staff underwent a course exactly like that held for the retail organization. Thru the elaborate schedule of meetings Chevrolet will acquaint some 25,000 dealers and salesmen with the entire story about the new Chevrolet, prior to the announcement date.

Classroom methods, supplemented by such modern aids as slide films, are being used in the schools. "We have the assurance of the factory", said Mr. Smith, "that cars will be on hand in quantities for delivery on the announcement date. Orders received prior to the announcement will be given preferred position on the list."

Mayor Candidates Issue Statements

Rinkel, Prichard and Harris Appeal for Support of Voters Tuesday

The three candidates for the office of mayor this morning issued statements appealing to local voters for their support in the city election next Tuesday. The aspirants are Mayor Frank A. Rinkel, who was appointed to that office early this year following the resignation of former Mayor E. L. Tungseth; W. W. Prichard, Jr. who served as mayor from 1925 thru 1931; and Paul A. Harris, who served one term as alderman from the first ward.

The statements follow:

Frank A. Rinkel

"If elected to the office of mayor I will serve the city to the best of my ability. During the few months I have held this office I have interested myself in the problems of our light and power department. Now that we have procured adequate power I pledge my support to a program of gradual rate reduction. I will continue to put forth my best efforts to secure from the state highway department and other state and federal agencies proper recognition of the needs of this community. If elected I pledge an administration of law and order and that the police department will continue to be maintained for service to our citizens and not for political considerations. I will continue to cooperate with all individuals and groups in promoting the best interests of our city."

W. W. Prichard, Jr.

"The election campaign appears to have centered on the selection of a Mayor for the coming term. As in many elections the interest comes near to the boiling point and unfortunate statements are likely to be made, or are so misconstrued that they become a reflection on character. Such things are not only hard for a candidate to take but must also be borne by an entire family. Personally my aim has always been to refrain any attack upon an opponents good name. We have many good and capable citizens who might be willing to take a greater interest in government if elections were settled at the polls and not on street corners. It is unfortunate that all candidates cannot be elected, but after the battle is over, and I trust all workers will make it a clean fight, let us settle down and forget about it and devote our energy in behalf of the best town in Minnesota."

Paul A. Harris

"I have been a resident of Thief River Falls for about twenty-six years. During the time I have lived here I have taken a more or less active part in all public affairs, and I believe the people of our town know where I stand on all important questions. I have been a taxpayer and home owner in our city for nearly twenty-five years. If elected Mayor I shall look after the office in an efficient manner for the best interests of all the people of our city."

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Giving national recognition to the "Repeal Has Failed" campaign which the National Voice is conducting over the radio and through the press, the Christian Science Monitor last week carried a news story describing in detail the Voice program of activities.

Following is the item, which appeared in the Monitor of October 2:

LOS ANGELES—Over the air, on newsprint, and with its slogan rubber stamped on checks, drafts and private letters, the National Voice, independent weekly, now in its sixty-fifth year of publication, is waging a nationwide campaign under the banner, "Repeal Has Failed."

A barometer of increasing interest is the question of intoxicating liquor, the circulation of the locally printed tabloid has more than doubled in paid subscriptions in 18 months, according to H. Phelps Gates, managing editor. A recent special edition, printed with red headlines, emphasized beer as "the INtemperance drink of the nation," to counteract the brewery slogan.

At present, an effort is being made to arrange a 20-station hookup for a radio program on December 6, the second anniversary of national repeal. Weekly radio programs on prohibition have been given for nearly three years by the newspaper over 50,000-watt stations.

"These broadcasts have varied on four phases," explained Mr. Gates . . . "One week will touch on educational reasons against the use of alcohol. The next week will point out Biblical authority for taking a strong stand on the moral question involved. Then an inspirational program built around the political trend will be given. And the fourth type uses news flashes to bring out what actual evils drink has caused."

Theater and Dinner Party

Miss Lois Norlander entertained a number of her friends Friday evening at a theater party and a 9:30 dinner served in the dining room of the St. Luke's hospital. Gigantic Globe of Stone Graces 14-Story Temple

India rivals Egypt so far as the miraculous is concerned. The building of the Pyramids provides enough wonder, but they were, despite their size, "piled" up stone by stone, says the Montreal Herald.

India, on the other hand, can go one better by boasting, in Tanjore, a temple which rises to a height of 210 feet, consisting of 14 stories, and upon which rests a gigantic globe of stone weighing some 80 tons. The globe is made of solid granite, and much speculation has been going on for years as to how it got there.

In the case of the Pyramids the theory is given that the mass was slowly raised as the building grew in height. In the case of the temple in Tanjore, however, it is believed that the stone, brought from quarries from miles away, was conveyed by means of an inclined plane and 12 years of strenuous labor were needed to accomplish the task.

Origin of Croquet

Croquet, which was one of the most popular of games as early as seventy five years ago and which is still played in many sections of the country, has its origin in an old French pastime called "paille maille." It originated in southern France during the Thirteenth century and was introduced into England. During the reign of the Stuarts paille maille became very popular. Later the game was modernized in France into croquet as known for the past three-quarters of a century. England quickly took up the revised game and shortly after that it became a popular pastime in America.

R. C. CAMPAIGNS TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

Program Inaugurated in Local Chapters to Cut Down Farm and Home Accidents

The American Red Cross has launched a nation-wide campaign to eliminate hazards in the home and on the farm that now take an annual toll of nearly 35,000 lives, according to a recent statement by James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations.

"Every Red Cross chapter is being asked to play a part in this campaign," Mr. Fieser said. "Hazards in the various communities will be pointed out. The children in our schools throughout the country will be given a list of the home hazards and asked to enroll parents or relatives in the fight against them."

Nearly five million men, women, and children were temporarily disabled in the homes of America last year by accidents, officials of the National Safety Council have revealed. Most of the accidents in which persons were killed and injured could have been prevented, according to this safety agency, this fact alone largely motivating the Red Cross drive for accident elimination.

Active cooperation of social, civic, educational, veterans', and other groups has been secured. Red Cross inspection forms or home check lists will be distributed to homes where there are no children with the help of these organizations.

Due to inaccessibility and lack of compensation coverage, little or no pioneering has been done in the field of farm safety, the Red Cross states. However, more people were accidentally killed in agricultural pursuits last year than in any other occupation, making the need for safety education and farm home inspection apparent.

Other agencies now active in the accident-prevention field point to the fact that, because of its nearly 11,000 chapters and branches, the Red Cross has a unique opportunity to successfully promote a project of this nature.

Home accidents injure many more than do automobile accidents; they kill nearly as many, claiming an average of about 80 lives daily. In terms of dollars and cents, for the practical minded, home accidents cost more than $1,000 per minute.

Accidents of all types are Public Enemy No. 4. Only three diseases cause as many deaths each year, heart disease, cancer, and cerebral hemorrhage.

"The home is not the place of safety it is commonly supposed to be," said Mr. Fieser in commenting on the new Red Cross service to the community. "The Red Cross, as a part of its chartered obligation to prevent death and alleviate suffering, is conducting this humanitarian program to cut down the mounting toll of avoidable personal injury and death in the homes of the country."

The annual Red Cross roll call, running from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, is one of the means of backing such a campaign. All citizens of the United States are offered the opportunity to join and assist in the work of the organization.

Red Cross Has Busy Year; Statistics Impressive; Services Varied

Figures gathered at random from the year's report of the American Red Cross reveal the magnitude of the work being carried on by that organization.

Red Cross workers assisted 54,305 veterans; 837 Red Cross Public Health nurses paid 921,455 visits to 136,326 patients; 98,441 first aid certificates were issued while 44,493 persons were trained in life saving. Volunteer workers produced 2,102,843 surgical dressings, with 20,901 volunteers being on active duty throughout the year.

First Aid Treatment Taught Thousands By Red Cross

More than 187,000 certificates showing completion of first aid courses were issued last year by the Red Cross. This shows a gain of 56,000 certificates over the previous year. Approximately 64,200 boys in C.C.C. camps throughout the country passed first aid tests. Since the Red Cross first entered the field of first aid teaching, being one of the first organizations in the world to do so, almost one million persons have been trained in handling emergency treatment.

The annual report of the Red Cross further reveals that more than 337,000 copies of the Red Cross First Aid Handbook have been sold at home and abroad.

Junior Red Cross members increased by 402,000 enrollments during the year which has just passed. Junior members carried on an exchange of correspondence with junior members in 42 other countries having Red Cross Societies.

Last year 3,937,911 persons became members of the Red Cross. The annual roll call takes place each year between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

Early American Triumph

One of America's first industrial triumphs was the almost complete monopoly of the world's cotton markets.

When Children Get Angry

Jimmy had been watching his mother make a pudding. When it was put away in the icebox to cool, the two year old was much disappointed and upset. He screamed and kicked, and paid no attention to the explanation that it must cool before it could be eaten. He was hungry, and had been looking forward to eating the dessert right away.

Three year old Mary was being put to bed when she heard her father come home. Because the house was chilly, her mother refused to let her run down in her nightgown to greet him. A storm of tears followed, though Mary knew perfectly well her father would come up to kiss her good-night in a few minutes.

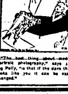
These are the kind of things that make children get angry. Indeed, having one's desires interfered with, being blocked and thwarted, tends to arouse anger no matter what the age of the person concerned. It stands out plainer in the case of the child, because his anger is more explosive; he hasn't yet had experience enough in handling his own feelings so that he can keep them from coming to the surface.

There are so many occasions for conflict, in a child's day, so many possibilities for misunderstanding. From morning to night we are making the child do things he isn't interested in, like washing his face, and going to the toilet. We have to interrupt his play to get him to come to a meal—even when we do it as tactfully as possible there is likely to be more or less resistance to get around. A dozen times a day the child wants to do something for himself that he is not quite equal to doing, and yet he resents our help. Another dozen times he is going to come up against the will of a playmate, who wants the toy he is playing with, or wants his suggestions followed as to how they shall play.

Surely, with all these problems arising, it is well worth while to remind ourselves daily that small children are utterly unable to cope with their emotions without exceedingly thoughtful help and guidance. Unless we help to steer them around some obstacles, and remove others from their path, the number of emotional explosions and the outcome will be pretty discouraging to the little learner.

Next time an occasion similar to the one described above comes along, Jimmie's mother will doubtless take pains to explain to him while he is watching her at her cooking whatever steps are necessary before the food will be ready to eat. Another time, Mary's mother will have presence of mind enough to say, as soon as she hears her husband's key in the lock, "Now you can surprise Daddy, and be all covered up in bed when he comes up to find you and tell you good night."

We cannot predict all the happenings that will provoke anger. But by planning the child's day so that there will be as few interferences and collisions as possible, and seeing to it that he doesn't derive satisfaction from making scenes; by allowing for fatigue, and inexperience, and not reacting violently ourselves when he does show temper, we will be providing a home atmosphere in which prevention of difficulties rather than repairing of damages is the rule.



"The best thing about modern portrait photography," says peeling Polly, "is that if the darn thing looks like you it can be easily changed."

Heart Disease Leads Various Ailments in Mortality Last Year

A recent important review has shown a great change in the front ranks of the "Men of Death" of 1935 in comparison with the men's disease enemies of 1915.

This review is encouraging according to a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today. It shows not only that some of the terrible of the ancient enemies are missing entirely, but that modern defenses against those that have taken their places are growing daily more effective.

Diphtheria, small pox and typhoid fever no longer even appear among the seven leading killers of 1935. Against these, to be sure, specific preventives have been developed and these three which so terrorized our grandparents may well be entirely wiped off the mortality lists in another 20 years.

Against the killers that have their places, no such specific preventives have been developed, but the death rates from every one of them will be cut enormously, even without such preventives, when men learn to check regularly on their physical condition and seek treatment for the earliest symptoms of disease.

The rank and death toll for each 100,000 population for 1934 is as follows: Heart disease, 162; cancer, 96; pneumonia, 65; chronic nephritis, 64.8; Cerebral hemorrhage, 63.2; tuberculosis, 59.3; accidents, (all forms), 57.8.

It is notable, in the opinion of the physicians that tuberculosis, owing very largely to the organized campaign of the Christmas Seals to educate everybody to the necessity of early treatment, has droped to sixth place in the list.

Heart disease and cancer rates will drop strikingly when everybody is as well aware of the importance of prompt attention to the earliest signs of trouble.

The Badminton Game

This game originated in India and was known as poona. It was played there for centuries without attracting much outside interest. In the 60s, English army officers took a fancy to it and in 1872, when some of them went home on furlough, they took equipment for the game with them. The formal introduction of poona to England was in 1873 in the home of the duke of Gloucestershire. The duke's castle was named Badminton and thus the game acquired its present name.

"Keeping Room"

The forerunner of the modern living room was known in Colonial days as the "keeping room" or "sitting room." Its panelled and painted walls, beamed ceiling and wide board floor scrubbed white or painted set the style for many a living room today. The keeping room was sometimes "the great" kitchen, but generally it was the best room in the house, placed in front of the kitchen.

A Pressing Matter

By EMELINE BOYER
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

"STAY where you are, Jole, and keep your hands in sight." Detective Big Jim Dunn halted the young man's nervous pacing. "We were anxious to see you," he went on in the same even voice, "so we got a pass-key from the janitor and came in."

"We want you to come down to headquarters," said the detective.

"What for?" asked Jole insolently. "You've got nothing on me."

"Too bad about Sol Moses," observed Big Jim. "He worked hard all his life, lived in two little rooms above his store, didn't even get glasses when he needed them. And now, when he'd put his boy through college and was gonna retire to the country, he gets bumped off on his way to the bank tonight." He paused, but Jole offered no comment. "Somebody was after his money, I guess," Big Jim continued, "but left without taking it, or his gun either. Maybe he was afraid that his shot had attracted too much attention."

"Whadda tryin' to feed me?" asked Jole derisively. "The banks close at noon on Saturday."

"But the night depository doesn't," answered the detective.

Jole was unimpressed. "What do I care about Sol Moses and his chicken-feed?" he asked airily.

Big Jim's reply was a question. "What have you been living on since Louie was sent up the river?"

"Oh, I have an income," replied Jole, grandly.

"You wouldn't think an old fellow like Sol would put up a fight," remarked the detective.

If he expected a reply, he was disappointed. With a yawn that looked real, Jole observed, "Well, drop in again some time—any time. I'm going to bed now."

"Since when do you go to bed at half past ten?" asked Big Jim.

"Is that what you wanted me to come down to headquarters to find out?" Jole inquired sweetly.

"No," said the detective. "We wanted to ask you where you were this evening."

"Reading and smoking?" asked Big Jim.

"Reading," answered Jole; "but I've cut out smoking." His glance strayed over the empty ash trays.

The detective's eyes followed him.

"I thought you might like to see this," he said, taking from his pocket a piece of cloth—cheap, shoddy suit material. "It was in Sol's hand," he explained. "Somebody in the crowd said it matched a suit you've been wearing."

Big Jim did not need to take the word of some one in the crowd. The material matched the suit that Jole had on.

But Jole's smile remained idyllic. "I don't feel any draft," he remarked, "but pr'aps you'd like to take a look." He rose and insolently turned about.

"Look it over, boys," Big Jim ordered. The policemen did, thoroughly.

"Well, I guess we've drawn a blank," he observed. "But we'll take a look around before we go."

At the end of an hour, everything had been subjected to a close scrutiny, without result. But Big Jim was not through. "You boys stay here and keep your eye on Jole," he ordered. "I'll be back soon."

In less than ten minutes, Big Jim returned. "Too bad," he told Jole, "that the new janitor didn't keep the incinerator going. I found another pair of pants down there just like yours; only the other pair had a piece torn out."

Jole's calm was apparently unbroken. "So what?" he asked, rising and moving aimlessly toward Big Jim. But with a sudden motion his aimlessness disappeared. He leaped for the door.

The detective was too quick for him. With a flying tackle that would seem impossible for one his size, he brought Jole to the floor.

• • •

"Lucky there was a new janitor up there," observed one of the policemen to Big Jim, after Jole had signed a confession.

"Yes," replied Big Jim. "Jole wouldn't have believed me if I had told him that an old hand had forgotten the incinerator."

"Did the piece in Sol's hand just fit in the hole in the pants?" asked the policeman.

"I don't know," was the reply.

"Didn't you try it?" The policeman was obviously shocked.

Big Jim reached in his pocket and pulled out a handful of twisted buttons.

"Here's what I found in the incinerator," he explained. "The janitor was right on the job."

"So it was a bluff," said the policeman admiringly. "But what made you think of a two-pants suit?"

"When Jole stood up for us to look him over," explained Big Jim, "I noticed that his pants were pressed, but that his coat was wrinkled. Just before I came on duty at six o'clock," he confessed, grinning, "my wife made me take off my coat and let her press it, because I looked the same way.

"I guess that's why they pay us only $160 a month on this job," he observed; "so that we have to buy two-pants suits."

Sap From Maples

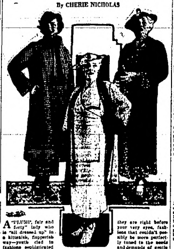
Shoppers Seek Personality Styles

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



A "PLUMP, fair and forty" lady who is "all dressed up" in a kittenish, flapperish way—youth clad in fashions sophisticated beyond its years—colors that make blonds look anemic and ashen or tones and tints that cause brunettes to lose glamour—hats with impossible head sizes, too little for the unbobbed, too big for shorn locks—well, what of it, why paint so crude, so unkind a picture?

Merely by way of contrast, dear reader, for the new spring and summer fashions are a direct denial to everything we have said in the foregoing paragraph. What is actually happening is that our fashion experts have sensed the need of gently, firmly and subtly leading women in the direction they should go in the fine art of dress. Which is why we are hearing so much these days in regard to the outstanding importance of personality fashions.

Among our modern fashion educators personality in dress ranks as a theme of major importance. Have you not noticed the signs of the times yourself? The courtesy and class-you-at-a-glance manner with which you are ushered to this or that specialized department the moment you step foot in a fashion emporium?

This is, indeed, a happy era which is dawning for shoppers in that dress-designers and coat and suit makers have become that personality-conscious they are making it their goal to create fashions that will tune perfectly to each and everybody's particular type. The modes here pictured are an outgrowth of this noble endeavor. They silence the lament of the middle-aged and matron who for years have been voicing complaint that they are not having a "fair deal" when it comes to clothes they "can wear," and that all the attention is concentrated on ingenue types. Here they are right before your very eyes, fashions that couldn't possibly be more perfectly tuned to the needs and demands of gentle women who have graduated into the alumnae of fashion's smartest smart set.

These stunning models for the up-to-the-minute-in-style matron were selected for our illustration from among a galaxy of fascinating styles as shown during a "personality fashions" revue which the Chicago wholesale market council presented at a midwest conference gala dinner. The fashion themes included clothes for the youthful matron, for matrons more advanced, for slender girlish ingenue types, for the larger young woman, for the outdoor and sports girl, for tall blond types and for medium tall brunettes. The moral to this story on personality fashions is, if while on tour in the shops fashion-seeking you do not see what you want, ask for it. It's there tuned to your individuality, simply awaiting your call.

Describing the trio of fashionable costumes for the matron as here pictured, the model to the left is a travel and street outfit especially designed for the youthful matron. It is tailored of a brown and white "broken-check" tweed in standard English cut. It may be worn equally well with dark or light accessories.

The street ensemble to the right of navy and white print silk with check sheer redingote coat is designed along simple slenderizing lines. The sailor hat adds charm.

Centered in the group is an ultra chic ensemble for the mature woman to wear to afternoon club functions or smart country club affairs. It is fashioned of a white sheer material with white and black stripe trimming.

ALL ABOARD for better bean dishes

KNOWING beans is the business of the modern cook. There are so many kinds and so many ways of preparing them that it is possible to have this good food in infinite variety. Even inventors have got busy and put on the market a very ingenious device for slicing string beans.

Canned beans are already sliced, tender and delicious to serve direct from the can. So are oven baked beans, limas, baby limas and many others. So set sail for uncharted islands of better fare - - and take along these recipes as a bon voyage gift:

Stringless Beans with Beurre Noir: Heat one and one-half cups of canned stringless beans. Drain and pour into a hot serving dish. Melt one and one-half tablespoons butter until a delicate brown, add one and one-half tablespoons vinegar. Heat and pour over the beans. Serve at once. This serves two persons.

Lima and Kidney Beans

Lima Beans En Casserole: Sauté one small minced onion and one shredded green pepper in one tablespoon fat for five minutes. Add the contents of one can of tomato soup and the contents of one No. 2 can of lima beans. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour into a buttered casserole and bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven — 375 degrees. This serves six persons.

Bean Stuffed Peppers: Cut off the stem ends of six green peppers and remove the seeds. Drain one No. 2 can of kidney beans, reserving the liquid, and add enough canned tomato soup to moisten well (about one-third or one fourth of a can of soup). Fill the peppers with the mixture. Cut two slices of bacon in short pieces, and put one on top of each pepper. Place in a pan with a little hot water and bake at 375 degrees until tender. Heat together the remaining soup and the liquid from the beans, and serve over the peppers. This serves six persons.*

Location of Fountain of Youth

The supposed location of the Fountain of Youth is in the Bimini islands, off the coast of Florida. Ponce de Leon stopped there in search of it. The spring to which the legend refers is still flowing there.

Wrens Most Fickle Birds

Wrens are the most fickle birds, avicets and grosbeaks probably the most loyal. Parent avicets take turns sitting on the eggs at 15-minute intervals, with almost clocklike regularity. The mother hummingbird, while hatching her brood, never allows her mate to approach her nest, and fights him off if he attempts to do so. The female magpie builds a large, round nest that has no visible opening, and then covers it completely with sharp thorns to thwart unwelcome visitors.—New York Times.

1936 CHEVROLET CARS HERE SOON

As Chevrolet dealers and salesmen from this section of the Fargo Zone returned to their homes Wednesday after an intensive schooling on the new 1936 Chevrolets, soon to be presented, Mr. D. H. Smith, Zone Manager announced that the first shipment of these new cars is now enroute to Thief River Falls, assuring ample cars for dealers, both for display purposes at announcement time and for delivery to early purchasers. A second shipment he said, will be on the way in a few days.

The schools being held here are part of a countryside educational program designed to acquaint the entire Chevrolet retail organization numbering some 85,000 with every fact about the forthcoming Chevrolets.

"Not only the selling points about the car, but the whole story behind its design and its manufacture, is being given the dealer and the dealer's salesmen", said Mr. Smith, in the belief that the more they know about the product, the greater will be the owner's satisfaction in his investment. Since owner satisfaction is now recognized as the greatest single factor in successful automotive merchandising, a program of this sort, expensive as it is, is more than justified by its results.

"Of equal importance with the training of the dealers and salesmen is the instruction course which every Chevrolet service mechanic has just undergone, to equip him for intelligent servicing of the new Chevrolets. The combined result of these two countrywide training programs, we believe, will be a higher degree of owner enthusiasm than any automobile has ever enjoyed." 44t

Tallest People

According to the anthropometric observations of several scientists, the highest recorded stature of a race is 71.02 inches for males of the Sara tribe of Upper Nile region in north Africa. The females of this race, says the Washington Star, measure 66.2 inches in height. The geographical distribution of those human beings who are the tallest of their kind is capricious. They preponderate in areas so widely separated as Scotland, Montenegro, Rajputana, Sumatra, the Marquesas islands and Patagonia, in addition to several African groups, including the one mentioned.

Over 400 Years Old

A cemetery dating from the time of the Empress Marie Theresa and a revolving Roman wall were discovered during the demolition of the district called Taban in Austria. Gem studded balconies and a massive oven used to bake bread for the Turkish army 400 years ago were among the finds.

RED CROSS REPORTS BUSY YEAR AIDING DISASTER VICTIMS

Tornadoes, Fires, Hurricanes, Floods, Epidemics, Make Record of Year

The American Red Cross assisted sufferers in more disasters throughout the United States during the year ending June 30, 1935, than through any similar period in the peace-time history of the organization, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman, revealed recently in commenting on the annual report which has just been released.

"The 128 domestic disasters in which the Red Cross extended aid during the fiscal year exceeded by 56 per cent the average over the past few years," Admiral Grayson said. "Not only was the period heavy in the number of disasters, but the geographical distribution was wide, with 37 States and 251 counties affected.

"Through these disasters and times of community distress, the Red Cross assisted 110,000 persons," the Admiral disclosed.

Spectacular service was rendered in many disasters because of the uniqueness of the problems and the far-flung points affected. The work of the National organization covered in the report carries stories of the Morro Castle burning; the trench-mouth epidemic in the beautiful San Luis Valley of Colorado; the great fight over a wide front in the midwest dust bowl against respiratory diseases; floods, hurricanes, and tornadoes in many sections of the United States.

In addition to the disasters taking place within the continental limits of this country, Admiral Grayson pointed out that work had been made necessary by disasters in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines, where 26 disasters were recorded in that archipelago. The American Society also assisted the Red Cross of two foreign countries in caring for victims of floods and earthquakes.

The variation of types of disasters called for expert council on matters relating to health and nutrition as well as epidemic prevention. Last year's work proved the value of the structure and administration of the Red Cross disaster relief, the Admiral said, the very frequency of occurrence and the variety of types constituting a severe test of the organization chartered by Congress to handle this type of National relief.

Expenditures of the Red Cross for relief of persons stricken by disasters within the continental United States amounted to $164,411. In addition, $15,000 was sent to the Philippines to assist them in three major relief operations necessitated by typhoons, $5,000 went to victims of the Indian earthquake, and $5,000 to Poland for victims of severe floods. A number of smaller foreign emergencies called for sums totaling $2,500.

The months of February, March, April, May and June were heaviest for tornado disasters. Floods occurred throughout the year. Serious fires calling for Red Cross assistance took place during July and December. A devastating explosion took place in Tennessee during April. Most of the hurricanes struck States along the east coast during the fall and early winter.

"All of this assistance to persons in distress," Admiral Grayson pointed out, "was only possible through generous contributions made by citizens in all sections of the country."

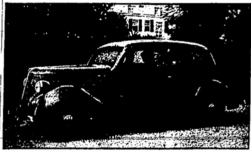
Most of this support of the disaster relief service comes from the annual Roll Call held each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

The Red Cross has assisted 34,365 veterans in clearing their cases through the U. S. Veterans' Bureau this past year.

First Bread Made

Wholewheat bread, although the first bread made, is often referred to as the "invention" of Sylvester Graham, an American lecturer on temperance and food reform. In 1833, in a treatise, "A Defense of the Graham System of Living," he set forth the attributes of wholewheat bread as a health food and included it in his vegetable dietary regimen, which at one time had many thousands of adherents throughout the United States.

Longer Lines in Ford V-8 for 1936



THE LONGER and more graceful lines of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are well illustrated in this view of the popular De Luxe Tudor Sedan. The new longer hood extends gracefully over the attractive new radiator grille. Wide streamlined front fenders, with an imposing flare, shroud the tires and house the horns behind chromium grilles. New design steel wheels with 12½-inch hub caps are handsome and easy to clean. Bucket-type front seats are exceptionally comfortable. This body type, of welded steel like all Ford V-8 bodies, is also available without de luxe appointments at lower cost.

How to Dodge Poultry Diseases During Winter

Prevention of disease among poultry is far wiser and less costly than the cure, says Dr. R. Fenstermacher, veterinary division, University Farm. By following a few general rules, serious loss in the flock can be eliminated. Here are Dr. Fenstermacher's recommendations:

Before the flock is put into the house for the winter, the house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Remove litter from the floor, roosts and side walls, sweep the dust from the ceiling, and scrub the floor and roosts and the side walls with a hot lye-water solution of four tablespoons of Lewis lye and a little soap in 12 quarts of hot water. Rinse with clear water, allow to dry, and then apply a disinfectant, following closely the manufacturer's directions. Insist on buying a disinfectant that is approved by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Sunlight and proper ventilation are important to the health of the birds. Windows on the south side of the poultry house will permit the most sun to enter. Moisture within the hen house may cause roup. If this cannot be controlled through ventilation, change the litter oftener.

When transferring the flock to their winter quarters, select only the number of birds you have room for, as overcrowding increases the risk of disease. Cull the flock carefully to get the most vigorous. After the birds have been confined for the laying season, it is better not to let them outside even on a warm day during the winter, as they may develop colds. Pullets catch cold very readily which makes them easy marks for more serious troubles, such as roup and laryngotracheitis.

Many flocks owners feel that it is essential to worm all birds—put into winter quarters, but this should not be necessary for pullets raised on clean ground, Dr. Fenstermacher says.

History of Sound

The history of sound is practically identical with the progress of mathematics and dynamics from the time of Galileo and Newton to the present, and few dates can be assigned to definite discoveries. The laws of vibrations of a stretched string were first deducted mathematically by Brook Taylor in 1715, and by Daniel Bernoulli in 1755. Longitudinal vibrations of bars were investigated by Chladni (1756-1827. The history of the phenomena of the sense of hearing, harmony, etc., begins probably with the earliest days of civilization. It was known to Pythagoras in the Sixth century B. C. Much research was conducted by Helmholtz, beginning with 1854.

"Flowage Rights"

The expression 'flowage rights' refers to the right of overflowing land when a dam is built for the purpose of furnishing irrigation or power. The person whose land is overflowed has a right to compensation for any loss. When the right of overflowing a person's land is purchased, this is referred to as flowage rights.

VOTE TUESDAY

In previous city elections voters have been asked to lend their support to some sort of a "Citizen's League" ticket or a list of "People's Party" candidates, but apparently we are going to be spared this sort of nonsense in the election to be held here next Tuesday. The reason for this departure from old usages probably is that old lines and alliances have been peculiarly shifted. There still are alliances and all that sort of thing but the strategy of this campaign up to the present time seems to be to keep the various combinations concealed. If these combinations were all revealed they would present a rather ridiculous picture of political bedfellows.

And this situation probably comes close to being as it should be. In a community of this size any group of candidates for city office are pretty well known to all of the voters. From the list of names presented on the ballot the average voter will be able to make an intelligent selection and vote for those thought to be best qualified to fill the various offices. There are no serious or clear cut issues involved. It is a matter of choosing a group of men who will be able to meet the problems of government as they arise and in most cases the judgment of the majority probably will be a fair verdict.

With two exceptions all of the members of the present council are seeking re-election. In their behalf it might be said that no city administration has been called upon to solve as many diverse problems during a two year period as they. In addition to more than the usual number of regular administration problems, this group has had many other activities thrust upon it. The new bridge and the approach to that bridge required their co-operation with state officials. When they took office they had a loosely organized CWA forced upon them, and from that time on various federal relief programs have made it necessary for them to adopt local improvement projects. In many of their activities it probably is true that mistakes were made, but, taken as a whole, they perhaps did as well under the circumstances as any group of men could do devoting only their spare time to the work. Considering such things as their enactment of a proper zoning ordinance, their good deeds would greatly outnumber their mistakes under even the most critical scrutiny.

As mayor, Frank Rinkel has filled the office only a few months and, holding that office without direct authority from the voters, he naturally has not been as forward in asserting himself as he might otherwise have been. During these few months however, he has made friends and it is because these friends have urged him to seek election that he is a candidate for the office. The office has meant a personal sacrifice to him. Because he was mayor he refused to submit a bid when the city bought a truck, for which he deserves some credit. While he is not an orator, he makes a favorable impression as a speaker, and as a contact man for the community he has done effective work in securing favorable consideration from outside agencies for local needs. The community will make no mistake if it retains him as diplomatic head of the city for another two years.

Opposing the present officials in the election are many competent citizens, some with previous experience, who probably will be able to handle the affairs of the city as well as those now in office. And that should be the major consideration of the voters when they go to the polls next Tuesday. We are all agreed locally that we have the best city of its size in the state. In recent years we have made constant progress. Some of this progress is undoubtedly due to the fact that conditions have been favorable in our territory. But some of it is due, too, to the fact that we have been able to work together and thru our united effort have been able to take advantage of favorable conditions in the building of our city. So, while the election is important, let's not take it so seriously that we can't forget our petty differences again after it is all over. May the best men win and after the results are known we can all settle down to the really serious problem of planning our Christmas shopping. There will then be only forty-one shopping days left. But vote Tuesday.

One of the difficulties of the work relief program in the northern part of the country is to find the type of work that can be carried on during the extremely cold weather of the winter months. In the nature of things most of this work must be done out of doors and during the cold weather months little of such work can be done efficiently. It is during these months, too, that the need for relief is the greatest. In order to meet this situation it has been suggested that relief workers be permitted to work longer hours during the period that outdoor work can still be done comfortably and efficiently and thus build up a credit for themselves on which they can draw during the extremely cold period. This probably would be agreeable to the workers themselves and from the standpoint of getting something done for the money that is spent such an arrangement certainly would be justified.

BILLIONAIRE BIM GUMP

Sidney Smith, creator of the Andy Gump comic strip, which for many years has provided entertainment for millions of Americans, is dead. Few of those who enjoyed his cartoons knew Sidney Smith but poor Andy and his rich Uncle Bim had warm friends in every part of the country. In creating these queer characters it is possible that Smith drew extensively from his own experiences in life. It seems that he himself had always had more or less difficulty in money matters and it probably was for this reason that so many of the difficulties of his characters centered around their financial problems.

An old friend of Smith's draws on his memory for the following interesting sketch, published in the current issue of Business Week:

> Sidney Smith is gone! Of all the creators of comic strips, he was the most perfectly fitted for the role. Life could never tire or mature him. He was a boy to the end. Enthusiastic, simple, generous, he went on through the slow years from one modest little cartooning job to another, until suddenly he made a spectacular and lasting success; and it didn't change him essentially. He spent a lot of money because he had more than he could spend. He lived, as a popular song has it, "in a great big way." Life for him was as colorful and joyfully simple as one of his own strips.
>
> We worked on newspapers with him far back in the pre-war days. When he was drawing Old Doc Yak, before the Gumps brought him gold, we had a desk adjoining his. One morning we came in and found Sid at his desk. He was sleepless and haggard. Before him was a heap of checkbooks, bank statements, and old checks.
>
> "I can't figure out what's the matter," he said helplessly. "All the money I make I put right in the bank, and on the first of every month they tell me I'm overdrawn."
>
> We asked him how the bank's calculations jibed with his own. But he hadn't made any. We looked at his checkbooks and found that the stubs were all blank. He didn't know what they were for. We spent half the morning going over his deposits and checks, getting him all straightened out.
>
> Figures and finance were always over his head. But he gave daily pleasure to millions of people, and we know some bankers who're among them.

Progress is being made with the erection of light posts along the new east side boulevard but nothing definite has been done as yet toward securing a suitable name for what in a few years will be a beautiful approach to the city. It still is Johnson Street officially although people have started referring to it as the Parkway. One suggestion that is not without merit is that this boulevard be designated as Memorial something or other with the idea of eventually dedicating each island as a memorial to some particular group or event. There has been much talk at various times of such memorials. The Legion, for instance, has considered a suitable memorial for those who sacrificed their lives in the World War. There has also been talk of memorials to the pioneers who settled here and to the lumber jacks and the industry of which they were a part. According to this idea each island would eventually be the site of a fine monument. And there undoubtedly are possibilities along this line, but the important thing now is to find a name that will meet with general approval. In considering names, of course, the possibilities of future development should be kept in mind.

Women can now buy artificial eyebrows by the yard. They come in assorted styles and colors on invisible tape that can be cut off to any desired length. But while great progress is being made in this field, little or nothing is being done by the scientists to provide a life-like substitute for hair on bald headed men.

At a recent football game one of the fans became so excited he jumped from his box to the field from where he was rushed to a hospital with a broken leg and minus a couple of teeth. Why oh why do we tolerate so rough a sport.

It's a disagreeable subject and we dislike very much mentioning it but don't forget that real estate taxes are due today.

READY FOR THE DUCK

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

We are going duck hunting this week.

We have a license issued by the great state of Minnesota. It tells about the color of our eyes, lies about the color of our thinning hair, embarrasses us by the facts of age and weight. That license has been signed in ink.

Upon aforesaid license there is properly appended a duck stamp, purchased from Uncle Sam at the cost of one dollar.

Our gun has been fixed to comply with the law.

In one pocket we have the game laws of the state telling us what we cannot and can do, and how many we can kill if we have luck.

In another pocket we have the laws and regulations of the government of the United States, which we will compare in idle moments in the duck blind with the laws of the state and the regulations of the Conservation Commission.

Our watch has been timed and certified to by a jeweler who regulates the time pieces of the railroad men.

We have a table showing the hours of sunrise and sunset, on which any law should be based upon this great natural phenomenon.

In our pocket is a calendar, properly marked with the dates of killing thereon.

We also have a map of the state showing thereon the counties of the state and especially the [illegible] refuges and state parks.

With us will be a trained biologist to warn us that the oncoming bird is a bufflehead or a ruddy duck and to [illegible] all of our shots as legal.

[illegible] and we shall take a notary public with us.

Now [illegible], on the duck.

There was a traffic jam between Glencoe and Chaska on Sunday as pheasant hunters were returning to the cities. Cars were lined up [illegible] [illegible] and the drivers did not know that the delay was caused by a line of [illegible] [illegible] that game wardens were watching cars for pheasants in excess of the legal limit, and a minute later the ditch beside the highway was filled with pheasants, thrown there [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] pursuit.—Morris Tribune.

Benefits aggregating $3,000,000 have been made available to counties and municipalities sponsoring projects making it possible for drouth relief clients to work out their obligations. L. P. During prohibition days, operators of stills became so expert and installed such excellent equipment that the quality of their produce nearly approached some legal whiskies. Now, however, David R. Arundel, state liquor control commissioner, reports that the quality of moonshine and alcohol has dropped to the lowest levels. Analyses by the control office chemist has revealed pollution of every nature in confiscated moonshine. Each month the quality grows worse, this, Mr. Arundel believes, is evidence that the big stills have disappeared and that the few that remain are due for an early demise, if for no other reason than the inferiority of the liquor they produce.

SHRAPNEL REMOVED 17 YEARS AFTER WAR

Rochester.— James Starkey, park board secretary at Rochester has added another memento to his collection of World War relics. The souvenir is a piece of shrapnel which lodged in his left foot in the American advance at Montfaucon, in 1918. After carrying the piece of jagged metal, more than an inch long, in his foot for 17 years, the veteran had it removed last week. Two other bits of shrapnel are still in his foot.

Three New CCC Camps to Improve Roadsides in Tourist Districts

Roadside development work accomplished by a North Shore CCC camp the past year under direction of the state highway department was so successful that the U. S. Department of Interior has established three new camps in Northern Minnesota to continue this type of activity, according to a highway department announcement.

Under the auspices of the National Parks service, new camps of 200 men each have been set up near Garrison on Mille Lacs lake, two miles north of Walker on Leech Lake and near Knife river on Lake Superior. In addition, the Gooseberry river camp on the North Shore has been authorized to do 5,000 man-days of roadside development work, and the Spruce creek camp between Lutsen and Grand Marais is continuing in the work. The Spruce creek camp was established in 1934, and its work was responsible for the decision of federal authorities to expand this type of CCC project.

One of the jobs planned by the highway department for the Mille Lacs camp is construction of a parking concourse on Highway 169 overlooking the lake two miles south of Garrison. The park will be 60 feet above the water on the summit of a wooded knoll, and will give a beautiful view of Mille Lacs lake.

On Highway 371 about five miles north of Walker a parking concourse is to be built overlooking Leech lake from a height of several hundred feet. The Knife river camp also is to build a parking concourse facing Lake Superior and giving a view of Duluth in the distance. A Lake Superior overlook was completed by the Spruce creek camp this year.

Besides constructing parking concourses, the CCC workers will also widen highway shoulders, flatten ditch and back slopes, remove fire hazards in the woded roadsides and restore natural woods growths where advisable. In all these projects the labor and materials are furnished by the CCC while the plans and general supervision are supplied by the highway department, so the cost to the state is very small.

Strange Horseless Carriage

One of the strangest horseless carriages in history was made in Nurnberg, Germany, in 1649. It was operated by three men, one of whom steered it from a front seat while the other two, concealed in the rear, propelled it by turning a crank. Although its greatest speed was only two miles an hour, writes Mrs. F. Ogden, Jr., El Reno, Okla., in Collier's Weekly, it had a very effective gadget for making people get out of the way. A large figure of a dragon on the "hood" could spout water for a distance of 15 feet.

Chihuahua, Mexican Dog, Supposed to Be Oldest

The Chihuahua is a Mexican dog, named for the northern state of Mexico bordering along the Rio Grande. It is supposed to be the oldest dog in America, having been bred by the Aztec Indians, states a writer in the Washington Post. The outstanding characteristic of the breed is its large ears, held erect and slightly flaring to the side.

The standard describes the Chihuahua as a tiny dog, weighing from 2 to 6 pounds, compact, alert and terrier-like. His coat is short, smooth and soft of almost any color, preferably solid or tan and, like Chiquita's black and white. He has an apple domed head; large, luminous, dark eyes, and a short, moderately pointed nose. His body is compact short coupled but slender, well ribbed, tucked up in the loins, and deep-chested. The legs are slender, well sinewed, with small dainty feet and strong, moderately long nails. His tail is fairly long and carried cycle shaped.

Hours and Minutes

The splitting up of the hour and the minute each into what is seemingly a curious division, sixty parts, is a link with one of the most ancient of peoples—the Chaldeans, or early Babylonians. The Chaldeans (so named by Daniel as meaning "astronomers") reduced their study of the heavens to something almost mathematically exact. They reasoned that the sun made a complete circle of the heavens in the course of the year and so arrived at the degree, approximately the distance traveled by the sun each day. It was their custom to reckon in terms of sixties and multiples of sixty. [illegible] [illegible] couple and split up the hour into sixty minute parts and [illegible] the minute, too, was divided into sixty parts and so we got the seconds [illegible] the second [illegible] of the hour.

University Plans to Provide New Statewide Instruction for Adults

What may prove to be a more important statewide contact of the University of Minnesota than any other except the Agricultural Extension Division is seen by university officials in the Adult Education Building that will be started on the campus December 1.

Dr. L. D. Coffman, president, has long had the idea that a building on the campus to which practicing members of professional and vocational groups could be brought for intensive short courses intended to give them the "very latest word" in their lines of endeavor, would be tremendously worth while.

His dream is now to be realized in a new building for which the institution will put up 55 per cent of the cost from its dormitory funds while 45 per cent will come from Washington, via PWA.

The building will provide living and eating quarters, an auditorium and conference rooms for about 100 to 150 people. To these quarters will be brought, for example, a group of physicians, dentists, clergymen, school teachers, newspapermen or engineers who can meet on common ground and who are willing to spend two, three or four weeks hearing lectures by members of the university faculty.

As Dr. Coffman has brought out, science, in particular, moves forward so rapidly that even in the university it is sometimes necessary to repeat for senior students some course that they took in their freshman year. In the medical school this has actually taken place. It is common knowledge that one of the main tasks of an able professional man is to keep up with progress in theory, practice and procedure in his own field. It is believed that when the idea has caught on the university will be host during any year to many hundreds from all over Minnesota in the "refresher" courses that will be offered.

Dr. W. A. Billings Warns Turkey Men of Selling to Strangers

As turkey marketing time draws near, Dr. W. A. Billings of the agricultural extension service, University Farm, warns growers not to "give" their birds away by dealing with unknown buyers. "Knowing the firm you sell to," is the way to avoid disappointment, according to Billings. "Any reliable buyer of turkeys has a financial rating. If you don't know how to investigate, your local banker will gladly do it for you.

"In Minnesota there are four or five common ways to dispose of turkeys," Dr. Billings says. "First, you may place your birds in a cooperative pool. You will take a cash-in-advance part-payment and the final settlement made when the pool is sold. This may be a couple of weeks later. This is a safe method.

"Second, you may sell them to other regular dealers who will buy your birds outright. This is also safe, for we have many reliable firms in the Northwest.

"Third, you may ship direct to firms in far places. Maybe they have contacted you by mail or through a representative who called at your farm. Be sure to investigate dealers in distant places; the good ones will welcome your interest and gladly furnish references.

"Fourth, you may huckster or peddle your birds in some nearby town or city to butchers, or even make house-to-house sales direct to consumers. This is not always to be recommended because it often leads to price cutting between the growers themselves. I have known instances where the grower took less than he would have received in the pool and not had the work or worry, either.

"Finally, if you live in an isolated place you may haul your birds to some crossroads handler and take whatever is offered. It is better as a rule to sell at some point where two or more buyers are competing for your birds. Whichever way you select, be sure to get your money."

List Your Turkeys Early for Dressing

If you have turkeys to market for the Thanksgiving Turkey Pool, see us for dressing. We are equipped to dress them for you. When dressed in our plant, the pin feathers come out easier, and the general appearance of the bird shows up better than if they are dry picked. Bring in a few birds on one of the first days and see for yourself. It will relieve you of a lot of unnecessary work if you bring them in alive and let us dress them for you. Listing your turkeys with us is no obligation on your part. If for any reason you cannot bring them in on the date that you pick out, this is all right. Your birds may not be ready to market when you come to sort them out for this market and you may decide to hold out until a later market.

MORE THAN 15,000 ARE NOW AT WORK ON WPA PROJECTS

Christgau Says Jam Holding up Start on Jobs is Now Broken

District WPA directors this week were authorized to begin work on 338 new projects, to employ 11,862 more men and women and to expend an additional $2,941,018 in federal funds. Sponsors' contributions to the same projects will amount to $595,950. None of the projects is in Pennington County.

The new authorizations for work brought the total projects for which $12,861,245 is now available to district directors to 626, estimated as sufficient to employ 30,838 workers.

Meanwhile, the district officials reported to Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, that 15,157 were actually at work on 282 projects in operation. Of this number 14,700 came from relief rolls. The goal of the Minnesota WPA is to have 25,000 on the job by Nov. 1 with the balance to be assigned to work before the end of next month.

With more than 15,000 at work, there remains approximately 40,100 employables on the relief rolls still to be placed on jobs, the WPA administrator said. Other federal agencies operating in the state with work relief funds are expected to provide employment for about 17,700.

"In the last few days", Mr. Christgau said, "the comptroller general's office in Washington has given us funds for as many projects as we previously received in a month. The new projects authorized are of a diversified nature and well scattered throughout the state. In other words, the jam is broken."

87-YEAR OLD YOUNGSTER GOES ON 25 MILE HIKE

Appleton—Here's inspiration or suggestion or hope or something for the modern young people who must use the family car—or the thumb—if they're going to visit the neighbor across the street. John Kepner, of Holloway, near Appleton, who will be 87 years of age on his next birthday, Dec. 29, took a 25 mile stroll from Benson to Appleton on Sunday, Oct. 6. And then just to taper it off, walked back to his home at Holloway in the evening. He took off from Benson at six o'clock in the morning and reached Holloway at 11 only five hours later, in spite of strong head winds. He stopped awhile there and resumed his journey in time to reach Appleton at three in the afternoon. Mr. Kepner has been taking long walks for a number of years and when he goes out scorns numerous proffers of lifts offered by passing motorists.

N. W. SCHOOL TO HONOR PARENTS AT EVENT SATURDAY

Invitations Have Been Extended to Parents of All Students

The largest group of fathers and mothers ever assembled on the Northwest School campus is expected to attend the special Parents' Day celebration which will be held Saturday of this week. Invitations have been extended to all parents to visit classes during the forenoon, join with the student body at a special dinner at noon, attend a special student program and inspect the home project exhibits during the afternoon and remain for the school party during the evening. A social hour is also being arranged for the late afternoon when parents will meet members of the faculty and exchange greetings with visitors from all parts of Northwestern Minnesota.

According to Superintendent A. A. Dowell, Parents' Day has developed into one of the most important events of the year. It offers an excellent opportunity for parents to acquaint themselves with the work of both the school and the station. All buildings will be open for inspection including the three modern dormitories, hospital, dining hall, gymnasium, library and class and laboratory buildings.

Registrar J. W. Milnar reports a total enrolment of 350 for the fall term which represents an increase of ten per cent over the previous record established in 1929. The proportion of girls to boys has also increased so that for the first time the girls represent over one-third of the total enrolment. Last year over 200 parents from fourteen counties were in attendance. Due to the marked increase in enrolment, plans are being made to accommodate a greater number this year.

SCHOOL HONORS SENIOR MEMBERS OF GRID SQUAD

Pep Fest is Held to Honor Senior Football Players

Robert Wessling opened the pep fest prior to the Bemidji game by calling on two football players, Victor Jung, an out-going player, and Milton Nesse. Vic, being a senior and playing his last football game for L. H. S., advised Milt "You've got to be—!". But he couldn't finish his advice because the pep squad interrupted him by singing, "You've Got to Be a Football Hero." With the students joining them, the squad sang the school song. Alyce Protz accompanied the singing.

Bob then called on the senior members of the team to say a few words. Captain Gunderson said that they were going to put up a fight.

James Nesse, who appears to be slow every where except on a football field, according to Bob, wouldn't give a speech for every one knew "there was going to be a game and that the team was going to fight."

Art Nelson, who after the football season was over, would have more time to spend with Lois, told a joke about two Irishmen.

Gibson, who may be small but can hit them hard, said, "The bigger they are the harder they fall."

Jack Sjooren, of whom Bob wanted us to form our own opinion, told that everyone would fight.

"Ade" Lorentson, who according to Coach is the smartest player on the team, said "Wait and see the football game".

Hetland quoted Gibson's saying to add emphasis.

Gilbert Mickelson, who appeals to the girls, would try not to disappoint them.

Victor Jung, who this time was not interrupted [illegible] the team goes down, it w[illegible] fighting."

Chester Myrom, a[illegible] of L. H. S., gave the pep talk. He said "It was a fine day, we had a fine team; Bemidji had a fine team; and everything was fine." He advised us to follow a famous coach's advice to his team, "Win if you can, lose if you must." Mr. Myrom closed by urging us to carry the team across the line to victory.

Coach Lee [illegible] following joke: "On a [illegible] Mr. [illegible]mers and Mr. Crafts [illegible] fishing. They had ve[illegible] ing. Mr. Chalmers [illegible] mark the spot." [illegible] an X off the boat. [illegible] after considerable thought, [illegible] "Yah, but how do you know we're going to get the same boat?"

Bob who "wasn't the only one who wasn't comfortable" let the football heroes go to their seats.

Robert Bouville, with his rhythmic touch, played a melody of piano selections.

Mr. Claffy, who gave some announcements, closed the pep fest by having the team leave the assembly first.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

Noticed about town: the sad faces of all the freshmen Thursday and Friday. (Poor things, they didn't know what it was all about. They'll learn!)

Welcome sight around high school—Bud Kelly back after a few week's absence. Sho' is good to see y' all again, Bud!

We wonder why a certain torrid junior romance went on the rocks Friday night. (Maybe there are new interests. Is that it, Jack and Margaret? Or am I wrong?)

It has been said that Thief River hates Warren, but certain high school girls certainly didn't show it over the week-end. (How about Helen S and Lucille W?)

Last week your reporter made the statement that a certain group were looking forward to Saturday night gatherings at a senior girl's home. Some seemed to think a [illegible]ior girl was involved but your reporter was right. It's a senior.

The juniors are going to have a swell class play from word going around. (They oughta with a swell hero like Bob and as swell a heroine as Brunell. Agree?)

Certain recent arrivals to Lincoln certainly have done fast work. (Enjoying riding Bob and Roger?)

A certain senior girl is making plans for a "Hen party". Here's your chance, boys!

We wonder who our [illegible] king seems to have taken a fancy to. Remember Sunday? Fun, eh, what, Mona?

How many of you know that Esther L. has a new heart's interest in a post grad? (Our juniors surely seem to be a peppy bunch.)

A certain senior boy has taken a sudden fancy to a junior girl. (How about Malcolm M and Beatrice B?)

Bride Humiliated as Father Coughs

"I was giving my daughter in marriage. As the minister asked 'Who giveth this woman' I was suddenly overcome by a deep cough and could not answer for nearly a minute, casting a pall over the entire ceremony. MAKING THE ROUNDS

The students taking the Agriculture I course are studying dairy products and their productions. The Agriculture IV classes are working on the Triple A and its effect on farmers and consumers.

Mr. Lee's Economics classes have been studying money and commerce and are now studying different types and kinds of money and the banking history. His sociology classes have finished studying crime and punishment and are now studying marriage and divorce. They have also started studying the liquor problem. Once a week all classes study a magazine called "Our Times".

In the listing of the honor roll last week the name of Eleanor Larson of the Normal Training Department was omitted.

Professor Harold C. Hand of Leland Stanford University, former Lincoln High School principal, discussed educational pro[illegible] over an NBC radio hookup last Monday, October 28.

During the football game on Friday the feature department of the Prowler staff was busily occupied in taking action snap-shots. Some of these pictures will be placed in the 1936 Prowler.

NIGHT PEP FEST IS SUCCESSFUL

Night Rally and Parade Are Pronounced Successes

The night pep fest was held successfully last Thursday evening. The parade started at seven-thirty at the high school. The Auxiliary Drum Corps, the pep band, pep squad, and student body marched through town, stopping on Third Street to give several yells.

After the parade the pep fest and bon fire were held on the baseball diamond behind the high school. First the cheer leaders led the students in several yells. Then Coach Lee was called upon to say a few words about the game with Bemidji. Mr. Montague and Mr. Chalmers also gave their opinions of the coming game. The pep band performed and ended by playing the school song while the students joined in singing. A few more yells were then given. Several of the football players were called upon to say something about the game with Bemidji.

Lincoln High School expresses its appreciation to the Auxiliary Drum Corps for [illegible] interest which [illegible] showed in [illegible] pep fest.

RAMBLING REPORTER REVEALS

(Editor's note—One of our ambitious reporters has gone ahead to the Junior-Senior Masquerade and attempted to describe the costumes. Perhaps it will give you an idea.)

This is station LHS, ladies and gentlemen, broadcasting the annual Junior-Senior Masquerade which is being held at the Sons of Norway Hall this evening, November 15. I am going to attempt to give you a person by person report of the people attending.

We have people of all races, ages, and decades. Right here in front of us we have a lovely little lady in a quaint costume and it is none other than Betsy Ross. Over to our left we see three odd-looking men in kilts and of all things they are playing bag pipes. They make one want to visit scenic Scotland with its attractive manner of dress and customs. Now farther to our left—it can't be, ladies and gentlemen, but it is—little Shirley Temple with her curls and sweet voice singing "On the Good Ship Lollipop". To our right we have a whole group of honored Americans; George and Martha Washington, Daniel Boone, with his never-to-be-forgotten fur cap; John Smith and his little Indian friend Pocahontas; John Alden and his sweetheart Priscilla; our gallant French friend, Lafayette; and two sweetly demure colonial maidens in hoop skirts. William Penn, the Quaker, is in his outfit of gray trimmed in white.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, let me describe some of the couples who are dancing. Ah! Talk about clever costumes! There is a Japanese girl in a truly Japanese costume of trousers and coat dancing with a Japanese boy. And here is an organ grinder and an Irish colleen. Next to them are an Italian street singer and a Dutch girl with real wooden shoes. Over to the left are a witch and, of all things, a black cat. A most charming couple are the Spanish Senor and Senorita. As the dance ends, a person in a gruesome looking outfit of a hairy gorilla approaches a little Swiss maiden. There seems to be a whole menagerie here tonight—cats, monkeys, and now we see Micky and Minnie Mouse, and someone in a nifty costume representing a rabbit; and—oh oh—here comes a turkey strutting and gobbling as real as life. But after it, ladies and gentlemen, and we mean after it, comes a man, a pilgrim with his trusty rifle, hunting for his Thanksgiving dinner!

The music has started again, and there is the most terrifying looking pirate with a patch over his eye and a wooden leg asking a dimpling young Indian maiden to dance. A handsome gypsy is dancing with a pirate girl in ragged shorts and tattered blouse with a colorful bandana about her head. We have crossed the room and see a Russian youth talking to Greta Garbo with low heeled oxfords and dark glasses, and a Hawaiian girl dressed in a truly Hawaiian grass skirt. Over there is a large—and ladies and gentlemen he is really large—man, we can't remember when we have seen him before. Oh, oh, yes—it is none other than Paul Bunyan with his lumberjack's jacket and his axe over his shoulder. Here we have a young English gentleman, immaculately dressed, with the usual monocle, talking with the English accent, dancing with Queen Elizabeth! Walking across the floor are an Arab and an Italian balloon man carrying lots and lots of vivid balloons. That [illegible] heard, ladies and gentlemen, we [illegible] It was [illegible] the Solo Man.

Our time is up and we have enjoyed broadcasting this person by person report of the Junior-Senior [illegible]

Experience, ability, beef, brains and "intestinal fortitude" have been mixed with a few new football aspirators this week and will be played Friday, with a few of the returning regulars, in the Crookston Cathedral game. The biggest asset the visitors have is experience in working together, but we pick the 1936 Lincoln team to revenge the 18-0 defeat of the second team.

Have we a ball club coming up? What are the 1936 prospects? We refuse to answer those questions! Come out and see them in action. The line is lighter at the present, but by next fall they will have all the beef they need for a high school team. Keep your eyes on the Prowlers!

DEBATE

Debate has reached a new mark for starting attendance in Lincoln High School. And why not? It is one of the most worthwhile activities in the school. Of course, it requires time and study, but the dividends received easily make up for the effort expended.

The dictionary states that to debate means "to contend in words; to dispute; hence, to deliberate; to consider." It goes further and says that debating is the stating of both sides of a question.

How many times do we debate, with ourselves and others? Everyday we discuss the merits and shortcomings of different subjects. Rarely a day passes that does not see verbal encounters by one and all.

Thus we have debate as a school activity. It sharpens our wits, acquaints us with various subjects, trains us to see a flaw in an argument and shatter the whole case. True, a debate team is a credit to any school.

CHRISTMAS SEAL PROGRAM PLANNED

New Feature Is Added to Tuberculosis Campaign

Are you an ambitious and energetic student? If so, the Minnesota Public Health Association is offering you an opportunity of statewide interest. In addition to its annual Christmas seal campaign the Association is sponsoring a 1935 high school radio contest open to all junior and senior high schools.

"Fight Tuberculosis with Modern Methods" is the subject of this year's contest, which will close on November 23. Radio Station WCCO will broadcast the ten winning talks on or near December 10. From these a state committee of doctors and public speaking experts will choose the best.

Each junior and senior high school in Minnesota may present one written copy of a talk delivered previously before a local audience. Two special prizes, a drill press and a jig saw, will be given to the manual training departments of the high schools presenting the best educational campaign in the prevention of tuberculosis.

Get started immediately and put yourself in the prize winning class!

ETIQUETTE

People are beginning to comment on the actions of certain groups of boys and girls going to and from school and about town in general.

The trick is, when on the street or in other public places, to not attract the attention of passersby. School girls who troop onto the street together should avoid walking abreast in giggling and chattering groups, which prevent other pedestrians from getting by and attract the attention of others.

Lazy, lounging boys and silly, giggling girls are null and void in public. If one must stand and talk on the sidewalk, at least leave a little room for people to pass, and don't shout or "rough-house" or giggle. Even whistling loudly attracts attention and should not be done.

Genuine laughter is the most delicious and contagious sound in the world, but forced giggling is as [illegible] as a foghorn or a flapping shutter.

Linen Damask Joins Ranks of Summer Evening Gowns

No linen closet is safe these days from the design department.

They've taken everything from bath towels to bedspreads for their designs, and now they've [illegible] to [illegible] ply of table cloths [illegible] depleted by a dressmaking daughter.

It might be called a linen [illegible] age of fashion.

You remember the [illegible] dresses and [illegible] suits of last summer resorts. And you're seeing the collegiate craze for Turkish towel mufflers. It's not hard to see what happened to the family supply of bath towels.

And now they've picked on mother's best linen damask tablecloths as the last word for summer evening gowns and spring blouses.

Everburning Peat Fire

A peat fire at an ancient Yorkshire (England) inn has been burning continuously for more than 1[illegible] years.

Medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub
VICKS COUGH DROP

What are all of the Lincoln High School students going to do on Halloween? Hallowe'en comes on October 31, the eve of All Saints. This is one evening when the "coppers" are busy seeing that not too many windows are soaped, garbage cans are not tipped, and other various tricks and games are not carried out to a great extent.

Most of the rites have some superstitious significance. Ducking for apples, although it has no superstitious significance, is a tradition of Hallowe'en. As would be imagined, Thursday night will find most of the Lincoln High School students at home.

ETIQUETTE

A very few students in high school really know the correct routine of introductions. This routine has many points which are not difficult to grasp.

In the briefer form of introduction commonly used "Janet Lee, Buck Lyden," if the two names are said in the same tone of voice, it is not apparent who is introduced to whom; but by accentuating the more important person's name, it can be made as though the words "May I present" had been used.

The more important name is said with a slight rising inflection, the second one is a mere statement of fact. For instance, suppose you say, "Are you there?" and then "It is raining!" Use the same inflection exactly and say, "Janet Lee, Buck Lyden."

Never ask the boy if he has met the girl. Always ask the girl if she has met the boy before. Never, under any circumstances introduce the girl to the boy; always present the boy to the girl.

When boys are introduced to each other, they always shake hands.

When boy is introduced to a girl, she generally smiles or says: "How do you do". Strictly speaking, it is her place to offer her hand or not, as she chooses; but if he puts out his hand, she of course gives him hers. Nothing could be more ill-bred than to treat curtly any overture made in spontaneous friendliness.

What to say when you are introduced is another question.

Society has only one phrase in acknowledgement of an introduction: "How do you do". It literally accepts no other. However, "Pleased to meet you," "I am glad to know you," etc. are all right, but never say "Pleased to meetcha." It is a very bad form and a grave breach of etiquette.

Like a Layer Cake

The harbor of Hongkong is one of the most beautiful in the world. As the city rises from the esplanade along the waterfront it assumes the appearance of a huge layer cake. The peak rises 1,800 feet above sea level. A train excursion leads to Canton, where nearly a third of the population live on boats. The walls of Hongkong are 20 feet thick and in some places 15 feet high.

MISNER PLAYERS TO APPEAR NOV. 6

Players to Present Two Plays at City Auditorium

The Misner Players will be here to entertain you for an assembly program at three o'clock Wednesday, November sixth, in the city auditorium. The players are a carefully selected group of artists. Dramatic ability and professional experience were two of the deciding factors in choosing this group. They will present the two plays "The Merchant of Venice" and "Trails That Meet".

"The Merchant of Venice" needs no publicity as far as the play is concerned. In "Trails That Meet" the setting is in Arizona, with the desert and the mountains for the background. The country doctor is an outstanding role. The society woman from the east and the cowboy from the range supply comedy that is buoyant and most entertaining. This is a real play with the human element that may be found in any community the world over.

All students are requested to attend the assembly. They will be admitted upon presentation of their tickets. The general public will be charged an admission of ten cents.

This game is expected to give some idea of what caliber team Thief River Falls will have next year.

AMONG THE 400

A freshman class meeting was held in the high school assembly Wednesday, October 23. Each student was ordered to bring some kind of fuel for the bonfire Thursday evening.

After the class meeting, it seemed most of the freshmen went uptown. Soon a long procession returned carrying boxes, wood, and almost anything imaginable that would burn. Some of the upper classmen were on the field to check up on any shirking among the fresh'uns.

By Thursday evening a great deal of fuel had been placed on the baseball diamond preparatory to the bonfire rally.

Students of all classes are requested to remember their class dues. Instead of providing an excuse, provide the money.

Rehearsals for the junior class play are continuing as usual. Miss Olson has just selected the following committees:

Advertising and publicity, Barbara Reep and Marion Green; tickets and programs, Vernon Wedul; stage manager, Bruce Prichard; properties, Gordon Neset; make-up and costumes, Ariel Reidy and Marion Dillon; and prompter, Solveig Fjelstad.

There will also be an assistant stage manager, but he has not been chosen yet.

PROWLERS LOSE FINAL GAME TO BEMIDJI

Husky Lumberjacks Defeat Local Eleven Friday by Score of 26-0

The Prowlers lost the final game of the regular season Friday to the strong, husky team from Bemidji 26 to 0. It took the Lumberjacks three plays, after they got the ball on a punt, to score. The touchdown was made on a "balloon" pass to Galloway. After a few minutes of even playing, Bemidji again gained possession of the ball on a punt and worked down for another touchdown, this time on a pass to LaFave. The extra point was made by a line buck making the score 13 to nothing. This constituted the scoring for the first half, the remainder being played with first one team having the ball, then the other with the Prowlers having a decided edge.

In the second quarter the Prowlers made their strongest threat only to be stopped by a long penalty for slugging. After a beautiful punt that was downed on the five-yard line, the ball was called back and the second kick was downed on the 30 yard strip. In the last quarter Bemidji scored on a long, floating pass and a line buck. The final scoring came after a long march down the field by the Bemidji power-house which the Prowlers all but checked. The extra point was made, making the score 26 to nothing.

The injury jinx stayed with the Prowlers till the last. Art Nelson was taken out in the second quarter with an injured neck muscle. After the game it was discovered that Lorentson had four cracked ribs.

Even though the Prowlers were defeated they made a good showing. Although the Bemidji team out-weighed our team on an average of 20 pounds per man and some of our men were outweighed 70 to 100 pounds, few gains were made through the line. All major advances were made by passes. Milt Nesse and Mickelson were outstanding for the prowlers.

GYM GEMS

"Paws up!" comes the slogan of the girl's volley ball captains. The night practices go on—upper-classmen on Tuesdays at 7:15, freshmen, Wednesdays at the same hour. High school Didricksons are showing a marked interest in the sport. It is the hour or the goal at the end of the season (75 to 150 points toward the coveted "L")? Anyhow—"the more we get together"—the more we'll see you.

T. R. Falls Banks in 1905

Regularity of space used caused a rather abrupt break in the story of the First State Bank of Thief River Falls in the last issue. Here we have the officers of the bank in 1905. The personnel of 30 years ago may revive memories, and this will be true undoubtedly of the remainder of this article. It is culled of course, from the old Soo Line booklet:

"The present officers are: C. L. Dobner, president; Math Barzen, vice president; H. G. Dobner, cashier, together with Perl W. Mabey, Swen Swenson, C. A. Robbecke and John Aos, constitute the board of directors.

"This institution has a splendid building in course of construction, into which they will move this summer.

"The First National Bank was started December 10, 1900, by L. C. Simons, of Red Lake Falls, and local parties in Thief River Falls as the Scandia State Bank, with a capital of $10,000.

"On April 6, 1901, the present management bought out the interest of L. C. Simons and others. On July 6th, 1901, the bank was reorganized as the First National Bank of Thief River Falls, with a capital of $25,000.

"The present cashier, W. W. Prichard, is the leading spirit in the bank, and its success is due, in a large measure, to his personal efforts and close attention to business. Previous to locating in this city he resided for thirty years in northern Iowa, where he was identified with various enterprises of considerable importance in different localities, and has a wide acquaintance over the state of Iowa.

"The officers of the bank are: A. C. Baker, president; W. W. Prichard, Cashier; O. T. Tandberg, assistant cashier; C. A. Baker, assistant cashier.

"The Citizens' State Bank is the youngest bank in the city, but with its rapidly increasing business it is already taking a place among the leading financial institutions of the section. Organized on July 8, 1903, as a private bank, it was shortly afterward, on October 24th of the same year, incorporated as a state bank, with a paid-up capital of $20,000, a number of leading business men of the city being among the incorporators.

"In July of last year the bank moved into its splendid quarters in the Evenson Block, one of the very best locations in the city. Since then the business has been growing very rapidly, a fact that will be appreciated by referring to the comparative statement contained in the bank's advertisement on another page. It is one of the best equipped banks in Northern Minnesota, both as to facilities for handling business and protection against burglary and robbery. The fireproof vault is completely covered on the inside-floor, ceiling, walls and door with double steel sheathing constantly charged with an electrical current, and any attempt to gain admittance to the vault outside of certain hours during the day, would set an alarm going, sufficient to wake up the soundest sleeper in the vicinity.

"The officers of the bank are: President, D. B. Bakke, present mayor of the city; Vice President, O. J. Schei of the Golden Rule Department Store; Cashier T. L. Melgaard. Aside from the officers, the following prominent business men are members of the board of directors: C. Amundson, of the C. O. D. Clothing Co., Olaf Ramstad, capitalist; A. A. Wassen, flour and feed merchant; C. M. Evenson, manager and owner of the Evenson Block and other business properties.

"Last summer the Red Lake Indian reservation, which joins this city on the east, was thrown open for settlement, and the land sold to the highest bidder—in 160 acres tracts—some of it going for as high of $30 an acre. It consisted of some 1800 settlers, and nearly all make this city their base of supplies and will for some time to come.

"Lars Backe, who is the present popular and efficient City Clerk has held the office since 1894 and has made a record in his efforts to serve his fellow citizens that he may well be proud of. Among the official acts of M. Backe was his success in 1901 in disposing of $7,500,000 four and one-half per cent City Electric Light bonds at a premium, and his recent greater success in selling $28,000.00 five per cent City Water Works bonds at a premium of $2,575.00.

INSANE MAN KILLED BY STEAM FROM RADIATOR

Fergus Falls.— Scalded by steam which escaped from the radiator in his room, Alfred Erickson, 28, Oklee patient at the State Insane Hospital at Fergus Falls, was killed before attendants could reach him. Erickson had apparently broken the radiator cap off while moving some furniture about and was fatally burned by the escaping steam. Noise of the steam escaping attracted attendants, but they entered several rooms before they were able to find the one where the sound came from. Erickson was dead when found. Coroner W. A. Lee was summoned and found death was accidental.

POTATO MEN SEEK HEARINGS ON AAA MARKETING PACT

Want Immediate Action to Improve Quotations on 1935 Crop

Representatives of the Northwest's potato growing industry, meeting with federal and state administrators of the new potato control law at St. Paul October 22, approved a government proposal to remove surplus potatoes of the 1935 crop from normal trade channels and asked for hearings on a plan to regulate by federal authority the quantity and quality of potatoes entering into interstate trade in Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Although no Michigan representatives were present at this meeting, the growers of this state in a conference with AAA officials at Grand Rapids, Michigan, October 21, also requested a hearing on a proposed marketing agreement. Similar hearings have already been scheduled for Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Idaho.

The action was designed to raise the prices farmers of these states will receive for their 1935 crop, now bringing much less than the average cost of production.

Under the plan to remove surplus potatoes of the 1935 crop from commercial channels, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration would pay growers 25 cents per hundredweight, up to 10 per cent of their 1935 production, for potatoes of marketable quality fed to livestock or sold for manufacture into flour, starch, alcohol, or other industrial products. This payment would be in addition to any return the grower might receive from the sale of such surplus for manufacturing purposes.

Potatoes so disposed of would have to grade U. S. Commercial, U. S. No. 2 or better. In addition, growers receiving such payments would have to withhold their cull and low-grade potatoes from the market.

The marketing agreement, if adopted for these states would provide the machinery for designating and controlling the grades and sizes of potatoes that could be shipped into or out of the states participating in the agreement. The hearings on this agreement, if granted by the secretary of agriculture, will probably be held before November 15, according to Kris P. Bemis of the marketing section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The states represented at this conference normally produce about one-fifth of the nation's commercial potato crop.

STATE CALLS BIDS ON HIGHWAY WORK

Bids on four highway jobs estimated to cost approximately $550,000 have been called for November 15 by the Minnesota Highway department. The projects included in the call are all high-type stabilized gravel base road construction work in Koochiching, Grant, Douglas, Pope and Dodge counties.

Preliminary Plans Now Under Way for Valley Shows February 3 to 7

Preliminary arrangements are now being made for the annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows which will be held February 3 to 7. Cooperating organizations are preparing premium lists for the various departments, while a general committee is working on a varied educational program.

Last year nearly twelve thousand persons from all parts of the Northwest attended the silver anniversary celebration which was featured by an historical pageant presented by a combined cast of over 250 persons from thirteen counties. An added feature of the anniversary program was the recognition of one leading livestock and one dairy breeder from each of the Valley counties.

Activities of the week will be coordinated by the Winter Shows Board of Managers, which is composed of representatives of the various cooperating organizations. Dr. A. A. Dowell, Superintendent of the Northwest School and Experiment Station, is president of the board, while John Saugstad is business manager. Other members of the board include: C. M. Pesek, secretary of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association; R. S. Dunham, secretary, Red River Valley Crops and Soils association; F. A. Green, Stephen, vice president, Red River Valley Livestock association; H. A. Pflughoeft, Boys' and Girls' 4-H club leader; C. L. McNelly, St. Paul, Assistant county agent leader; F. W. Spring, secretary, Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, and Harold Thomforde, secretary, Northern Minnesota Poultry association.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

The special session of the Legislature set for December 2nd will be the third special session in Minnesota in twenty years. A session lasting 12 days was held in September 1919. In 1933 a special session began December 5th and ran thru to January 6th. The 1919 session enacted 65 laws, the 1933 session 83.

There is no legal limit to the length of a special session, no restraint upon matters that may be considered, no pay for the members.

The cooing and billing with which the opening date was announced is just ducky but the taxpayer, firmly between the millstones of politics and statesmanship, fears that the honeymoon will be short.

Complete and final Minnesota conformity with federal social security legislation will cost many millions, to obtain which new sources of revenue must be found, but the essential beginnings of cooperation with the federal act can be financed within the appropriations made by the Legislature last winter. Such a program for the special session would make it comparatively short, leaving the rounding out of the program and the final solution of the tax problem to the regular session to follow a year later. There is a deal of common sense in this suggestion which some solons are urging, for it will take twelve months or more to get the social security program under way; that time and its experiences will point the way to a better understanding of what is necessary to a permanent program.

Minnesota to the fore, presides by the score. Recently elected: Senator Charles N. Orr, president of the Association of the States on Bank Taxation; Grover M. Conzet, director of forestry in the Minnesota Department of Conservation, to be president of the Association of State Foresters; J. P. Bengtson, Assistant Secretary of State, to be secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, Region No. 3; Oscar M. Sullivan, for many years head of the Minnesota division of vocational education and rehabilitation, to be president of the National Council of the Physically Handicapped.

This business of being a dictator is so much the fashion that it is not at all strange that the bug should have bitten Governor Floyd B. Olson.

Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin have nothing on Floyd when it comes to the Farmer-Labor party. He's the boss, is Floyd, and there is no other power behind the throne. Being monarch of all you survey in one political field does something to you; consciously or unconsciously, you find yourself acting like a dictator in other fields.

So with Floyd. After four years as chief executive his superabundant energy inevitably barges over into the legislative and the judicial branches of the government. He wants to be the whole show—law-maker, law-interpreter, law-enforcer.

Last winter, faced with a critical tax situation, the Legislature made a final three-day effort to get together with the Governor on the omnibus tax bill, but had to give over the effort because it discovered the only compromise possible was to let the Governor write the bill. He not only wanted to be the executive but the Legislature also. Recently the Supreme Court, in an opinion written by the Governor's own appointee on the bench, rebuked him for attempting to usurp the functions of the courts of Minnesota. He proposed not only to exercise the executive power but the judicial as well.

Plainly nettled by the decision of the Supreme Court Governor Olson wants to debate "any lawyer" from Portland, Maine to Portland, Oregon on the proposition that the judicial branch of the government is usurping its authority.

One paragraph in particular in the opinion of the Supreme Court as written by Justice Julius Olson deserves the attention and the applause of every American citizen:

"No governor should be placed in the light of one who seeks conviction of a person by means of anything having even the appearance of advantage. The necessity of protecting the judiciary from executive encroachment is obvious. Nothing could be more harmful to the orderly administration of justice than to permit or sanction what is here sought."

This goes to the heart of the fundamental conception of the American government as one of checks and balances, in which each of the three co-ordinate branches of the government are a check and a restraint upon possible excesses of the others, which if allowed unrestrained headway would inevitably destroy the rights and liberties guaranteed by the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

WPA activity at the Minnesota statehouse, which has been under way all summer and fall, continues unabated with a considerable force of men spread all over the landscape. All labor, including expert mechanics and artisans, is provided by the federal government and Capitol Custodian L. A. Johnson is taking advantage of the opportunity to make the capitol tight and shipshape for some years to come. Among minor improvements are numerous drains which will prevent accumulations of snow and water which have caused annoying leaks in the past, ventilators which will better conditions in the sub-basement, and new driveways and retaining walls at the heating plant. There are two outside elevators, one at each end of the capitol, which handle supplies to the sub-basement. The east end elevator has been replaced, and by using WPA labor in its installation, Mr. Johnson saved $600 on the original bid of $1,500 for the elevator.

POTATO MEN SEEK HEARINGS ON AAA MARKETING PACT

Want Immediate Action to Improve Quotations on 1935 Crop

Representatives of the Northwest's potato growing industry, meeting with federal and state administrators of the new potato control law at St. Paul October 22, approved a government proposal to remove surplus potatoes of the 1935 crop from normal trade channels and asked for hearings on a plan to regulate by federal authority the quantity and quality of potatoes entering into interstate trade in Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Although no Michigan representatives were present at this meeting, the growers of this state in a conference with AAA officials at Grand Rapids, Michigan, October 21, also requested a hearing on a proposed marketing agreement. Similar hearings have already been scheduled for Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Idaho.

The action was designed to raise the prices farmers of these states will receive for their 1935 crop, now bringing much less than the average cost of production.

Under the plan to remove surplus potatoes of the 1935 crop from commercial channels, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration would pay growers 25 cents per hundredweight, up to 10 per cent of their 1935 production, for potatoes of marketable quality fed to livestock or sold for manufacture into flour, starch, alcohol, or other industrial products. This payment would be in addition to any return the grower might receive from the sale of such surplus for manufacturing purposes.

Potatoes so disposed of would have to grade U. S. Commercial, U. S. No. 2 or better. In addition, growers receiving such payments would have to withhold their cull and low-grade potatoes from the market.

The marketing agreement, if adopted for these states would provide the machinery for designating and controlling the grades and sizes of potatoes that could be shipped into or out of the states participating in the agreement. The hearings on this agreement, if granted by the secretary of agriculture, will probably be held before November 15, according to Kris P. Bemis of the marketing section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The states represented at this conference normally produce about one-fifth of the nation's commercial potato crop.

STATE CALLS BIDS ON HIGHWAY WORK

WELL, HORSES MAY BE BEST!

Zumbrota—Albert Korsten, residing near Goodhue, is considering going back to the horse and buggy as the result of two successive unfortunate experiences with automobiles. Korsten parked his car on a street in Zumbrota just after he had filled it with gasoline. When he came back the machine had been stolen. He went over to a garage and secured a second-hand machine. On the way back home the car caught on fire.

Preliminary Plans Now Under Way for Valley Shows February 3 to 7

Preliminary arrangements are now being made for the annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows which will be held February 3 to 7. Cooperating organizations are preparing premium lists for the various departments, while a general committee is working on a varied educational program.

Last year nearly twelve thousand persons from all parts of the Northwest attended the silver anniversary celebration which was featured by an historical pageant presented by a combined cast of over 250 persons from thirteen counties. An added feature of the anniversary program was the recognition of one leading livestock and one dairy breeder from each of the Valley counties.

Activities of the week will be coordinated by the Winter Shows Board of Managers, which is composed of representatives of the various cooperating organizations. Dr. A. A. Dowell, Superintendent of the Northwest School and Experiment Station, is president of the board, while John Saugstad is business manager. Other members of the board include: C. M. Peack, secretary of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association; R. S. Dunham, secretary, Red River Valley Crops and Soils association; P. A. Green, Stephen, vice president, Red River Valley Livestock association; H. A. Pflughoeft, Boys' and Girls' 4-H club leader; C. L. McNelly, St. Paul, Assistant county agent leader; F. W. Spring, secretary, Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, and Harold Thomforde, secretary, Northern Minnesota Poultry association.

The special session of the Legislature set for December 2nd will be the third special session in Minnesota in twenty years. A session lasting 12 days was held in September 1919. In 1933 a special session began December 5th and ran thru to January 6th. The 1919 session enacted 65 laws, the 1933 session 83.

There is no legal limit to the length of a special session, no restraint upon matters that may be considered, no pay for the members.

The cooing and billing with which the opening date was announced is just ducky but the taxpayer, firmly between the millstones of politics and statesmanship, fears that the honeymoon will be short.

Complete and final Minnesota conformity with federal social security legislation will cost many millions, to obtain which new sources of revenue must be found, but the essential beginnings of cooperation with the federal act can be financed within the appropriations made by the Legislature last winter. Such a program for the special session would make it comparatively short, leaving the rounding out of the program and the final solution of the tax problem to the regular session to follow a year later. There is a deal of common sense in this suggestion which some solons are urging, for it will take twelve months or more to get the social security program under way; that time and its experiences will point the way to a better understanding of what is necessary to a permanent program.

Minnesota to the fore, presies by the score. Recently elected: Senator Charles N. Orr, president of the Association of the States on Bank Taxation; Grover M. Conzet, director of forestry in the Minnesota Department of Conservation, to be president of the Association of State Foresters; J. P. Bengtson, Assistant Secretary of State, to be secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, Region No. 3; Oscar M. Sullivan, for many years head of the Minnesota division of vocational education and rehabilitation, to be president of the National Council of the Physically Handicapped.

This business of being a dictator is so much the fashion that it is not at all strange that the bug should have bitten Governor Floyd B. Olson.

Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin have nothing on Floyd when it comes to the Farmer-Labor party. He's the boss, is Floyd, and there is no other power behind the throne. Being monarch of all you survey in one political field does something to you; consciously or unconsciously, you find yourself acting like a dictator in other fields.

So with Floyd. After four years as chief executive his superabundant energy inevitably barges over into the legislative and the judicial branches of the government. He wants to be the whole show—law-maker, law-interpreter, law-enforcer.

Last winter, faced with a critical tax situation, the Legislature made a final three-day effort to get together with the Governor on the omnibus tax bill, but had to give over the effort because it discovered the only compromise possible was to let the Governor write the bill. He not only wanted to be the executive but the Legislature also. Recently the Supreme Court, in an opinion written by the Governor's own appointee on the bench, rebuked him for attempting to usurp the functions of the courts of Minnesota. He proposed not only to exercise the executive power but the judicial as well.

Plainly nettled by the decision of the Supreme Court Governor Olson wants to debate "any lawyer" from Portland, Maine to Portland, Oregon on the proposition that the judicial branch of the government is usurping its authority.

One paragraph in particular in the opinion of the Supreme Court as written by Justice Julius Olson deserves the attention and the applause of every American citizen.

"No governor should be placed in the light of one who seeks conviction of a person by means of anything having even the appearance of advantage. The necessity of protecting the judiciary from executive encroachment is obvious. Nothing could be more harmful to the orderly administration of justice than to permit or sanction what is here sought."

This goes to the heart of the fundamental conception of the American government as one of checks and balances, in which each of the three co-ordinate branches of the government are a check and a restraint upon possible excesses of the others, which if allowed unrestrained headway would inevitably destroy the rights and liberties guaranteed by the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

WPA activity at the Minnesota statehouse, which has been under way all summer and fall, continues unabated with a considerable force of men spread all over the landscape. All labor, including expert mechanics and artisans, is provided by the federal government and Capitol Custodian L. A. Johnson is taking advantage of the opportunity to make the capitol tight and shipshape for some years to come. Among minor improvements are numerous drains which will prevent accumulations of snow and water which have caused annoying leaks in the past, ventilators which will better conditions in the sub-basement, and new driveways and retaining walls at the heating plant. There are two outside elevators, one at each end of the capitol, which handle supplies to the sub-basement. The east end elevator has been replaced, and by using WPA labor in its installation, Mr. Johnson saved $600 on the original bid of $1,500 for the elevator.

STATE AUTO TAXES HELD WELL BELOW AVERAGE FOR U. S.

Only Two States Have Lower Levies, Says Highway Department

The Minnesota motorist pays nearly 30 per cent less in motor vehicle license fees and state gasoline taxes than the average American automobile owner, according to a tabulation by the American Association of State Highway Officials, received by the Minnesota highway department.

Considering license fees and gas taxes alone, four states have a lower average charge to the motorist than Minnesota. Two of these four, however, assess personal property taxes on automobiles which bring their total taxation of the motorist higher than the Minnesota figures. Thus in total average automobile taxation, 45 states are higher than Minnesota and only two, Kansas and North Dakota, are lower.

The average American motorist is shown by the Washington figures to pay $34.06 a year in license fees and state gasoline taxes. In Minnesota the average motorist pays $25.52. The national average license fee is $12.23 against the Minnesota average of $9.84. The national average gas tax payment for a year is $22.73 compared with $16.68 in Minnesota. The average license fee and gas tax is highest in Florida, where the yearly cost is $62.52. It is lowest in Kansas where the figure is $22.52.

Loses 2-Carat Diamond But Gets it Back Again

Frank Bitzen, manager of the Creasy Corporation of Grand Forks, had a piece of unusual good luck Wednesday of last week, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. He left Grand Forks that morning to go to Thief River Falls and when he got to Crookston he noticed that the diamond was missing from a platinum ring he was wearing.

He didn't have the slighest idea where he had lost it but as a forlorn hope and so as not to overlook any bets he called up his Grand Forks office and asked them to look for it.

When he arrived at Red Lake Falls later in the day he called up his office and imagine his surprise when he received the glad news that the two carat stone had been found between his office and the place he got into his automobile. The diamond was a gift and had a sentimental as well as an intrinsic value to him.

Drives on New Concrete; Sentenced to 90 Days

Oscar DeGroat of Ogema is serving a 90 day sentence in the Becker county jail and has forfeited his driver's license for a year because he got "tight" and "didn't know what he was doing" one day last week says the Detroit Lake Tribune.

Going from Callaway to Ogema, DeGroat drove his automobile up the new strip of pavement after avoiding the detour, and progressed to the mixing machine where he was halted.

Deputy Sheriff Clarence Abbott made the arrest. DeGroat appeared in the municipal court in Detroit Lakes, before Judge Fred Dennis and pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving. The sentence followed. DeGroat's escapade caused considerable damage on the new pavement and the contractors, Nelson, Mullen & Webster, were not a little irked about the affair.

$38,000,000 Goes for Relief During First 9 Months of Current Year

Relief expenditures in Minnesota during the first nine months of the year totaled approximately $38,000,000 L. P. Zimmerman, SERA administrator, reported to the state executive council. The report showed that the case load for September amounted to 75,599 with expenditures of $2,229,032. This relief load is a decrease as compared with July figures of about 90,000 cases, largely due, it was explained to both the withdrawal of 21 counties no longer affiliated with SERA and to private employment.

13TH FISH UNLUCKY ON SUNDAY THE 13TH

Pillager—The 13th fish caught on Sunday the 13th proved unlucky to a party of three fishing on the river near Pillager. One of the party, a dentist from Minneapolis, wanted a mess of northern pike to take to his father-in-the-southern part of the state where only bullheads and carp abound. After a couple of hours fishing, 12 northerns were hanging on the stringer and the young dentist was all smiles, thinking of the treat dad was to have. But alas! As he caught number 13 and was putting it on the stringer, his mind must have wandered to the young lady he was visiting, for he let the stringer slip from his grasp. He droped number 13 and grabbed for the other 12, but they sank quickly to the bottom with present whereabouts unknown.

With all its draw backs life is still a splendid adventure.

R. C. BUREAU GETS IN LESS INTEREST AND RENT IN 1935

Sales Department of Organization Registers Activity

In measure of dollars the business of the rural credit department for the first nine months of 1935 was twice the volume of the entire year of 1934. Every section of the department shows this increase in the volume of business in the same ratio with the exception of the collection of interest and rents, it was reported at the St. Paul office this week.

The first nine months rental collections for 1934 amounted to $472,540 and approximately $840,000 for the entire year. The first nine months of 1935 yielded $348,043. Last year the major portion of the rental income came from the Red River Valley. It is apparent that the total rents from that source this year will not exceed one-third of the 1934 volume. However, with some sort of a crop over the entire state, total rentals for this season are expected to approximate the rental income for 1934.

Collections for the current season, as compared to last year; the desire on the part of the farmers to wait for higher prices; rust damage to the wheat crop; and because of the widespread existence of feed and seed loans in the drouth area. These latter have first lien on the crops.

During 1934, 379 mortgage loans were refinanced in the amount of approximately $1,100,000. During the first nine months of 1935, 317 mortgage loans were refinanced, in the amount of $1,416,867. A total volume of $7,500,000 in Federal Land Bank commitments are now being considered.

The sales activity of the department shows the greatest amount of increase over 1934. 403 farms were sold last year for $1,120,686, with a down payment of $309,214. During the first nine months of 1935, 292 farms were sold for $1,339,375 with a down payment of $350,750. Of the total sales this year 35% of the farms were sold back to former owners; 8% were sold to purchasers from outside the state. 90% of last year's sales were made in the northern half of Minnesota. Sales so far this year are distributed over the entire state.

Supreme Court Affirms Viking Case Decision

A decision made by Justice Julius J. Olson when he was a Marshall county district court judge was affirmed by his fellow members of the state supreme court Friday in a decision in favor of the New York Life Insurance company, which contested a $1,000 death claim alleged to have resulted from false statements by the insured. The decision sustained a directed verdict of $43.23 ordered by Judge Olson on behalf of the plaintiffs, Edward and Clara Sorenson, of Viking. The verdict was the amount of premium paid on the policy secured by their daughter, Signe, who died in 1929.

HUNTING SEASON OPENED FOR GOVERNMENTAL CATTLE

Park Rapids—Hunters who are disappointed at the failure of the state to open the deer season this fall can get out their rifles, take to the woods and take a few shots at government "cattle" which are supposed to be roaming about. Half the meat from any cow shot must be turned over to the county relief agency in edible condition. In case an animal is captured alive, one-half the market value will be paid to its captor. Last year several thousand cows were pastured in Hubbard county by the government, and in addition there are supposed to be a number of relief and subsistence cows at large.

STATE TAX LEVY FIXED AT 13.57 MILLS FOR 1935

Rate Set for Current Year Highest In History of State

State Auditor Stafford King Tuesday certified to county auditors the 1935 state tax levy rate as 13.57 mills, the highest in the history of the state.

The rate last year was 11.95 mills and the increase made for this year for taxes collectable in 1936 conforms approximately to predictions of majority leaders in the legislature last session that the rate would be about 14 mills.

The 1935 state levy would have been 14.57 had there been the levy for the rural credits department of one mill as there was last year. Conservator Theodore Arens did not ask for any issues of tax levy certificates because the rural credit indebtedness is being retired by receipts and an allocation from the executive council.

The state levy of 13.57 mills includes the state tax of 12.08; school and university, 1.23; and for teachers retirement funds .26 mills.

BETTER PRICE ON TURKEYS IN CURRENT POOL

Cash Advances Are Substantially Higher Than a Year Ago

THANKSGIVING POOL CLOSES NOVEMBER 16

Growers Advised to Retain Immature Birds for the Christmas Market

With more liberal cash advances reflecting improved eastern market quotations, turkey raisers in Northwestern Minnesota, despite possibly slightly smaller flocks than a year ago, may look forward to cash returns from their operations fully equal to those of 1934, in the opinion of local men familiar with the situation.

Cash advances this year by local marketing organizations for the Thanksgiving pool opening Wednesday of this week and continuing until November 16 average around 20 cents a pound for the top grade of young hens and toms. This figure is approximately four cents highter than the advances made for the early pool last year and eight cents higher than the figure for 1933.

Local dealers, supported by the advice of County Agent R. M. Douglass, urged turkey growers to market only fully matured birds in the Thanksgiving pools, and to hold back the remainder of their flocks for intensive feeding so that they will be in proper condition for the Christmas pool. Hens, they pointed out, should have a live weight of ten to 12 pounds, with toms weighing 16 to 18 pounds.

Mr. Douglass stated that on the present basis of turkey prices and feed costs it will pay well to put the birds into proper condition. While feed corn last year at this time sold for more than $2 a hundred pounds, quotations now are well below that figure.

No reliable estimates have been made as to aggregate shipments to be made from Thief River Falls during the current marketing season, but this city no doubt will maintain its reputation as perhaps the chief turkey marketing center

Youngsters Act Fairly Well Hallowe'en Night, Police Chief Reports

Generally curbing their destructive instincts, Thief River Falls boys behaved themselves rather well on Hallowe'en night last Thursday evening, in the opinion of Police Chief A. B. Stenberg, who reports having found it necessary to escort only a few youngsters to their homes. The principal malicious damage was the twisting about of a number of stop signs on Eighth st., while there were the usual efforts to blockade the streets and to move anything not firmly attached to the ground. No arrests were made.

NORTHERN STATE BANK PURCHASES RINK BOND ISSUE

Buys $15,000 Issue on Basis of Interest Rate of 3⅞ Per Cent

At an adjourned meeting of the city council Monday evening bids were opened for the purchase of $15,000 public improvement bonds proposed to be issued by the city of Thief River Falls to qualify for a federal WPA grant of slightly more than $15,000 to apply on the construction of an enclosed municipal skating rink.

The issue was sold to the Northern State bank, lowest of two bidders, on its offer of par with interest fixed at three and seven-eighths per cent. The Union State bank of this city bid on the issue on a basis of four per cent plus a premium of $7.50.

The interest rate on the bonds compares favorably with that of three and three-fourth per cent secured on the recent larger issue of $60,000 sold to finance the 1,000 horse-power Diesel unit being added to the municipal power plant.

President Proclaims Armistice Day, Asks Expression of Peace

Proclaiming November 11 as Armistice day, President Roosevelt said last week "it is particularly fitting on this anniversary of the armistice that we should express our determination to remain at peace with all nations and our conviction that permanent peace can and must be attained throughout the world." The President directed that the flag be displayed on all government buildings that day, and invited the people "to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies in schools, churches, or other suitable places."

Mayor's Proclamation

The annual roll call for the Pennington County chapter of the American Red Cross will begin on Armistice Day, November 11, and end Thanksgiving Day.

Workers who helped in the roll call last year lost no time in turning from their solicitation to carry on the year's program of relief for victims of accident, disaster and disease.

They come to us now to remind us that our memberships which will finance the work of another year are due. Since our Red Cross asks so little from the community, and contributes so much, I urge a speedy response again this year.

The Red Cross is recognized by city officials as a potent factor in meeting present needs, and as an agency of incalculable value in the event of possible emergency.

I, therefore, as mayor of Thief River Falls hereby set aside the designated period as the time when all past members are asked to renew their memberships and those who have not before been members add their names to the roll of honor in Pennington county.

MORE PENNINGTON PROJECTS GET O. K.

1,910 in This District Are Now at Work, Reports Indicate

More than 25,000 persons from relief rolls were on Works Progress Administration payrolls this week as the Minnesota program to end direct relief by November 15 rapidly approached full stride.

In a record-breaking week of activity in all nine of the W. P. A. districts, approximately 10,000 needy unemployed began work and jobs were awaiting 9,762 others as soon as they reported to project foremen.

Victor Christgau, state W. P. A. administrator, said that the reports of district officials gave him every reason to believe that jobs will be provided by November 15 or thereabouts for all of the 53,000 men and women who have been assigned to WPA.

During the week the state administrator authorized work to start on 475 new projects estimated as sufficient to provide 17,423 jobs at a cost of $4,292,220 to the federal government and $755,136 to the local sponsoring agencies. The respective districts shared in the new project authorizations as follows: Duluth district—45 projects, $616,182, to employ 2,047; Brainerd district—37 projects, $537,181, to employ 1,041; St. Paul district—49 projects $1,104,003, to employ 3,085; Rochester district—27 projects, $243,745, to employ 981; Minneapolis district—19 projects $792,275, to employ 1,610; St. Cloud district—88 projects, $327,895, to employ 1,723; Detroit Lakes district—91 projects, $815,534, to employ 3,114; Morris district—80 projects, $840,000, to employ 1,489; New Ulm district—40 projects, $152,214, to employ 809.

With the addition of this week's projects, the district WPA directors now have at their disposal a total of $17,500,855 for work on 1,104 projects. Of this fund $15,114,410 is ear-marked as wages to be paid workers, while about $2,258,668 will be spent for materials and equipment.

Latest figures available, from district office reports to state headquarters at St. Paul, showed men and women actually at work on November 1, as follows: Duluth district 3,373, Brainerd district 1,633, St. Paul district 5,014, Rochester district 1,428, Minneapolis district 5,015, St. Cloud district 1,946, Detroit Lakes district 1,910, Morris district 1,858, and New Ulm district 1,150.

The week's list of projects on which work was authorized to begin as soon as materials and equipment are secured includes the following in Pennington county: County wide—cleaning roadsides, cutting weeds and brush, federal $4,565. Thief River Falls—park improvements, federal $8,917, sponsor $1,881; demolishing four old frame buildings on city property, federal $567.

NOVEMBER BRINGS WINTER WEATHER INTO THIS REGION

Snow and Zero Temperatures Bring Indian Summer to an End

November opened with an entirely different brand of weather than the mild Indian summer temperatures that prevailed almost continuously thru October.

From Friday thru Tuesday the mercury dropped to the vicinity of the zero mark each morning, slightly higher readings being recorded Wednesday and this morning. To add to the wintry effect, snow fell on several days of the past week.

All-time records for the first week of November were broken Saturday in Montana as the mercury plunged to 29 below zero at Havre. Again on Tuesday of this week a minimum of 18 below zero was recorded at Minot, N. D.

The river here froze over Saturday, the ice forming so rapidly that a number of ducks were caught in the thin coating.

LINCOLN ARNOLD NEW MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Kinghorn, Christofferson, Salveson, Griebstein, Baker and Myhrum Win

In an election featured by the heaviest balloting ever recorded in a municipal election in Thief River Falls, W. W. Prichard, Jr., Tuesday was named mayor by a close margin in a three-cornered contest, while three aldermen were returned to office and three new members of the council elected, and Lincoln Arnold was named municipal judge by a decisive margin in a field of six candidates. A total of 1,939 ballots were cast, compared to 1,858 two years ago.

H. W. Kinghorn proved to be the biggest vote getter in the field in his race for alderman-at-large, tallying 1,164 votes, while Carl Christofferson also was elected at-large with a vote of 822 compared to 744 for Severn Brandon, who placed third.

In the first ward aldermen contest Emil Griebstein scored a better than two-to-one victory over William J. Deuville, his vote being 354 compared to 158 for Deuville. S. Salveson was named second ward alderman with a vote of [illegible], his opponent, Algot Johnson, tallying 184 votes. Running in the third ward John Baker, with a vote of 180, eliminated W. [illegible] Knight, incumbent, who tallied [illegible]. A close contest developed in the fourth ward with P. O. Myhrum, incumbent, nosing out Harry Lund by a margin of [illegible] votes to [illegible]. Fred Forsberg placed third with 92 votes, and Lloyd Alsen [illegible] with 27.

Results in each ward in the citywide vote on mayor, [illegible] judge and alderman-at-large are shown in tabular form elsewhere in this issue. The figures on the mayoralty race reveal that Mr. Prichard carried the first, third and fourth wards, while F. A. Rinkel led in the second. The total vote for the three candidates was: Prichard, 809; Rinkel, 727; and Harris, 385.

Lincoln Arnold made an outstanding run in the municipal judge contest, amassing more votes than his three following opponents combined. R. M. Aalbu, E. B. Bakke and Lars Backe were closely bunched in second, third and fourth, and F. J. Dudley trailing.

Mrs. Thora Nelson was unopposed for the office of city treasurer.

The figures on the election are unofficial, as the ballots will not be formally canvassed until next Tuesday. The number of votes cast in each ward was as follows: First, 517; second, 454; third, 386; and fourth, 572. Counting of the ballots in the first and fourth wards was not completed until 3 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Thanks Voters for Their Support in Hard Fought Campaign

Following his election Tuesday to the office of mayor of this city for the ensuing two years, W. W. Prichard, Jr., issued a statement today expressing his appreciation to the voters. He says:

"The returns of the election show that I won by a narrow margin. The campaign was hard and fast, and one in which the victor could win with very good grace and loser accept defeat with no regrets.

"Naturally I am pleased with the victory and deeply appreciate the confidence which our citizens have shown by their votes. The matter of friendship was not at stake and one can hold no grievance towards those who were in duty bound to distribute their support.

"In the course of the campaign many compliments came my way on my past administration, and I firmly believe that it is possible to improve upon that."

Growing With Your Child

Sometimes it seems to me we are all so busy looking ahead to the future, planning what we can be doing for the children next year, or what they'll be when they grow up, that we fail to enjoy the present while it is right here with us. By suggesting that we live a day at the time, and let next year take care of itself I don't mean to suggest acquiring a grasshopper attitude toward life. But many of us go to the other extreme and take so much thought for the morrow that the time when our children are most with us, are most fascinating and enjoyable, passes without our making the most of it.

While Jonathan is in the stage of toddling about, handling everything within reach, we begin worrying about how he'll get along at school, how we can further his education—completely forgetful of the fact that his education is progressing, right at this present moment, when he's touching things and finding out for himself what he could only look at before. When he gets to the stage of trooping thru the house with a bunch of excited and muddy boys we sigh for the time when his play won't necessitate quite so much running to attic and basement, and forget to congratulate ourselves that he makes friends so readily, and that he has such a whole-souled interest in a constructive hobby.

And yet all the while, we can't bear to have our children grow up! What a contradictory state of affairs! Part of our confusion of thought and behavior is explained by our anxiety for our children to progress and develop as rapidly as other peoples'. Part of it comes no doubt from the very common human longing for the arrival of a halcyon day when the need for decisions and judgments won't be quite so pressing.

As to our anxiety in thinking about our children's future, the best safeguard we can possibly put around that future is by making each day as it comes satisfying and rich.

If a child is having his daily needs and wants satisfied, if he is met with understanding a good many more times a day than he is with impatience, if he is having a chance to express his abilities, to live a life of friendliness and comparative serenity: in short, if he is happy and busy and growing we may as well stop peering into a dim future, and enjoy today.

Fairy Stones

Fairy stones are found in Carroll county, Va., on top of Bull mountain. These are starlike crystals simulating the Roman Maltese St. Andrew's crosses. They are found in cross form in their natural state. The stones are a mineral hydrated iron-aluminum silicate in the orthorhombic system. They have a subvitreous to resinous luster and are brown or black in color. The crystalline varieties are frequently cruciform, owing to twinning. The proper name for such stone is staurolite, which is a combination of two Greek words meaning cross and stone.—Washington Star.

Harbor Shaped Like Banjo

Willemstad's harbor, Curacao Island, is shaped like a banjo, with a narrow neck for an entrance and a large circular basin for anchorage and wharf locations. The picturesque town is built on both sides of the narrow entrance channel and along the flanks of the basin. A pontoon bridge crosses the channel and is swung aside to permit the passage of ships.

First Penitentiaries

The first penitentiary was founded by the influence of the Friends of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia in 1786, notes a writer in the Indianapolis News. This was followed soon after by the New York prisons at Sing Sing and Auburn. In the Philadelphia penitentiary the system of solitary confinement prevailed, but the New York methods imposed silence rather than solitude, and on this latter plan were based the penitentiaries of other states, which soon began to be established. The prison system throughout the country became noted for its humane discipline.

Funeral Home Remodeling Completed

The extensive remodeling at the Erickson & Lund Funeral Home is now completed. We will be enabled to give even finer service than before but prices will be no higher. Living quarters are now combined with the funeral establishment and overhead will be even less than formerly.

The combining of living quarters and funeral establishment also means an important improvement in the service. It means that deceased persons brought here are never left alone at night. Also, the family may come at any time and stay as long as they wish with their loved one.

Another improvement is the increase in seating capacity. More than 250 persons may now be comfortably seated in the service rooms—with a separate room adjoining the chapel for the family.

Still another improvement is the new driveway. By means of it the funeral coach, pallbearers car, and three family cars may be parked close to the new side door. There is much greater privacy for the family in entering their cars.

There will be no formal open house for the remodeled establishment, but interested people of Thief River Falls and neighboring communities are invited to visit and inspect the new facilities at any time that is convenient for them. Our Funeral Home is always open to the public.

EMERGENCY CROP LOANS TO FARMERS NOW FALLING DUE

Federal Agency Asks Every Effort be Made to Meet Obligations

Crop failure and low prices which prevailed in recent year placed thousands of farmers in a position where it was impossible for them to finance the production of crops this year. The government provided emergency loans to meet this situation, which will become due in November.

This advancement of funds was not made on the basis of relief or as a dole, but as a business proposition to enable the borrowers to continue in their vocation as farmers and producers, says a bulletin from headquarters at Washington, which adds:

"It is essential that every possible effort be made by borrowers to meet their obligations promptly on the due date. In this way confidence in their good intentions and integrity will be established. If this attitude is taken by borrowers it will be much easier to obtain aid in the future if the need should arise.

"A small minority will doubtless feel that government loans differ from those made by banks or individuals, and will attempt to evade payments. Such action will work an injustice on the great majority who are willing and able to meet their obligations, and be a particular hardship on those who find it impossible to pay even though they have made every effort to do so.

"A splendid start has been made toward placing farm credits of all kinds on a sound and helpful basis. It is now the obligation of all borrowers to do their part in making these new sources of credit permanent."

GOOD PROGRESS MADE ON ROAD PAVING JOBS

Although concrete paving contracts awarded by the Minnesota highway department late in September required that only one-third of the mileage be finished this fall, favorable weather has permitted completion of approximately 50 of the 85 miles placed under contract. In some cases the whole project has been finished, according to the Portland Cement association.

New FISH Favorite

NOTHING succeeds like success. A large number of people have been enjoying for a long time that delicious sea food—canned mackerel. Now the news of the pleasure they have experienced has been noised abroad, and the consumption of canned mackerel is increasing by leaps and bounds. Try some of these recipes.

Mackerel Maitre d'Hotel: Open a one-pound can mackerel (a large oval can) being careful not to break the fish. Remove contents to the shallow, greased baking dish from which it is to be served. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and minced parsley, and heat in oven or under broiler. Make Maitre d'Hotel butter by thoroughly creaming one-third cup butter and one tablespoon chopped parsley, adding one tablespoon lemon juice slowly and seasoning with salt and pepper. Just before serving the fish, spread this butter over the top. Serves six.

For Breakfast or Lunch

Breakfast Mackerel: Remove the contents of a 14-ounce can fresh mackerel in large pieces and lay in a shallow pan. Dust with paprika and cover with four strips of bacon. Bake in a hot oven until the bacon is crisp. Serve with wedges of lemon. Serves four.

Mackerel Shepherd Pie: Drain a cup of canned diced carrots and half a cup of canned peas, and add to two cups white sauce. Flake the contents of a one-pound can fresh mackerel and fork very carefully into the sauce, so that it remains in fairly large flakes. Pour into buttered baking dish and pile fluffy, seasoned mashed potatoes on top. Brush with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven until very hot and the potatoes golden brown. Serves eight.

Capital News Review

By A. I. Harris

Delegates of the National Farm Holiday association meeting in Madison, Wisconsin, went on record condemning the policies of the A. A. A. The Farm Holiday has a membership of 1,500,000 "real dirt farmers." Most of them live in the Mid-West where approximately 70% of all the farm commodities of our nation are produced. That they are not in accord with Secretary Wallace's Crop Restriction policies is indicated by the action they took when they went on record as refusing to subscribe to the corn-hog plan, the potato control, or the crop control plan. The attitude of the members of the National Farm Holiday Association is indeed intelligent. Why should the federal government be interested in creating scarcity? Why should the federal government place a premium on the destruction of food stuffs, an act which conflicts with moral laws?

Business gains in Minnesota are reflected in the report on the state bank call of Oct. 7, just issued by Elmer A. Benson, state commissioner of banks.

Deposits increased $3,444,947 over the figure shown in the previous bank call, on June 29. As of Oct. 7, the total deposits of the reporting institutions were $222,769439. Four hundred and seventy-five state banks, one savings bank and five trust companies were covered by the report. It was pointed out that when crop payments to farmers for the season have been completed and the money reaches country banks the deposit total will gain still farther.

Loans and discounts increased $3,420,531 over the last call, according to Mr. Benson's report, and undivided net profits of the reporting banks were up $977,436.

George Griffith, chief oil inspector, has come forth with some interesting figures. He said that "in" shipments of gasoline and oil have increased 17 per cent since 1930, gasoline taxes 12% per cent, claims for refunds 47¼ per cent, yet his appropriation has decreased 22½ per cent and the personnel of his department reduced by 10 men. In addition to this, Mr. Griffith said he has turned $44,219 over to the state general revenue fund over and above all office costs out of oil inspection (excluding gasoline tax fees for the first 10 months in 1935.) This year, he said, his department has been running $1150 in the red each month. What is the extra session of the Legislature going to do about it? he asks.

Although wires from Washington informed officials that money was available for artificial limbs for the needy in Minnesota two weeks ago, the funds are still not available.

The new criminal apprehension bureau radio at Redwood Falls drew its first blood in the war on crime last week. Three youths who held up a gasoline station in Glencoe were apprehended in South Dakota and Melvin C. Passolt said the crime broadcast was directly responsible.

Some 1,750 persons, mostly housewives, last week organized as a Consumers' Union in what was announced as a "concerted campaign against the rising cost of living." Articles of incorporation were filed and M. H. Alexander, St. Paul, named secretary. The union claims no political affiliations and announces willingness to cooperate with organizations having the similar interest of reducing the cost of living, according to Mr. Alexander.

An attempt to set up a cooperative service unique to Minnesota is being fostered in Askov. Here several progressive citizens are at work in an effort to obtain a cooperative physician for the community. The idea is that 200 families pay $10 each a year and in return they will receive the services of a competent physician whenever necessary at no extra cost except that needed for medicine and nurses. To date over 60 families have subscribed to this venture into socialized medicine. A similar plan has worked with high success in a number of scattered communities in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The recent $100 prize fire prevention essay contest conducted by the State Fire Marshal's office aroused great response from the school children of the state. Over 4000 essays were submitted by students in junior high schools, in more than three hundred school districts, and the judges are having a hard time trying to decide the winner.

While no date has been set for the event, at this writing it is safe to say that Governor Olson will meet Ray Quinlivan, one time state representative, in debate on the question of whether the judiciary has usurped constitutional power and in so doing has become the major threat to the constitution. While the Governor's prowess on the platform is well-known, it might be well to say that in Mr. Quinlivan, who is a lawyer, he meets no facile opponent. The Governor will take the affirmative side of the question and the St. Cloud attorney, a member of the board of regents of the university, the negative.

Annie Laurie

The fair-haired maiden, Annie Laurie, who has been immortalized in the romantic song bearing her name, was not a creature of imagination, but one of whose ancestry honorable mention is made in Scottish history. Her father was Sir Robert Laurie, a baronet of Dumfriesshire. Annie, who was born in 1682, grew to be the most beautiful Dumfriesian lady of her time and attracted the attention of the lyrical poet, William Douglas. She rejected him as a suitor, however, resulting in his writing the song that has made her charms immortal.

METEOR DROPS ROCK CLOSE TO WATCHER

Anoka.—A meteor streaked across the sky and dropped a fragment almost in the pocket of Daniel E. Rankin, of Burns, near Anoka. The meteor flashed across the sky from north to south, appearing to be about a fourth the size of the moon, and there was a succession of explosions as pieces dropped off, making a yellowish light. A piece landed in the field about 20 rods from Rankin's house, and when he went over to investigate it was still smoking. He brought the piece to Anoka, where it is on exhibition. The rock measures approximately four inches by two inches, and looks like a vitrified piece of flint. One edge is sharp and it will easily cut glass, it is so sharp. Rankin said he heard the series of explosions before the meteorite passed overhead. They sounded like thunder, and the noise was heavy and penetrating.

BRANDT ASSERTS HIGHER PRICE IS DUE FOR BUTTER

December Futures Are Now at Highest Level in Four Years

Butter prices, already the highest since last spring, and in the case of December future contracts the highest in four years, probably will show further increases of a cent or two before Christmas, John Brandt, president of Land O' Lakes Creameries, said Tuesday.

In Chicago, December butter went up to 29¼ cents a pound and cash prices advanced one-half cent, extras selling at 29½ cents. Minneapolis prices range from one-half to one cent below Chicago prices, Mr. Brandt said.

Advantages of the price increase to dairymen were reduced, Mr. Brandt said, by the fact that production has decreased. Until last week local production was ahead of last year, last week it dropped to a fraction below the same week of 1934, and this week a sharp reduction is expected.

The decreased production is seasonal, and is caused principally by the shift of cattle from pasture feeding to winter dry feeding. Other factors are the "hangover" of last winter's poor feeding and later breeding.

Rapidly diminishing butter stocks throughout the country also affected the market, which began an upturn several weeks ago, the Associated Press reported.

Recent reports indicate butter production was as much as 24 per cent below a year ago in many sections of the country. Movement of butter out of storage has been heavy, with trade estimates that United States storage stocks on November 1 were only 10 to 15 million pounds greater than a year ago, when production was much better. The surplus of butter holdings over 1934 supplies was cut 13,000,000 pounds during September.

BOYS LOCK SELVES IN TRUNK, ALMOST DIE

Springfield.—Boys will be boys and get into queer places, and sometimes it is easier to get in than to get out. That is what Robert Kelly, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kelly, and Carrel Jahn, not much older son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jahn, both of Springfield, found out the other day. Playing in the Jahn garage, the two small boys conceived the idea of hiding in an old trunk. But after tiring of this, they decided to get back into circulation, only to find the lid of the trunk just wouldn't lift. Hours passed. It seemed like days and nights to the boys in their dark prison. And it got hotter and hotter. Supper time came, with parents becoming excited. A search ended in the garage, where Jahn heard plaintive voices. He opened the trunk and there were two boys, wringing wet, but greatly relieved. They did not realize that they had been flirting with death.

THANKSGIVING DAY

By GEORGE ERWIN BOWEN
In Chicago Post

For all the gifts of treasure
That brighten memory
Make now my heart an altar,
O, Lord, where faith shall be.
A little while I fretted
When shadows hid the light,
But now I find your kindness
Was patient with my plight.

To all the loving sources
Of blessings sweet I share,
A grateful song uplifted
O'er gentle paths I bear.
For where my heart was baffled
And bitter loss I knew,
This finer faith was gathered
From tempests battled thru.

For all dear thought of mercy
I've learned from cruelty,
O, Lord, a kind apostle
To broken souls I'd be.
As to the blind a leader,
I'd teach the sight I found
When patience gave me gardens
In bleak and barren ground.

For more than life can measure . . .
Dear Lord, how shall I keep
A sweet or shining portion
While those unnourished weep?
Whenever Dawn comes smiling—
O give me grace to know
Its promise and be worthy
As with a song I go.

Fargo Bishop Installed With Impressive Rites

Traditional impressive services of the Roman Catholic church marked the installation Wednesday of Most Rev. Aloisius J. Muench as bishop of the Fargo diocese. The ceremony took place in St. Mary's cathedral with high dignitaries of the church, nuns and laity taking part.

Most Rev. John Gregory Murray, as installing prelate, conducted Bishop Muench to his throne, signifying the installation as bishop of the Fargo diocese. Archbishop Murray preached the main sermon.

"Not only members of the various parishes but also outstanding representatives from among your sympathetic fellow citizens made the journey to the Twin Cities to unite with the distinguished delegates coming from Milwaukee that a fitting tribute might be paid to your new spiritual leader," said Archbishop Murray.

Cannibal Sharks

Watchfulness, the law of the sea applies to sharks as well as other fish. Their span of years—never yet counted by scientists—is dependent on their own alertness, for although only a shark can bite a shark, these monstrous fish are cannibals, and eat one another as well as everything else in the sea.

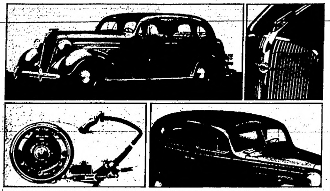
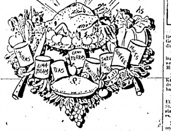
1936 Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets are Replete with New Features



New Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets for 1936 show marked advances in appearance and in engineering. Perfected hydraulic brakes, high-compression engines with full-length water jackets, and balanced carburetion are among the mechanical improvements. The solid steel Turret Top Fisher body is now used on the Standard as well as the Master De Luxe models. Either Knee-Action or conventional springing may be had in the Master models. The illustrations show: Top left, the Master De Luxe sport sedan, with built-in trunk; top right, the re-styled, deeply moulded radiator grille, used on all models; lower left, the simple arrangement of Chevrolet's perfected hydraulic brakes, all models; and, lower right, a Standard sedan.



TALKING TURKEY

Of course you have to talk turkey on Thanksgiving—to the cook (even if it is yourself) so that she will do her best—to the children so that they will keep out from underfoot—and to your husband because—well, it's always a good plan to talk turkey to him when a big family dinner is on foot.

Keep the children out of doors in the morning and your husband and guests with them, if possible, so that they will all come in to dinner with keen appetites. And then serve them a good old-fashioned Thanksgiving collation something like this—

Sardine Points
Tomato and Lima Bean Soup
Roast Turkey Oyster Stuffing
Giblet Gravy
Potato Croquettes
Creamed Bermuda Onions
Sweet Potatoes in Orange Cups
Frozen Cranberries
Chickory with French Dressing
Country Pumpkin Pie
Stem Raisins Coffee Mints

Here Are the Recipes

Tomato and Lima Bean Soup: To the contents of a No. 2 can tomatoes add one and a half cups brown stock, the liquor from a No. 1 can lima beans, sixteen peppercorns, eight allspice berries, one bay leaf, one slice onion, one-half teaspoon celery seed and salt to taste. Simmer twenty minutes, and then add three tablespoons butter which has been browned, had three tablespoons flour added and browned again. Stir well, then press all through a sieve. Add one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and more salt if necessary. Add the lima beans, and serve in cups with a few beans in each. Serves eight.

Cranberries and Dessert

Frozen Cranberries: Boil one-fourth cup sugar and three-fourths cup water to a syrup, and dissolve in it one-half tablespoon gelatin which has been soaked in two tablespoons cold water. Add two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half cup orange juice and the strained contents of a No. 2 can cranberry sauce which have been well mashed and put through a sieve. When cool, freeze to a mush, add one well-beaten egg white and continue freezing. Pack when done for several hours in ice and salt. Serves eight.

Country Pumpkin Pie: Smooth one-half cup cottage cheese, or pass through a sieve, then mix with one and a third cups canned pumpkin. Add two-thirds cup sugar mixed with two-thirds teaspoon salt, two-thirds teaspoon ginger, two-thirds teaspoon cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, two beaten eggs and one and a third cups milk. Heat in a double boiler and pour into a pie tin lined with pastry. Bake, having oven hot (425 degrees) for first ten minutes, then reduce to 325 degrees for remaining time about thirty minutes or until knife comes out clean. Makes [illegible]

Town on a Glacier

The town of Wainright, Alaska, stands on what scientists declare is a glacier that has stopped moving. The ice is covered with about two feet of soil. Every householder may have a refrigerator simply by digging down through the soil covering the ice. That the ice has been there thousands of years is proved by the fact that bodies of mammoths, a pre-historic elephant-like animal, have been found still in a perfect state of preservation. For ten weeks every summer the sun is constantly visible at Wainwright and for ten weeks every winter it is dark the full 24 hours.

Animals' Weapons

The giraffe attacks his enemy, when necessary, by clubbing him soundly with his head, which, one might imagine, would hurt the giraffe nearly as much as his enemy. The elephant stamps and crushes his enemies to death with his mighty forefeet. The llama bites and spits and kicks in a primitive sort of fashion, and the ostrich, too, fights with its feet. So does the kangaroo.

Darwin No Revolutionary

There was little of the revolutionary about Charles Darwin, of evolutionary fame. He was a tolerant English gentleman, with a good sense of humor, and rather unusually sensitive where other people's prejudices were concerned.

Crested Wheat Grass Is Promising Forage

Crested wheat grass shows promise as a pasture and hay crop for farmers in the Red River Valley and west central Minnesota counties, according to A. C. Arny, division of agronomy and plant genetics, University Farm, St. Paul. Crested wheat is a perennial grass that seems to have unusual ability to withstand drouth, and to perform well as a producer of both hay and pasturage. H. M. Anderson, a farmer in Benson county, North Dakota, has been growing this grass for 4 years and recommends it for land that is to be used for permanent pasture or hay, since once seeded the crop will grow year after year without becoming sod bound or bunchy. Mr. Arny suggests that Minnesota farmers interested in the crop try it out in a small way.

Said to Be True

The Paugans of Mayala are the only tribe on earth that has no use for money. When a Paugan is prevailed on to take a job, he will accept no financial reward but is content with a little rice and tobacco. If he receives more than his day's ration, he runs away, being suspicious of generosity.

Custom of Tattooing Is From South Sea Islands

That barbaric custom of tattooing, borrowed by sailors of all countries from the natives of the South Sea Islands, is named from the Polynesian word Tahiti, or Tatu, states a writer in the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Tattooing was originally a part of some primitive religious ceremony. The painful process by which the skin is pricked and dyed into pictures and symbols probably started with the custom of slashing one's body in grief and rubbing ashes into the wounds. The ashes caused a permanent discoloration in the skin, but this was viewed with a religious pride.

These distinctive colored marks in the flesh probably came to be regarded with some admiration, and so there developed the art of tattooing.

There are two kinds of tattooing—color and scar. In the color tattooing, the skin is punctured and the holes are filled with various dyes. In the scar tattooing, the skin is scarred and recut in the old scars until the tissue is puffy even after the wound is healed.

In general, the South Sea islanders used only blue and black coloring for their tattooing, but the Formosans and the Japanese developed a technique which employed many colors.

Color tattooing is usually supposed to be ornamental, and scar tattooing is used as a mark of tribal recognition, but a certain tribe of the middle Congo scars the whole body by way of beautifying it.

In the Admiralty islands, in Fiji, and in certain parts of India, only the women are decorated by color

At the door of the brain lies a gland called the pituitary body. It is divided into three parts—the anterior lobe, the posterior lobe and the pars intermedia, which, as its name indicates, lies between. Somebody has called the pituitary the "master gland." It is a good name, for the pituitary seems to control all the other glands in the body. One of its most important functions is to regulate growth. If you are a giant you may have an overactive pituitary. If you are a dwarf you may have one that is inactive or sluggish. At least this is the convenient explanation generally accepted, though experts contend that there is much more to growth control than this.—New York Herald Tribune.

Chinese Collection Scheme

With characteristic ingenuity, the Chinese long ago evolved a pleasant little way of collecting a debt when the borrower fails to pay. The lender moved, bag and baggage, into the borrower's home and remained there until the borrower was reduced to beggary by the added expenses, or a more fortunate relative took over the debt. And while he entertained his lender-guest, the borrower was forced to go about with a disgraceful yoke about his neck.

Long-Leafed Pine

The long-leafed pine, Pinus palustris, is probably the most beautiful member of its family in the world. Stately and magnificent in height, symmetrical in form, its graceful tassels of foot-long leaves luxuriantly borne, and its great cones which require several years to reach maturity, single it out above all others.

The Word Sarcophagus

The derivation of the word sarcophagus is from a Greek word which means flesh eater. The name originated in the alleged property of a certain limestone of consuming the whole body, except the teeth, within 40 days.

Women Take Back Seat

In Greenland women do not occupy a high position in Eskimo life. They are for the most part regarded as chattels and domestic animals, though they are well treated and in some tribes can own property.

THE ELECTION IS OVER

For some reason or other it seems almost impossible to grind out a column when an election is under way. An election is a lot like a parade. There is something about a parade that makes the nerves tingle and the pulse beat faster. The band invariably brings a lump to the throat, and, unless we are on our guard, a tear to the eye. Time and again we have tried to overcome these primitive reactions but never with success. A parade makes us want to fall in line and become one of the marchers. And while an election is under way we just simply can't get interested in the regular chores that must be done if there is to be a pay check at the end of the week.

And so it is, right on the eve of another issue of the great family journal, we find ourselves short a couple of galleys of type to fill this space, and with a too frequent interruption by friends who insist on immediate payment of election bets, the prospects for this department this week are decidedly poor.

We should say something about the election of course. As elections go it was a nice party. The results are surprisingly satisfactory. As yet we have found no one, and we have talked to many, who could not find some consolation in the final figures.

The group of officials who will take over the management of the city's affairs at the beginning of the year are well qualified to meet their responsibilities in a creditable manner. Most of them are experienced in this sort of thing and the fact that they have been elected indicates that their previous service was satisfactory to the voters.

For Bill Prichard the job of being mayor will be just as easy as figuring a bill of lumber. He knows what to do and how to do it. The detail work won't bother him and on the more important problems he undoubtedly will use the same good judgment that made his previous seven years of service in the office successful. The fact that he was elected by a comparatively small margin was due not to any lack of popularity but rather to the strength of his opposition. The circumstances of the campaign placed many of his good friends in the camp of his leading opponent, Frank Rinkel, who is now holding the office by appointment. It was a decidedly hot but still friendly contest and fortunately there are no wounds to be bound up.

Top honors in the election go to Harry Kinghorn, successful candidate for alderman at large and the only candidate who came through the city-wide competition with a majority. All other successful candidates voted on by the city as a whole, with the exception of Mrs. Nelson who had no competition, were plurality winners. Lincoln Arnold, elected municipal judge, deserves honorable mention for the fine run he made, getting nearly half the votes in a field divided by six candidates.

And that's about all we can say about the election. There were no issues and the result cannot be claimed as either a new deal or anti new deal victory. Considering the fact that there were no "slates" or "tickets" in the field and nothing much to talk about except the qualifications of the individual candidates, there was a surprisingly large vote cast. And considering the fact that the campaign was conducted solely on personalities it was remarkably clean and free from personal abuse.

Of course we congratulate the winners and extend to them our best wishes for a pleasant and successful administration. But we wish particularly to congratulate the losers who, in our opinion, now that the election is over, are always the winners in any fight to secure public office. They can now devote all of their time to their own private affairs and if they apply themselves diligently they probably will make greater progress with less trouble during the next two years than the unfortunate few who, as public officials, will be blamed for everything that goes wrong in the community.

In closing we pledge our best efforts toward securing a more recent photograph of the mayor-elect than the graduation picture we are using in this issue and hope to be able to re-produce it for the inaugural issue at the turn of the year.

SANITY ON THE PRAIRIES

The state of Nebraska has received much favorable publicity because of its healthy financial condition. While up here in Minnesota our state debt has increased by leaps and bounds in recent years, Nebraska has managed to come through the depression on a cash basis. In the following comment on Nebraska's record by the Cape May, New Jersey, Gazette, there are a few pointers on the management of public affairs that we up here in Minnesota might well pause to consider.

It is refreshing to report that at least one state has managed to avoid the fallacy that the way to create prosperity is to spend billions on credit—credit which must be based on all the savings and wealth, all the property, all the industries, all the earnings and other resources of the commonwealth.

The state is Nebraska, which is described by W. E. Christensen in an article in the New York Herald Tribune entitled "Sanity on the Prairies."

Nebraska has a new $10,000,000 capitol—without a penny of debt standing against it.

Nebraska has a splendid highway system—without a single outstanding bond.

Nebraska's state tax, which provides the funds for supporting the state university, four normal schools and all other state activities, has averaged less than two mills per year during the last 10 years.

Nebraska has no state income tax, no sales tax, no nuisance taxes. The state hasn't one cent of bonded indebtedness. Total bonded debt of its 93 counties, in July, 1934, was but $6,274,000—of which a single county, Douglas, accounted for $4,500,000, leaving the small sum of $1,700,000 apportioned among the 92 remaining county governments.

This sounds like a taxpayers' Utopia, which it is. It hasn't been achieved through magic. Here, according to Mr. Christensen, is the four-sided plan Nebraska follows:

1. Pay as you go; issue no state bonds and few county bonds. 2. Reject new forms of taxation. 3. Watch public spending and the spenders. 4. Remember that even in these changing times the functions of local government are the same as they were 15 years ago and should cost no more.

The plan is simple. It is workable. It is sound. Nebraska has led the way toward economic sanity—other states should fall in line.

THE TEST SUPREME

To Mr. N. A. Nelson we are indebted for the following contribution, written by Edward F. Roberson and published in the Federal Employees Insurance News. Mr. Nelson said he liked it and thought we might like to pass it along to our readers. It appealed to us too and here it is:

The Test Supreme of a "Right Guy"

TO BE—A man who can win without bragging, and lose without whining; who can see the savings of a lifetime swept away without losing his equilibrium, yet realizing they are gone set about forthwith to create another estate.

—A man, who, winning high honors, accepts them modestly and still considers himself naught but the equal of his fellows.

—A man, who, though smitten by adversity remains calm in the face of disaster; whose courage, based upon a firm reliance in Almighty God, borders not upon rashness, yet enables him to stand firm in the presence of danger.

—A man, who, possessing a thorough knowledge and understanding of the principles of Liberty and Right, tempers the administration of Justice with Mercy and Charity.

—A man whose honor forbids him to stoop to falsehood or deception; who fears not to speak the Truth on all occasions, but speaks not unless the ends of Justice be served.

Charitable in his judgments of mankind; generous in his dispensing of alms to the worthy; and last but not least, who cheerfully accepts his call to duty and embraces every opportunity to serve his fellowman.

CHIPS OF SPEECH

(Christian Science Monitor)

Small words are best. Leave the long ones to those who need to show they have been to school. Short words have force. Most of the strong thoughts and acts and hopes of men take short words to tell them. Might and right, strength, faith, are words of just one sound each.

And such words speak well in small groups. From start to the full stop need be but a few sounds—each sound a word, each word a punch, and the whole a cause won. Things for which men feel awe may be held each in a small word. Things they love, too, like trees and grass and lakes and the sea, the blooms in the yard by the door. Things they hate need not be told, nor things they fear, but these, too, can be felt in the sweep of a short string of short words.

More could be found to say for words of one sound, for chains of words with few links. This should show that one can talk along though he use short words, and he may say less in long ones and more of them.

THEY KIDNAP GERMANS

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

Department of Justice experts are making a study of the recent epidemic of kidnapings which may aid them in future snatches. They have come to some curious conclusions.

They note that the kidnaped in the major crimes were of German strain. Teutonic names figure in almost every instance where the kidnaping assumed national proportions—Urschel, Boettcher, Stoll, Weyerhaeuser, Bremer and Hamm. Even Lindbergh is descended from a related race—the Scandinavian.

The criminologists do not believe that this is mere coincidence. They point out that family ties mean a great deal among people of Germanic origin and the kidnapers may bank on that factor. Moreover, German thrift is well known. So is the fact that they like to keep their savings in liquid form. Among the victims listed above were brokers, lumbermen and brewers—Germans with presumably liquid or near-liquid assets.

It would be fatal to our political vitality to strip the States of their powers and transfer them to the Federal Government . . To buy temporary ease and convenience for the performance of a few great tasks of the hour at the expense of that would be to pay too great a price and to cheat all generations for the sake of one.—Woodrow Wilson.

As an institution, the press has been conditioned from the birth of the printing art so that freedom of opinion and the function of critical judgment upon public affairs are of its vital elements. Without them, the press is of little value to its owners, its workers, or the public. A "yes" man is of little use to a newspaper. And a "yes" newspaper is of little use to its readers.—Harper Leach.

Highway Commissioner Elsberg's advocacy of roadside beautification and development will find cordial support thruout the state. In the past, highways have been built with too little regard for conservation or development of natural beauty along the way. Some highways must be entirely utilitarian, to be sure, and that means cutting down distances and providing straight ribbons of hard-surfaced road, but, on the other hand, all use of the highways is by no means restricted to business. Recreational and pleasure motoring is a large factor, and in this connection the steps that are being taken to preserve and enhance natural beauty and to create public interest in local and historical points of interest are highly important. With the emphasis coming from so important a source as the head of the great system of state highways, real results in the direction of more beautiful, more restful, more interesting highways may be expected in the future.—Northfield News.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters dedicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor Times:

Three of the most common ways of getting more than just compensation legally are usury, excessive salaries and profits. Usury—including rent—being wrong in principle, is probably the worst of the three, because fair salaries and profits may be fully earned by individuals receiving them. However it seems that anyone with ordinary sense of justice can see that salaries of tens and hundreds of thousands of dollars per year for an individual is nothing but purely legalized stealing from stockholders and tax-payers and policy holders. Likewise any one should be able to see that net profits of 10-50 per cent per year is just plain legalized stealing or obtaining wealth unjustly from the public.

Yet, in spite of the ridiculous carelessness of legislators in not stopping excessive profits and salaries, it is still more an insane economy to allow usury to not only become an unbearable burden to the present generation, but to also lead down future generations with a debt greater than the total saleable value of all commodities and real estate.

We have in the United States public and private debts amounting to more than 230 thousand million dollars, while the saleable value, as estimated by government and other agencies does not reach 200 thousand million dollars! Furthermore, the bulk of this debt pays little or nothing into public treasuries as taxes, although it draws interest ranging from 1 to 12 per cent per annum—probably averaging 5 or 6 per cent.

Some will argue that the public, who owe this terrible debt, also own the securities representing it, so it is "not as bad as it appears". Why of course, this is true now since we became a "creditor nation"; but it only makes things worse because the bulk of the debts come on fewer people and less able to bear the burden. Just think that the American producing class has to pay over 20 thousand million dollars a year to the usurer class before they can begin to make any net profit or wages; And yet the New Dealers seem to think they can issue bonds enough to bring back prosperity. Congress gave Roosevelt authority to issue $3,000,000,000 of Legal Tender Notes in 1933, but he has not printed a dollar yet, and so far as Eastern republicans are concerned, they are not criticizing him either for his negligence. The fact is our whole big fight is between creditor class and the Debtor class.

Velocity of Rivers Is Greatest at Beginning

As rivers usually have their sources on very high ground, their velocity is greatest at the beginning of their course, which is for many streams a succession of rapids and waterfalls.

The velocity of falls, which is often enormous, cannot very well be included in any estimate of velocity of rivers, although the impetus given by rapids, as well as the general inclination of the bed of the stream, has a most important influence on the rate of its current.

But the velocity of a river does not altogether depend on the slope of its bed, says a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Much is owing to its depth and volume; most rivers, therefore, flow with varying velocity at different seasons of the year. Furthermore, bends in the course, jutting peaks of rock, or other obstacles, interfere with its speed, so that the water of a river flows at different velocities at different parts of its bed; it moves slower at the bottom than at the surface and at the sides than at the middle.

There is no stream that has a regular current of 50 miles an hour or even half that. The lower Amazon flows at the rate of three miles an hour. The Mississippi, in the lower course, has a velocity of about three and a half miles an hour. The Congo has for many miles above its mouth a current of about seven miles an hour, the impetus of its great falls extending for a great distance below them. The Nile, similarly influenced, moves for a long distance at nine miles an hour.

Ohio, the Buckeye State

The buckeye tree was very abundant in early Ohio, getting its name from the resemblance of its nut or fruit to the eye of a buck. At the first court conducted by the Ohio settlers at Marietta in 1788, the leader of the judges' parade was a very tall man, Colonel Sproat, who so impressed a group of Indians that they shouted "Hetuck," meaning "Big Buckeye."

Worship Goddesses

Hinduism, which has 230,000,000 followers, or one eighth of the world's entire population, is the only living religion which worships goddesses as well as gods. In fact, they probably far outnumber the gods, as more than 80 per cent of the people in southern India worship local village deities, nearly all of which are feminine.—D. D. SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4, 1935 (U.S.D.A.): Monday's run of cattle here was 7,000 against 9,600 a week ago and seven markets had 68,000 compared with 81,000 the previous Monday. These lighter receipts gave the market a fully steady to strong undertone. Good fed yearlings sold up to $10.00, choice being absent, most fleshy grassers and shortfed steers $6.50-8.50, not many straight grassers above $7.25, very thin kinds selling down to $4.50. Grassy and warmed-up heifers cleared at $4.50-6.50, better shortfeds $7.00-8.00. Good western cows made $5.00-5.50, bulk beef kinds selling at $4.25-4.50. Low cutter and cutter cows earned $3.25-4.00 or more. Sausage bulls cashed at $4.25-5.00. Desirable vealers bulked at $7.50-8.50, choice kinds $9.00, cull and common vealers and most grassy calves $4.00-6.00. Desirable stocker yearlings and calves made $6.25-7.00, common grades being available at $[illegible] 8.00, but most offerings were common to medium selling at $[illegible] $6.00.

Hog trade was mostly steady, with Friday, sows strong to 10c higher. Better 160-260 lb. hogs brought $9.75-9.80, [illegible] mainly [illegible] bulk good sows $[illegible] 8.10. Feeder pigs [illegible] and 25-50c higher, at $9.75-9.75.

Sheep and lambs opened fully 25c higher. Good and choice slaughter lambs sold at $9.50-9.75, some eighteen loads going to packers and shippers at the latter price. Most slaughter ewes brought $3.50-4.50. Good to choice range feeding lambs brought $[illegible] Desirable [illegible] lb. Montana yearling ewes sold as breeders at $6.75.

Dobermann-Pinscher Is Among the Favored Dogs

The history of the Dobermann Pinscher breed is usually interesting, as the dog takes his name from the official dog catcher of the city of Apolda in Thuringia, Germany, a man called Dobermann. Having not much to do as dog catcher, Dobermann experimented around, being assisted by his pals, a grave digger and a bell ringer. The product of these activities was called "Bellings," an aggressive dog feared by all. Whenever Dobermann saw the result of his original work, he'd point proudly to "my dogs." Thus, says an authority in the Washington Post, they came to be known as Dobermanns. Since then, about 1890, much work has been done with the original Dobermann, crossing and improving until the thoroughbred is the product. Just what dogs were crossed originally for this breed will probably never be known, although there are many theories—Thuringian terriers, bird dogs, pointers, shepherds and others.

Out of this experimenting has evolved the standard that requires the present-day Dobermann-Pinscher to have a beautiful wedge-shaped head, with medium stop, intelligent dark eyes and erect ears, clipped to a point. He has a neck of good length, broadening into a well-developed brisket. The tail is closely clipped. The particular beauty of the dog is his close, short, dense coat of a great glossiness. He may be black or with clear and sharply defined tan markings or a symphony of brown and tan.

Maidens Sacrificed to the Indian God of War

Human sacrifice to the gods of war may have been widely diffused in North America. Dr. Truman Michelson, of the bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian institution, has gathered considerable evidence, linguistic and otherwise, that a practice supposedly confined to the Aztecs and to the "Morning Star" rites of the Pawnee may have extended over the eastern part of the continent.

In the Mexican practice the heart of the victim was cut out with a stone knife. The Pawnee ceremony entailed the sacrifice of a maiden.

Doctor Michelson finds the Ojibwa had a specific word, [illegible], which was translated as "a virgin whom pagan Indians place on a scaffold in order to obtain success in war." The word Doctor Michelson finds can be traced back [illegible] "that, or a woman."

From the [illegible] of the missionary Journals, it appears that the Hurons burned a maiden at the stake on an elevated platform. It was a sacrifice quite different in principle from the torturing of prisoners of war at the stake. Because it attracted so little attention a definite [illegible] drawn that the [illegible] or even may have evolved into the symbolic burning of the figure of a maiden, before any white man came into contact with it.

Bassoon Important Instrument

The contrabassoon (double bassoon) is a large and deep instrument of the double-reed family. It forms a broad and effective base for the wood wind group, sounding like the tone of a deep-voiced organ pipe. The contrabassoon has a tapering tube about 16 feet long, and sounds an octave below the bassoon, just as the double bass sounds an octave below the cello. The contrabassoon, which is the deepest instrument in the orchestra, is not suited for rapid passages. It was first used by Handel at the coronation of George II, in 1727, and Haydn employed it well in his oratorio, "The Creation." The bassoon is singularly difficult to play; nevertheless, it is one of the most important instruments in the orchestra.

Use of Sugar in China

Sugar was used in China as far back as the early part of the Seventeenth century. Plants were carried to Sicily in 1148. It did not reach Madeira until 1420 and the Canary Islands in 1503. Portuguese and Spaniards carried plants to the West Indies in 1510. It appeared in Barbados in 1641. Sugar cane was first cultivated in the United States in 1751. The plantation was located near New Orleans.

DAIRYMEN END MEETING HELD AT MOORHEAD

Valley Creamery Operators and Patrons Hold 32d Convention

C. M. PESEK RENAMED SECRETARY OF GROUP

Results of Butter Judging and Scoring Events Announced

Curtailment of farm production in the United States will lead to a flood of importations from other countries, Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota predicted at the closing session of the Red River Valley Dairymen's 32nd annual convention in Moorhead Friday night.

He gave figures to show how importations of farm products are increasing and declared that curtailment here would "turn the market over to foreign producers."

In the business session Thursday C. M. Pesek of Crookston was reelected secretary and C. O. Heggerness of Detroit Lakes treasurer. Other officers hold over, including Dr. A. A. Dowell of Crookston, president; Stuart McLeod, Thief River Falls, first vice president; and Walter Johnson, New York Mills, second vice president. Choice of the next convention city was left with the board of directors.

Declaring that the quality of Red River valley butter ranks second to none in the world and that it consistently gains top place in national competition, J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food for Minnesota, was the principal speaker at dedication of the new Cass-Clay Co-operative creamery Wednesday afternoon, attended by many of the dairymen.

Winners of the women's and men's butter judging contests were announced as follows: Women—Mrs. L. J. Thompson, Detroit Lakes; Mrs. Peter Schomberg, Shevlin, Minn.; Mrs. Ted Olson, Shevlin; Mrs. P. L. Anderson, Crookston, and Mrs. Ing Wollertson, Shelly. Men—G. E. Gunnarson, Moorhead; Henry Anderson, Viking; Alfred J. Vogert, Bluffton; Herman A. Haugen, Greenbush, and E. E. Rosenberg, Wadena; honorable mention, S. L. Haugs, Bagley and Edward D. Rydeen, Clearbrook.

Winners also were named in the butter scoring in which samples from 138 creameries in six states were judged. In the sweet cream butter class the gold certificate award went to G. H. Bakken, Hawley, with a score of 95. Silver certificate awards went to C. H. Markuson, Henning and Irwin McAdams, Fairmont, and bronze certificates to Theodore F. Olson, Shevlin; R. J. Vorgert, Perham; L. Ostenson, Hendrum, and Lloyd J. Larsen, Kerkhoven, Minn.

In the cultured butter class the following were winners: Gold certificate, E. E. Rosenberg, Wadena, score 95.25; Alfred J. Vorgert, Bluffton, score 95 and M. F. Noack, Arlington, score 93.50; silver certificate: E. R. Brockoff, Browerville, Minn.; R. C. Fliehler, Wesley, Ia.; Paul de Engen, Wesley, Ia.; bronze certificate: O. O. Heggerness, Detroit Lakes; Vincent Heggeness, Detroit Lakes; C. F. Herringer, Perley; Theodore E. Olson, Shevlin; J. J. Harms, Dent; Egan Dunham, Argyle; Arthur Brammeier, Fairmont; C. O. Johnson, Blooming Prairie, and Ernest D. Larson, Little Falls.

JUDGE CALLS OFF SPECIAL TERM FOR MUD LAKE CASES

Cases to Go on Trial at General Term Opening in Warren Nov. 25

Marshall county's first special term of 14th Judicial District court, which was postponed a few minutes after convening on Oct. 29, came to an abrupt end Tuesday morning when Judge J. E. Montague of Crookston ordered cancellation of the special term and the discharge of the petit jury panel, according to A. C. Swandby, clerk of Dist. court, as reported in the Warren Sheaf.

Judge Montague, in his oral order issued to Mr. Swandby over telephone, stated that the Mud Lake game sanctuary appeal cases, for which the special term had been called, will go on trial at the general November term which opens in Warren on the 25th of this month. The special term was scheduled to reconvene Wednesday.

Meanwhile a number of attorneys handling appeal cases for a number of clients, met with the Marshall county board of commissioners in special session yesterday for the purpose of effecting a reasonable tax settlement on the lands involved in the condemnation proceedings. The board granted the request and immediately forwarded an application to the Minnesota tax commission recommending the settlement.

"The board felt, in recommending the settlement to the tax commission, that it was the proper thing to do, as the county will benefit by approximately $100,000 in tax collections in case the Mud Lake project goes through", said Otto J. Johnson, chairman of the board. Most of the property involved would revert to the state next year anyway as part of the ditch tax relief law passed at the 1933 session and in that case, the county governmental units and the county itself would receive no cash tax benefit from the project, he stated.

Ancient Builders' Jokes Were Revealed in Stone

The builders of the old churches in England were not so serious but that they now and then perpetrated a joke, even in stone. On more than one of their creations, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald, they carved in relief a scene representing a monk preaching solemnly to a flock of geese. The same humorous spirit is sometimes to be detected in the domestic architecture of early times.

Just upon the boundaries of Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire formerly stood an old rambling farmhouse. The living room was long and low, and on the center that went across the ceiling was inscribed this legend: "If you are sold, go to Hertfordshire."

This seemingly inhospitable invitation was explained by the fact that one-half of the room was in one county and one-half in the other. The fireplace was in Hertfordshire.

Salt Poison to Octopuses

A method used by some California fishermen to capture octopuses is to drive these creatures out of their hiding places with salt, according to Nature Magazine. The fisherman will pick out a particular crevice among the rocks which he thinks may harbor an octopus and toss a handful of salt into the entrance way. If his guess has been correct the octopus will slowly and reluctantly venture into the open, only to be grabbed and put into a sack by the skillful fisherman.

Time Element in Murder Cases

Up to a short time ago, nearly all states followed the old common law that a person cannot be indicted and tried for murder if the victim lives for "a year and a day" after the assault. Today, however, many states have penal laws which do not include such a time element. Recently a man was convicted of murder in the state of New York although the victim lived for four years after being shot.—Collier's Weekly.

Use of "Ma'am"

Books of formal etiquette state that "ma'am" has gone out of style. A boy on answering a gentleman still uses the old-fashioned "Yes, sir, or "No, sir," but answers a lady with "Yes, Mrs. Smith," or "No, Miss Jones." A girl answers either lady or gentleman by using their names rather than "sir" or "ma'am," if the names are known. To answer a question with "Yes, Mary" would be proper.

SOCIAL SECURITY LAWS CONFRONT SPECIAL SESSION

Long Time Required to Put Old-Age Pensions into Full Effect

Governor Olson has decided to summon Minnesota legislators to meet in a special session December 2 to consider one of the most far-reaching, all important legislative programs of all time.

The session's main purpose, the governor said, is enactment of a social security program affecting 30,000 aged persons, some 400,000 wage earners and most of the state's industries.

It will require $8,000,000 annually to finance the program. It will require years to put it into complete operation. The school children of today may be the first to receive full benefits.

More pressingly important to some sectors of the state—particularly its three largest urban centers—is renewed consideration of the $10,000,000 relief program. The state faces a direct relief load far in excess of the 1935 regular session's appropriation, SERA officials say.

Conservative leaders are hopeful that the growing certainty of constantly increasing general property taxes has caused a shift in public sentiment sufficient to force liberals to desert the governor on the question of sales taxes.

Failing that, the conservatives probably will consent to a broadening of the tax base through lower income tax exemptions which the governor said will be all right providing it is coupled with increased rates for higher incomes.

Three Types of Hair

The structure of human hair is three-fold: Short and crisp, generally termed "woolly," always jet black in color; straight, lank, long and coarse, and black almost without exception; wavy and curly or smooth and silky, mainly fair, with black, brown, red or tawny varieties. The first is the hair of all the black races except the Australians and the aborigines of India. The second is the hair of the yellow races, while the third is that of Europeans. The Australian, Papuan and Dravidian types exhibit a variety of hair intermediate between one and two, which may be called "frizzy."

Highway Workers Ready to Keep Open More Than 11,300 Miles of Roads

In every corner of the state, the Minnesota highway department is "digging in" for its annual battle with winter's snow storms.

More than 1,100 miles of snow fence is practically all in place. More than 200 big V plows are being attached to the department's heavy duty trucks. Fifteen tractor plows and 21 rotary plows are tuned up and ready to force their way through deep drifts.

Piles of gravel—more than 10,000 cubic yards—are in strategic locations waiting to be spread on icy pavements. For mixing with this there is 100 tons of calcium chloride which helps the gravel to imbed itself firmly in the ice and thus provide traction for slipping tires.

Maintenance workers of the highway department must keep more than 11,300 miles of state highways open. During storms snow plow crews work continuously night and day, until the roads are clear.

Crookston Voters Return Mayor Kirkwood to Office

Crookston voters defeated the "New Ticket" with the exception of one candidate in Tuesday's municipal election, returning Mayor W. J. Kirkwood, to office by a large majority. Final unofficial tabulations revealed that Kirkwood was re-elected over Ira L. Haaven, former Polk county sheriff and head of the "New Ticket" by a vote of 1,657 to 825. Kirkwood carried all but the fifth ward and the vote there was a tie.

FALL SEASON HELD MOST DANGEROUS BY STATE PATROL

Greater Caution Required of Drivers, Arnoldy Points Out

Late fall and early winter is the most dangerous season of the year for motorists using the state highways, according to officers of the Minnesota highway patrol.

In proportion to the number of vehicles on the roads, more accidents happen at this season than during any other part of the year, and consequently greater caution is required of drivers, said John P. Arnoldy, chief of the patrol, in a warning statement to motorists.

"Fog and poor visibility, frost, sleet, icy spots and slippery wet leaves test the motorist's judgment", Arnoldy said. "Summer speeds cannot be maintained when winter conditions begin. Every fall when the first sleet and ice form on the pavements, scores of motorists skid into ditches and are hauled out for the hospitals and morgues because they drive too fast.

"Slow down. Be sure your brakes, lights and other safety devices are in good condition. Check the motor exhaust to see that carbon monoxide cannot leak into the body of the car. A little of this gas may numb the senses just enough to slow up the body's reaction to road dangers. In old cars, especially, it is wise to leave a window slightly open. Above all, when roads are treacherous, slow down."

Gasoline Does Not Freeze

Gasoline has no freezing point but acquires a stiff, wax-like consistency at extremely low temperatures, say 90 or 100 degrees below zero.

County Man Admitted to 6-Weeks Creamery Course at "U" Farm

Norman Bergh of St. Hilaire, who is employed at the St. Hilaire cooperative creamery, has been approved as a candidate for admittance to the six weeks' creamery course sponsored by the dairy division of the Minnesota College of Agriculture. Attendance at this nationally-known course is restricted each year to about 40 highly-qualified creamery men. The course will open at University Farm, St. Paul, January 9, 1936 and run through February 20.

The creamery course has been an annual event for the past 42 years, enabling over 4,000 men to receive special training in that field. Every year applications for the course come from many outside states as well as from every section of Minnesota.

Persons interested in learning more about this short course in creamery production may obtain complete information by writing Prof. W. B. Combs, Dairy Division, University Farm, St. Paul, Minnesota.

$7,000 Daily Income From State-Owned Iron Mines

An average daily income to the permanent trust funds of the state of more than $7,000 was made possible during the months of July, August and September through the payment of royalties by operators of state-owned iron mines, F. A. Wildes, director of the division of lands and minerals, reported. A total of 2,500,796 tons of iron ore was mined during the quarter with a royalty payment amounting to $644,123.31. Twenty-five per cent of the total quarterly income went to the university fund and the balance to the school and swamp land funds, Mr. Wildes said.

County Highway Engineers to Supervise State-wide Program

County highway engineers have been designated by L. P. Zimmerman, SERA administrator, to supervise a state-wide improvement program designed to permit drouth relief clients to work off their obligations to the state.

It is estimated that this program will affect about 40,000 persons, chiefly farmers, who have incurred obligations amounting to approximately $4,000,000. In asking the county highway engineers to supervise the projects in counties and municipalities Mr. Zimmerman explained that this plan gives the drouth relief clients an opportunity to work off the obligations incurred up to Feb. 25, 1935.

Types of projects include road construction and repair, ditch cleaning, school house repair, painting, gravel hauling, etc. The work is to be done under a contract system giving the drouth relief recipient the advantage of working off his obligation at his own convenience. Obligations may be paid either in work or in kind.

The following table shows the balance to be worked off and the number of drouth relief clients involved by counties:

Pennington, 37 clients owe a balance of $123; Marshall, 432 clients owe $2,834; Red Lake, 85 clients owe $1,010; Polk, 936 clients owe $36,572.

Christmas Tree Tags Make Appearance Soon

That Christmas will soon command attention is recalled by Grover Conzet, director of the division of forestry, who stated that this yule-tide season will bring to Minnesotans the new "Evergreen Tree Tag." He pointed out that Minnesota does an annual Christmas tree business of about one million dollars and that the new "Christmas Tree Law" was designed to protect this business against the "bootlegger" of trees and trespassers on tax delinquent lands.

Director Conzet asked that Christmas tree purchasers co-operate by buying only trees having the official tags.

"The new law pertaining to the cutting and sale of Christmas trees will encourage improved forestry practice, will do much to prevent glutting of the market and will promote fair competition."

Over Half Million Ducks Taken in State Last Year

Duck hunting occupies the center of the stage in Minnesota with nimrods seeking migratory waterfowl on lake, stream and marsh. From reports received from all parts of Minnesota it is expected that the number of ducks taken this season will far exceed the estimated taken in 1934, E. V. Willard, commissioner of conservation, announced. Of the 637,461 estimated total of wild ducks taken in Minnesota last year, mallards were in the lead with 261,741 and bluebills second with 109,556. Scattered totals included other wild duck species in the order of importance as follows: Greenwinged and bluewinged teal, canvasbacks, redheads, pintails, shovelers, ringnecks, widgeons, black mallards, gadwalls, mergansers and goldeneyes.

PARENTS FETED AT N. W. SCHOOL LAST SATURDAY

County Residents Included in Group of 400 at Celebration

Parents of the Red River Valley re-entered school for a day when nearly 400 fathers and mothers of Northwest School students took part in the annual Parents' Day celebration on the school campus last Saturday. Numerous parents from Wadena, Ottertail and Wilkin counties on the south, north to Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods on the Canadian border took advantage of the opportunity to visit classes, meet the individual members of the teaching staff and visit with other parents from all parts of the Red River Valley.

In discussing the value of home project work as carried on by the individual students under the supervision of school specialists, Melvin Pearson, Advanced, Hallock, stated that he purchased 80 pounds of Thatcher wheat seed in the spring of 1934 at a total cost of $2 and seventeen months later harvested nearly 800 bushels of rust-resistant seed worth at least $1.50 per bushel direct from the machine. Over a period of years, hundreds of students have financed their school expenses in full as a result of home project work.

Parents were also interested in the discussion by Cora Dalager of Pelican Rapids who explained the unique Northwest School tree planting project as adopted by the student body last spring. Every student and staff member agreed to plant at least one tree which was to be known as the official Northwest School tree. In many cases the project was expanded to include an entire windbreak so that hundreds of trees were planted during the past season. Each student was provided with a metal tag so that the official tree has been designated and will stand as a monument during the years that are to follow.

The student program also included selections by the school orchestra, boys' and girls' glee clubs, mixed chorus, an address of welcome by James Weckwerth of Hazel, and a one-act play. During the late afternoon a reception was held in the physical education building following which the coffee hour and a general mixer took place. Parents also inspected the home project exhibits which included work in sewing, canning, cooking, and the various agricultural projects as carried on by the students during the vacation period.

The following parents from Pennington county were in attendance: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Omundson, Mr. and Mrs. John Solberg, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weckwerth, Hazel; Mr. and Mrs. Torjus Hemmestvedt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sund, Goodridge; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oen, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Augustine, and Mr. and Mrs. Syvert Hanson, Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dahlen, Erie, Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Prestegaard, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Gust Iverson, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Solberg, Mrs. Anton Fort and son Ernest, Erie.

Second Pheasant Season Opens Saturday at Noon in Southern Minnesota

Another open season for the legal taking of ringnecked pheasants is in prospect for Minnesota hunters this fall. This second open period will get under way for 11 half days in 51 counties starting at 12:00 o'clock noon Saturday, November 9, and ending at sunset Tuesday, November 19.

It will be legal to include one female ringnecked pheasant in the daily bag limit of three birds and two female ringnecked pheasants will be permitted in the possession quota of six birds. Each hunter is restricted to 18 ringnecked pheasants for the 1935 open seasons.

State game wardens reported following a survey in the open counties included in the second period that ringnecks are plentiful and that an unusual abundance of cover will protect the birds against abnormal reduction because of shooting.

Minnesota Lutheran Conference Planned in Minneapolis Nov. 10

Every section of Minnesota will be represented at the first All State Lutheran conference to be held in Minneapolis November 10 and 11. This was announced by the arrangement committee this week following a check-up on responses to letters sent to every Lutheran pastor in Minnesota inviting both ministers and laymen to attend.

The conference, the first to be sponsored by laymen, will discuss informally and unofficially the possibility of coordination in the external affairs and activities of the more than 2100 Lutheran congregations in the state.

Dr. Ralph Long, New York city, executive director of the National Lutheran Council, will be the principal speaker at the conference which is jointly sponsored by the Hennepin County and St. Paul Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods.

Speaking on "Lutheran World Problems," Dr. Long, who recently returned from attending the Lutheran World Conference in Paris, France, will address an open meeting at 8:00 p. m. Sunday evening Nov. 10 at the Minneapolis municipal auditorium. A massed choir of several hundred voices will be an additional program feature. C. H. Berglund, president of the Hennepin County Federation will preside.

MISTAKE RAILROAD TRACKS FOR HIGHWAY

Northome.—'Twas "three o'clock in the morning" for a party of Northome residents, but also almost the dawn, when their car wedged itself in the railroad tracks just outside of town. The local freight train had to stop quite suddenly. Evidently the driver had made a mistake and turned too soon on the highway when leaving town after a dance. His car wedged in between the tracks at the switch division. The occupants considered themselves very lucky as one headlight remained on, giving warning to the engineer which enabled him to pull up his train. Members of the train crew helped the occupants of the car get their machine off the track, and they proceeded blithely on their way.

MEANEST MAN TAKES FOOD FOR CHARITY

Moorhead. — The "World's meanest man" has visited in Moorhead. In St. Johns Episcopal church, members of the guild had gathered together fruits, vegetables and other delicacies worth about $60 in their annual Harvest Home festival. Each year the food is given to Miss Marie Jorgenson, school nurse, for distribution to the poor. Last week Dean S. J. Hedelund reported that someone had broken in the door at the south side of the church and cleaned out the entire collection.

OFFICIALS WILL HOLD MEETING HERE TUESDAY

Referees, Coaches, and Officials of District to Meet

On Tuesday, November 12, at seven-thirty a basketball interpretation meeting will be held in Thief River Falls. The meeting will be conducted by Arthur Von of Duluth, one of the four referees chosen for the state basketball tournament.

Similar meetings will be held in other cities in this state during November by George Higgins of Minneapolis, H. R. Holman of St. Paul, and A. E. Westgaard of Willmar.

It is believed these meetings will promote more uniformity in officiating in basketball games throughout the state.

Mr. Von will conduct three other basketball interpretation meetings in the following places: Bemidji, Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, Hibbing, Thursday evening, Nov. 14 and Duluth, Monday evening, Nov. 18.

All coaches, officials, and others interested are urged to attend at least one of these interpretation meetings.

BALLY-WHO

The poem below is probably the best true to life description of the feminine sex.

FEMININE SIGNS

"When your little girls begins
Wanting waves put in her hair;
When the strangest sort of pins
On her frock she starts to wear;
When the manners of the old
Very quaintly she employs,
Plain this fact, although untold,
She's begun to notice boys.

When expectantly she springs,
Just as eager as can be,
Every time the phone bell rings,
Saying: "That may be for me!"
When the chatter endless flows
Till it irks you and annoys
That's another sign which shows
She's begun to notice boys.

When she begs a drop of scent
And the powder which you use;
When no longer she's content
With those healthy, flat-heeled shoes;
When she starts to think about
Losing weight and gaining poise,
Then there isn't any doubt
She's begun to notice boys!
—Edgar Guest

While on the subject the entire junior class play could be summed up in the phrases—"the fickleness of women and a little golddigging."

Since we've had such "ducky" weather we can say, "We've heard of it raining cats and dogs, yet we can prove that it snowed ducks here."

After all the frolic and the break of dawn the Gustafson yard sort of looked like a miniature army had been there and left a few things behind.

Seems as though the total sum of four boys broke a girl's resolution at or after the Bennes party.

Thoughts— wonder if they'll have the skating "rink" ready by next June as they can build a swimming pool in it to be ready by January, 1937.

Seems as though Jerome S's car went riding by itself last Friday night.

And ahem! Who was the fair mademoiselle who accompanied Dayton S. to the show the other night?

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY

"Seven Chances" Will be Presented Friday November 22

The junior Class play entitled "Seven Chances" will be presented in the auditorium, November 22. It is a three act comedy. The hero named Jimmy Shannon (Robert Wessling) learns of his uncle's death two days before his thirtieth birthday. His uncle leaves Jimmy $12,000,000 providing he is married before his thirtieth birthday. Jimmy wants the money badly, but despises all girls and shies from the thought of having to marry one. However, under the direction of his friend Billy Meekin (Donald Olson), he proposes to seven girls. To Jimmy's surprise and mingled feeling of joy and dismay all the girls refuse. But when they discover the fact that Jimmy will inherit millions of dollars, all seven of the girls accept his proposal. Then what will Jimmy do—he can't marry them all! The play is full of laughs but come and see for yourself. Everyone will agree that the evening viewing "Seven Chances" will be an evening well spent.

In the listing of the characters in last week's paper, the name of Brunell Erickson was omitted.

Seen about town on Halloween—Goings on over at Peg's —Fun, eh what, Ardella, Mona, Bea, Jean, Jack, Bob and Roger?—Also at Helen R's. Reports from Brunell, Audrey, Lois N. Helen G., Martha, Adele, and Annetta state that "a swell lunch was enjoyed by all."—Same goes at Dillons—Friday night Bettie had several kids, Alice, Iva, Mae, Marcella, Tom, Archie, Calle, Bon and Carl over. Goodness, from the looks of things this column is beginning to look more like a society column than a column of school gossip. Just goes to show—

And is a certain sophomore girl's heart ever going pitty-pat because a certain post-grad has been going to see her the first period. (Was bookkeeping the only reason, Harold?)

And has Peg ever gone in for the sophomores? (Better to rob the cradle than the grave, eh, Peg?)

Several of the big, tall, and handsomes around high school have been missing lately. (Don't tell me it was duck hunting!)

Edna G. has a hard time deciding which town is the better—Crookston or Mahnomen. Wonder why?

What junior girl has been victim of several practical jokes since she fell for a certain football star in Warren?

Audrey A. seems to think Bob W. is such a clever boy. I wonder why.

Three guesses as to why Annette S enjoys biology class. (His first name is Ruben.)

Who is Celeste Crown's secret passion? (Several of the seniors would like to know.

That affair of Tom and Ira's seems to be progressing nicely at this writing.

Dayton R's hobby of day-dreaming may be rather useless in school, but it at least caused a great deal of comment. (Some teachers seem to believe it characteristic of all seniors.)

Coach Lee and his red necktie certainly brought forth the laughs in the first period Social Class last Monday.

HERE COMES B. B.

When the leaves start to fall and the October air becomes bitey, we think of football; when Old Man Winter takes a Joe Louis punch at us when we are not looking, that's basketball weather. Whether we have completed football schedule or not!

The Crookston Cathedral gridgame postponed, local athletes are turning in their football uniforms and are donning their basketball outfits.

What are the prospects? The material may not be as good as last year, but we believe that our club this year is more determined and more earnest than any since 1932. The team this year will not be expected to be called "State Champs" after their first game, as the team last year.

We well know what happened last year in the District Tournament! It shall not happen again!

Last year the team merely had things to wait for, but this year's team has things to work for! More power to you!

PROWLER ON ITS WAY

With the accepting of the photographer's bid, the Prowler moves forward! Football is already a thing of the past as far as the Prowler is concerned. Soon the Junior-Senior Masquerade and the Junior Class play will join the rank and file of grid battles and a few assembly programs.

The Prowler staff earnestly solicits your cooperation in producing the school annual. If you are asked to aid them, please remember that a ninety-six page Prowler requires more work than the small staff can handle easily.

As soon as a schedule is arranged for taking pictures, a little consideration on your part will be greatly appreciated. Since you must go to the photographer only one afternoon, try and be there. It will make things easier both for the photographer and the staff!

ETIQUETTE

With the Junior-Senior Masquerade approaching, a few pointers on conduct should be welcomed by those who wish to better themselves.

If a number of young girls and young men come together—better yet, if they go everywhere together, always sit in a flock and dance with one another—they not only have a good time but they are sure to be popular with drifting odd men also.

Certain groups of clever girls sit in precisely the same place in a dance hall, to the right of the door, or the left, or in a corner. One might almost say that they form a little club; they dance as much as they like, but come back 'home" between whiles.

When one of the "stags" standing about sees a girl dance past with whom he wishes to dance, he darts forward, lays his hand on the shoulder of her partner, who relinquishes his place in favor of the newcomer, and a third in turn does the same to him. However, the partner who was first dancing with a girl must not cut back on the man who took her from him, and he must not continue to cut in on the same man dancing with different partners.

How to walk across the dance hall is another point to be considered.

The athletic girl of to-day strides across the ballroom floor as though she were on a golf course; the happy-go-lucky one ambles with shoulders stooped, arms swinging, hips and head in advance of chest; others trot, others shuffle, and others make a rush for it. The young girl who could walk across a room with dignified grace would have to be very assiduously sought. Her body is perfectly balanced, she holds herself straight, and yet in nothing suggests a ramrod. She takes steps of medium length, and, like all people who move and dance well, walks from the hip, not the knee. On no account does she swing her arms, nor does she rest a hand on her hip! Nor, when walking, does she wave her hands about in gesticulation.

SHOP NEWS

Shop II students are putting Ohm's Law to practice these days by computing practical problems in lamp loads or house lighting, horse power calculations, current measuring, and consuming devices, power costs and meter reading. Battery design and manufacture, ratings and maintenance were studied the previous week.

Tungar chargers, as well as electrolytic rectifiers, hold no circuit secrets to the electric boys now. They can draw the circuits and know what they are about.

Shop I students are perfecting their work in continued study of orthographic projection. Ruling pens and inking are receiving attention, too, at present in the attempt toward the execution of neat, accurate working drawings. Sectional details and dimensionings have been a further source of study.

MUSIC NOTES

A girl's and a boy's chorus has recently been selected from members of the Mixed Chorus. These two groups and the Mixed Chorus will appear on the Christmas program. At present the groups are hard at work on Christmas music.

The boy's double quartette is working on "Down Mobile", Medley: "Lullaby", Brahms; and "The Old Clipper Ship", Pordan.

SOPHOMORES TO BE ENTERTAINED

Freshmen to Give Party as Result of Defeat in Football Game

The annual Freshman-Sophomore party will be held in the high school gymnasium next Friday, November 4th at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The party will be given by the freshman because of the fact that their team was defeated by the sophomores in a football game held recently.

A lunch committee was selected by the freshman class to take charge of the refreshments at the party. Ice cream, pop, and wieners and buns will be served by the freshmen.

A game committee was also chosen to decide the games which will be played and to direct them while the party is in progress.

All freshmen and sophomores are urged to attend the party and all are assured an enjoyable evening.

ALUMNI NEWS

Kendell Gustafson, alumnus of the class of '35, is a freshmen reporter on the Hamline Oracle, school paper of Hamline University. He is also a member of the student drama club. Last year Kendall was editor-in-chief of the Progress.

Arnhild Fjelstad, graduate of the '35 class, is prominent in many activities at Concordia college. She is a member of the Cobber pep squad, the soliciting committee for the all Cobber party, and the Concordia Choir. Eleanor Harris is also a member of the Concordia Choir.

Stella Myrom and Ralph Fjelstad are members of The Concordian, Miss Myrom, being a reporter and Mr. Fjelstad a special writer. They were both selected as rating among the ten highest students in scholarship for last year's school term.

Walton Myhrum has again been selected to play in the Concordia College band.

GYM GEMS

Wouldn't it be a miracle if Solvieg F. was dressed for gym on time just once?

We're wondering—Is Peggy P. going out for track?

Was it supposed to be a gag that some of the girls wore sport shoes instead of tennis shoes during the work for the "Gym Holiday?".

Which team—Anderson's or Syverson's—will have a "Gym Holiday?"

Now we know what ails Arlene P. in gym class—she wants Martha S. to be with her.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM PLANNED

Student Body to Attend Program Held in Assembly

Armistice Day will be observed on November 11 by a program but owing to the early day, the contents of the program have not been announced. This program will be held in the high school assembly.

As you all know, Armistice day was the day the armistice was signed. Armistice itself means a suspension of hostilities between two belligerent powers or two armies by mutual agreement. This armistice may be only for a few hours while two powers bury the dead, regain their wounded or exchange prisoners. At this particular time the armistice ended the great World War. This armistice saved the lives of many young men who realized that once more they would see their homeland. They realized that they had fought for their cause and had won.

Therefore in view of this, it is only proper that the public schools of America participate in programs observing the occasion.

CLASSES STAGE DUES CAMPAIGN

All Classes Attempt to Collect Class Dues

The campaign for class dues is in full swing. The seniors, juniors, and freshmen have been working diligently the past three weeks in ordr that the required amount will soon be in the class treasuries. In the senior class the dues are collected by students in English periods. These students include Ardelia Gjernes, Alice Ann Severson, Edna Lee, and James Nesse. Juniors who are serving as class solicitors include Alfred Nelson, Helen Anderson, and Margaret Paquet. In the freshmen class the class officers serve as collectors. They include Clifford Lunke, Milton Pappenhagen, and Fred Kavanaugh. The sophomores have not started collecting their class dues.

Class dues for the seniors are one dollar per semester; juniors, fifty cents per semester; and freshmen, twenty-five cents per semester. It is the hope of the Prowler staff that these enlarged class dues will assist in printing a larger Prowler this year.

The junior are leading in the collection of class dues by the total sum of one dollar. Next in line come the freshmen, and finally the seniors.

AMONG THE 400

Last week the senior class officers met to discuss plans for the Junior-Senior masquerade. They decided to buy several "noisemakers". A matched dance is to be held at the masquerade; that is, giving out numbers to all of the boys and girls. The boy and girl with the same number will dance together.

The cast for the Junior class play, "Seven Chances", is having a regular daily practice. However, it was impossible to rehearse last Thursday, for the simple reason that the gallant hero was out duck-hunting.

The people on the committees concerning tickets, stage, etc. for the Junior class play will commence their work this week.

It's about time to start saving our dimes and nickels for the Junior class play. In a short time, the tickets will be on sale. Be sure to buy one.

The normal training students had rural observation work on October 22, 24 and 25. They have now finished that unit of study.

Swans by Themselves

Swans are generally best kept by themselves in captivity, keepers of zoos have discovered. With birds smaller than themselves they often become too quarrelsome and murderous for the welfare of their weaker neighbors.

CYCLIST HALTS HIT-RUN DRIVER

Austin.—No hit-and-run driver is going to get away from Carl Holman! When a driver started to pull away from the scene of an accident west of Austin recently, Carl lunged forward and jumped onto the tire carrier in the rear of the car. While the car sped along the highway, Carl climbed over a rear fender to the running board. He opened the door of the roadster, got inside and ordered the driver to stop. Holman, aged 40, and his brother Martin rode all the way from Illinois on bicycles, looking for work. Two miles from Austin, a car struck Martin's bicycle, smashing the machine but leaving the rider unhurt. The driver of the car, a farm hand living near Oakland, stopped momentarily after the crash, then started driving away. He claimed later he only intended to proceed up the highway until he could find a place to turn around, but Carl disputed this by the fact that the driver had passed up a few cross roads without stopping. The farm hand was asked to only pay for the damages to the bicycle.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

Hunting in the Early Days

At this time of year when frosty mornings lend a tang to the air and when falling leaves give warning of the approach of winter, when farmers are busy storing their feed crops and making everything snug for winter and city folks also are preparing for wintry blasts, the thoughts of many men turn to hunting.

This fact introduces another unusual feature of early history. Back in the days before game laws and when game birds and animals were plentiful the hunter's gun, like that of the Pilgrim of an earlier day, was an important factor in supplying the larder. Younger people whose experience with meat is confined chiefly to meat markets will consider it unusual that pioneer families in some instances had no other meat than wild game. Another unusual fact is that some families packed down the "hams" of wild geese and brant in lard. In one instance, in this section a pioneer shot geese from his cabin doorway and his women folk packed them down.

Of course, deer were plentiful in the early years and in the frontier period elk roamed widely in the state even finding their way well to the south. Moose reigned more extensively also. So game meat was generally available in the settlement days. School children read much about such valiant hunters as Daniel Boone, Kit Carson and, in a later period, Buffalo Bill. The fame of these men rested on the practical phases of hunting, either to supply meat for the table or to get rid of dangerous wild animals.

Buffalo Bill first came into prominence as a result of his success in supplying buffalo meat to railroad crews building a transcontinental line through the west. In the early pioneer years here there were many men who depended on their muzzle-loaders for the maintenance of their families. They not only provided meat for food but were able to sell furs and hides. They also trapped and fished and this outdoor activity, which most boys undoubtedly consider ideal, was their main means of livelihood.

The immigrants from Europe, who entered this section as settlers were not as familiar with firearms as Americans or those who had come to this country earlier and they did less hunting. However the records show that immigrant men, especially the younger ones, frequently became proficient with guns. In the older sections the boys of the second generation invariably became competent hunters. Gray squirrels, rabbits, partridges, grouse, quail and ducks were common quarry. Deer were shot at first without any restrictions and the country certainly was a hunters' paradise.

But increased population reduced the number of game birds and animals and made it advisable to place restrictions on hunters. Although Minnesota was slow in the adoption of its conservation policies much has been accomplished in recent years. Because of Minnesota's fame as an outdoor state and because its north woods rival those of earlier Maine as a hunting and trapping region boys in other states less favored consider Minnesota boys lucky.

Perhaps our boys are inclined to under rate their good fortune since it always has been their lot. However that may be, it is certain that this opportunity to hunt and fish and trap is Minnesota's greatest asset from the standpoint of health, general well-being and sport. It is hard on the animals and there are many these days who consider the killing of animals birds barbaric. But man has hunted and has preyed on the lesser animals in other ways for centuries and today men who like outdoor life usually also like to hunt and fish. Since their code does not take into consideration the ethics involved in a broad sense or the fine moral distinctions possible it does not seem fair to charge them with cruelty.

One thing is certain: as long as Minnesota's natural charms survive and her young people are able to enjoy themselves outdoors as they see fit her people will be healthier and happier. The game laws have helped materially to preserve Minnesota's natural state and to make game animals and birds reasonably plentiful. To be sure, prairie chickens were disappointingly scarce this fall and in some sections pheasant hunters were not particularly successful, but these shortages seem to have been due to unfavorable seasons rather than any faults of the protective system. Game birds come and go, some species disappearing for several years. Oldtimers tell of the carrier pigeons that once inhabited the lower half of the state. In pioneer days these birds were present by millions. But in the late 70's they disappeared entirely. The writer never has heard a satisfactory explanation of their fate.

Infantile Paralysis Not Common in State This Year, Say Medics

With the coming of frost the largest part of the danger from poliomyelitis (the dread infantile paralysis) is over everywhere for the year.

Only a few cases were reported in Minnesota this year according to a bulletin issued today by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association, but physicians all over the country are checking up now on the progress made and information gained during the year in the medical fight against this terrifying disease.

An editorial which appeared recently in Minnesota Medicine official publication for the association, is the basis for the brief evaluation of the status of our defenses against the disease, given in today's bulletin.

Less than one in sixteen of the persons who are infected with the disease actually develop any paralysis, according to this editorial.

At the same time most people appear to have come into sufficient contact with the infection at some time during their lives to develop an immunity to it by the time they grow up.

That is why doctors believe that the best hope for an effective weapon against the disease lies in a vaccine which can be given to all children.

The editorial also reports that recent research gives considerable promise of the development very soon of a really effective vaccine.

Two types of vaccine are being used experimentally now. One of them, using a safe, inactive substance has been used on some 4,000 individuals in the vicinity of New York. Only time and much more experimentation will tell whether this vaccine will live up to medical hopes for it.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

To tax or not to tax—that is the question that is puzzling members of the Legislature with their eyes fixed on December 2nd.

The two outstanding legislative problems in Minnesota today are social security legislation to dovetail with the federal Social Security Act and the unsettled tax problem. The former is the more immediately urgent, but the latter is the graver. The first must be attended to at the special session; the second might be put over until the regular session only a trifle more than a year away.

Two reasons have been advanced for postponing the solution of the tax problem: (1) It is generally expected that the people in November 1936 will approve the proposed constitutional amendment forbidding the levy of taxes on property for state purposes. If the amendment should be approved it will be necessary for the Legislature of 1937, which will meet in a little more than a year, to completely revamp the tax structure of the state. Why then, is the argument advanced, should time and money be spent for a tax solution which in all probability must be revamped anyway a year hence? (2) There is a growing opinion that no additional funds need be provided for the enforcement of any social security laws which may be enacted by the special session. The $2,000,000 voted last winter for old age pensions is available; many believe that will be ample for the 12 months following January 1st, 1936; if it is not, such additional funds as may be necessary can be authorized by the special session without resorting to an immediate change in the tax structure.

There is very general agreement that the enactment of Minnesota legislation to meet the federal old age pension scheme will in the end cost many millions of state money, and the permanent solution of the state's critical tax problem will finally be greatly aggravated by the old age pension undertaking. There is, however, some difference of opinion as to the immediate cost (that is, the cost for 1936) of a state-wide old age pension law to cooperate with the federal Social Security Act.

George Nordlin, former state senator, a member of President Roosevelt's Advisory Committee in the drawing of the Social Security Act, and a pioneer advocate in Minnesota of old age pensions, is firmly of the opinion that the 1936 operation of any Minnesota state-wide old age pension act cannot possibly cost more than $1,000,000. His belief is supported by pension experience in the three big counties of the state. Those who have been administering old age pensions in Hennepin and Ramsey counties declare that it will be July 1st, 1936 before a new state-wide pension act can actually begin to function, and they point out that time must be consumed in the examination of applications, and that experience has shown that progress toward the maximum pension load is slow.

On the other hand, the Interim Tax Committee which has thus far had three sessions, and is due for another November 8th, is impressed with the need of caring at once for the state's unemployables, and with the figures adduced by the Minnesota Institute of Government Research to the effect that such care will involve heavy expenditures at once.

The Institute thinks that the minimum number of eligibles 65 years or older in Minnesota is 32,185. On the basis of one-half payment by the federal government, as provided in the Social Security Act, and the other one-half payment by the state and county, the total Minnesota cost per year for these 32,185 (a number which is bound to increase) would be as follows: for a pension of $30 per month, a total state and county cost of $5,973,300 per year; for a pension of $22 per month (practically the highest now paid), a total state and county cost of $4,248,420 per year; for a pension of $15 per month (which is more than the average now paid), a total state and county cost of $2,896,650 per year; for a pension of $12 per month, a total state and county cost of $2,317,320 per year.

These figures are for the minimum pension load. If the maximum number of eligibles in Minnesota, 43,492, was immediately placed on the old age pension rolls the yearly cost to state and county for a $30 a month pension would be $10,400,000.

Members of the Executive Council, under warrant of a law passed last winter, last week sold 4½ millions of Minnesota highway bonds with which to match federal funds. Minnesota will pay 2¼ per cent for this money. It gets, incidentally, a premium gift of $21,505.50. The Legislature last winter authorized the Executive Council, in its judgment, to issue during the biennium not to exceed $12,000,000 of highway bonds to match federal contributions to the state, and of this amount not more than $8,000,000 may be issued during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1936.

State Auditor Stafford King, through his chief deputy, Matt J. Desmond, sets $43,997.74 as the total appropriations of the Legislature of 1935.

This figure is $724,677.16 higher than the previous high set in 1931 and $6,725,996.89 higher than the total appropriations of the 1933 Legislature. An analysis of the appropriations shows that the increase over 1933 is due to extraordinary appropriations for various undertakings for human welfare, these undertaking accounting for more than $6,000,000 of the increase, while changes in administration of the state income tax and the state liquor act, together with interest on the state deficit and on new state debts, account for another $1,000,000 of increase.

Included in the total of more than six millions for welfare activities are an increase for education of $2,455,201.58, for the state's share of old age pensions $2,000,000, and for mothers' pensions $300,000. The balance of the increase consists in new appropriations for the blind, for the care of children and the state's unfortunates, for weed eradication and the combating of Bang's disease, for an enlargement of the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension and other miscellaneous welfare activities.

Heretofore the expenses of administration of the income tax law and the state liquor law were taken from the receipts of these activities, but the Legislature of 1935 appropriated directly from the state treasury $300,000 for income tax administration and $137,733.25 for administration of the state liquor law. For interest on the state deficit and other new requirements $320,000 was appropriated.

If the welfare appropriations and the administrative changes had not been made, the appropriations of 1935 would have been $600,000 less than those of 1933.

Dreng Bjornaraa Outlines Project at Meeting in Bemidji

To present a current picture of the actual characteristics of the available labor supply represented by the active files in its employment offices, the United States Employment Service has sponsored a works program project for the inauguration of a perpetual inventory of these active files.

A meeting of the National Reemployment Service workers in Districts 1 and 2 was held at Bemidji on Friday, November 1, addressed by Dreng Bjornaraa, state director, and Gordon M. Larson, statistical supervisor. T. O'Malley of the local re-employment Service attended the meeting.

This inventory which has been approved will provide a weekly picture of the geographical distribution, the occupation and industrial background, the age, sex, color, veteran status and relief status of all applicants in the active files, including all employables on relief rolls as well as of unemployed persons not on relief.

The project provides for the establishment and maintenance, for a period of one year, a complete file of individual punched card records for all active applicants. Daily changes in the status of individuals will be reflected through the reporting system of the United States Employment Service offices and a master file of all unemployed persons whose cards appear in the active file will be maintained in each state.

"Approximately 70,000 cards representing registrants in the active file in offices of the National Reemployment Service will be included in this inventory," according to Mr. Bjornaraa.

This program will be inaugurated in Minnesota with a series of training programs throughout the state this week. Regular personnel will be supplemented by a temporary staff of field clerks from relief rolls to be used to compile the necessary information.

"Employment office statistics are finding far-reaching uses at the present time," said Mr. Bjornaraa. "This new phase of employment service activity, will provide basic information for the social security program, particularly unemployment insurance. Due to the number of requests for such information, notably the International Labor Relations Board in Geneva, the Monthly Labor Review has recently inaugurated a supplementary report to make available to all interested parties, statistics concerning the unemployed."

Asphaltic Surface on Highway 32 to Marcoux Completed Last Week

McCree & Company, St. Paul, road contractors, having completed their job of applying the bituminous asphaltic surface on trunk highway No. 32 from Marcoux north to Red Lake Falls a distance of 7½ miles says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. The paving work was started Sept. 14 and was completed last Sunday. Several days of cold weather had delayed the work.

However the oiling of the shoulders has not been completed. The gravel work on the road shoulders was completed Tuesday when the last gravel was spread. The oiling machinery arrived Wednesday last week for the oiling of the shoulders, but was delayed on account of the cold weather. With the appearance of snow, this work will probably have to be delayed until spring.

The three-inch asphaltic base mixture mat was applied to the road at a contract price of $53,891 for the 7½ mile stretch. It is a fine black top road at the present time and it is hoped that it will stand up under the heavy traffic of this highway.

Helping Mothers to Cut Down On Family's Colds

Unique Formula for Nose and Throat Helps to Prevent Colds—And to Throw Off Head Colds at the Start.

SOON CLEARS "STUFFY HEAD"

Mothers are so often worried about their families' colds that they find special comfort in this unique aid for preventing colds —Vicks Va-tro-nol.

Especially designed for nose and upper throat, where most colds start, Va-tro-nol stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Used in time—at the first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol spreads through the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds, shorter colds and milder colds by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use throughout the country. Full details of the Plan come in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol.

National Cheese Will Be Observed in U. S. Week of November 10

The announcement of National Cheese Week, November 10-16, by the National Cheese Institute, is of great interest to the people of Minnesota and the northwest, because of the growing interest in cheese manufacture in the northwest, says W. B. Combs, in charge of dairy manufacturing work at University Farm, St. Paul.

"Interest in cheese is growing," says Professor Combs, "because as a food it is rich in protein, in fat, in mineral matter, and in those great essentials the vitamins. Furthermore, contrary to the opinion of many, it is easily digested; and, again, it can be combined in so many ways with other foods, in the preparation of delicious dishes."

That the place of cheese in the family menu is important is shown by the attention given to the uses of cheese in the courses offered for students in the home economics division of the College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics, University of Minnesota. Miss Alice M. Child, in charge of these courses, says that students in foods and cookery classes are required to make a study of the uses of cheese, of its nutritive values, and of methods of preparing and serving it as a part of the family diet. Furthermore, they make a study of the various kinds of cheese.

State Calls for Bids Nov. 15th on Highway Work to Cost $250,000

Bids on state highway jobs estimated to cost approximately $250,000 have been called for November 15 by the Minnesota highway department. This call is in addition to $550,000 in projects recently announced for the same date.

Four grading projects, nine gravelling jobs and a series of small check dams are included in the request for bids. Counties included in the call are Carlton, Faribault, Fillmore, Isanti, Kandiyohi, Lake of the Woods, Mower, Murray, Pope, Sibley, Stearns, Todd, Traverse, Wilkin, Winona and Wright. The work will be financed with Works Progress federal funds and will provide some 70,000 man hours of employment.

The jobs for which bids are asked include gravel surfacing on T. H. No. 72 between Baudette and 7 miles northwest; length 7.1 miles; 9,993 tons of gravel surfacing; 3400 man hours.

MINK SEASON OPEN: RACCOON IN OFFING

It became legal to take mink in Minnesota Friday, November 1, and the raccoon season is in prospect beginning Sunday, November 10. The open season on these two furbearers will continue until December 10 when the raccoon season closes and February 15 when mink will again be protected. There are no legal limits to the number of mink and raccoon that may be taken.

Leaps From Bridge to Avoid Train; Breaks Leg

Leonard Schmitz, 9-year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Schmitz, of Red Lake Falls, had a narrow escape from possible death October 23, when he became frightened as a freight train rounded the curve, when he was walking across the long Great Northern bridge over the Clearwater river in that city. He jumped from the bridge to the ground 23 feet below, breaking his left leg between the knee and hip. Engineer Russell Sprague saw the boy's predicament and was slowing up his train to stop, which he reported he would have been able to do. After seeing the boy jump the trainmen brought their train to a stop and hurriedly picked the lad up. He was taken to a Thief River Falls Hospital.

SHADES OF PAUL BUNYAN 144-POUND CALF BORN!

Brainerd.—The largest bovine "blessed event" on record, a hale and healthy holstein calf weighing 144 pounds, occured at the Echo stock farm near Brainerd last week, according to O. H. Scott, co-proprietor of the institution. The calf is normal in every respect and at the time of birth had reached the weight at which calves are usually vealed. Normal weight of a holstein calf at birth is 90 pounds. Oldtimers in this section scratched their heads, tried vainly to call to mind the birth of a larger calf, and then agreed that the Paul Bunyan exposition held in Brainerd last summer must have had something to do with it. They wonder if it will not develop into a counterpart of Babe, Paul Bunyan's big blue ox. Babe, as students of Bunyan lore will remember, was 42 axe handles and a plug of chewing tobacco wide between the horns, and her tears, when she wept bitterly about her [illegible], also, formed what is now known as Minnesota's famed ten thousand lakes.

How Much Is a Billion?

If a man had begun saving [illegible] a day 6,000 years ago and had never missed a day, he would not yet have amassed a billion dollars. It would take a man 15 years to count a billion if he could count at the best possible pace of [illegible] a minute, counting 10 hours a day and seven days a week.—Capper's Weekly.

TAX ASSOCIATION MAPS PLANS FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Removing State Levy From Real Estate One of Objectives

A tax program to be presented to the state legislature and to enlist taxpayers of the state has just been announced by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, following an all-day session in which representatives of county taxpayers associations representing every section participated.

The program includes:

An expenditure control law, incorporating a more efficient and uniform accounting system in government; a "pay-as-you-go" plan to discourage tax overdrafts and tax delinquencies; a budget procedure of planned spending, with complete itemizing of anticipated expenditures; control of issuance of bonds in counties where delinquencies are high.

A measure where taxpayers in any taxing unit will have larger powers in determining tax levies.

Enactment of a law to place a definite period in the collection of delinquencies; repeal of excess corporate tax law to prevent taxpaying in the event of confiscation.

Support of the amendment to be voted on at the 1936 election taking the tax off real estate for state purposes.

The study of the association's program is preparatory to a statewide campaign among taxpayers of 80 counties where the state organization has affiliated units. Directors and executives of the state association will begin the campaign this week. Heading the work are taxpayers from the counties, veterans in the campaign to reduce taxes in the state and men who have shown great results in their own counties. These men have volunteered to bring the message to every county and to help in furthering the tax reform program of the state association, which will be submitted to the coming special session.

CATTLE SHOCKED ALONG WITH CORN

Hector.—Art and Ed Johnson, farmers near Hector, have a novel way to keep their cattle in hand. They have put up a single strand charged wire around their pasture, and have had no trouble since in keeping their herd within the bounds of bovine property. The wire is charged from the farm plant, and though the current isn't dangerous, it is strong enough to discourage contact with it. The Johnson brothers contend that the fence is cheaper to put up than the regular three strand barbed variety, and is more effective as well. The disillusioned cattle are even wary about crossing spots from which the fence has been removed.

Acts on Elks Circus Program Nov. 7, 8, 9

PICTURED ABOVE are several of the arenic stars and trained animals that will appear with the Elks Circus which opens in the Thief River Falls Auditorium, Thursday night for a three day engagement. The two hour program will consist of 17 all star, all professional circus acts direct from the large tented shows of the summer-time. Free dancing will follow each evenings performance. Proceeds of the show will go to the Elks Charity Fund. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at reduced prices for all children.

Speaking Campaign to be Held in Advance of Christmas Seal Sale

An intensified battle against tuberculosis will be waged with words during November as a public speaking campaign will be carried on preliminary to the opening of the twenty-ninth annual Christmas Seal sale on Thanksgiving Day. More than 60 talks and meetings have been scheduled for the month under the auspices of the Minnesota Public Health Association.

Speakers will go into every corner of the state addressing college groups, high school students, parent-teacher organizations, mens' clubs, teachers' institutes, Christmas Seal workers and other groups.

Feature of the month's program will be the annual meeting and Christmas Seal Institute of the Minnesota Public Health Association to be conducted in the Twin Cities, November 22.

Earthquake Shocks Hit Eastern U. S. Section

The most severe earthquake shocks in many years early Friday morning shook 17 states along the eastern United States seaboard and three Canadian provinces, causing slight damage. The quake apparently centered in Canada a short distance north of Lake Ontario, and was also felt in the vicinity of Lake Michigan.

"GETS RELIGION," HOPES TO PAY OFF COAL BILLS

Red Wing.—Practically all fuel dealers in Red Wing have been the recipients of letters from a former resident who appears to be religiously inclined. In each instance the man asks forgiveness for past errors in the way of neglecting to pay bills and adds that "if ever possible, I will pay you." The letters were accompanied by printed religious tracts. At first dealers thought it was just the actions of one mentally unbalanced, but checkup of books revealed that in each instance the man in question was on the books for fuel delivered in past years and never paid for. In each instance the accounts have been marked off as "NG."

NEW CHEVROLETS WERE INTRODUCED IN CITY SATURDAY

Northern Chevrolet Co. Presents Master DeLuxe and Standard Models

New Master de luxe and Standard Chevrolets for 1936, embodying marked advances in styling, engineering, and performance, were introduced Saturday at the Northern Chevrolet company and simultaneously throughout the country at dealer salesrooms, which have already been liberally stocked with new models for display and delivery. Completeness in equipment, and in convenience is stressed in the company's 1936 announcement.

The Master de luxe, offered with either knee action or conventional springing, has been restyled in its more important appearance elements, notably by the adoption of a higher and narrower grille of distinctively original design, in combination with a new treatment of the hood louvres, new style headlamps mounted on the sides of the radiator shell, and new interior trim.

The lower priced Standard models have been completely redesigned in chassis and bodies. Last year the Standards differed materially both in appearance and in construction from the Masters; this year, the two lines are identical in all major features of styling, engineering, and performance, the chief difference being only a matter of wheelbase.

Outstanding among the many new features of both Master and Standard models for 1936 are perfected hydraulic brakes; improved engines having higher compression (6 to 1), balanced carburetor, full-length water jacket, and other changes resulting in better cooling and improved gasoline and oil economy; and cromodine rust-prevention of fenders and running boards.

Front doors of all models of both lines are now hinged at the front.

The solid-steel turret top, exclusive last year with the Master models, has been adopted this year for the Standard line also. Spoke-type pressed steel wheels, instead of wire wheels, are used on all Standard models.

Body interiors of Master models show marked advances in comfort and style. An important innovation is found in the design of the front seating arrangement of the Master coach and town sedan. Instead of the usual divided and hinged front seat of two-door models, a single seat cushion extends the full width of the car, permitting three passengers to ride comfortably. The seat back is divided, the right side section being hinged to fold forward over the seat cushion to open a passageway to the rear compartment.

Chevrolet's Standard models for 1936, besides incorporating features that appear for the first time on the Masters, take their place in the line as entirely new models, with new box girder chassis frame, more powerful engine, longer wheelbase and larger bodies. The line of body types has been increased to seven by the addition of three models—the four-door sport sedan with built-in trunk, the two-door town sedan with built-in trunk, and the cabriolet.

The Standard model wheelbase, formerly 107 inches, is now 109, while its overall length, last year 170½ inches, is 12 to 13 inches greater. Bodies are longer and wider, with more leg room, wider seats and additional head room. Car weight is increased 155 pounds. Springing has been improved by the use of longer front and shorter rear springs, which possess more nearly equal frequencies and so minimize pitching.

In changing to perfected hydraulic brakes on both chassis models, Chevrolet has adopted the hydraulic principle of brake actuation to its own design of brake mechanism within the brake drums. Instead of the cable operated floating cam formerly used at each wheel, a master hydraulic cylinder with double opposed pistons is used to actuate each pair of one-piece articulated brake shoes.

SCHOOL BOARD CUTS INTEREST RATE ON BONDS

Applies for Refunding Loan of $40,000 on Three Per Cent Basis

SUPT. BYE REPORTS ON SCHOOL COSTS

Shows Local School Costs to be Well Below Average for Nation

At the November meeting of the board of education Monday evening formal application was made to the state board of investment for a refunding loan of $40,000 to take up $10,000 of the $32,000 in privately held bonds maturing February 1, 1936, and a $30,000 issue due the state of Minnesota.

The new loan will be made on a three per cent interest basis, and will be retired in annual installments of $4,000 beginning July 1, 1941. The saving in interest on the basis of the lower rate will amount to approximately $4,000 over the life of the bonds, Supt. Morris Bye reported.

At the meeting arrangements also were made by the board to install skating rinks this winter at the Knox, Northrop and Washington schools, following the plan put into effect a year ago. The board approved collateral submitted by the Northern State bank as security for school deposits.

Superintendent Bye submitted to the board an enlightening report on school costs, showing that the cost of maintaining the local school system is well below the average for the state and nation. Following are excerpts from his report:

Taxes impress upon our minds the fact that schools cost money. Do they cost too much? One way of answering that question is to compare what we pay with what other school districts pay for the same thing. The maintenance cost per pupil, based on average daily attendance, in the Thief River Falls schools during the year 1934-1935 was $68.78. Maintenance includes all public school expenditures except capital outlay and bonds and interest. The average maintenance cost per pupil in Minnesota districts maintaining graded elementary and high schools was $85.00 for the year 1933-1934, which is the latest year for which figures are available for the whole state. Thief River Falls paid 19% less per pupil for maintaining its schools than the average graded elementary or high school district in the State.

Let us analyze this cost by splitting it up into its component parts and reducing it to the cost per pupil for each day that he attends school in Thief River Falls. We find that 24 cents will pay for the services of the teacher, with enough left over to pay for the work of the principal and supervisors. Seven and one half cents will cover the cost of keeping the school warm, lighted, clean, safe, and in good repair. One cent and a half will pay for special services as health work, school nurse, and transportation. Text books, library books, and teaching supplies cost

EXAMINER REPORT FINDS CITY CASH IN PROPER SHAPE

Finds All Receipts and Disbursements Were Properly Recorded

A report on an examination of the city records for the period since January 1, 1934 made recently at the request of a group of local residents whose names were not divulged was submitted to city officials last week by E. J. Pearlove, state comptroller.

The report states that all receipts and disbursements and details of official proceedings were properly recorded by City Clerk P. G. Pederson, and that cash balances of the clerk and treasurer were verified.

Attention was called to the fact that practically all funds except the current expense fund are overdrawn, and the report recommends the transfer of sufficient funds from the current expense fund to cover the overdrafts in other funds and permit operation on a cash basis in the future.

The report recommends the maintenance of a cash reserve for the electric light plant instead of transferring the surplus to be used for general city purposes. It also states that rates for current consumed to be considerably higher than those prevailing in other cities in the state, and cites the large profits accruing to the local plant.

Included in the report is a list of nine contracts in excess of $100 each which are stated to have been awarded without advertising for bids, the list including contracts for electrical supplies, painting and lumber.

1935 ROLL CALL FOR RED CROSS STARTS FRIDAY

Group of Women Will Make Solicitation for the Local Chapter

BIGGEST SHARE WILL STAY IN COMMUNITY

Local Chapter Sponsored Popular Swimming Course Last Summer

The annual Red Cross roll call, now being conducted in communities thruout the nation, will open in Thief River Falls Friday, it was announced today by Mrs. Theodore Quale, president of the Pennington county chapter.

Solicitation of memberships will be made by a group of women including Mrs. H. A. Brumund, Mrs. Ed Rupprecht, Mrs. B. O. Norby, Mrs. N. A. Holen, Mrs. E. J. Richards, Mrs. Herbert Fuller, Mrs. George Werstlein, Mrs. M. P. Erickson, Mrs. C. M. Adkins, Mrs. A. M. Holte, Mrs. Mary V. Shaw and Mrs. Quale.

It was pointed out that all Red Cross work is supported by annual membership dues received from citizens during the roll call. Fifty cents of each membership, regardless of whether $1 or more is paid, goes to support the national and international work of the organization, the balance being used by the chapter which secured it for work in its own community.

A hearty response is anticipated by officers of the local chapter in view of the excellent returns made on last year's investment in membership dues, the Thief River Falls community having profited largely from the life saving and swimming courses conducted during the summer months by the Thief River Falls chapter.

Donald B. Chalmers, who conducted the course, stated at its completion that actual instruction had been given to a total of 250 persons, of whom 131 satisfactorily passed the required tests, including 14 who qualified in the life saving class. Whether or not the course will be repeated next year will depend to a large extent on the amount of funds secured in the course of the current campaign.

In an Armistice day statement marking the beginning of the National Red Cross roll call, President Roosevelt said:

"The American Red Cross is an institution in which our people in every walk of life and in every section of the nation can unite in a common tie of brotherhood. It represents them in their instinctive desire to be of service to suffering humanity. It knows no distinction of race, creed or color. There are no boundary lines, either state or national, in its never-ending mission of mercy for those who are in distress.

"During the last year, one hundred twenty-eight disasters occurred in thirty-seven of our states. In each catastrophe the afflicted community turned with assurance to the Red Cross for the efficient relief which was so speedily given. During the same time this great organization has developed a country-wide program for safeguarding our homes and our highways from the mounting toll of accidental deaths.

"It is of the utmost importance that we maintain the Red Cross as our great national relief agency. I earnestly urge all who can possibly do so to respond generously and promptly to the Red Cross appeal."

Residents of Goodridge Area Talk Rural Electrification

Residents of the Goodridge community met in that village Saturday evening to discuss the proposed rural electrification project with J. H. Hay, assistant commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food in St. Paul, and Senator E. L. Tungseth of this city.

It was decided to continue the survey for the proposed project which contemplates the construction of a line from this city thru Kratka and Highlanding and Goodridge. Whether or not the plan materializes depends on whether or not a sufficient number of patrons can be obtained. Another meeting is scheduled to be held next Monday evening in the school house north of the Kratka bridge.

In order that all communities might be familiar with the opportunities for electrical service offered by the Rural Electrification Administration, Senator E. L. Tungseth today offered the following information:

"The money which is available for this purpose is $100,000,000 out of the $4,800,000,000 appropriated by the last congress for relief purposes. No quota has been set for each state. It is simply a matter of first come, first served.

"The federal government advances the full amount needed for the construction of high line facilities that will serve rural communities. Rural villages may be included. No competitive construction will be approved. In order to obtain funds for such projects these projects must be approved by Washington. The government takes lien only on the lines constructed and on the earnings therefrom. No bond issues are wanted and there is no personal liabilities involved for the members or the officers of the company formed for this purpose. The money is loaned for a term of 20 years at 3 per cent interest.

"In order to be economically sound any project must have an average of not less than 3 and ½ user per mile. In fact it should have not less than four users per mile in order to bring the cost per individual user down to a reasonable level. The cost per mile of construction is estimated at $1,000.00. Private loans may be had for wiring and equipping homes for electrical service at a shorter term at low interest.

"Every community should check itself at once in order to determine whether or not there is sufficient demand for electrical service to warrant the construction and maintenance of lines for that purpose. The R. E. A. offers an exceptional and unprecedented opportunity. In many cases several communities can co-operate, and large enterprises are much preferable.

"The State of Minnesota offers assistance through its department of agriculture dairy and food, J. H. Hay having been assigned to such service. If I can be of any service, I shall be glad to serve as much as time will permit. It is up to you as citizens and communities to get busy in case you are interested."

TURKEY RECEIPTS SHOW BIG DECLINE TO DATE THIS YEAR

Heavier Shipments for the Christmas Period Are Anticipated

That the Northwestern Minnesota crop of turkeys in general was not fully matured in time for the Thanksgiving marketing period now drawing to a close is indicated by the fact that only thirteen carloads of the birds have been shipped out of Thief River Falls up to today.

Some of the carloads, however, were loaded to weigh well up to the 30,000 pound mark, contrasted to a minimum loading of 20,000 pounds. Local shippers are confident that a much better showing will be made in the course of the Christmas marketing period which gets under way about December 1.

Last year up to this time 29 cars had been shipped, compared to 65 cars in 1933 and an all-time peak of 77 cars in 1932.

The purpose of "Open House" is to acquaint the public with the equipment and work necessary to provide them with telephone service. "Open House" is in line with the telephone company's policy of telling the public about its business. Visitors will be given an opportunity to watch the operators at work at the switchboard."

COUNCIL HOLDS LONG SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Gives First Reading to New Ordinance Regulating Barbers in City

REACH SETTLEMENT WITH CHAS. FITERMAN

Council Votes to Advertise for Bids on Small Snow Plow

In a lengthy session Tuesday evening that lasted until 11:15 the city council passed on a large accumulation of current bills and disposed of a number of matters that had been pending for some time.

Acting favorably on a petition submitted by 16 local barbers, the council gave a new barbershop ordinance its first reading. It would require a city license for all barbers and fixes the hours during which shops may operate, with a penalty for violation of provisions of the ordinance.

William Gilbertson was granted permission to set back the store building at the corner of Main av. and Eighth st. and to install two gasoline pumps. Other permits were granted to Roy Barsen to construct a residence on the east side at an estimated cost of $4,000; Carl Wennberg, welding shop on Knight av., $2,000; F. C. Lorentson, remodeling residence, $250; and Narveruds dry cleaning shop, addition, $400.

Senator E. L. Tungseth asked the council to quote a rate on electric current to serve approximately 100 homes in the Goodridge vicinity, the patrons to defray the cost of the transmission lines. The matter was referred to the water and light committee and Supt. Ole Legvold for consideration.

Charles Fiterman appeared before the council with his attorney, C. M. Boughton, Sr. of Red Lake Falls, to ask again for an increase in the condemnation award of $1,500 for his property on Main av. Mr. Boughton said the property had been assessed at $2,650 and suggested that figure would be a fair basis for settlement. After a protracted discussion a compromise settlement of $2,000 was agreed on, and Mr. Fiterman was given permission to occupy the quarters until April 1, 1936, at which time he said he intends to establish a warehouse elsewhere. A resolution authorizing the settlement was adopted.

A resolution was approved requesting the state highway department to install "Drive carefully" signs in place of the 30-mile speed limit signs recently installed on trunk highways at the outskirts of the city.

Payment of the first half of the cost of the new Busch-Sulzer Diesel unit, in the sum of $29,850, was authorized, as was payment of $1,544 to Tom Nesland for construction of four cabins, and $1,377 to the General Electric Supply corporation for ornamental light standards placed along the Johnson st. boulevard.

Acting on a suggestion of Mayor Frank Hinkel the council voted to advertise for bids on a small snow plow to be used in clearing the city streets. The plow would be operated by the city's International truck purchased for the street department earlier in the year.

Action was deferred on a request of the Woman's club that quarters for its exclusive use be designated in the Auditorium basement.

Peace Conference of 1861

In January, 1861, the legislature of Virginia passed a resolution inviting the states to appoint delegates to meet at Washington to consider an adjustment of the national difficulties then pending. The conference met February 4 and adjourned February 27. Twenty-one states were represented. As a result of its deliberations, a constitutional amendment was proposed which prohibited slavery north of the parallel of 30 degrees 30 minutes northern latitude; south of this line it was to exist without restraint. It denied the right of passing laws giving freedom to slaves temporarily in the free states or to fugitive slaves, and forbade congress to control slavery in the southern states, but prohibited the slave trade. The amendment was brought up in the senate, but failed of introduction in the house.—Boston Post.

Radium as Element

Radioactivity has proved that some, and possibly all, of the elements are decomposable, yet radioactive changes are entirely different from any known chemical reaction. Moreover they are so exceedingly slow that they are practically negligible, and the metal radium itself, though being gradually transformed into the gases helium and nitrogen, is unhesitatingly classed as an element. The essential fact about every chemical element is its relative atomic or combining weight, which is constant and unchangeable and forms an unfailing characteristic of the element.

This country lying south of Caucasia and the Black sea and north of Persia claims to have been the first nation to adopt the Christian religion. Its capital is at Erivan and the capital of the federation is at Tiflis.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Dry leaders were jubilant today after scoring a victory in Clearwater county which voted 1,123 to 850 to remain dry. It was the second time the wets were defeated there since repeal.

"Our victory in Clearwater county not only shows the people are sick of the evils liquor has caused but also shows we are gaining strength," H. H. Parrish, executive director of the Minnesota Temperance Movement declared today.

He pointed to the dry majority of 272 votes in the election held Monday, as compared to the dry majority of 83 votes at the previous election, a gain of 100 dry votes.

"The victory is significant of the changing attitude of many people," he added. "Pennington county on Oct. 14 voted to remain dry and we have hopes of other dry victories in the state."

Mr. Parrish spoke seven times over the week-end in Clearwater county in behalf of the dry movement.

Residents of Clarissa, Minn., will vote on the liquor question at the village election Dec. 3, as the result of a petition filed with the village clerk.

State Temperance Group Would Reenact Some of Former Regulatory Laws

The Annual State Council of the Minnesota Temperance Movement which just closed following a successful year of work at its sessions here adopted a legislative program which calls for the reenactment of some of the more basic laws which were on the statute books of the state for many years prior to the adoption of prohibition.

Their first demand is for a search-and-seizure law. Most of the wets will support this demand for without this law bootleggers who are their lawless competitors have the advantage.

They next ask for the return of the one-half-of-one-percent definition of intoxicating liquor. "That was the definition of the Federal Government, and in most of the states from 1863 to the repeal of the Volstead act in 1933. In pre-prohibition days the courts held that this standard was necessary for effective enforcement. The third measure asked for by the drys is the separation of liquor from public dance halls and eating places. Police matrons and juvenile court judges agree the juvenile delinquency and domestic troubles may be traced largely to the combination of drink with dancing and meals.

Next in line for the disapproval of this group is liquor advertising. "Before prohibition", said Herbert H. Parish, the executive director, "it was against the law to use the U. S. mails in any form of soliciting or receiving intoxicants. The fact that the liquor interests spent 19 million dollars in advertising last year is proof of the effective sales value of advertising." Their final legislative demand is that "off" sale places shall remain closed from 8 p. m. to 8 a. m. and that places which sell by the drink shall be closed from 11 p. m. to 8 a. m. "Many of the grosser evils of the traffic", continued Mr. Parish, "would be eliminated by the reenactment of these laws, which were the reasonable restraints upon the traffic developed by long and bitter experience during the half century before the war."

Growing With Your Child

HELPING WITH HOME WORK

Is it fair for parents to help with a child's home work?

I'm sure a great many of us have puzzled over that question, which shouldn't be so puzzling after all. Doesn't it all depend on how we define the word "help?" If by helping, we mean solving a child's arithmetic or Algebra problems for him, or putting our words into his mouth when he is going through the throes of writing a paper, then the answer is no; we certainly should not help. For if we do the work, instead of seeing to it that he does it, it is not going to help him in the long run at all, but merely make him more and more dependent. Even if he understands at the time the method by which we do his arithmetic lesson, he is liable to become hopelessly confused when an examination comes along, owing to lack of practise in doing problems himself.

But if, by helping, we mean doing a variety of things other than acting as a crutch, the answer is a decided yes. There are a number of legitimate ways of helping to strengthen a child's work and foster a happy attitude toward subjects that might otherwise be disliked.

1. We can "help" by seeing to it that our children have a suitable place in which to study. It would be ideal from some points of view, if each child could retire to his own room and work there undisturbed. But many bedrooms aren't heated, and are shared, at that. There are also many children who don't like to go off by themselves, who enjoy being on the fringe of affairs, so to speak, listening with one ear to the radio, or to the conversation that is going on. It may take them a little longer to get their work done that way, but if the question is one of their being entirely left out of the family sociability for the evening, to isolate them is debatable. As for the radio, it may be that if it is turned low, and if its music is rhythmic and harmonious, it may prove to be one of those distractions that have been found to have the effect of heightening the degree of attention, rather than keeping the child from his studies. As a matter of fact, people have to learn to concentrate under seemingly adverse conditions in the world of business, in the school room, etc., and perhaps we are not doing our children the greatest favor possible if we insist that they study by themselves in an absolutely quiet place. Those conditions will rarely be duplicated in the child's later life. Each child should be allowed to study under the circumstances that bring the best results for him. He does need good light, a comfortable chair, and a table or desk of convenient height.

2. "Helping" by showing our interest in what the child is doing is not only allowable, but a privilege. The question, for example, of how to make the dinner table conversation interesting to both adults and children is often solved by talking over some of the things the latter are studying. An absorbing discussion was recently prolonged for a long while after dinner in one home where the original question raised was, what rare minerals does Colombia produce? All ages, sizes and sexes were interested in the information that was gradually collected, and, as it happened, a question one of the younger children had been puzzling about for weeks was answered. Sometimes we can help most by hunting up reference books that are needed for history or English. Perhaps we can advise in the selection of a book for a book report, or read aloud for awhile while John or Helen do something with their hands, for relaxation. Maybe our own enjoyment of reading French or learning the touch system on the typewriter will communicate itself to the children.

Certainly it is fair to do anything in our power to create an atmosphere in which a child works willingly and cheerfully, and it is well worth while to ponder a little on the kind of help that will make our child give his very best effort.

Heterography

Heterography has little or nothing in common with heteronyms, for heterography concerns the variations in sound of the same letter in different syllables or words. The word concern is an instance of heterography, in which the letter c is sounded as k in one syllable, and as s in the other.

A heteronym is a word spelled like another of different sound and meaning; as, lead, pronounced "led," and lead, pronounced "leed." Read is another heteronym; also, wind, bow, row, sow, tear, etc. So also, collect, convict, essay, refuse—nouns and verbs. A homonym is a word agreeing in sound with but different in meaning from another. There are many groups of homonyms in the language; a few examples are: rain, reign, rein; to, too, two; road, rode, rowed; fare, fair; pear, pair.—Literary Digest.

Wheel, Great Invention

The man who invented the wheel was one of the greatest benefactors of mankind, for upon succeeding models of that first crude round disk of wood or of stone, man has been for centuries increasing his range and speed of travel. Riding upon this invention, goods, culture, and knowledge have been spread throughout the world with speed and economy.

Green Pigment in Plants

Green plants contain a green pigment which has the power of utilizing the energy in the sun's rays. The air contains carbon dioxide to give off oxygen and combines the carbon with hydrogen and oxygen to give various sugars, starch and other compounds. The hydrogen and oxygen come from water, which comes from the soil.

Earliest Knockers

FARMER'S COW STOLEN, FOUND AT BUTCHERS

Moorhead.—J. H. Sinner, farmer tenant on the John T. Lamb farm, 4½ miles northeast of Moorhead, got mad when someone stole his cow. But when they sold the cow and got more than $42 for it, he got angrier still. Sinner decided he'd play detective and his efforts were successful. He went to the Armour packing plant at West Fargo and found the animal had been purchased and a check given in payment. Sinner reported to the Clay county sheriff's office. Accompanied by Deputy Peter Jesten he went to the packing plant and got his cow back. Now the sheriff is looking for the man with the check. The cow was taken from Sinner's barn sometime at night.

WPA EMPLOYMENT PAST 30 000 MARK EARLY THIS WEEK

54,000 Expected to be Taken Off Relief Rolls by December 1

WPA employment in Minnesota had passed the 30,000 mark today as district directors of the federal works program continued their drive to have the entire quota of 54,000 employables off relief rolls before the end of the month.

With sufficient funds available but need for more approvals of certain types of projects to which specialized workers can be assigned, Mr. Christgau expressed his confidence of meeting the quota on time.

The exact status of WPA employment on the first of the week, according to reports of district directors to the state administrator, showed 28,891 men and women from the relief rolls actually at work, while jobs were awaiting 12,301 others as soon as they report to project foremen. In addition to this, Mr. Christgau said, 12,984, including about 8,000 youths under the Youth program, are engaged on projects other than those of WPA.

Meanwhile, district directors received authority to begin work on 842 new projects, sufficient to employ 18,398 at a cost of $2,319,694 to the federal government and $459,264 to local sponsors.

The week's authorizations of new projects brought the total to date to 1,445 to cost $18,232,774. These funds are divided among the nine WPA districts of the state as follows: Duluth district $3,100,937, Brainerd district $1,568,983, St. Paul district $3,966,310, Rochester district $1,446,622, Minneapolis district $8,086,995, St. Cloud district $1,505,611, Detroit Lakes district $1,506,553, Morris district $1,430,905, New Ulm districts $612,854.

In actual operation, the reports reveal, were 673 projects on the first of the week. Sponsors' contribution to the work-program amount to approximately 15%.

The number of new projects and amount of federal funds by district for the week: Duluth district 55 projects, $335,111; Brainerd district 60 projects, $274,665; St. Paul district 8 projects, $214,282; Rochester district 18 projects, $208,493; Minneapolis district 9 projects, $208,463; St. Cloud district $389,092; Detroit Lakes district 32 projects, $169,654; Morris district 68 projects, $416,482; New Ulm district 33 projects, $103,452.

HUNTERS GO ON WARPATH AS CAR IS SIDE-SWIPED

Sleepy Eye.—Three would-be sportsmen traveling from distant cities to hunt in the Sleepy Eye vicinity seemed to gain more satisfaction from an attempt to exterminate one another than the pheasants recently. A Litchfield business man on his way to St. James to hunt, side-swiped a car occupied by three Minneapolis hunters near Hector, almost running the machine into the ditch. The Minneapolis men gave chase to the side-swiping machine for several miles, the run ending when the bearings in the first car burned out. The three Minneapolis men stepped out, intent on settling the affair in the manner of the olden days. The Litchfield man, not feeling a match for the three, got out his shot gun and attempted evidently to scare the men off. As their advance was not retarded, he fired a shot into the road surface, the shot glancing and striking the men in the legs and about the body. And then they were mad. The brawl ended, fortunately, with explanations and a lack of serious injuries, and all parted the best of friends.

Senator Soper says: "All a publisher of geographies can do in these troubled times is to get out a five-star edition and hope for the best.—Atlanta Constitution.

CARRIES POTATO 35 YEARS; DRINKS NO WATER 38 YEARS

Minnesota Lake.—A lone potato has been parking in Phillip Schirra's trouser pocket for 35 years, and altho it isn't edible, it is still there. When he placed it in his pocket he put a string thru the center, making the string as long as the potato. About one half inch of that 35 year old string can be seen now, showing that the potato has only wrinkled enough so as to shrink one half inch in its long eventful life. Schirra also has the distinction of not having drunk water for 38 years. "When I was young," said Schirra, "my teacher told me that in order to be healthy I should drink 6 glasses of water a day." Schirra is as fit as a fiddle, and ample proof that he is an exception to that rule of drinking six glasses of water a day. He can 'foresee the weather by the "feeling in his bones", and Minnesota Lakers find the waterless weatherman quite reliable.

Too Many Frien's

By GEORGE A. WILSON

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

THE window squeaked slightly as it raised slowly upwards. There was the sound of a sigh as the dark figure slid over the sill. He walked on tiptoe across the kitchen floor to the door of the hallway.

He turned into the dining room and let his spot travel carefully about. It came to rest upon a china closet, then a polished side-table. Walking swiftly to the latter, the man pulled out a long drawer. In one short moment he had the silver rolled into a neat package.

Satisfied that he had done a good night's work, he left the house by the same window he had entered.

* * *

A young man and a girl sat at a table in one of the small restaurants in the more crowded and less luxurious part of the city. Their faces looked eager in the dim light. The youth indicated with a nod the tall man with gray-red hair who had just entered.

"See that man who just came in, Jane?"

"Yes. Do you know him?"

"Yeah. My dad and him were old friends. Since Dad died Red has been almost like a father to me. Gosh, he don't look like much, but he's a great guy!"

"Sure," the girl agreed. "I'll bet he is. Why don't you bring him over, Jimmy? We could tell him about us, now that your dad's dead."

"You bet! Red would be glad, too."

Jimmy Burke walked over and placed his hand on Red Martin's shoulder. Red whirled quickly.

"Oh, hello, Jimmy!"

"Hello, Red. You sure jumped when I touched you. Was you expecting somebody?"

"Well, no—not exactly," the older man answered with a grin.

"You're gettin' jumpy. Better lay off the beer."

"Naw, I always was kind of high strung like that. Have a glass of beer with me, Jimmy?"

"No, thanks, Red. I've got the girl-friend with me tonight, and she don't like me to drink it. Come on over to our table. I been tellin' her about you an' she wants to meet you."

"Sure I will, Jimmy!"

Red looked at the girl. Jane, he decided, wasn't pretty, but cute.

The girl returned his gaze warmly. "Jimmy's just been telling me that you're almost like a father to him."

"Aw, Jimmy's always spoofin' like that. Me an' Jimmy's father was just pals, that's all. So I kind of keeps my eye on the kid, just to make sure he lives the way his father wanted him to."

Jimmy leaned across the table. "Red, Jane an' me's goin' to get married pretty soon now."

"Yeah?" Red looked pleased. "That's the way for young kids to do. Me, I never had brains enough, I guess. When you plannin' on doin' it?"

"Just as soon as we get two hundred dollars more in the bank," Jimmy replied. "We got almost enough for the furniture now, but Jane's set on havin' a honeymoon."

"Sure," Red agreed, heartily. "But ain't it goin' to take quite a while to save two hundred on your pay, Jimmy?"

"Oh, I'm working, too," the girl interrupted.

"Well, that's fine," Red said.

"Yeah," Jimmy said proudly, "she's a maid for some big shots uptown. She works for the Masons. They got a swell house on Third avenue."

"You mean that big brick one, that sets way back from the street?" Red asked, looking rather startled.

"Yes, that's the one," Jane said. "The Masons have been away for a couple of weeks, but they're coming back pretty soon. I shouldn't have gone away and left the house alone, but I haven't seen Jimmy for an awful long time. I guess it will be all right, though."

"Sure," Jimmy added cheerfully, "it'll be all right. What could happen anyway?"

"I suppose if they found out you left the house, you'd be fired, wouldn't you?" Red asked.

"Yes," Jane answered simply.

"An'," Red continued, "if you got fired you wouldn't be able to get married for a long time. Either that or you'd have to go without this here honeymoon. An' you want that a lot, don't you?"

"You bet she does!" Jimmy answered for her. "But let's forget the old house. Nothin's goin' to happen to it."

Red sat scowling thoughtfully into his glass as the two young people talked on. Soon, he excused himself and left the restaurant.

For a second time that night, the kitchen window of the big brick house on Third avenue was raised and a dark figure climbed in. The man quickly reached the dining room and deposited the silver carefully. Hearing steps approaching the front of the house, he ran back to the kitchen, climbed through the window, and lowered it carefully behind him.

"That," Red muttered to himself, as he walked rapidly away, "is what ya get for havin' too many friends."

The Ross Kidnaping

The Ross kidnaping, while not the first case in this country, is one of the most noted. Charles Brewster Ross, four years old, was stolen on July 1, 1874, from the sidewalk near his home in Germantown, Pa. The ransom demanded was $20,000, but this was never paid nor was the boy ever recovered.

Wolf Larger Than Dog

Contrary to popular belief, dogs do not run with wolves. A mature timber wolf is half again as big as the largest police dog, and much more formidable. "A wolf can kill a dog any time he wishes," says a writer in the Detroit News. Some kill for pleasure, apparently. Hybrids with dogs are very rare.

THE FASTEST-STARTING GASOLINE IN STANDARD OIL HISTORY HAS ARRIVED
35% QUICKER WARM-UP WITH NEW STANDARD RED CROWN
AT THE PRICE OF "REGULAR" GASOLINE

SOME surprising new discoveries have been made recently about what it takes to start a cold automobile engine—start it and warm it up to full, smooth drive-away power faster.

For many years Standard's research staff has been at work on this problem. Not satisfied with laboratory experiment alone, they have conducted thousands of road tests—in all sorts of temperatures—using all sorts of gasoline formulas.

And now they come forward with a motor fuel that is different, in many respects, from any that ever went into a gasoline tank before—a motor fuel which embodies all these newly discovered principles—which really is quick starting without the drawbacks that so often go with that quality.

This new Standard Red Crown starts at the first flash of the spark. But on top of that it has fully 35% faster warm-up speed in zero temperatures. Actually it will get your car started and under way as quickly and easily in mid-winter as in mid-summer. You'll be free from vapor lock. You'll get better winter mileage. Try it!

It's ready in the pumps now—where you see the sign of STANDARD OIL SERVICE.

• • •

One suggestion: Because this new Double-Quick gasoline does turn on full power in a cold engine so quickly, the use of a light grade of winter motor oil is desirable to assure instant, active lubrication of all moving parts. Iso-Vis "D"—10-W or 20-W—is a perfect running mate for the new Standard Red Crown.

There are No Safer Brakes Made —than the Super-Safety Brakes on the 1936 Ford V-8

No other car in America has the same basic design as the Ford V-8. And because of its unique design—the Ford car could use any type of braking system now in common use.

BUT, with the whole field to choose from, Ford stands by mechanically-operated, Super-Safety brakes as the safest, surest, most positive for the Ford V-8.

This is the type of braking system used on many of America's costliest cars and on most racing cars. And because of its unique chassis design, Ford can use it to better effect than any other automobile built today.

Then, for the brakes themselves, Ford has provided more effective square inches of braking surface (186) than is found in any other low-priced car . . . And big, 12-inch alloy-iron drums with special cooling fins to give maximum braking power under all road conditions . . . All in all, no safer brakes are made than you get with the 1936 Ford V-8.

And right through the Ford V-8 for 1936, from bumper to bumper, the same attention to your safety, comfort and peace-of-mind, characterizes the whole car . . . Ford uses a one-piece, welded-steel body because it is safer and quieter . . . Ford gives you Safety Glass in every window at no extra cost because Ford believes it is the manufacturer's duty to provide for maximum safety as part of the car's safer price.

Drive the Ford V-8 . . . Notice how it "holds the road" on curves—(you never have to "fight" a Ford around turns) . . . Notice how dependably the brakes work on rough roads—on steep hills—or anywhere else. You can arrange to do this easily by calling:

FORD PERMANENT WHEELBASE
Radius rods [1] brace the front axle like a pair of giant arms. Radius rods and Torque-tube [2] give triple bracing to the rear axle. This means that the front and rear axles of a Ford car are always held equi-distant—in perfect alignment. On this permanent wheelbase any braking system now in common use could be used. Only with this Ford-type wheelbase, can mechanical, Super-Safety brakes be used to the fullest advantage.

FORD USES 4 INDEPENDENT BRAKE RODS
Four brake rods [3] of strong, tempered steel link the pressure of your foot on the pedal with the four big brake-drums on the wheels. They do this positively, surely, under all road conditions. Note especially that no one Ford brake has to depend on the other three. Failure of one—practically impossible—would leave three perfectly-operating brakes.
Tear out this chart and check it with the car you are driving now.

A membership in the Red Cross represents a contribution not only toward national and local disaster relief but toward local safety education. Thief River Falls benefited directly by Red Cross activities last year when the local organization maintained a life guard and swimming instructor at Tindolph park. The Red Cross membership drive is now on. This is one organization that deserves your support.

A few months ago the state department at Washington announced another great American diplomatic victory in the signing of a reciprocal trade treaty with Sweden. By the terms of this treaty Sweden and Russia were granted a substantial reduction in the tariff rate on matches. As a result of this concession to foreign match makers, one Minnesota industry has been put out of business. The match factory at Cloquet has closed its doors and several hundred employees have been added to the relief rolls. Another of these secret treaties is now in the making with Canada. It will not be at all surprising to find that American farmers have been asked to produce less in order that Canadian farmers may sell us more of their products. We may be reasonably sure that Canada will not agree to any treaty that is not favorable to the Canadians. In this country we have no choice in the matter. A spineless Congress saw to this when it turned its treaty making powers over to the professors who are now working the controls.

Governor Floyd Olson deserves a round of cheers for the manner in which he handled a difficult situation that had threatened to disrupt friendly relations between this state and Iowa. The trouble started over a football game. Iowans seemed to think that the Minnesota team had played a little too rough last year. Before this year's game the governor of Iowa issued a statement to the effect that if our team played rough this year the Iowa fans would assert themselves. It sounded like an invitation to his fellow citizens to do violence to our team and of course created a tense situation. At this stage Governor Olson stepped into the picture, sent the Governor of Iowa a joshing telegram and bet him a Minnesota hog against an Iowa hog that Minnesota would win. Following an exchange of friendly banter the bet was called. Everyone seems to have entered into the spirit of the thing and the friendliest of feelings now exist. By his timely interest Governor Olson proved again that a soft answer "turneth away wrath" and restored a spirit of neighborliness to the two states. For which, we repeat, he deserves a round of cheers.

Governor Welford of North Dakota sprang into national prominence last week when he was photographed with Bill Schermer, former Thief River Falls citizen who went west young man and made good as the Bismark representative of the National Cheese Institute. The photograph, which has been given wide circulation in the interests of cheese growers, shows Schermer registering whole hearted approval as the governor severs in twain a giant leaf of cheese.

Public examiners who recently audited the books of the city spoke well of the efficient manner in which city clerk P. G. Pederson has kept the city records. Considering everything, it is nice to know that something is being done right up in this corner of the state.

While rough weather discouraged attendance at the Elk's circus last week, the venture proved reasonably profitable and the charity fund of this benevolent organization is sufficiently revived to assure the usual charity program. Those who saw the circus agreed that it was a big show for the money. Many talented entertainers performed and some of the aerial and acrobatic stunts were really outstanding.

Another record that we have no intention of trying to break is the fourteen mile high flight that was accomplished this week. As far as we are concerned that's plenty high.

THE GEESE SOLVED THEIR PROBLEM

(Morris Tribune)

The story of the geese at Niagara Falls provoked some striking editorial comment. Thousands of geese alighted on the Niagara River and were carried towards the Falls by the swift current. At the brink of the Falls, they took to the air and flew up the river again, alighted again, and were again swept to the brink of the Falls. Wearily, the geese continued this endless circle, and the thousands who gathered to watch them expected them to go over the Falls to destruction when their strength waned. The geese thus battled on for hours until finally the entire flock arose and flew away.

The geese were not so dumb, after all. Water with the swift current of the Niagara was new to their experience. They expected to find safety in the broad expanse of the Niagara River, but instead found a death trap. But eventually the goose intelligence solved the riddle.

Caught in the clutch of circumstances, man, with his superior intelligence, does not do as well as the goose. The Pioneer Press compared the problem of the geese to the problem of the human race with war. Men generally abhor war, and realize that it is destroying the human race, and yet after freeing ourselves from one conflict, we settle back into the same course, which inevitably sweeps us again into war.

The Marshall News-Messenger sees an analogy in the foolish persistence and stubbornness with which we continue to drive our automobiles faster and faster when we know that excessive speed causes most traffic fatalities. Yet we do not appear to have the intelligence of geese and pull out of it.

Time and again we humans settle into the conviction that debt and speculation is a sure haven and the current carries us along to the brink of destruction, and then we pull ourselves out temporarily only to make the same mistake over again. We can't seem to utilize enough goose intelligence to break the endless chain of depressions, booms, wars, speed, depressions, liquor, lies and greed that are all Niagaras of destruction to the human race—evils from which we arise but to settle back again. Why have we not the intelligence of the geese who solved their problems by flying away from the dangerous circle?

FRANK DECRIES CENTRALIZATION

(Detroit Lakes Record)

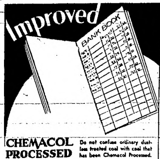
Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, in an interview given out over the week-end, warned the American people against toying with the idea of centralized power as the solvent of our social and economic difficulties. He declared that this trend was world-wide and had given Communism to Russia, Facism to Italy, and National Socialism to Germany.

Dr. Frank quoted:

> There is one thing in common to all the experimental governments of the time, and that is the assumption that the new problems of this new age can best be met by a new and intense centralization of power in the national government.
>
> This assumption is, in my judgment, unsound. If permitted to dominate the political development of the next quarter century, it will, I venture to predict, result in a new and tragic enslavement of the masses at the very moment when the creative forces of science, technology, and power production have forged the instruments for their emancipation.
>
> The purpose of the Constitution is to protect the people from the abuses of political power and give them a chance to be as efficient in governing themselves as a free people under democracy can be. At any given moment a people can achieve greater efficiency by handing themselves over to a benevolent autocrat, but all of human history proves that such efficiency is short-lived and, in the end, causes more evils than it cures.

It is costing more to embalm the N. R. A. than it did to board and clothe the old bird when in life. The white collar lads are doing a lot of expensive mourning.—LeSueur News-Herald.

A Milwaukee woman who died at 83 left a will bequeathing a $40,583 estate to her 18 cats and when the last cat is gone,—five have died or disappeared since their benefactress passed on—the estate will be divided among 11 nieces and nephews. We have a hunch that those 11 nieces and nephews are voicing a lot of catty remarks now.—Wadena Pioneer-Journal.



CHEMACOL PROCESSED COAL

TAGS IDENTIFY IT

Do not confuse ordinary dustless treated coal with coal that has been Chemacol Processed. This processing not only renders coal dustless, but it also cuts down on smoke and soot. It causes more of the coal gases to burn and thus gives more heat for your money than with ordinary raw coal.

CAVALIER COAL

Cavalier Coal is imitated but you can tell Cavalier because no other coal cokes up and forms a long burning fire ball, just like a big chunk, and then breaks up into a tiny bit of fine ash, all of its own accord. The economy and satisfaction of chunks without the inconvenience.

ACCOMODATING PHEASANT, SHOT, FALLS IN KITCHEN

Moorhead.—To Oscar Martinson, Moorhead jeweler, goes the distinction of making the most extraordinary pheasant shot of the season. Hunting in Wilkin county, his party came across a number of birds in a field that was posted with "No Hunting" signs. Inquiring of a son if they would be permitted to hunt on the land, they were informed that they had allowed no one to shoot on the premises and they themselves did not have a gun. Getting permission to hunt in an adjoining field, a flock of pheasants was flushed and Martinson gave them a salute, crippling one in the legs. The bird made a bee-line for the farmer's house, a quarter of a mile away, and fell exhausted inside an open kitchen door. Some shot. Some [illegible] ment!

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Charges are being made by certain national publications and organizations that automobile owners are taxed too heavily. In Minnesota notwithstanding an increase of 65 per cent in the mileage of the trunk highway system the state is collecting less in motor vehicle revenues than it did in past years. Forty-five states collect higher taxes from the average motorist than does Minnesota, while only two have slightly lower charges. Minnesota is one state which has preserved the original and sound theory that motor vehicle taxation should go exclusively into improved roads for motor vehicle use.

The appointment of A. C. Hanson as director of the State Division of Game and Fish has resulted in much favorable comment. For nearly five years Hanson was managing editor of the Minnesota Conservationist and educational director of the Game and Fish Division. A former newspaper man, Mr. Hanson is widely known for his interest in and knowledge of conservation activities. His appointment should assure an efficient management and a sympathetic understanding of the problems of game preservation and propagation.

AAA Administrator Chester Davis has notified the Governor's office that, as Governor Olson suggested several weeks ago, the government is considering the purchase of 2,000 carloads of potatoes from Minnesota farmers for distribution to families on federal relief.

Vince A. Day, who for five years has held down the important job of secretary to Governor Olson, has been appointed municipal judge in Minneapolis. While his hundreds of friends are glad to see Mr. Day go on the bench, there is tinge of mourning at the capitol because he will no longer be there. Perhaps more so than most any other member of the official family, "Vince" is universally liked and respected by his associates. He devoted his tenure with the Governor almost entirely to helping others. Unpretentious and mild in manner, few are aware of the hand he has had in all affairs of state under Governor Olson. Prior to becoming the Governor's secretary, Mr. Day practiced law in Spokane, Bismark and Minneapolis. He was at one time attorney for the Nonpartisan League. He drew the advanced bills which created a state mill, state hail insurance, state bank, etc., in North Dakota. He came to Minneapolis in 1918 and practiced law there until Governor Olson appointed him his secretary. Mr. Day is a summa cum laude graduate of the University of Nebraska's college of law.

The war against the "red menace" is always amusing to the writer. The latest is the "red" purge supposed to be going on in Minneapolis labor union circles at present. From the newspaper fanfare one would be led to believe that the Mill City is overrun with bearded communists, bombs in hand. The alleged purge has most people in the cities laughing or complaining about the bad publicity it gives Minneapolis. The Citizens Alliance is about the only faction pleased with the A. F. of L. sift. Some small politics in the move.

FRIDAY, FEB. 7TH SET FOR VALLEY SPELLING EVENT

13 Counties to Share in Feature of Valley Shows at Crookston

Thirteen Northwestern Minnesota counties are again being invited to send their champion rural school spellers to the Red River Valley Winter Shows where they will take part in a final spelldown for the championship of the Red River Valley on Friday, February 7, 1936. A committee of County Superintendents, composed of John M. Henderson, Fergus Falls, chairman, Ellen Anderson, Moorhead, and Clarence Gordhamer, Breckenridge, Secretary, are in charge of the contest. Rules and regulations have been announced by this committee, and printed spelling lists have been mailed to all county superintendents who will see that a supply is made available to each rural school teacher.

Each county is entitled to send one delegate selected from ungraded schools. Contestants from schools with more than two teachers in the first eight grades shall not be above the seventh grade at the time of the contest. Pupils who have won first place in any Winter Shows contest or who have participated in any state spelling contest are barred.

Final rank will be based upon the following score card: Individual test, 10 per cent; written test, 40 per cent; dictation, 20 per cent; miscellaneous written test, 20 per cent, and spelldown, 10 per cent.

The Red River Valley Development association, of which W. E. Dahlquist, Thief River Falls, is president, and E. W. Spring, Crookston, secretary, has announced cash prizes in the amount of $7.00 for the winner; second prize, $5.00; third, $3.00; fourth, $2.00; and all other contestants $1.00 each. In addition a silver loving cup and a championship banner will be awarded the winner. The loving cup is to be retained by the county until the next contest, while the banner becomes the permanent property of the rural school attended by the champion speller.

Iowa Governor Delivers Hog to Governor Olson to Pay Football Wager

Governor Clyde Herring of Iowa chased a 220-pound prize Iowa hog up the steps of the Minnesota state capitol Wednesday into the office of Governor Floyd B. Olson—and thus wrote a happy ending to the story of an argument over football rivalry between the two states which for a time threatened athletic relations between Iowa and Minnesota universities.

Said the Governor of Iowa to the Governor of Minnesota:

"Down in Iowa we always pay our bets. I am here today to deliver to you one of the finest hogs Iowa has ever produced, because your Minnesota football team won from our Iowa team in a fair and square, clean and sportsmanlike game last Saturday.

Said the Governor of Minnesota to the Governor of Iowa:

We of Minnesota appreciate your sportmanship and the honorable settlement of your bet.

New Auditing Program to Speed AAA Checks to Wheat Producers

The AAA's new policy of auditing the 1936-39 wheat and rye adjustment contracts in the states, instead of in Washington, as under the present program, should enable Minnesota contract signers to receive their benefit payments much sooner, says C. L. McNelly, assistant administrator of AAA programs, University Farm, St. Paul.

Because of the inherent difficulties of carrying on business at a long distance from the field of action, the present system of auditing all AAA contract data in Washington has proved highly unsatisfactory, he explains. Under the new wheat and rye adjustment programs, auditing offices will be established in each important wheat growing state, and it is expected that a complete audit of the contracts will be made in these offices.

This plan will not only relieve the AAA offices in Washington of much congestion, but will also promote closer cooperation between the auditing section of the AAA and the state and county administrators of the production control programs. All this should make for speedier handling of the contracts.

TWO MEN RISE 14 MILES OVER EARTH IN STRATO FLIGHT

Army Airmen Set World's Record in Flight Monday in South Dakota

A gentle landing by the world's largest balloon in a farm field near White Lake, S. D., late Monday successfully ended man's most sensational venture into the heights of the stratosphere—to an unofficially recorded altitude of 14 miles.

Two American army fliers, Captains Albert W. Stevens and Orvil A. Anderson—if later calibrations sustain their barometric computations of 74,000 feet as zenith of their soaring—by the daring venture returned to America the world's altitude record and brought back from the high unknown valuable additions to science's knowledge of the superatmosphere.

Their feat, climaxing a six-week wait favorable weather and compensating for two previous disappointments on their part, moved smoothly to its climax after the rocky wall of their camp's base was cleared—by only 50 feet—at 8 a. m. Minneapolis time Monday.

They landed at 4:13 p. m., C.S.T., after eight hours and 13 minutes of adventure, some 240 miles to the west and north of their camp near Rapid City, S. D.

E. E. Swenson, Warren merchant will be the next postmaster of the Warren Postoffice, succeeding A. B. Nelson, who has held the office since Dec. 4, 1922, according to an unofficial announcement made last Thursday morning by Joseph Wolf, Democratic National committeeman for Minnesota says the Warren Sheaf.

Mr. Swenson was chosen for the appointment out of a field of 16 or 17 applicants, this field being narrowed down to three last spring following the examinations. Harding on Dec. 4, 1922, and has been reappointed to succeed himself by Presidents Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover. His last term expired on Feb. 20, 1935, he remaining in office until a successor had been named.

Ballots to Northwestern Minnesota in a new Literary Digest poll of 10,000,000 persons on the present popularity of the New Deal were distributed this week, according to advice from the magazine's publishers. The ballot asks a yes or no answer to the question: "Do you NOW approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt "New Deal" to date?" A similar poll to the same 10 million persons was held in 1934. Returns showed 61.15 per cent for the New Deal and 38.85 per cent against it.

SUPT. BYE SUBMITS COMPARATIVE REPORT ON COST OF SCHOOLS

2 cents a day. Another 2 cents will will take care of the interest on cover all costs of administering the school system. His cents will pay for the building, and 3½ cents debts, insurance, rent and other fixed charges. The total bill for one day's school services rendered each child is 46½ cents.

Here is a statement for all services rendered in educating one child for one day:

	T. R. Falls	United States
Teaching services	$ .24	$ .33
Care of building	.075	.07
Special services	.015	.03
Textbooks, library books and supplies	.02	.02
Administration	.02	.02
New buildings	.06	.05
Interest and fixed charges	.035	.05
Total	$ .465	$ .57

The figures for the United States are averages for all children, rural and urban, attending public schools in this country. The cost per pupil in Thief River Falls you will note is 10% lower than in the country as a whole.

How much of this cost is paid by local taxation? During the year 1934-1935 the cost of one day's school service for one child was paid in this manner:

State apportionment, school aid, and income tax	.25
Local taxes	$ .205
Miscellaneous income	.01
	$ .465

Was the service rendered the child during the day worth 46½ cents? What did the child receive? He was under the supervision of a well-trained and experienced teacher for the six hours of the school day and probably had some coaching or instruction in extra-curricular activities in addition. He was housed for the day in a clean, well lighted, comfortably heated, and well equipped building. He was furnished with textbooks and most of the necessary supplies that he needed. Whenever necessary, he had the services of a nurse, and if he lived outside the city limits, a bus picked him up at his doorstep in the morning and brought him back there in the evening.

Important Bulletins for Owners of Cattle

Two important bulletins for cattle producers, especially for dairymen, have recently been revised by the Agricultural Extension Division, University Farm. Copies are now available without charge to any farmers who request them from their county agents, high school agriculture instructors, or the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul.

"Bone-Chewing or Depraved Appetite in Cattle," Special Bulletin 132, describes the cause and symptoms of phosphorus shortage in cattle and tells how the trouble may be corrected and prevented. L. S. Palmer of the division of biochemistry and T. W. Gullickson of the division of dairy husbandry are the authors of this bulletin.

"Raising Dairy Calves on Skimmilk" is the title of the other publication, Special Bulletin 169, written by Mr. Gullickson. This not only covers fully the value and use of skimmilk for calves, but discusses other feeds that should be given, care of calves, dehorning, and common diseases and ailments of calves.

Would Pay Crop Loans on Bushel-for-Bushel Basis

Easing of government seed and feed loan claims against farmers is asked of Farm Credit Administration officials by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. The request, delivered early this week by Chester Gray, Washington representative of the Farm Bureau, points out that present low grain prices prevent farmers from returning to the F. C. A. the high prices they paid last season for seed and feed. The loans were secured by liens on the 1935 crop, and this crop cannot be sold until the lien is satisfied. In other words, sufficient grain must be sold to satisfy the lien before the farmer gets anything for himself, says J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. High prices then and low prices now make it necessary for farmers to sell three or four bushels of grain to pay for the one they bought for seed. Obviously they cannot make a deal of this kind and still retain sufficient feed to carry their stock through the winter, Farm Bureau officials point out. If repayments must be made now they should be made on a bushel for bushel basis, and settlement on that basis is urged if possible.

Federal Government to Retire From Farm Credit Agencies in Near Future

"As farm conditions improve—and we believe they will improve—we expect the government to retire from the business of lending government money to farmers and we believe and hope this will be accomplished by 1938. This should eliminate from the Farm Credit Administration all emergency government credit and confine its loans entirely to the granting of cooperative credit on a cooperative basis."

This statement by Governor W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit Administration points to a trend that has been increasingly evident in the 7th Farm Credit district, according to Land Bank officials in St. Paul, the trend towards better conditions and a decrease in emergency lending. For instance, applications for loans this year have aggregated only about one-third as much as for last year, due to decreasing emergency demands. Governor Myers outlines the approaching substitution of business credit for "subsidized credit", in these words:

"I believe farmers do not want a continuing credit subsidy and the permanent institutions of the Farm Credit Administration are set up in such a way that the farmer-borrowers from these cooperative institutions may eventually own all of the capital stock in them and the voting power which goes along with such stock.

"The Federal land banks, production credit associations and other cooperative credit institutions are built to stand on their own feet. The Government has loaned farmers a part of the capital necessary for their credit business; and these institutions cannot be truly cooperative until the Government capital is paid back.

"Farm cooperation is not a magic word but a method of doing business and farm credit cooperation can help farmers get credit at just as low a cost as any other type of people can obtain it."

Fair Assn. Stockholders to Meet Tuesday Evening

Notices were sent out early this week by Secretary Robert J. Lund to stockholders of the Pennington County Agricultural society, sponsor of the county fair, calling attention to the annual meeting of the organization set for next Tuesday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock in the Civic and Commerce association rooms. Business to be transacted includes the submitting of annual reports and the election of three directors. As in past years lunch will be served at the close of the meeting, Mr. Lund stated.

SCRAP IRON IN STATE SHIPPED TO JAPANESE

Big Fork.—Most of the scrap iron junk dealers buy at random in Big Fork goes to Japan, according to a buyer from Cloquet who was in Big Fork recently. In Japan it goes to the munitions factory and is transformed into guns, bayonets, hand grenades, and all other paraphernalia for killing,—possibly to be used some day in the killing of some Big Fork youth! Two heavy truck loads of scrap iron were taken out of Big Fork that day, with eighty tons delivered to dealers. The stuff ranged from stove bolts to automobile axles, which seems to be the chief articles wanted. Scrap copper is in greatest demand and brings the best price from the junk men. Italy is just now the heaviest foreign buyer. The copper junk bought throughout the state is assembled for shipment at eastern ports while the scrap iron designed for Japan goes to San Francisco where shiploads go out every week.

McGRATH LAD SPROUTS CORN IN HIS EAR

Isle.—LaRoy Thomsen, son of Fred Thomsen of the McGrath district, is practicing new methods of farming, with somewhat indifferent success so far. While in a playful mood recently he placed a kernel of pop-corn in his ear. Though it would not shake out, he overlooked mentioning it to his parents until he experienced a little annoyance which bordered on the painful. Investigation showed that the kernel had sprouted nicely and was preparing to spring forth in acres of well developed corn. Dr. Wahlberg was called and the seed transplanted to a roomier location on the farm, where it is understood to be doing nicely.

CCC CAMP WITH 200 MEMBERS TO OPEN AT MUD LAKE

To Engage First in State Project in Thief Lake Area

While northwest hunters are bagging their annual allotment of wild birds, civilian conservation camps are working toward a bigger annual crop of wildfowl and better shooting in the future, it was announced Saturday in Washington.

A review of the activities of the biological survey showed today that four migratory waterfowl refuges were being constructed in North Dakota with CCC labor and one each in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

A 200-man camp now being established in Marshall county, will assist in the construction of Mud Lake refuge. Pending the settlement of land acquisition difficulties, the workers are occupied on a state project in the nearby Thief Lake area.

The camp work at Mud Lake will consist of cutting fire lanes, improving forest stands, clearing timber for flooding, building dykes and dams, constructing truck trails, fences and telephone lines, and planting food and cover for birds.

Huge Walter Hill Farm at Northcote Is Sold

The famous Hill farm near Northcote, one of the largest grain farms in the country and at one time a show place of the Northwest, has been sold to Morris Florance, it was announced last week.

The amount of money involved in the transaction was not made known but is reported to have been more than a quarter million dollars. The farm consists of several thousand acres of land and is devoted entirely to grain raising.

It was formerly owned by Walter Hill, son of J. J. Hill, empire builder, and in its heyday was visited by thousands each year. Elaborate buildings were constructed and large tractors were used to plow and harvest crops.

Clearwater County Votes Last Week to Remain Dry

Clearwater county Monday of last week followed the precedent established by Pennington county a month ago by voting to remain dry, the margin being 1,142 to 856. The villages of Bagley and Gonvick voted in favor of the sale of liquor by a small margin. Under the state local option law it will be three years before the county can again vote on the wet-dry question.

Honor Dr. Cotton, Leader in Bovine T. B. Campaign

Minnesota's success in the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle will receive special attention at the twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Minnesota Public Health Association, the Christmas Seal organization devoted to the eradication of tuberculosis among humans. The meeting will be held in the Twin Cities Friday, November 22.

Dr. C. E. Cotton, executive secretary of the livestock sanitary board, who 40 years ago inaugurated the first tuberculin testing of cattle in Minnesota, will be honor guest at the annual dinner at the Nicollet Hotel, Minneapolis.

During these 40 years, under Dr. Cotton's direction, the state has carried on an aggressive program of tuberculin testing and eradication of diseased cattle with the result that the state was officially designated as an accredited area last December.

CHINAMEN HERE STUDY CO-OPS AND 4-H WORK

Benefits which Minnesota farmers have won through their cooperative organizations have attracted the attention of Chinese agricultural leaders, who are also interested in the state's outstanding position in agricultural education and in 4-H club work. As a result, two Chinese farm educators have enrolled at University Farm, St. Paul, for a year of graduate study under Dr. A. M. Field of the department of agricultural education.

60,000 MINNESOTA DRIVERS RECORDED AS BREAKING LAWS

State Drivers License Bureau Keeps Record of Violations

More than 60,000 Minnesota motorists who have been involved in serious traffic law violations or accidents in the past year may be interested to know that they hold a special "reserved section" in the huge card index files of the state drivers license bureau.

From all parts of the state, records of misbehaved drivers come into the central office of the license bureau in St. Paul, says a highway department bulletin. When a person thus gets on the violator or accident list, a special card is made up for him, with his name, description, residence and details of his motoring difficulties plainly set forth. Whenever he is convicted of a major driving offense, whether it be in his home town or in any other part of the state, the story is told on his license bureau card.

Police, sheriffs and courts throughout the state are now making use of this central fund of information. When a stranger gets into trouble by his driving, the local authorities often telephone the license bureau and see if their man has a bad record. They then govern their actions accordingly.

To date the drivers license bureau this year has revoked or suspended 1,318 licenses for serious offenses. In each case the peace officers of the person's home community are notified of the revocation or suspension and the duration of the period in which the individual is prohibited from driving a car. The license bureau has more than a million drivers listed in its files, and the task of keeping these records up and handling suspensions and revocations is one of considerable magnitude.

NEEDS THREE MEN TO PULL HIM TOGETHER!

Isle.—Orville Haggberg has for several years been bothered by the eccentricities of a knee, injured in athletics. The knee has a habit of slipping out of joint at the slightest provocation, and then refusing to go back into place. Recently, as he turned over in his sleep at night, the knee slipped out of joint again. He was taken to a doctor, but the doctor alone was unable to put the rebellious joint in normal position. However, he made Haggberg comfortable for the rest of the night, and in the morning three husky men got hold of the leg and pulled it back together.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

The Days of the Lumberjack

The recent celebration at Stillwater directed attention to the old logging days in Minnesota. The period of the heyday of that industry involved areas in the state far north of the wooded sections which the Minneapolis area first was familiar. This section has just emerged from the "lumberjack era" and the contacts with logging camps, "tote" roads, river drives and other features of the logging days still are fresh in the minds of comparatively young men and women.

The records show that a saw mill was built in Thief River Falls in 1891. Notes reveal that "On February 7 (1891) A. Wright closed a deal with Carl Kretzschmar for the purchase of the ground and material and the erection of a saw mill, located on the present site of the water-electric power plant." In those days logging was booming in more ways than one, including, of course, the river booms.

In the lumbering sections trails became tote roads. For example, local historians call the Pembina trail, "the old tote road between St. Paul and Winnipeg." This expression is intimately associated with logging. Tote means to carry and is found in dictionaries as a legitimate American word. But its origin was colloquial and it was, and still is, in common use in the south. Why it should have become so closely associated with lumbering the writer cannot understand, unless it is because roads were built primarily in the woods for transporting supplies with little attention paid to passenger traffic.

Anyway, the lumbering companies were largely responsible for opening this section and others in the northern part of Minnesota because they brought white men in, built roads and even trading centers which became flourishing cities. The whites brought in to cut down the great trees became acquainted with the country and eventually many of them, eager young fellows, Americans and immigrants, sought homesteads in the cut-over sections.

These settlers were chiefly influential in developing this country. While a great many of the lumberjacks were rough fellows, so far as manners and habits are concerned, there were many also who were fine young chaps who sought the woods as a means of obtaining a homestead "stake". Their experiences did not harm them but instead gave them worth-while experience and taught them impressive lessons as to the evils of intoxication and other forms of dissipation. Stories are told of lumberjacks entering a little town in "the woods" and carrying on high jinks to such a degree that women and girls were forced to remain indoors and even men did not care to take any chances with the exuberant spirits of the men. They were something like the cowboys of the west who simply had to have some real excitement and thought that shooting around the feet of a harmless tenderfoot was one way to have it.

The lumberjacks were he-men and naturally a large percentage of them frequented the saloons where they acted foolishly and sometimes engaged in terrific fights. But the young people who are acquainting themselves in school or at home with the early days of the Thief River Falls community are reminded that these workers were mostly young men, eager for excitement after months in the deep woods and the monotony of the logging camp. Having money, they were easily led astray and being strong and full of animal spirit they were bound to do some fighting. After all, it is probable that they were no worse than the average college boy.

The writer read recently an account of early days by a woman of this section, a minister's wife, who told of keeping a revolver in a handy place beside the Bible in her home in the 80's and 90's as a means of protection from the aggressions of the lumberjacks. The woman does not infer that the men were feared as molesters of women but simply that they became intoxicated, made a great deal of noise and acted improperly. A preacher's wife would be likely to look on such doings as very serious, but she does not record that there ever was occasion to use the pistol.

Truck Owners of State Back Drive for Safety

Backing the 12 point safety program launched recently by The Minnesota Truck Owners Association to slash into mounting fatalities and accidents on city streets and highways, truck owners of the state allied themselves this week in a concentrated move to "put teeth" into their safety program.

"With 103,000 trucks operating in the state; 15 per cent of all registered motor vehicles," Harry Greiner, association secretary said "truck owners and truck drivers can and must play an important role in combatting traffic hazards. From early responses to our drive we will have 18,000 truck drivers operating in and out of the Twin Cities enrolled before the drive is ended."

G. E. Norberg, safety drive director and Mr. Greiner this week spread the drive to state-wide scope by appointing key men to direct activities in their communities and the surrounding territory.

JUNIOR-SENIOR MASQUERADE TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Seniors Will be Hosts at Annual Dancing Party

On Friday night of this week, November 15, the seniors will be the hosts to the juniors at the annual Junior-Senior Masquerade. The dancing party will be held at the Sons of Norway Hall beginning at eight-thirty in the evening. In addition to the juniors, the seniors have invited the members of the high school faculty and the School Board to be their guests.

The music for the occasion will be provided by Gill Jensen and his orchestra from Grand Forks, N. Dakota. One of the main features of the evening will be a matched dance, in which each student dances with that person whose number coincides with his. In the past this type of dance has been greatly favored by all students.

Victor Jung, president of the senior class, announces that a short program will be presented during the course of the evening. At nine-thirty E. M. Bennes, will lead the Grand March. At the close of this march prizes will be awarded to the boy and girl who have displayed the most original costumes. Dancing will then continue until one o'clock.

The senior class officers again wish to invite as their guests any student who is enrolled in high school as either a junior or senior. A small admission price of 25 cents will be charged. If you have paid your class dues, be on hand at the Junior-Senior Masquerade on Friday evening. You won't be disappointed!

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

Heard about town—A certain junior girl has a very, very hard crush on a certain junior boy. (After the cold reception Bud handed Ilea Monday night we wonder if Bud is still the man of the moment. Or maybe she likes 'em that way.)

It seems that Fae B. made a New Year's Resolution. It also seems that five boys in a car Friday night broke it for her. Now, Fae!

While a certain group of senior boys and girls were discussing germs, someone stated that a kiss contained 1,590,000 germs and Mona, bright girl, spoke up, "Gee, I ought to be dead by now! (Sort of letting the cat out of the bag, aren't you?)

At junior class play practice Friday night Bob W. missed entrances because of chatting with Brunell. (Romance isn't only in the play, eh Bob?)

Talk about veterans at note writing (practically letters). But you didn't learn it at high school either, Ardith S. and Harold H.

And are L. H. S. girls going over one Miles P., a new arrival at our schools. And the Sophs aren't the only ones!

Maybe He Is Right

"Folks go fishin'," said Uncle Eben, "and at least gets de reputation of havin' a good time when dey is mebbe jes sittin' an' thinkin' things over dat dey's too mad to talk about."

AMONG THE 600

A meeting of the freshmen class officers was held in the assembly last Monday, November fourth, to gather all of the money from the freshmen class dues. The amount of money in the treasury at that time was $30.

The freshmen, instructed by Miss Minnie S. Leavitt, completed their library lessons Friday, November 8.

This week the sophomores are being given their lessons, to be completed within two weeks, the same as the freshmen. The same method, dividing the various period classes into two groups, is being used this year, the same as in previous years.

A freshmen class meeting will be held in the near future to elect another class treasurer. Richard Korstad, previous treasurer of the freshmen class, is now attending another school at Redby, Minnesota.

Those seniors who are collecting class dues met in Room 110 after school on Wednesday night to discuss new methods of collecting dues. As yet, approximately one-half of the dues have been collected.

The drive for class dues is still on. Be a loyal school member and pay your dues when asked.

The Normal Training students have been practice teaching in the fourth and fifth grades of the grade schools in Thief River Falls.

Ethel Kivle was absent for three days, but we are glad to have her back again.

THREE LETTERMEN RETURN TO SQUAD

Over 70 Candidates Report for Basketball Tryouts

With a turn out of over 70 candidates, basket ball opened in the high school gym Monday. This initial turnout included 8 seniors, 13 juniors, 3 sophomores and 29 freshmen. This large squad has been divided into squads that will work under Coach Lee with the aid of Capt. Mickleson and the other two lettermen Jung and Nelson.

In the first practices the squad has been working on fundamentals and passing and shootings, warm up drills.

The team this year will have three lettermen, Mickleson, Jung and Nelson. Added to these most of the players that made up an undefeated second team last year are expected to bolster this year's varsity somewhat.

CHOMMIE SPEAKS AT ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM MONDAY

Student Group Singing and Boys' Double Quartette Complete Program

Monday morning at 11:15 an Armistice Day program was held in the assembly of Lincoln High School. The program opened by the entire student body singing "America," "Over There", and "Keep the Home Fires Burning" with Mr. Lanning directing and Mr. Harrison at the piano.

An Armistice Day address was given by H. O. Chommie, who considers that the United States did have some reason for participating in the World War and was not the object of a joke as many people believe. He compared the war to a football team: the first team, worn out, tired, the game slipping beyond their hold; the reserves, fresh, ready to fight. What if Germany, Austria, and Hungary had won the war, as they probably would have done if we had not entered. What kind of a world would it be then? Mr. Chommie considers the League of Nations a great help for bettering conditions internationally and thinks that it should be given a chance to work out and should not be killed by the indifference of the people.

The boy's double quartette sang two numbers, "Down in Mobile" and "There's a Tavern in the Town."

ARMISTICE DAY

Of all the national holidays, Armistice Day is the most timely and one not to be considered lightly. In order to impress it on the students, an appropriate program was held Monday morning. With Europe boiling and the United States outwardly cool, we could use an Armistice Day every day.

In 1918 when most of us knew little or nothing of what history tells us existed, there came a day in November in which twenty-one million men—men who held no grudge against each other, men who knew not for what they fought—ceased slaughtering and killing to await orders to leave for home. What a day!

But returning home, they found not the happy families of the times before the War but a state of chaos mixed with joy because of the end of the menace. They put everything into reconstructing their ruined homes and belongings. After years of hard work they finally have rebuilt their bombarded farms and villages.

In the meantime powerful men have risen to unprecedented heights; they have educated their peoples to believe in them and follow them to the end.

Are these men menaces to peace? If they are, how can they be stopped? The answer to those questions is the key to World Safety and the preservation of our cherished "civilization."

Will the Mussolinis and the Hitlers cause the destruction of the present mode of living? We hope not!

Armistice Day is a noble occasion, but the tortures and trials that are associated with it are disgusting. It is comparable to a bunch of kids scraping in the alley; it gets you nowhere in a hurry, with a long walk home! Is it worth it? No!

GIRLS LEARN TO PLAY VOLLEYBALL

Complete List of Rules Given Reporter by Miss Helquist

Volleyball is played on a court slightly smaller than a basketball court which is divided through the center by a net six feet high. The playing time is divided into halves, the teams changing courts at half time.

The players are arranged in rows of two or more, depending on the number participating. Rotation of players shall mean a movement of one place to the right in the net row, to the left in the second row, and to the right in the third row at the time of service. The server stands in the rear right hand corner at the time of serving. She serves across the net with the heel or flat of the hand. If the server's first service is unsuccessful and has not been touched by a fellow player, the server gets a "second". If this is called, the ball goes to the other side who rotates. A server may be aided by only one person in the service. If the attempt help on the first serve is unsuccessful the ball having been touched, no second will be given.

Volleying: Attempt to return the ball across the net. One person may not hit the ball more than twice in succession, but any number of players may bat the ball before it is sent across the net, to the opponent's side.

Dead ball shall be declared on a service — 1. when ball hits outside court or ceiling on "second", 2. if ball is touched before crossing net on one straight serve. 3. if ball hits any part of the gym (not designated as playing area of game) on a volley.

When the ball hits the floor or the player bats the ball twice in succession, the score shall be counted. When the server bats the ball over the net and the opposing team fails to return it in the volley, one point is given for each successful serve, the server continuing until the ball fails to cross the net.

DEBATE NEWS

The debate teams are still working diligently in order that they may go to Warren in December. The team which will go have not been definitely chosen. The affirmative teams for this week are Margaret McKechnie and Fae Belcher; Flora Schroeder and Malcolm Magnuson; Solveig Fjelstad and Dorothy Johnson; and Vernon Wedul and Gordon Neset. The negative teams are Phillip Prichard and Vic Jung; Morris Engelstad and Oscar Bickley; Robert Smith and Frances Engle; Marjorie Matheson and Ariel Ready.

Nothing New to Them

To the ancient Egyptian of about [illegible] years ago our modern civilization could teach nothing either in design or in execution, so far at least, as the artistic crafts which minister to the love of beauty and luxury are concerned.

Actress Coughs, Loses Part in Production

"Another girl and myself were competing for the leading role in our school play. At the tryout I was in the midst of my part when a sudden coughing spell forced me to interrupt the rehearsal. As a result I lost the part. I know now that Thoxine would have saved me from this embarrassing blunder." Users everywhere say Thoxine gives quick relief from coughs due to colds and ordinary sore throat. It works faster, as its expectorant ingredient aids in expelling irritating phlegm and in soothing sore membranes. Insist on Thoxine only 35c. J. & B. Drugs, successor to Lambert's.

Miss Olson's English I classes are divided into two parts. One division is receiving library lessons from Miss Leavitt and the other half are studying the short story. On Friday, November first, they observed Mark Twain Day by special reports and talks.

* * *

The English II classes are now studying grammar and at certain intervals have written themes and talks.

* * *

Agriculture I classes have been studying beef cattle and the possibilities of their production in this county.

* * *

Agriculture IV classes, taught by Mr. Harrison, are studying the natural resources of this country in regard to the benefits received by the farmer.

* * *

Miss Helquist's biology classes have been studying the subject of the nervous system and its training. To thoroughly bring home facts they had a labratory experiment under the supervision of Donald Houfek with the help of his dog, Corky. The students in this class also brought samples of their hand writing taken from their first and sixth grades at school to show the improvement of their writing after practicing.

* * *

Miss Dahlen's general science class has begun to study the chapter on "The Use of Water in the Home." They will finish this by the end of the six weeks' period.

Miss Stenerson has announced that about twenty students have selected their declamation pieces. Work on declamation will be started before Thanksgiving in preparation for the contest to be held after Christmas.

Equal Rights in Russia

In Russia, women must struggle for life on exactly the same footing as men. Half the work in the vast industrial plants is done by women—in the machine shops, the motor car and tractor factories, the mines. Women build the military tanks, the airplanes, the artillery and the locomotives.

GROUP PRESENTS SHAKESPERE PLAY

"The Merchant of Venice" Given Before Students

On Wednesday afternoon, November sixth, the students of Lincoln High School and Central school, as well as many citizens of the town, were entertained by a group of players who presented the Shakespearean play "The Merchant of Venice."

If you remember—Antonio, the merchant, signs a bond in order to borrow money from Shylock, a Jew, for Bassanio, the lover of Portia. If the loan was repaid within three months, only the principal would be required; if not, the Jew should be at liberty to claim a pound of flesh from Antonio's body. The ships of Antonio being delayed by contrary winds, the merchant was unable to meet his bill, and the Jew claims the forfeiture. Portia, in the disguised garb of a lawyer, conducted the defense and saved Antonio's life by reminding the Jew that cutting a pound of flesh gave him no authority to shed a drop of blood.

Gorgeous costumes, typical of that period of history, worn by the players added much to the success of the play. All high school English students enjoyed the play immensely.

BALLY-WHO

Well, now that winter is here with full blast it's funny Mr. Claffy doesn't make an announcement to not walk on the snow because the grass might not grow in the spring.

Another sign of winter—they're skating on the river and the skating rink is beginning to take form.

So far this year this column has only dealt with the students. Now we'll make a few sallies at the faculty —for instance— consider this dialogue between Mr. Claffy and George Buck:

Claffy—George, what is 100 times 980?

George—Nine thousand eight hundred.

Claffy—Oh no, not when I went to school. Maybe they teach differently now.

George—Well, ninety-eight hundred then.

Claffy—There, that's better.

And then the beloved history teacher at Central, Miss Dixon. She surely had the color of a perfect blushing bride in her contact (or combat) with the Elk's Carnival Clown.

If the faculty does not agree with these remarks our inquiring writer will probably have to discontinue his rude methods of informing.

And who was the bashful young lady who didn't know how to play "Post Office"?

Wonder why Ardella G. has started using Phillips "66" gasoline. Is it slower starting?

Well, the betting season is off and Peg didn't get her Yardley compact. Tough luck!

You may say the chorus is pretty poor, especially the sophomore girls, but they are a trifle better than the Junior class play vocalists. Two cows, a couple of dogs and cats, and a fog horn would have sounded better than when they disharmonized "Old Black Joe."

While on the subject of would-be music, the first period social class likes to hear "that" cornetist play "Home Sweet Home" best because they think he's going to quit then.

We don't blame Helen O. for wearing a last year's class ring. It's very trying to wait six or seven weeks for a this year's ring.

Know Not of War

Despite the fact that war dominates the pages of history and is still today one of the chief topics of the press of the world, there are existing races of people, such as the Eskimos, who never have indulged in warfare and who know nothing about it.—Collier's Weekly.

ETIQUETTE

Everyone seems to be either giving parties or going to some one else's party lately. No matter what kind of a party it is there are always certain rules of etiquette to be observed.

A person usually goes to a party to enjoy himself. Of course, everyone has a different idea of enjoying himself, but he should do so in a way which doesn't spoil the party for others. If one or two persons refuse to do what the hostess requests them to do, such as enter into some game or contest, it dampens the spirit of the whole party. If everyone is a good sport and enters into the spirit of the party, it helps make the party a success.

One of the rudest things a person can do is to accept an invitation and then come away and criticize everything about the party. They criticize the games, the lunch, the decorations, and the hostess herself. They say they had a terrible time and can't see why they ever went. If they feel that way about it, they should never go.

A person who is a good sport about everything at the party and afterwards says he had a very good time is always invited to more parties than the person who criticizes.

FRESHMEN GIVE PARTY FRIDAY

Sophomores Entertained as Result of Football Victory

The annual Freshman-Sophomore party, which was given in the high school gymnasium last Friday evening, November eighth, will be well-remembered by all who attended as one of the most successful parties of its kind ever held at the gym.

The party began promptly at seven-thirty with the playing of numerous games which were directed by the members of the freshman game committee, who had been chosen at one of the freshman class meetings preceding the party.

Hot dogs, ice cream, and pop were served by the freshman lunch committee after the completion of the games.

After the lunch had been served, everyone departed for his home well satisfied that he had spent a most pleasant evening.

Congratulations to the freshman class and their advisers for putting on a very active and enjoyable party!

Kamakura, Japan

For three centuries, from 1190 to 1485, Kamakura was the capital of Japan and the seat of culture. The feudal system had its start in the Seventh century, when the population was divided into agriculturists and soldiers, but the shogun and samurai system received its greatest development when the class of Bushi, the warriors, rose and shaped that system of government to rule Japan until the middle of the Nineteenth century. Kamakura is a fashionable seaside resort, with pleasure seekers roaming over the ground where the bold samurai fought their battles for honor and for glory.

Where these lines meet is "THE END OF THE ROAD"

INFERIOR, temporary highway surfaces clamor for more and more maintenance and reconstruction year after year. Eventually, any new roads are out of the question. All the annual road money goes for upkeep! Then, "the end of the road" has been reached, both literally and figuratively.

But Here's Big News!

Taxpayers save from $114 to $409 per mile per year in the cost of surface maintenance on concrete highways compared with other types of pavement.

This statement is based on the actual reports of surface maintenance costs on 100,000 miles of pavement in 19 states—every state that publishes these records.

Concrete is the standard by which all roads are judged . . . insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy for motorists. Easily visible at night . . . easy on tires, gas, oil and repairs.

Write for "Road Maintenance Costs," which gives the itemized figures.

YOU MOTORISTS PAY FOR MAINTENANCE. Uncle Sam helps build highways, but the State of Minnesota must maintain them. If your gas and auto taxes are all used for maintenance, no money is left to match future Federal aid. Demand concrete, and leave future highway revenues intact for more construction.

Just An Example Of Progressiveness
The remodeling of the Erickson & Lund Funeral Home is just an example of this firm's policy to improve the service whenever possible without increasing prices.
Because living quarters and funeral home facilities are now combined, the overhead of the greatly modernized and improved establishment will be no higher than formerly when two separate places were maintained.

MANY TREES SET OUT IN VALLEY DURING SUMMER

Northwest School Reports Success of Planting Campaign

The tree planting program adopted by Northwest School students last spring was apparently the little ripple required to start a great wave of tree planting throughout the Minnesota Red River Valley. At that time every student in school and each member of the School and Station staff signed a pledge to plant one or more Northwest School trees during the spring.

The American White elm (Ulmus Americana) was selected as the official school tree; however, students unable to secure the White elm were permitted to use Green Ash, Chinese elm, or other available species. It was further suggested that the official tree should be planted on the front lawn and that the location should be in harmony with the general plan of farmstead beautification. The Northwest School agreed to furnish one stamped metal label to each person having a living tree the following October.

According to T. M. McCall, station horticulturist, a total of 1392 trees were planted by the 168 persons who had reported on the project by November 1st. All but twelve of this group reported living trees at the close of the season. Many found it almost as easy to plant several trees as to plant the one school tree. For example, 53 persons planted two or more trees each, while three planted sizable windbreaks. Burnett Bergeson, Twin Valley, led with 600 trees, followed by Glenn Ellinger, Crookston, with 200 trees and Irene Hrist, Thief River Falls, with 112 trees and shrubs.

The Northwest School tree planting project was only the beginning of a valley-wide tree planting program. Many parents and students have had their attention called to the value of trees for windbreak as well as home beautification purposes. The official school trees will be living monuments to the memory of those who set them out and cared for them during the early period of growth.

ALFALFA ROOT SIX INCHES IN DIAMETER

Albert Lea.—An alfalfa plant with a root six inches in diameter was found by John Emrud, Albert Lea. The plant is of the Grimm variety and was taken from a field of alfalfa which was planted 15 years ago in Manchester township on a farm operated by Emrud's son, Oliver. Last week it was decided to plow under the alfalfa on this area. Emrud used a tractor, and while plowing cut off the root of the plant, the top of which is now on exhibition in Albert Lea. The root at the top is more than six inches in diameter. "I am sure," Emrud said, "that the rest of the root which is still in the ground goes down 20 feet."

AAA Processing Tax Collections Slump as Effect of Court Attack

The AAA Monday reported that court attacks upon its processing tax programs had resulted in a sharp decrease in collections during August compared with the same month a year ago.

A monthly financial summary showed August tax collections of $12,820,836.

"If taxes now held up by court action had been received", the statement said, "receipts would have closely paralleled the budget estimates of tax receipts on which expenditures are based."

Expenditures for July and August, the first two months of the fiscal year, totalled $81,038,783 chargeable against processing tax collections, leaving a deficit of $57,280,443 for the period. In addition the AAA spent $8,073,343 during the period chargeable against definite appropriations.

Savings Association Here One of Over 1,000 With Insured Deposits

Home-financing institutions of the savings and loan type throughout the country to the number of 1,010 have now been approved for insurance of shareholders' accounts through the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. Included in the number is the First Federal Savings & Loan association of Thief River Falls.

Individual investors thus protected against loss up to $5,000 each total 868,838, compared with 171,000 investors safeguarded in the 451 institutions which had been insured up to January 1, 1935. The first institution was insured in October of last year, under the act of 1934 creating the insurance corporation.

The 1,010 insured associations represent aggregate assets of $587,000,000. They include 547 newly organized Federal savings and loan associations, 375 old-established associations that have been converted to Federal charter, and 88 state-chartered building and loan associations, cooperative banks and homestead associations.

"MEANEST MAN" TITLE PASSES TO SHAKOPEE

Shakopee.—The title of the "meanest man" has again passed along, and a resident of Shakopee is the newest world's champion. All former title holders were relegated to oblivion by the person who shot the German shepherd dog through whose eyes Mrs. F. H. Buck was enabled to see. "Tasso" was imported from Germany, where he was trained to lead the blind. Several months ago he came to Shakopee to serve his mistress, and that he was doing with all the faithfulness of his dog heart. As was the regular daily custom, Tasso was permitted to take his run at 8:30 A. M., and in less than 15 minutes returned home showing signs of serious illness. Taken to a veterinarian, the dog was placed on the operating table and blood trickled from his left side. In a few minutes he was dead. A rifle shot had found its mark.

Thirty members of the association were present at the meeting, which concluded with the serving of lunch. The matter of fixing the dates of the 1936 fair was left in the hands of the board of directors.

Robert J. Lund, secretary of the board, submitted his annual report revealing that the association has 151 active members and that an estimated 44,000 persons attended the fair last August, maintaining its position near the top of the list in this respect among county fairs in Minnesota.

The report shows receipts during the past year aggregated $13,193.90, compared to disbursements of $12,494.72. Major items of receipts included $2,009.48 from concessions and privileges; $414.19 from entry fees; $6,120.96 from gate and grandstand; $1,410 from the state; $300 from the county; $400 from the city; $980 from merchants' prize tickets; and $1,200 from settlement of a fire insurance claim.

SHORT SESSION OF P. T. A. CONDUCTED MONDAY EVENING

Christmas Seal Movies to be Presented at Next Meeting Dec. 3

The program for the November meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Monday evening was cut short due to the absence of Professor J. R. Schwendeman of the Moorhead State Teachers college, who was scheduled to deliver the principal address and who was detained at Moorhead, by stormy weather.

Mrs. Gaston Ward submitted a report on the recent state congress of parent-teacher association at Detroit Lakes, to which she was a delegate from the local group, and the high school reed ensemble played several selections under the direction of S. P. Orwoll. Miss Florence Parsons, school nurse, made a request for contributions of discarded clothing for the use of children of needy families.

President A. M. Senstad announced that the next meeting of the association will be held Tuesday, December 3, at which time a motion picture, "Contacts", will be presented under the sponsorship of the Minnesota Public Health association, which conducts the annual sale of Christmas seals.

Red Cross Roll Call Meets Good Response

A group of local women last Friday afternoon canvassed the business district in the interest of the 1935 Red Cross roll call and met with a good response, according to A. M. Yule Home Decorating Contest Will be Held

Savings and Loan Group Supplies $25 Prize Money for Winners

To stimulate a holiday atmosphere in Thief River Falls, prizes aggregating $25 will be awarded to local householders in a Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association jointly with the First Federal Savings and Loan association, donor of the prize money.

Morris Bye, chairman of a committee appointed to handle details, which also includes Dr. A. E. Jacobson and N. A. Nelson, said this morning that the committee would recommend to the association this noon division of the prize money into four awards, $10, $7.50, $5 and $2.50.

The awards, which will be open to all householders of the community, will be based on originality of plan, appropriateness of the decorations to the Christmas spirit and general appearance. The decorations may be placed on the lawn or on the house or within the house, but the exterior effect will be the basis of judging.

Judging will take place during the week of December 19-25, and an effort will be made to secure the services of a competent judge form out of town, Chairman Bye stated.

Creamery Volume for October Nearly Double Total in October, 1934

That the dairy industry is getting back to a profitable operating basis is indicated in the announcement by G. S. Bergland, manager of the local cooperative creamery, that the institution paid 32 cents for October deliveries of sweet cream butterfat and 30 cents for sour cream, the highest prices since the time of the feed shortage last spring. During October the creamery churned 35,000 pounds of butter compared to 20,000 in the same month last year. The output for the first ten months of the year aggregated 423,000 pounds of butter, contrasted to 417,000 pounds for the entire year of 1934. Reflecting the increased volume operating costs dropped from 5.8 cents a pound in October, 1934, to 3.8 cents a pound last month.

1ST DISTRICT NRS SETS UP NEW PLAN AT MEETING HERE

Reemployment Offices Establish New System of Reporting

In order to set up a new reporting system of employment statistics without interfering with the regular work of placing the unemployed on WPA and in private employment, the entire personnel of the National Reemployment Service for the first district was called in to the district office at Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon, according to Tom O'Malley, in charge of the office here. Some of the things accomplished at this busy week-end session were a better standardization of the files in the state, further training of the NRS personnel in classifying applicants for work under the occupational titles in which they have the best opportunities of finding employment, and the setting up of a perpetual inventory of the unemployed with a coding system which will be uniform throughout the entire country.

"The chief purpose of this perpetual inventory of the unemployed," Mr. O'Malley stated, "is to make available accurate statistics on the number of unemployed in each occupation to governmental agencies planning public works and setting up social security legislation. It will also make available figures on the movement of workers in industry, such as for example the number of workers that are being reemployed or becoming unemployed in building trades or any other industry."

The National Reemployment Service has previously collected statistics on the number of applicants seeking work, the number placed on governmental projects, in industry, and other employment. Under the new system the statistics compiled will be much more complete and easier to compile in such form as they are needed by the various agencies, since they can now be handled through Hollerith tabulating machines, Mr. O'Malley says.

OLSON IS SEEKING PROGRESS ON RED LAKE RIVER WORK

Declares Project Has Been Held up by WPA Organization

Final approval of the Lac Qui Parle water conservation project in Minnesota as a WPA project was announced Monday by Governor Floyd B. Olson.

Governor Olson said it would cost $1,276,728 and provide jobs for about 2,000 men. He said he hoped to remove Tuesday the last obstacle to approval of the Roseau river and Red Lake river projects which he said were being held up in the works progress engineering division.

The Roseau and Red Lake projects, he said, had been approved by President Roosevelt and Comptroller General McCarl but were being delayed by the WPA.

The Governor estimated the three water conservation projects would put 5,000 men to work. He said there was not sufficient unemployed labor in the counties affected but that workers would be taken from the cities and housed in barracks. He said work could start immediately because much of the preliminary work had been done.

DRESSED TURKEYS WILL BE FEATURED AT POULTRY SHOW

Entries Must First be Shown in Live Classes, Sec'y. Vernon Copp Says

Local turkey breeders having choice market birds are asked to hold specimens and enter them in the live turkey classes at the Pennington county poultry show scheduled for December 9 to 12, Vernon Copp, secretary, announced today.

Mr. Copp this week received a letter from Professor M. C. Herner of Winnipeg, who will judge the entries in the show, suggesting that turkeys entered in the market classes be dressed after judging and then be rejudged in the dressed class. Birds in the dressed group must first be entered in the live classes, it was pointed out.

Plans are being made for a series of educational talks on poultry problems the second and third days of the show. Tentative arrangements also have been made for the exhibitors to attend the Civic and Commerce association luncheon the closing day of the show. The association at its meeting last Thursday appropriated $100 toward expenses in connection with the show.

OUTDOOR SKATING RINK, DULUTH AV., SOON READY TO USE

Fence and Warming House in Place; to be Flooded Early Next Month

In spite of the fact that the enclosed municipal skating rink will not be completed in time for use this winter, local children and their elders will not be deprived of the enjoyment of their favorite winter sport.

An outdoor rink of the same size as the one in use last winter has been prepared on Duluth av. near the site of the old rink, and will be flooded as soon as weather conditions are favorable, probably early in December. The site has been leveled off and the fence and warming house are now in place.

Gilbert Reiersgaard will have charge of maintenance of the rink, while the skating rink committee will be assisted in the promotion of sports by Alvin Christofferson, Ted Skoglund and Kenneth Lindberg.

It was announced that an intermediate hockey league will get under way after practice sessions have been held. Several young players from last year's squad will be ready for senior competition this winter, but will not be barred from intermediate play.

The senior team will be pointed for the stiffer competition to come upon the completion of the enclosed rink. Letters have been received from several fast players residing outside this community who desire to play here, and the hockey management states that any additions necessary to insure a fast and powerful team will be made by procuring outside talent.

The net result of the movement to get a special Federal relief grant for poets will be to put the versifiers under control of the AAA and plow every fourth stanza under.—Ohio State Journal.

HINT ENDING OF MUD LAKE GAME REFUGE PLANS

Conservation Commission Issues Statement of Its Stand Thursday

F. W. MURPHY SEES HOPE OF COMPROMISE

E. M. Evans of Middle River Voices Objections to Project

Developments in the Mud lake game reserve condemnation proceedings during the past week included a statement Thursday from the state conservation commission that the project will be dropped unless attorneys withdraw their demands for awards exceeding $2,000,000 for lands appraised at $169,000; a later statement from F. W. Murphy, attorney for some of the appellants, to the effect that a compromise probably will be reached by the parties to the action before the trial date, December 2; and publication of a letter from E. M. Evans of Middle River to E. V. Willard, commissioner of conservation, registering the objections of residents of his community to the proposed project.

Members of the conservation commission stated they would back Commissioner E. V. Willard of the conservation department in his stand that condemnation proceedings pending in district court will be dismissed December 2 unless a satisfactory settlement with representatives of the land owners can be made.

The commission was notified that 213 appeals have been taken on behalf of property owners and that the land involved in those appeals totals 40,000 acres. This is two-thirds of the 60,000 which Minnesota was asked to acquire for resale to the federal government.

The last legislature authorized purchase of the Marshall county land and the original estimate of the conservation department was $3 per acre. This is approximately the same price as the appraisers recommended in the awards Commissioner Willard said.

80 Prospective Patrons, Sign for Electric Line, Says Senator Tungseth

Senator E. L. Tungseth, who has been cooperating with residents of the Goodridge vicinity in seeking the installation of electric service from this city as a federal rural electrification project, announced this week that approximately 80 prospective patrons of the line had been signed to date. He stated that a tentative rate of 2½ cents a kilowatt hour had been quoted by the city administration to supply current for the line, the same rate as is now charged by Warren for patrons in Alvarado. At a well attended meeting Monday evening in the school house near the Kratka bridge, a committee was named to continue an investigation of the project in that community.

Ducks Banded at Thief Lake Travel over Big Territory

Data on 186 of a total of 1142 banded ducks has been obtained by the game and fish division in St. Paul, according to a report received by Gustav Swanson, game and fish biologist. The returns came from 21 states and 3 Canadian provinces and reveal interesting facts as to migrations.

An aluminum band bearing the date and place is clipped on the bird's leg. Persons taking the banded birds are urged to report the place and date. In this way data as to the age and migratory habits of ducks is obtained.

In Minnesota ducks are banded in the spring and fall at the Thief Lake water fowl refuge. The work is carried on by the division of game and fish in cooperation with the U. S. biological survey.

The report states that a pintail banded at Thief Lake in May 1934 was shot by an Indian at Churchill, Hudson's Bay in August, 1934. A pintail banded at the same time turned up at Long Beach, California, in November, 1934.

A redhead banded in May, 1934, was shot at Currituck Sound, North Carolina, in January, 1935, which shows that in the case of redheads there is a rather definite east-west fly way.

A redhead captured at Thief Lake, April 29, 1935, had been banded at Ithaca, New York, April 18, 1926. There are very few records showing longer life. The greatest age on record, according to Mr. Swanson, was the case of a pintail that was banded in 1914 and found twelve years later.

NEW DIESEL UNIT TO BE TRIED OUT THIS WEEK-END

Has Been in Process of Installation During Past Three Weeks

Installation of the new 1,000 horsepower Diesel engine being placed in the municipal power plant by the Busch-Sulzer Diesel Engine company of St. Louis is now in its final stage and the unit is expected to be ready for testing out over the coming week-end.

Thomas Eastwood, engineer for the St. Louis company, has been engaged in the work of installing the unit since October 31, being assisted for most of the period by another representative of the company.

The new unit, according to Supt. Ole Legvold of the water and light department, will have a sufficiently large output to carry the entire city load except during the midwinter months when it will be necessary to use one of the old Busch-Sulzer units for additional power.

20 CARS TURKEYS GO FROM THIS CITY FOR THANKSGIVING

Total Is Slightly Less Than Half Shipments Made Last Year

Bearing out advance predictions as to the smaller crop of turkeys in Northwestern Minnesota this fall, only 20 carloads of the Thanksgiving birds left this city up th the last week end when local pools were closed. During the same period of 1934 a total of 44 carloads were shipped from Thief River Falls, while in 1933 the figure was 82 carloads. Somewhat heavier receipts are anticipated in the Christmas market pools which are scheduled to open December 1.

"The smaller shipments", says L. L. Getten, manager of the poultry department of Land O'Lakes creameries in Minneapolis, "are due to the backward weather last spring, which resulted in poor hatchability and retarded the early growth. Feed in the first part of the season was also expensive and probably caused light feeding.

"A good many producers are holding their birds until the December pool but, as there is not likely to be any holdover from the Thanksgiving pool, prices may not be affected adversely."

Big Crew at Work on WPA Golf Course Improvement

From 16 to 18 men have been engaged on a WPA project on the municipal golf course during the past two weeks under the supervision of Olaf Ryan, park caretaker, and in the event of favorable weather the work will continue well into the winter, it was announced yesterday by Dr. A. F. Jacobson, president of the park board, sponsor of the project. The crew of men this week has been engaged in grading down and filling in the ground for a new fairway.

4-H Exhibits Fetch Good Prices at Show

Three Turkeys Raised by St. Hilaire Youth Bring 40c a Pound

A happy group of eight Pennington county 4-H club workers returned Friday evening from South St. Paul, where they spent an enjoyable week in attendance at the Junior Livestock show. They brought back with them substantial checks representing the proceeds of the sale of the livestock which they exhibited.

A pen of three turkeys shown by John Norman of St. Hilaire placed fourth in its class, and was sold to Swift & company at a price of 40 cents a pound. The three birds weighed 78 pounds, compared to 85½ pounds for the first place winner.

Jeanette Tveit of North township won first place with her Rhode Island Red market cockerels, which sold on a basis of 26 cents a pound. Willard Yonke's hog sold at a price of $11 a hundred, the same price being paid for lambs raised by Roy and Leo Jensen and Gerald and Leonard Yonke.

Roy Burnett, 20-year-old 4-H club farmer of Mankato, was richer by $1,115.50 after his entry, the grand champion baby beef, had been auctioned off along with other exhibits of the show.

"Snookums", the champion, weighed 970 pounds. The animal was bought by the Minnesota club of St. Paul, at $1.15 per pound.

The grand champion purebred Poland China hog was auctioned off at $1 a pound for a total of 405—Gervase Kritaback, Howard Lake, in Rice county, proud owner was all smiles as Hormel & Co. of Austin, Minn., made the final bid and the auctioneer's gavel came down for the last time.

The show record for the sale of the grand champion lamb made when it was sold at $5.60 a pound. With a weight of 105 pounds, the lamb sold for $578 to Harry's Cafe, Minneapolis. The owner was Betty Jones, 13, of Austin. The bidding was spirited, with Mayor Mark H. Gehan of St. Paul serving as the auctioneer. The previous high was made three years ago, when the prize lamb sold at $5 per pound.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE COMMENCES THANKSGIVING DAY

County Workers Listed by State Public Health Association

Organization has been completed for the 1935 sale of Christmas Seals throughout Pennington County. Encouraged over the two-thirds reduction in the tuberculosis death rate throughout the United States since the first penny Seal was sold, the local group will unite with more than 2000 other branches of the National Tuberculosis Association in an intensive effort to continue this winning battle through the sale of Seals starting Thanksgiving Day.

This will be the 29th annual sale of Christmas Seals. The funds raised make possible the county, statewide and national program to prevent, find and cure tuberculosis and to promote general health. Ninety-five per cent of the funds raised are spent within the borders of Minnesota, while five per cent goes to support the medical research and broad program of education carried on by the National Tuberculosis Association. Of the ninety-five per cent of the funds remaining in the state, fifty-five per cent goes to finance specific health programs within the county in which it is raised; and forty per cent is used for the Minnesota Public Health Association's comprehensive statewide anti-tuberculosis program which benefits every county.

Local leaders of Minnesota's volunteer army of 10,000 Christmas Seal workers, all of whom donate their time and energy to this campaign, are as follows:

St. Hilaire, M. S. Graham, Supt. Oakland Park Sanatorium, Dr. B. B. [illegible].

Thief River Falls, Mrs. A. M. Smith. The sale at Thief River Falls is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Medical Auxiliary.

Goodridge, T. A. Ingrud. The rural school teachers of the county also will participate.

Thanksgiving Ball to Provide Funds to Buy Hockey Team Equipment

To supply funds for the purchase of necessary equipment for the high-powered hockey team that Thief River Falls will put into the field on completion of the enclosed municipal skating rink, a Thanksgiving ball will be held at the Auditorium next Thursday evening, Thanksgiving night, under the sponsorship of the local American Legion post and the hockey management. Music for the dance will be supplied by the Campus Freshmen orchestra. The outlook, according to those in charge of the winter sport, is that there will be no lack of topnotch competition for the local aggregation when the enclosed rink is completed. The present senior hockey team will practice intensively this winter, looking forward to a series of hard-fought contests next year.

COUNCIL O. K.'S FINAL PLANS OF ENCLOSED RINK

Architect Goes to St. Paul to Ask Immediate Release of Funds

COST ESTIMATED AT LESS THAN $25,000

Plans Call for Building 195 Feet Long and 98 Feet Wide

Members of the city council and the skating rink committee of the American Legion post met Monday evening in the Legion rooms and approved a complete set of revised plans for the proposed municipal skating rink as submitted by Henry C. Eckland, architect.

Mr. Eckland had already furnished a set of the plans to state WPA headquarters in St. Paul, and he left for that city Tuesday to urge the immediate release of the $13,118 federal grant previously authorized, so that the project can be started without further delay and thus furnish work for a large number of unemployed persons in this community.

The total cost of the project, as estimated by Mr. Eckland and WPA engineers, will be slightly less than $25,000, exclusive of the site. Funds in addition to the federal grant will be supplied by the proceeds of a $15,000 bond issue recently sold to the Northern State bank.

The plans as approved Monday evening call for a building 195 feet long and 98 feet wide, facing on Second st. at the rear of the Auditorium. Construction will be of glazed building tile with a cement floor and steel roof joists. The main floor will provide space for a skating area 174½ feet by 80 feet, with a large warming room and toilets at the front part of the building, and with a recreation room and shower baths in the excavated portion of the basement. A seating capacity of 800 or more will be supplied by bleachers along the sides of the rink.

With the building being constructed under WPA rules and regulations, the work will be done on a day labor basis using men taken from the relief rolls as far as practicable. The project will be under the supervision of a contractor or engineer selected by Minnesota WPA headquarters on recommendation of the city council.

Our Thanksgiving
By James Waldo Fawcett in Washington Star

THANKSGIVING is an ancient custom, but it has had its ups and downs. Historians say that it has not always been the universally popular occasion which it now is considered to be.

The first thanksgiving ceremoniously observed in North America was that conducted by Rev. Mr. Wolfall, chaplain of the Frobisher expedition to Newfoundland, May 27, 1578, and the earliest Thanksgiving observance reported within the present boundaries of the United States was held by the Popham colonists at Sagadahoc, Maine, in August, 1607.

But the first specification of a whole day of thanksgiving was that proclaimed by William Bradford, first governor of Massachusetts Colony of Pilgrims, "in gratitude for the planteous harvest" of 1621. The date was December 13, old style.

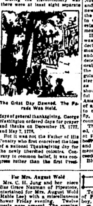
The festival became an annual and regular one in Massachusetts in 1684, and the example so established was followed by all the other New England colonies. It was the most important feast of the year, taking rank above Christmas, of which the Puritans disapproved.

During the Revolutionary war there were at least eight separate days of general thanksgiving. George Washington ordered days for prayer and thanks on December 18, 1777, and May 7, 1778.

But it was not the Father of His Country who first conceived the idea of a national Thanksgiving day for the newly liberated colonies. Contrary to common belief, it was congress rather than the first President that was responsible. The credit to the circumstances is due particularly to Elias Boudinot, a member of the house of representatives from New Jersey, who on September 25, 1789, introduced a resolution calling upon "all the citizens of the United States" to join "with one voice in returning to Almighty God their sincere thanks for the many blessings he had poured upon them." The original document is still in the files of the congress, where it recently was discovered.

The record shows that the motion prompted strenuous debate. Opposition to the proposal was passionately intense. Aedanus Burke of South Carolina attacked "this mimicking of European customs." Thomas T. Tucker of Virginia sardonically submitted that "it might be well to wait for some experience of the efficiency of the Constitution before returning thanks for it."

But it was an Episcopalian who signed the proclamation when Boudinot's resolution finally was accorded congressional approval. It happened, too, that it was the first document of its kind ever endorsed by an American Chief Executive. November 26 was the day assigned, and Washington summoned the new nation to express gratitude "for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government."



The Great Day Dawned. The Parade Was Held.

Abraham Lincoln Was Responsible for Present Custom.

However, the opposition party was not satisfied. Jefferson, for one, declined to take part in the ceremonies. His celebrated rival, Alexander Hamilton, on the other hand, determined to make a really memorable event of the festival. With the imaginative flair which a distinguished him, he visioned a "monster celebration," with Washington as its presiding genius. There should be a great parade, a colorful and dramatic pageant, an American equivalent, more or less, of a Roman triumph. Troops were to march, bands to play, flags to fly, and the multitude could be counted upon to cheer.

The whole affair, Hamilton decided, should culminate in a banquet at Fraunces tavern. To the festal board be invited his chosen friends and preparation for their entertainment in the grand manner proceeded.

But Mrs. Washington had plans of her own. She ordered a formal levee at the Executive Mansion in Franklin square, and invitations were dispatched to "everybody who was anybody." Hamilton, naturally, was one of those whose presence was requested.

The great day dawned. The parade was held. The reception followed. Hamilton was late in arriving at the tavern, a tardy host at his own dinner.

To his amazement, the giver of the feast found his guests had not waited for him to appear. They had been eating and drinking for all they were worth in his absence.

From the doorway Hamilton surveyed the scene, his face scarlet with rage. Nevertheless, he held his tongue for fear of the "public scandal" of an outburst. Silence fell as he moved across the room to a place at the table. But the inevitable outburst followed.

For five years there were no Thanksgiving day proclamations, no Thanksgiving day celebrations.

In a later period Andrew Jackson and Zachary Taylor refused to order observance of the festival. Abraham Lincoln was responsible for the present custom of keeping the fourth or last Thursday in November as a national day of thanks to God.

But it was not until comparatively recent years that the people of the entire country began to celebrate the annual occasion with enthusiasm.

Mrs. C. H. Jung and her niece Miss Grace Nauman of Pipestone, entertained for Mrs. August Wold (Mable Lee) with a miscellaneous shower Friday evening. Twelve guests were present. The evening was spent in games and in embroidering towels for the honor guests.

Mrs. H. A. Brumund entertained a number of her friends at a bridge party at her home Friday afternoon. Contract bridge was played at four tables, Mrs. Philip Bryant, Mrs. Baldwin Borreson and Mrs. Paul Lundgren receiving the honors.

Cancer Sufferers Are Warned Against Taking Stock in New "Cures"

A new cancer cure, so called, is receiving newspaper publicity in Canada these days. Whether this cure has any real merit seems doubtful to American medical experts, but very little information about it has been given, either to the Canadian medical profession or to the profession in the United States according to a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today.

The fact that already hundreds of cancer suffers have been attracted to the home town of the originator of this treatment by the premature newspaper publicity is pointed out in the bulletin as the most unfortunate result of such premature announcements. These people are more than likely to be doomed to disappointment.

"A cure for any disease cannot be announced as a cure until it has been tried out successfully on a large number of cases and until the same results have been achieved by other independent investigators" according to this bulletin.

When a conscientious medical scientist does discover a cure, he does not report it first to the public but to his medical colleagues. He tells other investigators all about it and invites them to check his results. When there is no doubt at all as to the worth of his contribution, then he will probably be willing to tell the public about it, but not before.

It is not impossible, of course for worthwhile discoveries to come through irregular channels. The fact is, they seldom do.

LITTLE BOY, MATCH! CALL FIRE LADDIES!

Luverne—Little Charlie Sherman, five years old, did some experimenting with a match and a pile of kindling in the basement of his home recently. Before he had time to observe the complete results, however, things got so hot he moved upstairs. Soon afterwards, Roger, his two-year-old brother, who had been playing with him, came upstairs and attracted the attention of his mother because of the unusual ruddy complexion of his cheeks. Alarmed, Mrs. Sherman opened the basement door to find the stairway dense with smoke and the basement in flames. Although fire and water damage was confined to the basement of the house, prompt action saved the damage to between $300 and $400. Just how the two boys managed to escape from the burning basement without being seriously burned is a mystery. It would only have been a matter of minutes before they would have been trapped by the fast spreading flames.

Mexico's Early History

The history of Mexico, like that of Egypt, extends so far into the distant past that many early chapters have been lost. From the Seventh century, when the Toltecs established their wonderful ancient capital at Tula, it becomes fixed. The Aztecs came about 1200 A. D. and then the chivalrous done and Spanish adventurers.

Observations on Trip to California
By Joel E. Shoberg

Following is one of a series of articles written by Joel E. Shoberg, Rosewood correspondent of the Times, who recently left in company with Glenn Sagmoen to spend the winter in California.

The first day of our tour brought us only as far as Crookston where we spent the night at the home of my companion's sister, Mrs. Art Gobell and family. Mr. Gobell is employed as a baker at The Independent store at Crookston. Gobell's have only recently moved here from Moorhead to accept this job, and my companion Mr. Sagmoen was also a Moorhead resident before coming to Thief River Falls to enter the employ of Hartz bakery about a year ago. At Crookston we also called on Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Blomberg former Rosewood residents but now for many years residing at Crookston where Mr. Blomberg is in the employ of the Electric light company.

The second day brought us to Grove City where we stayed over Sunday visiting with the Emil Henderson, Frans Lund and Mrs. Emma Chellin families. These people are all in the farming game and used to be heavy raisers of corn and hogs. Hogs have now been largely discontinued owing to the low prices the past few years, and the government control program and these three farmers who used to raise about 100 small pigs each year, now only raised sufficient pork for home consumption.

Depression has hit hard further south in the state, and especially the 1934 drought year has left indelible marks. State owned farms and renters are numerous where only a few years back practically all farmers enjoyed prosperity. On the Emil Henderson farm lightning destroyed the old dairy barn some time ago and a new modern structure has been built 34x90 in size and at a cost of about $5000. It has tile sides, eight feet high a Gothic roof and is complete with running water, electric lights litter carrier and milk machine equipment.

At Breckenridge we saw the world famous Fenco farms almost city like in appearance containing thousands of acres of the best soil and commercial raisers of Holstein cattle Duroc hogs and Shropshire sheep.

At Morton we stopped for an hour to watch the quary workers make granite blocks into monumental shapes. Only the rough work is done here and the blocks are shipped to St. Cloud for the finishing touch. Huge electric cranes lift the large blocks from the pit where they have previously been blown loose with dynamite and they are placed on top of the ground where workmen with air drills and power hammers make them into the desired size and shape.

From Morton we proceeded thru the beautiful hillsides, curvatures and cut down banks near Redwood Falls into Southern Minnesota's lovely Ramsey county state park.

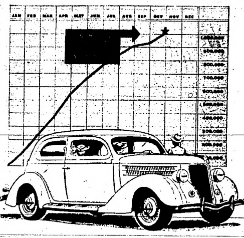
V·8 LEADERSHIP



On October 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year.

One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm.

These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out, in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.

GRYGLA

Aune-Buch

At the Grygla Lutheran parsonage Tuesday, Nov. 12 at 3 o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Paula Buch and Olaf Aune, the Rev. S. T. Anderson officiating, and Mrs. S. T. Anderson, presiding at the piano. They were attended by Edith Lawdarud and Orville Llan. The bride wore a beautiful gown of gold flat crepe.

The bride is the only daughter of Arne Buch and is a popular young lady. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Aune of Gatzke and is an honest, industrious young man. They will make their temporary home on the Buch farm, 7 miles west of Grygla.

Nelson-Sorenson

A quiet home wedding was celebrated at the Henry Sorenson home Wednesday evening, Nov. 13 when Rev. S. T. Anderson united as husband and wife, Norman Nelson and Miss Hazel Sorenson. Miss Stella Sorenson, sister of the groom and Ernest Sorenson, brother of the groom served as witness.

The young bride was beautifully attired in a white satin gown. After the ceremony a very delicious wedding dinner was served to the guests. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sorenson of Grygla and is a popular young lady. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Nelson of Trail county, N. D., and is a young man with fine manners and good character. The young couple left for Trail County, N. D., Monday where they will make their home on a farm.

Scramstad-Ruud

A beautiful wedding took place at the Grygla Lutheran parsonage Saturday, Nov. 16 at 11 o'clock a. m. when the Rev. S. T. Anderson read the marriage ritual of the Lutheran church which united Henry Scramstad and Effie Ruud as husband and wife. The famous wedding march of Lohengrin was played by Mrs. S. T. Anderson. They were attended by Miss Esther Scramstad and Arthur Ruud. The young bride wore a beautiful gown of royal blue transparent velvet. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ruud of Gatzke and is a lady in the very sense of the word. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Scramstad of Middle River and is very favorably known in this community. They will make their home on the groom's farm near Middle River.

Baptized at the Carl Nygaard home Thursday evening, Nov. 14, Carl Theodore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nygaard. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Sandland, Miss Alpha Morken and Melvin Wolberg.

Another addition to the population of the village was made when the Hans Rude family moved into the Maney residence. The farm which was occupied by the Rudes has been sold by the Dept. of Rural Credits thus necessitating their seeking new quarters.

The wedding dance given at the Loven Hall near Gatzke last Saturday evening by the nuptials Aune-Buch was very well attended. A large number of the Grygla younger set were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bush accompanied by Mrs. Cora Bush drove to Warroad for a visit.—Gordon Bush attending high school at Warren spent a few days at home visiting with the folks. —Mrs Anna Brown, preceding her departure to Thief River Falls for the winter, entertained a few ladies at her home last Thursday. —Mrs. George Schneider from North Dakota is visiting a few days at the J. E. Maney home. —Lawrence Hesse and family this past week moved from the John Eggen farm to the Old Hesse farm, where Lawrence and his brother Adelbert will continue to operate. —Harry E. Farmer departed Monday for New York, his annual custom, where he goes to continue his work as stereotyper for the New York American newspaper. —John Stenen and family moved down from Canada unto the Carl G. Olson farm where they will continue to reside and be residents of this community. Welcome to our midst.

The village council has entered into contract for the purchase of a diesel engine and generator and this week are starting the erection of suitable quarters to house the plant. As soon as material can be rushed work will start on the lines, etc and possibly by Christmas the lights will shine from Grygla's Municipal Light plant.

A spirited school meeting is looked for on the evening of the 21st, when a vote will be taken to ascertain whether or not the local school board should accept the WPA grant also with regard to a new location. Considerable sentiment is heard on both sides and the big question seems to be shall Grygla have a high school and can the taxpayers afford it?

36 Counties Sign to Administer Own Relief Problems Under SERA

More than 50 per cent of the SERA participating counties already have adopted the decentralized plan of direct relief supervision, and similar action is expected to be taken in most of the remaining counties within the next few weeks, it was announced by L. P. Zimmerman, administrator this week.

This new plan provides for the establishment of county welfare boards composed of two members from the board of county commissioners, two from the child welfare board and the fifth, sixth or seventh to be selected by the original four. These welfare boards have the responsibility and supervision of handling all relief cases in their counties.

"This plan was devised to give the counties a more direct vote in determining their relief policies," Mr. Zimmerman said. "It has been received virtually unanimously in every county where it has been brought up. A majority of the remaining 30 of the 66 SERA participating counties are expected to take favorable action on the question as soon as brought before them officially."

PRESTON FIRE LADDIES BAG 56 SQUIRRELS IN CONTEST

Preston.—The fire "laddies" at Preston are experts in something besides training a hose nozzle at a flaming building. Divided in two teams of four men each, the firemen bagged 56 squirrels last week in the department's annual hunting contest. Each of the eight marksmen succeeded in bagging his legal limit of seven "balcony racers" in the department's time limit of four and one-half hours, but the team captained by Herman Drier won the contest by shooting the most squirrels in the head. As a result, Ervin Harm, captain, and the three other members of his team had the pleasure of doing the skinning and cleaning when all 56 of the squirrels were served up at the brigade's monthly meeting.

TURKEYS GO FOR TRAIN RIDE; HECK WITH MARKET

Blue Earth.—It was a sad day for Ray Schied of Delavan, turkey raiser deluxe, but it was a great day for the birds as they merrily rode out of Delavan perched on the roof of box cars and the caboose of a local freight. Schied was preparing 1,200 turkeys for the market. He lives a short distance from the railroad track, and somehow word must have reached the "bookkeeper" for low and behold, when the train pulled out, there on top of the caboose were perched 60 of Schied's finest turkeys. Ahead of the caboose on the top of numerous box cars were scores of the Thanksgiving fowl. If all the train crew don't have turkeys for the 28th, it will be their own fault. And—turkeys are only around 25 cents per pound!

SIX YEARS NEARER THE END

Six years have passed since this country took a nose dive into the depression. Those who took an optimistic view of things said it wouldn't last long—just a little flurry—a few months and things would be booming along again with business brisker than ever. Pessimists predicted we were in for a long siege of hard times—some of them thought it might even last three or four years. Cranks, of course, recognized it as the end of everything.

Six years have passed and about the only thing these six years have proven is that no one knew six years ago what was ahead of us. These six years have been a great deal more trying than hopeful people expected they would be. And they have been a great deal less trying than the more gloomy feared they would be.

Somehow we have muddled through these six years without any very serious consequences. Twenty, thirty years from now, this period probably will be looked back upon as one of the most interesting periods those living have experienced. By that time the many problems that now worry us will have been solved—or at any rate disposed of.

From the standpoint of the present, the one comforting thing is that we are now six years nearer the solution, or disposition, of those problems. The bottom of the depression has evidently been passed and we are now definitely on the way out. We may be plunged back into the depths again by human folly but as natural forces are permitted to function our recovery should be rapid.

And that certainly is a comforting thought for this season of Thanksgiving. The depression is six years old. Which means that we are six years nearer to the end of it than we were when we sat down to our Thanksgiving dinners back in 1929.

ANOTHER "DIPLOMATIC ACHIEVEMENT"

As was to be expected, American agricultural and forest products will bear practically the entire burden of the tariff concessions granted to Canada by the recent trade treaty, the terms of which, adopted in secret sessions, were announced Monday. In exchange for these concessions American manufacturers derive the principal benefits of the treaty.

In announcing the terms of the treaty, administration officials state American agriculture will at least break even on the trade. They point to concessions made by Canada on such agricultural products as fruits and fresh vegetables and cotton as offsetting the lower rates on Canadian farm products. These benefits, however, will go chiefly to southern farmers, and farmers of this territory will pay the bill.

Without any compensating advantages to be hoped for from the treaty, this community will be adversely affected by the following rate reductions on Canadian imports:

Cattle reduced from 3c to 2c a lb.
Dairy cows reduced from 3c to 1½c a lb. (20,000 head annual limit).
Cream reduced from 56½c to 35c a gal. (1½ million gallons annual limit).
Live poultry reduced from 8c to 4c a lb.
Dressed poultry reduced from 10c to 6c a lb.
Rate on alfalfa, alsike, sweet clover and timothy seed reduced one half.
Seed potatoes reduced from 75c per cwt. to 45c per cwt. (750,000 bu. limit).
Hay reduced from $5 to $3 a ton.

Minnesota has fared rather badly in the reciprocal trade treaties that have been completed to date. For instance Minnesota sugar beet growers have been forced to curb their production in order that Cuban cane growers might sell us more sugar. One Minnesota match factory has closed its doors as a result of concessions made to Russian and Swedish match manufacturers. Minnesota's great iron ore industry will suffer from reduced rates on low grade iron and steel. And now, through the treaty with Canada, Minnesota farmers will have increased competition in the American market on an important list of Minnesota farm products.

It may take some time before the effects of this policy are generally noticeable. Three years of drouth and short crops have reduced surpluses and at the present time the American market is fairly clean with a natural tendency toward higher prices. And on an advancing market the effect of increased imports will not be so apparent. But increased imports most certainly will retard an advancing market and demoralize a weak one. A national policy that forces American farmers to produce less and at the same time encourages the importation of farm products from other countries certainly is not in the interests of American agriculture.

Announcement is made by the Great Lakes-Tidewater association that it will continue its activities in the interests of a Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway. If the government had made this as a relief project, and used only the money it has wasted in other ways, then this waterway would have been pretty well along toward completion by this time. The St. Lawrence waterway, however, was too practical a thing to appeal to the theorists in Washington. They preferred to exercise their fancies in the fields of more abstract speculation.

Next year American potato growers will be forced to drastically reduce their acreage. Our wise statesmen at Washington, however, will encourage potato growers of Canada to increase production, offering them a substantial reduction in the tariff on 750,000 bushels of seed potatoes. Minnesota farmers would be glad to plant the additional ten thousand acres that will be required to produce this amount of seed.

Italy, now carrying on quite an expensive war down in Africa, still owes our country in the neighborhood of two billion dollars. Which reminds us that nothing much has been said about these foreign debts in recent years. But maybe they have already been "written off" in a secret treaty.

Persistant advance sale ticket sellers have not permitted us to forget there is a class play scheduled for the auditorium Friday evening.

THE CORNER HYDRANT
(Roy L. Smith)

A crew of firemen were flushing out the water mains, and a huge stream was pouring from the hydrant at the corner and running down the gutter to the sewer a block away. The water which gushed from the hydrant was clear and clean, but that which poured into the sewer was foul and dark. It could not pass through the gutter without becoming like the gutter itself.

It is one of the fatal fallacies of modern youth that it seems to think it can live through gutter experiences and come through clean. But neither life nor water can run in a gutter without becoming gutterish.

To expose one's self to physical contagion, deliberately and carelessly, would mark a man as one of the chiefest of fools, but to expose one's self to moral contamination is called "adventure" and "thrilling."

The human mind is a marvelous vault into which we thrust all the sights and scenes through which we pass. Psychologists assert that nothing is ever forgotten—the good and the bad, the beautiful and the ugly, the evil and the glorious are all hoarded for old age, against the time when we shall live upon memories' stores. If these stores be foul, then life must be foul. If old age is to be beautiful, memory must be beautiful.

We are hearing much these days about the unhappy fate of those great American cities which have fallen under the government of the underworld, but are they more to be pitied than that person who has come under the [illegible] power of the underworld of the mind? Would anything be more pathetic than to be compelled to live all of one's life in company with the memory of one's worst?

A mind that has been filled with filth can bring forth only filth. The cleanest and holiest may be poured in, but the filth of the evil soul will contaminate the good and pour it forth, a torrid stream of revolting shame.

God gives us each day, clean and new, but how it shall end depends upon us—upon the choices of our own heart, the beauty or the evil of our own soul. We may fill it with good deeds or evil, shameful memories, [illegible] hope or fear.

He who steeps himself in the mire of lust, scenes of shame, or psalms of passion, cannot hope that there will work some miracle by which memory shall be cleansed. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Let youth, then, shun the lewd and low as he would the painful and infectious. Let him guard the sweetness of his soul as he does the strength of his body. Let him walk in the ways of cleanness as a stream that seeks the clean way, that his spirit may be clear and his mind free from corruption.

TWO DAYS TO THE GOVERNMENT
(Forbes Magazine)

Already government is absorbing $1 out of every $7 of America's income. This means that you and I, the people of this country, have to work between two and two and one-half days every week solely to support government and taxeaters. And still heavier levies, especially by the federal government, confront us. Before long, judging by federal expenditures and mounting debts, we may have to toil three days a week to keep taxeaters going. History reveals that powerful nations have been [illegible] ruined by mounting tax burdens. No nation ever spent so much money as America is spending today to maintain its federal and local governments. How much further can we go in debt, how much further can we go in governmental expenditures, without inviting ruinous hardships?

EASY TO BECOME PARASITIC
(Murray County Herald)

A wise Canadian statesman, in talking about the Aberhart system to give every citizen in Alberta a bounty of $25 a month, summed up the situation thus: "If the plan works, nobody else will." There is some truth in this epigram, and it applies in the case of most cure-all panaceas. We must not too quickly or too severely condemn those who in the midst of misfortune hail every new Moses with enthusiasm. They are aware of but one thing—their own misery, and the prospect of the prosperity that is promised them so arouses their personal interest that they will not stop to discuss the probability or the possibility of the coming of the new Eden that dreamers offer them. This does not change the fact that most such schemes are foredoomed to failure, and [illegible] but raise false hopes on the [illegible] agitators. It is no reflection on our imperfect human nature to say that many people are always perfectly willing to accept prosperity at the cost of some other person's effort. Wherever the dole system has prevailed, no matter how much good it has done, it has created a class of citizens who are entirely agreeable to be supported without any labor on their own part, without any contribution to the common good. We hear a lot about the "chiselers," and God knows there are plenty of them, parasites who inherit wealth and do nothing but spend it. But we average persons have something of the same failing, the desire to get by with as little hard work as possible. But no enduring civilization or happiness can be built on a system which [illegible] the benefits of good living without rendering his full personal effort to [illegible].—Murray County Herald.

'Streamlined' Turkeys Are Now Sought for the Holiday Markets

Along with the new cars, streamlined turkeys are the vogue for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners and when developed, will be a best seller." This the U. S. department of agriculture has learned and has put its scientists to work developing a bird in the "moderne" to fit new roasters and family needs.

At the Beltsville, Md., research center, departmental experts are experimenting with varieties of birds with short legs, broad backs and plump bodies in an effort to develop strains with smaller bodies. Well-finished young turkey toms now weigh about 14 to 21 pounds dressed and young hens from 8 to 12 pounds.

But the preference is for a smaller bird, but one that is fully developed and the choice is a fully grown hen weighing from 12 to 15 pounds. When in the old days turkeys weighing 24 and 26 pounds were the rage, nowadays such a monster will not fit ovens and pans in modern homes. And besides, with smaller families and passing of large gatherings, such big turkeys provide too much cold turkey, soup, warmed over meals and hash.

Not only are experts trying to meet need for smaller birds, but they are trying to take the kinks out. Crooked or dented breast bones bring less on the market for turkeys than those with strong and straight bones. The department of agriculture recently found that this is often caused by improper roosting.

Roosting boards, four inches wide and two inches deep, with beveled edges and flat sides, tilted down in front at about the angle of a quarter pitched roof, are recommended. Tilting at such an angle prevents the turkey from resting full weight of its body on front edge of the roost, it is explained.

Chauffeurs' Licenses Required to be Renewed This Month, Holm Says

Mike Holm, secretary of state, calls attention of all chauffeurs to a change in the law made by the last legislature which became effective this year. Now, as before, chauffeurs licenses may be renewed during the month of November for a fee of $1.00 and without examination. The new law extends the time for renewal without examination for 30 days, but if application is not made before the first of December an additional charge of $1.00 as penalty must be paid.

"We have absolutely no authority to waive the penalty," said Mr. Holm, "so we urge that chauffeurs mail or send in their applications for renewal during the month of November and thereby avoid the doubling of the fee."

Application blanks for renewal were sent to all licensed chauffeurs before November 1. Many were returned because the licensees evidently had moved to a new address without reporting to the department. Any chauffeur who has not received his application blank should write immediately to Mike Holm, secretary of state, Saint Paul, and the required blank will be supplied.

NEW TRAFFIC CODE FOR STATE URGED BY SAFETY GROUPS

Changes in Motor Vehicle Laws to be Asked of Legislature

A new state traffic code designed to simplify present traffic laws, remove obsolete regulations, add new ones and speed up prosecutions has been prepared for submission to the legislature when it meets in special session in December.

The new code, backed by automobile clubs, safety organizations, the railroad and warehouse commission and the state highway department, embraces findings of state and national safety conferences. Copies are being printed by the Highway department and will be distributed to all state senators and representatives prior to the session, as well as to other interested groups.

Designed to replace the present traffic code, adopted principally in 1927 the new act would eliminate many features outgrown by modern traffic conditions both of rural highways and city streets. If it becomes law the code will automatically force all city ordinances to conform in a large measure. Sharp changes, designed better to protect the motorist and the pedestrian, have been made. Some of them are:

Traffic signs, including stop-go signals, would gradually be made uniform throughout the state.

A new charge, "negligent homicide", would be created to apply where the operation of a motor vehicle "in reckless disregard of the safety of others" results in the death of any person within one year. This charge would be a gross misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for up to one year [illegible].

Drunken drivers, [illegible]

It would require a tail light on the rear of all vehicles in addition to the regular tail light.

It would require proper control of headlights on meeting other vehicles, such as dimming or lowering of beams.

Any driver involved in an accident causing death, injury or $50 property damage would be required to report to the commissioner of highways, whether the accident was in a city or on the rural highways.

Pedestrians on highways would be required to face traffic, walking on the left side of the road, and at night to wear clothing of a visible color or carry a light.

Organizations backing the new bill include Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth Automobile clubs, the Minnesota League of Municipalities, State Safety Council, Minnesota Public Safety committee, trucking and transport organizations and the National Safety council. It has been endorsed generally by automobile clubs throughout the state. W. F. Rosenwald, chief maintenance engineer of the State highway department, is chairman of the committee which drafted the revised code. The committee was formed at the invitation of the League of Municipalities.

Unusual Prevalence of Scarlet Fever Is Seen by Minnesota Doctors

An unusual amount of scarlet fever has been noted in many parts of Minnesota this fall. The number of cases is not great enough, so far, to cause alarm, according to today's bulletin on the subject from the Public Health Education committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

So far, also, the cases have been generally mild. Parents and teachers should be on the alert, however, because scarlet fever, like many of the other infectious diseases of childhood, usually begins with the symptoms of a head cold, sore throat, running nose, headache. Also, even mild cases [illegible]

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 18, 1935 (U.S.D.A.):—In spite of the lateness of the range cattle marketing season, a sizable supply of 175 cars of Montana and Dakota range cattle was included at this week's opening. Lower grades predominated and trade was generally slow. Plain warmed-up and grassy butcher steers turned at $5.00-6.50, short-feds $7.00-8.00. Medium butcher heifers made $5.50-6.50, plainer kinds down to $4.00. Common to medium beef cows brought $4.00-4.75, a few good cows $5.25, cutter grades $3.00-4.00, sausage bulls $4.25-4.75, a few up to $5.15. Stockers and feeders were steady to 25c lower, good stock calves selling up to $7.40, choice 830 lb. feeders $7.50, most stockers and feeders $6.50 down. Vealers were steady, spots lower, medium to choice grades $7.00-9.00, cull and common $3.50-6.50.

Hogs were mostly steady, better 170-270 lb. $9.10-9.15, top $9.25 sparingly for choice 140-240 lb. Good and choice 270-350 lb. earned $8.75-9.15, 140-170 lb. $9.00-9.25, slaughter pigs $9.00-9.60, bulk good sows $8.35.

Slaughter lambs were steady, sheep and feeders strong. Bulk good to choice lambs sold at $10.00, a few loads $10.25, common and medium $7.50-9.00. A deck of 94 lb. range yearling wethers made $8.00, a deck of 98 lb. range yearling ewes $7.40. Bulk slaughter ewes brought $4.00-4.75, a few $5.00. Native and Dakota feeding lambs earned $7.50-8.50, white-faced rangers $8.75-9.25.

WIRE FROM INDIA ARRIVES AHEAD OF SENDING TIME

Cokato.—A cablegram for Cokato relatives from Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Eklund in Bombay, India, reached Cokato before it was sent from the Far East, according to the calendar and the clock. Such are the workings of the arrangements of international time, for it's noon in India when it's midnight in Cokato. Dated at Bombay October 28, noon, the message arrived in Cokato early in the morning of October 28. What is more important to Cokato friends and relatives of the Eklunds, however, is that the wire conveyed a message announcing the birth of an eight-pound boy to Dr. and Mrs. Eklund. Dr. Eklund, native of Cokato, and now practicing dentistry in the native country of Ghandi, is a brother of Clark Eklund and Mrs. A. E. Peterson of Cokato.

Third Party Is Needed, Governor Olson States in New York Address

Governor Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota declared Friday night in New York City, that a third party, founded on the economy of abundance and production for use, was the nation's solution for a crisis developed by "decadent capitalism".

Governor Olson, a leading third party figure and candidate for the United States senate from Minnesota on the Farmer-Labor ticket, made his first important appearance in the east as a third party advocate from the platform before a meeting sponsored by the Commonwealth Federation of New York.

"We can expect only reaction from one of the old political parties," he said, "and sincere but ineffectual reform from the other.

STATE CONSERVATION GROUP THREATENS TO END MUD LAKE ACTION

"The federal government is willing to pay only a reasonable price and certainly we are not going to go into a star chamber session with these attorneys and permit them to obtain prices just so they can get their fees," said Commissioner Willard.

Conservation officials said that undoubtedly a large number of attorneys in northern Minnesota have the mistaken belief that the original federal plan for acquistion of 110,000 acres would carried out. They emphasized that the federal government will pay only a reasonable price for the land and that the bulk of the allotment would be used for construction work.

"The Mud Lake sanctuary project should be carried through," Attorney F. W. Murphy said. "It will be a splendid thing for the state and the land is ideally suited for that purpose. I am confident we can reach some compromise and settlement in the matter."

In his letter to Commissioner E. V. Willard, Mr. Evans, after recounting the history of the development of the Mud lake area, says in part:

Last year wonderful crops of barley and rye were raised on such burn-outs, 85 bu. of barley to the acre, for instance. Last fall saw a steady stream of trucks hauling out hay and grain and seeds from this area east of Middle River and Holt. Check it up here with the railroads, truckmen, or anybody. Even this year 14,000 bu. of grain were marketed by the Dahl boys, east of Holt, in the area that you are told is abandoned and worthless except for ducks, geese, mosquitoes and deer flies. There are 63 patrons of the Holt Coop. Creamery who live in the area and who are the heavier patrons of course. I have been secretary of our creamery here since 1916 and I have seen our butter production rise from 60,000 lbs. to 350,000 lbs. per annum and our best producing area is east and southeast of Middle River. Check my records and I will gladly prove this to you. Why, give this country ten years more burning and packing by cattle and sheep and you would say we had a garden spot under the sun.

No doubt this area could be made again into a splendid migratory fowl nesting and breeding grounds; but you cannot do that without restoring unhealthy conditions, a pestilence of mosquitoes and deer flies that will make our lives pitiable and will damn our dairy industry, cut off some of our most fruitful territory producing grass seeds, hay, pasture, butterfat, wool, cattle, sheep, and grain even. The judge and county board, in every case where these drainage systems were originally approved, truly judged that the public health and welfare required the drainage of this great area of marshy lands. That is still true unless our people and stock are to be driven away like Lot and his wife from Gomorrah; so that the mighty hunters of the Isaac Walton League might visit the section in the fall when the insect pests have taken winter quarters.

No doubt the delinquent and current taxes can be collected in large measure from the awards and then there would be no further taxes from this area and the larger area that would suffer from the pestilence of mosquitos and deer flies. No doubt there are attorneys, engineers and contractors that will be rehabilitated by this proceeding as they were during the drainage proceedings. But the act states in the title that it is for the rehabilitation of the people in the area and most of these will leave without much more than a rebillious heart and a chance to get in relief lines or take on another load of interest. And this, Mr. Willard, is being done in the face of large importations of farm produce to bolster international trade and finance, development of vast irrigation projects in the west, hunger and semi-starvation among the impoverished of America. Where is the balanced production of the New Deal? Is there not plenty of wilderness left in America for wild life? Would the mighty hunters before the Lord who live at a safe distance from this area permit the restoration of the Beltrami swamp south of Crookston, the old swamp west of Argyle? There is a vast area east of Crookston that we can suggest ought to be returned to the buffalo, the deer, moose and elk, to provide big sport for big men. We will not stop them from having it if they wish; but we will not ask for it either. We believe that there is no security, no prosperity, no hope in such reactionary measures and it is hard to unscramble eggs.

"Dynamite the bed of Thief River up a few miles to insure adequate drainage, let the burning go on and open up these areas again to actual farmers and the area will prove itself worthy of such redemption. No use going to Alaska to find good land. You are likely acting in the best of faith; but we believe you have been misled and should visit our towns and get the real low-down on this country. Go to our creameries, go to our elevators, to our business places and to our real farmers here, investigate relief rolls, etc. Then you will get a correct picture of present conditions and you too will dream other dreams.

DUNN SEES NEED FOR $8,000,000 STATE SALES TAX

House Majority Leader Recommends No Action at Special Session

A sales tax to raise $8,000,000 annually was seen as almost inevitable by Roy E. Dunn of Pelican Rapids, majority floor leader of the state house of representatives in an address in Fergus Falls Monday evening.

"People throughtout the state," Dunn said, "must realize that the social security legislation is going to be tremendous financial responsibility and that, generally speaking, there is going to be no reduction in the tax load but an increase instead."

He emphasized that the increase should not be placed on property.

Dunn, speaking at a republican rally, recommended, however, that tax matters be ignored during the special session this winter. He also urged provision of payment for legislators during special sessions.

Pointing out that the federal government was ending its relief program for unemployables and that money would have to be provided for the social security program, Dunn went on to predict adoption of a constitutional amendment in 1936 eliminating the state levy on property.

In that case, he said, "the 1937 session of the legislature will have to create new revenues to take the place of this reduction on real estate. This amounts to about $18,000,000."

30,000 Acres of Land Disposed of by State

The State of Minnesota, during the past fall months, held land sales in twenty odd counties of northern Minnesota. These sales were well attended, and approximately 30,000 acres of land were sold. At these sales the real estate speculator was conspicuously absent, according to F. A. Wildes, Director of the Division of Lands and Minerals. This indicates, Mr. Wildes said, that the people of northern Minnesota still have confidence in that portion of the state. Inquiries for state land come in frequently from the drouth stricken areas of the west and southwest.

Gov. Olson Definitely in U. S. Senate Race

The nation's only farmer-labor governor, Floyd B. Olson, of Minnesota Monday had projected himself into the 1936 race for United States senator for the seat now held by Thomas D. Schall, republican. Gov. Olson formally announced himself as a farmer-labor candidate while in Washington seeking relief funds for the state. That one of the issues in the campaign next year would be stricter regulations of public utilities was seen in Gov. Olson's statement "I am for regulating the power trusts and Senator Schall is against it."

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION FROM GOV. OLSON

Urges Patriotic Observance of Thanksgiving Day November 28

Declaring it was fitting that the nation should be reminded of its patriotic heritage on Thanksgiving day, Governor Flody B. Olson, in a proclamation Saturday, urged patriotic observance of the day, November 28.

"The Pilgrim Fathers of Plymouth inaugurated a day of thanksgiving to God," the governor said. "Since 1850, Thanksgiving day has been proclaimed and observed annually in Minnesota.

"Nature has blessed Minnesota with a wonderful abundance and we are grateful this year, as we have been in every other year since Minnesota become a state, for its abundance of natural beauty and its resources of soil, mines and forests.

"While we are thankful for the natural advantages and for the great abundance which nature has bestowed upon us, we cannot ignore the want and suffering that exists. We are thankful, however, for the fact that there is genuine and sincere concern for those in distress."

The proclamation asked that flags be displayed on all public buildings and as many other places as possible.

It's easy to detect when a war fever has gripped the world. The sound accompaniment to the news reels is 100 per cent in march time.—Detroit. News.

GOVERNOR OLSON'S HOG MAY BE SHOWN AT WINTER SHOWS

Congressman R. T. Buckler of Crookston Makes Request

If present plans materialize, Governor Floyd B. Olson's prize Iowa hog will be exhibited at the Red River Valley Winter Shows during the week of February 3 to 7. According to Governor Clyde Herring of Iowa, who lost the pig on a friendly wager over the outcome of the recent Minnesota-Iowa Football game, the hog "Floyd of Rosedale" is a blue blood of the highest order.

Congressman R. T. Buckler, Crookston, wired Governor Olson, suggesting that he exhibit his prize Iowa porker at the forthcoming Valley shows where he would meet the best hogs produced in the Red River Valley. Congressman Buckler stated that the valley had a double interest in the pig as the victory was made possible in part due to the performance of Ed. Widseth, nationally known Minnesota tackle, who received his undergraduate training in football as fullback on the Northwest School of Agriculture football team.

Governor Olson approved Congressman Buckler's suggestion and replied that though the pig would be awarded to the winner of an essay contest on December 15, he would urge the winner to exhibit the hog at the Winter Shows. Much interest has been aroused over the friendly rivalry between Iowa and Minnesota, and stockmen of the Red River Valley will look forward to pitting their prize hogs against the Iowa blue blood.

Propagation of Grouse and Quail Is Scheduled in Southern Minnesota

A new impetus will be given Minnesota's bob-white quail population and scientific research will be used by the division of game and fish to bring back native grouse numbers in the state, according to A. C. Hanson, division director.

The Minnesota conservation commission has set aside the sum of $10,000 to be used to propagate quail. An effort will be made to include experimental work with the three grouse species popular in Minnesota, namely the pinnated grouse or prairie chicken, the ruffed grouse or native partridge, and the sharp-tailed or white-breasted grouse.

It is planned to carry on this new work with quail and grouse at the Carlos Avery Game refuge in Anoka and Chisago counties. W P A approval has been obtained for the construction of necessary buildings and plans are now being drawn so that construction can be started as early as possible. No figure for the total investment is yet available, Director Hanson said. The state will supply materials and labor will be paid for out of federal monies.

HUNTER GETS "BOTH BARRELS" FROM QUARRY

Morton.—The story has not yet been told of the visiting pheasant hunter who was shot at Morton during the first open season this fall. A young man from Stillwater was hunting with his companions in the Farenbaugh slough and when he saw suspicious movements in the grass ahead of him he decided to run down what he believed to be Mr. or Mrs. Pheasant. Too late he discovered that it wasn't a pheasant at all, but just a badly frightened pole cat, commonly known as a skunk. In his hurry to get away, Mr. Hunter backed up with all possible speed. His heels caught in the long marsh grass and before he could escape the skunk let him have both barrels. The charge caught him squarely in the eye and ended his hunting for that day.

Soo Line to Kenmare

Festivities in Thief River Falls recently directed attention to the affairs and services of the Soo Line. The writer has before him an article on the building of the Soo extension from Thief River Falls to Kenmare, N. D. 30 years ago. The article was written by C. A. Campbell, townsite and industrial agent of the company at that time. The text follows:

"A map of the United States is one of the most interesting and valuable studies that is to be found. When you lay it before you it presents the field upon which is being enacted the leading drama of the world. Engaged in the development of this country is the most practical, energetic and successful face of people on earth, sustaining the most perfect civilization the world has ever witnessed. Many important factors have contributed to this condition. The principal ones are, however, good land and a healthful climate.

"Both are essential and conducive to agriculture, and agriculture is, and probably always will be, our most valuable resource. That vast territory, opening like a fan from Chicago, represents in the production of cereals the commissary of the world, and the products of the farms in this district amount to hundreds of millions of dollars annually. The development of this empire began in the central Mississippi valley and has extended with the increase in our population until the international boundary line between the United States and Canada is today almost an unbroken line of improved farms. The furrow made by the plow of the Canadian is filled by the plow of his neighbor in the States.

"Along this boundary line, outside of any railroad grant, was an immense area of the finest agricultural land in the country which, until only recently, was almost wholly unoccupied. Within the last few years this fertile land has been much in demand, and the heavy movement of immigration to this country has practically resulted in a farmer on each quarter section, all adding to the grand total of our products and wealth. The development of the rich farming country lying along the northern boundary of North Dakota and the consequent increase in business arising therefrom has promoted some rapid and extensive railroad building."

The writer directs attention to the informative value of these paragraphs, especially for school children. With the following paragraphs and a background of the earliest railroads in this area that were the immediate predecessors of the Great Northern system sketched in, children should readily become oriented with the agricultural and general development situation in the earlier years. The rest of the article follows:

"The Great Northern has guarded with jealous care the rapidly multiplying business from that territory. Recently the Soo Line, attracted by the heavy volume of traffic originating in that district and the business prosperity existing there, decided to build into this richest and most productive grain belt. Commencing at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the Winnipeg Line, the Soo Line built westward to Kenmare on their main line, about 300 miles.

"An idea of the value and productiveness of this country can be formed when it is observed from the map that scarcely any portion of the United States is so well covered by railroads, not excepting the old and settled states of the east. Crops have proven good and sure, land values have increased very rapidly. The towns are prosperous, the people healthy, thrifty and contented, and in no other country can one find more inducements and encouragement for the establishment of various lines of business than in the wide-awake commercial centers of this comparatively new but thoroughly tested country.

"The Soo Line was laid out after a careful study of the country and covers the cream of the state. At the stations along its line will be found many attractive openings for business and professional men, as well as inducements for manufacturers. Every reasonable encouragement and assistance will be afforded those who have become interested in business along the line. No pains or expense will be spared to give those who engage in business along the Soo Line ample and satisfactory service."

The last paragraph may seem a bit too urgent and "propagandic", but we present it to show how the Soo Line aided in the development of the territory. This influence probably was not as evident at the time as it is now when studied from the perspective of 1935. Certainly there were energy and spirit behind the Soo project and some of this enthusiasm must have been imparted to the settlers who came into the area involved.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

"SEVEN CHANCES" TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY, NOV. 22

Junior Class to Present Farce in Three Acts at Auditorium

"Seven Chances", a farce in three acts, will be presented by the junior class of Lincoln High School at the Municipal Auditorium on Friday, at eight fifteen in the evening.

This is a rousing comedy in which Jimmie Shannon is to get the twelve million dollars left by his grandfather—provided "he is married by the time he reaches his thirtieth birthday. He received news of the old man's death just one day before the end of the fatal term! Jimmie doesn't care much about marriage and isn't particularly handsome. "I'm not engaged," he says, "and I'm not in love—and I don't know a girl in the world well enough to even hook her up the back—and I've got to be married by midnight tomorrow."

But Jimmie has a chance—in fact he has seven, and it is with these that the rest of the play is concerned.

Robert Wessling plays the role of Jimmie with Brunell Erickson as the feminine lead. They are supported by a cast including the following: Archie Monson, Alfred Nelson, James Peterson, Donald Olson, Clifford Veven, Milton Nesse, Marjorie Matheson, Vivian Havel, Margaret Munt, Madeline Gunderson, Helen Anderson, Alyce Protz, and Mary Margaret Cosgrove.

Those supporting the cast include the following: Barbara Reep and Vernon Wedul, advertising; Marion Green and Gordon Neset, properties; Herbert Schroeder and Bruce Prichard, stage managers; Dayton Silk, Lighting; Marion Dillon and Ariel Reidy, make up and costumes; and Solveig Fjelstad, prompter.

Miss Greenland and Miss Helquist, the junior class advisors, and Elizabeth Dahlen representing the junior class are in charge of the tickets.

The success of the production is due wholly to Miss Olson, who has spent tireless hours coaching the players.

AMONG THE 400

Last week before the masquerade, a regular "big drive" was made to collect class dues among the upper classmen. The more money contributed to the various class treasuries, the more interesting the 1936 "prowler" will be. Every penny counts.

The freshmen class seemed to have some trouble in electing a new class treasurer (vacated by Richard Korstad) last wek. The first meeting, Nov. 11, resulted in a tie vote for Joyce Olson and Ralph Gustafson. The results of the next class meeting, Nov. 13, were different. This time when the votes were counted, it was discovered that Ralph Gustafson had defeated his opponent.

Before the masquerade, especially Friday, all of the junior and senior girls were asking the boys, "Are you going to the masquerade?" Strange, the girls popped the question this time.

The first order for senior class rings has now been received. Some seniors are already displaying them.

The seventh and eighth graders have completed their drawing section, and now they are going to start on woodwork.

Cold Drink

"I hears about a man," said Uncle Eben, "who' says he knows how to end poverty. All I'm afraid of is dat he'll git a lot of us thinkin' he is showin' us some new get-rich quick scheme."

JUNIOR-SENIOR MASQUERADE HELD LAST FRIDAY

Peggy Paupst and Ralph Nelson Win Prizes for Best Costumes

An average-sized crowd gathered at the Sons of Norway Hall Friday evening for the annual Junior-Senior masquerade. The music was furnished by Gill Jensen and his orchestra of Grand Forks.

A number of good looking costumes were displayed. The Indian maiden (Mrs. Korstad) typical in her complete Indian costume, attracted a great deal of attention and kept everyone guessing. The coupel dressed as the little akward country boy and girl (Miss Helquist and Miss Dahlen, respectively), were very attractive and created a lot of fun. There were a number of pirate, gypsy, and colonial costumes.

Peggy Paupst, dressed as a Spanish Senorita, was chosen the most beautiful girl on the floor. She wore an ankle-length red skirt, white blouse and black sash, a veil, high comb, and a red rose in her hair. Ralph Nelson, representing an English gentleman, was given the prize for the boys. He wore a dress suit, silk hat, and a monicle. The judges were Mrs. Pope, Mr. Bye and Mr. Skarstad. Mr. and Mrs. Bye, Mr. and Mrs. Claffy, and members of the school board acted as chaperons.

BALLY-WHO

Seems as though some of the faculty members don't like the informal suggestions in this column. "Big Ole" the physics answers yet.

Well, "Cat Killer Nels got the box of candy at the party, but he didn't have much left when he got home.

What's wrong with the girls in this school? Of all things, "Mick", the great athlete, Romeo, and the one and only-Lochinvar—is still loose.

Chalmers should teach English with his "very most likely."

What's a fossil girl?—the kind that gets taken out.

Wanted—more Hendersons by the physics class.

Mrs. Korstad surely fooled all you bright students with her Indian costume at the masquerade.

The modern version of a sleeping beauty—Geo. Buck.

Mr. Montague sounded sort of skeptical when Art said that rouge and lipstick were all right when in the proper place.

Something ought to be done about it—freshmen going to public dances.

"SEVEN CHANCES"

The junior class is presenting its annual class play tomorrow evening. For weeks the cast, under the supervision of Miss Olson, has been working with the parts and finally are ready to give their version of the comedy "Seven Chances".

There is no reason, good or bad, to bring up school spirit as a motive for seeing this performance. We believe that going to a school activity for the sake of "school spirit" is the wrong mental attitude. It is our contention that every extra-curricular doing should be given a fair chance, and, having a fair chance, it does not prove its worth, it should be dropped.

A high school dramatic presentation has always received well-deserved acclaim by the students here. Tomorrow night will see another smashing success in Lincoln High theatricals. Have you ever been disappointed in a class play? No! And we are equally certain that the class of '37 has an "ace in the hole" in "Seven Chances."

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

And the juniors and seniors are still talking about the masquerade. Those seniors certainly got a swell orchestra!

Wasn't Peggy Paupst's Spanish outfit the cutest you've ever seen?

Ralph N's was keen too. How do you suppose he kept the monocle in place? They certainly made a cute couple.

Brunell's and Marion D's kid costumes were also highlights of the masquerade.

Plenty of pirates, and did you ever see so many gypsies?

And, as Mr. Bye said, Mr. Lanning certainly deserved the prize for the best ventilated costume.

Swell attendance, too, But what's the matter with the junior boys?

And was Ariel Reidy stumped when selling a ticket to the Junior Class Play. A little freshman said, "Mother won't let me go uptown at night." Getting better every day, these freshmen.

Heard about town—One Martella R. seems to have captured one Roger W. literally out of Peg's arms.

It seems that Lovey C. is eagerly waiting seeing Pomeroy's brother at Thanksgiving vacation. Pleasant dreams!

And did Harold H. have a good time at the masquerade!

We wonder if Lois M. enjoyed dancing with James N. All except the whiskers, eh Lois?

After masquerade one Bob H. certainly has developed a great big crush on our senorita, Peggy P.

And one Ernest C., the juniors' great big man, attended a wedding party instead of the masquerade. Now Ernest! Why?

Mr. Montague gave some of our seniors a break. He's a good dancer, tho, isn't he, Audrey?

Since last Saturday June B. sincerely believes that "Love Makes the World Go Round."

ETIQUETTE

Since the Freshman-Sophomore party Yours Truly has been asked no less than a dozen times to open fire on it and criticize its every move. No offense to the freshmen, or rather, those who planned it, for they did well, but it would have been a bigger success if every one had cooperated and entered into the fun.

I am not, however, upholding the sophomores. Though most of them are older and should know better, many of them acted very childish at this affair.

In the first place, yelling and screaming at the top of one's voice when a teacher is trying to explain something is very, very rude. Imagine one hundred or more people yelling and screaming and still only one teacher trying to explain what was to be done and how to go about it. I don't think anyone would have cared to be the teacher right then.

Stamping when marching is another very offensive act. Even when asked to stop, the offenders continued more and more, making it sound altogether like a clumsy herd of stampeding oxen.

Someone (not mentioning any names) brought a liquor bottle full of beer and parked it outside the field door. This is beyond reproach. Nothing could possibly be more impolite, more rude than a thing like this.

In lining up for refreshments, rude persons pushed and pounded and crowded in where they were not wanted. If, in turn, some others had done it to these particular persons, they would have been very angry; but they were blind enough not to see the other fellow's side of the matter.

I hope that those who did these unmannerly things (and you yourselves know who you are) take these few points to heart and try to do better next time.

TWENTY REMAIN ON B. B. SQUAD

Candidates Work on Block, Pivots, and Fundamentals

As basketball practice enters the second week of practice, over two-thirds of the candidates have dropped, leaving the present squad at 20. Besides the lettermen Jung, Art Nelson and Capt. Mickleson the candidates are Prichard and A. Lorentson, seniors; Al Nelson, M. Nesse, Olson, and Adkins, juniors; Lee, C. Mickleson, C. Olesen, Quale, D. Lorentson, L. Nesse, Salveson, Wessling, and Larson, sophomores; and Stadum, freshman.

The squad has been working on passing and shooting warm-up drills. The first ten named above on passing and shooting warm-up drills. The first ten named above have also been working on blocks, pivots, and fundamental plays as well as participating in dummy scrimmages.

The entire squad was present at the rules interpretation meeting Tuesday. Some members helped to demonstrate some of the rules as well as staging a five minute scrimmage for demonstration purposes.

P. T. A. MEMBERS HOLD MEETING

A. M. Senstad Presides at Regular Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Thief River Falls Parent-Teacher's Association was held Monday evening, in the high school assembly. A. M. Senstad, president of the P. T. A., presided at the meeting.

Professor J. R. Schwendeman, of Moorhead State Teacher's College, who was to have been the principal speaker, did not appear due to a heavy snowstorm. Mrs. Gaston Ward, delegate to the State Convention of P. T. A. held in Detroit Lakes recently, presented an interesting talk on her experiences while there.

During the course of the evening musical selections were presented by the High School Quintette which is composed of a group of students including Eileen Hoffseth, Robert Douville, Jack Booren, James Hoffseth, and Adrian Lorentson.

When the meeting was concluded lunch was served.

IT'S GETTING US DOWN

With the astoundingly increased size of text books, the addition of a third story to the modern school building and the scattering of class rooms to the four winds, a new need has arisen in our schools, that of an elevator with a dumb-waiter attachment.

Surely the sight of some poor junior laboring up the stairs with the weight of an eight-ton "Literature & Life" book under one arm and the pages of a chemistry book responding to the insistent urges of gravity and slipping out one at every forward move, should wring pity from the most unresponsive soul.

Then, too, to observe some poor senior trying valiantly to reach the physics room from the English IV room in the required five minutes, gaining the last flight with a profound sigh of satisfaction only to be met with the austere countenance of a superior who most unpityingly commands, "Repeat the last two flights one step at a time, please—" would increase one's sympathy. But that is not the end; the said senior complys as quickly as possible reaching class one minute late, panting and unable to speak from sheer exhaustion to be met by these stern words, "Where is your permit for being late?"

Such trying conditions can be remedied only in one way. Three sets of elevators distributed throughout the building would relieve the latter handships somewhat and dumb-waiters bearing the name of rack struggler, the former.

FOUR DEER FIND "HOME SWEET HOME" BEST PLACE

Moorhead—"Home Sweet Home" apparently means as much to a deer as to a human being. The four deer recently liberated from the "bull pen" at the Moorhead zoo and driven north along the river to "freedom" and an opportunity to forage for themselves, refused to leave town. The day after they were released they returned to the park and have been hanging around ever since, hungry and forlorn. As a result they have created somewhat of a problem. Recent snows have covered the ground furnishing but little chance for animals to find enough to eat. Not only that says Nels N. Melvey, park commissioner, they were born in the zoo and have not learned how to shift for themselves. Park funds are low—the deer were released to save the expense of feeding them, but Melvey is considering asking for donations toward a fund to keep the animals until spring, when they would have a better chance of finding feed in their natural habitat.

25 N. W. SCHOOL STUDENTS RAISE THATCHER WHEAT

Produce 4,000 Bushels of Rust-Resisting Variety of Wheat

Over 4000 bushels of Thatcher wheat were produced in 1935 by Northwest School students who obtained pure seed of the new rust-resistant variety for one acre field plots during the past two seasons, according to an announcement made this week by E. R. Clark, station pure seed specialist. Eleven boys who invested two dollars each for their foundation seed in 1934 grew a total of 201 bushels as their first crop, an average of 27.3 bushels per acre. By using this seed for further increase they produced 3704 bushels on 128 acres in 1935. Tilford Strand, Twin Valley, obtained 23 bushels from his first one-acre plot and grew 15 acres in 1935. His field yielded 30 bushels per acre of a total of 450 bushels. Melvin Pearson, Hallock, threshed 35 bushels from his first plot and planted 20 acres in 1935. His field this season produced 420 acres.

Fourteen students obtained a total of 43 bushels of Thatcher wheat from the Northwest Station in 1935 and grew 29.5 acres which averaged 27 bushels per acre. These boys plan to use most of their crop for further increase in 1936.

Those who started last year have surplus seed for sale which should bring $500 to $600 to each student at prevailing prices. Several students have already disposed of their entire surplus at prices ranging from $1.50 a bushel for thresher-run wheat to $2.00 for recleaned seed.

Students who established pure seed plots during the past two years included the following: Burnett Bergeson and Tilford Strand, Twin Valley; Marvin Ecklund and Melvin Pearson, Hallock; Clinton Klementson, Ulen; Omer Neslund, Oslo; Lewellyn Larson, Argyle; Milford Nelson and Wilfred Wellbrock, Fergus Falls; Morris Dahl, Trail; LeRoy Peterson and Martin Hanson, Thief River Falls; Edward Norman, Crookston; Verne Dahlgren, Kennedy; Woodrow Evans, Fosston; Donald Gandrud, Callaway; Clarence Haugen, Marshall Morberg, and Marvel Soltvedt, Oslo; Truman Hemmestvedt and Leo Jensen, Goodridge; Yvonne Magnusson and Kermit Trangsrud, Dexby; Alfred Olson, Beltrami; and Harry Solberg, Erie.

Television Will be an Actuality Next Spring, "U" Professor Asserts

The perfecting of Television, long considered by many to be no more than a dream as far as the general public is concerned, will be an actuality by spring according to Professor James Webb of the department of electrical engineering in the University of Minnesota.

After spending last summer working in eastern electrical laboratories, Dr. Webb returned to Minnesota with assurances that television has been conquered. During the late winter, he said, important manufacturers will place twenty or thirty actual television sets in important public places in the east, such as hotel lobbies, railroad stations and the like. Programs will be sent to these sets from a central transmitting outfit and the general public will be given an opportunity to witness a continuous demonstration of the new science.

The receiving outfits will be relatively small, Professor Webb explained, probably measuring something like eighteen by twenty-four inches. Very short wave lengths will be used in transmitting the images. He said he believed that sound will accompany the pictures.

One of his most unusual predictions was that the change will probably alter the desirability of radio wave-lengths now available to stations. Television will go over the shorter wave lengths, which therefore, will increase greatly in desirability. He believes that within a very few years television sets will be available at a price thousands can afford, and predicts that even the first sets will be probably no more expensive than were the better early radio sets.

200 Minnesota Doctors Meet at St. Cloud Today

More than 200 doctors from the central and northern counties of Minnesota as well as from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Rochester and Duluth will attend an important medical dinner to be held at the St. Cloud hospital in St. Cloud this evening at 6:30 p. m. The guest speaker at this dinner will be Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, distinguished writer and lecturer and editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

FISH FOUND EIGHTY FEET UNDER GROUND

Lake Wilson—That early day fishermen did not get all the fish was disclosed recently when Joe Amundson, Lake Wilson well digger, found a petrified fish eighty feet under ground. Amundson was digging a well on the Emil Boese place five miles north of Lake Wilson. At a depth of forty feet the auger brought up a lot of clam and snail shells, and going down another forty feet a petrified fish was brought up. The fish is well marked and is heavier than a piece of rock the same size.

TURKEY OUTPUT IN STATE ESTIMATED ABOVE $2,000,000

Decline in Crop Is Seen as Result of Bad Weather Last Spring

Minnesota farmers will market about $2,100,000 worth of turkeys for the Thanksgiving market, according to estimates made by dealers and co-operative marketing organizations. This estimate is of net returns to the farmers.

The Thanksgiving turkey crop is considerably less than last year, Land O'Lakes Creameries' estimate being that there are at least 50 per cent fewer turkeys ready for the Thanksgiving market than were ready for the same market a year ago. In 1934 a total of about 500 cars of turkeys were shipped from Minnesota points previous to Thanksgiving. This year it is believed the shipments will not exceed 350 cars.

The decline in the turkey crop is due to bad weather conditions last spring which killed many of the young birds and also to the circumstance that breeding stock was less in numbers. The reduced marketings, however, are more than made up in cash returns to the farmers by reason of the fact prices to the farmers are from 5 to 6 cents a pound net better than a year ago. This increase, adds about $1,000 a car for each car shipped.

The average net price to farmers today for birds of best quality is about 23¼ cents a pound. While this average 6 cents above last year's prices, the net returns are even better by comparison because feed is more plentiful this year than last year and costs less. In other words it costs proportionately less to produce turkeys this year than last year.

Dealers say Christmas marketing will be larger than the Thanksgiving marketing and that due to scarcity, the market probably will be a little stronger than it is at present. The total turkey crop marketed for the year is expected to run over $6,000,000.

THREE-YEAR-OLD DROWNED IN FOUR INCHES OF WATER

Mora—Barbara Ann, 3-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hallstrom of the Moose Lake community, was drowned recently when she fell into a 20-gallon jar containing about four inches of water. She had been playing in the yard at the home of her grandmother. Losing trace of the tiny tot, Mr. Wickstrom started a search for her and discovered her feet sticking out of the crock. It is believed that the little girl's feet slipped when she reached over the edge of the jar to get some water for making mud pies, and she toppled in head first.

"How'dja make it do that, Charlie?"
Charlie Chase and Joyce Compton, stars of Charlie Chase Comedies, had good reason to be surprised when his faithful Model T started like a jackrabbit. It had never happened before—so it's a safe bet that they had Standard's new double-quick-starting gasoline in the tank.
Don't think for a minute that this new gasoline is so fast that your car is liable to take off before you're ready. It's not that lively. But it is a remarkably fast-starting gasoline. And by that we don't mean a gasoline that simply gives a flash of action and then sputters and chokes when you try to drive away. We mean a gasoline that, even in bitter winter weather, responds to the first kick of the starter, catches hold at once, and gives you full steam ahead in regular mid-summer form.
That's promising a lot. But this gasoline has fully 35% greater warm-up speed, in zero temperatures. So get some of this new Standard Red Crown . . . and SEE WHAT HAPPENS next time you step on the starter!
Sold by Standard Oil Stations and Dealers everywhere, at the price of "regular" gasoline.

LEGISLATURE TO ASSEMBLE NEXT MONDAY

Special Session Called to Act on Old-Age Pensions and Relief

MAY SUSPEND ACTION ON NEW TAXATION

Sen. Tungseth, Waldal and Melby Will Represent This District

In response to the call issued recently by Governor Floyd B. Olson, the Minnesota state legislature will assemble in special sessions at the state capitol next Monday. Representing the 65th district, including Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties, will be Senator E. L. Tungseth of this city and Representatives Marius Waldal of Plummer and J. O. Melby of Oklee.

Leaders in the state law-making body are determined to cut the session as short as possible, and, with this end in view, it is expected that no sweeping tax reform measures will be attempted. Statements, however, that the time will be too short to tackle the problem of tax revision brought a warning from the Citizens Tax Relief association in St. Paul that overburdened taxpayers will not be satisfied with inaction.

The relief question before this session is well-defined and susceptible to rapid disposal. There may be some long debates for the record but when it comes to action the legislature probably will speedily vote a minimum relief allotment or refuse to, depending on what federal action is indicated.

Re-enactment of the 1935 old age pension statute would take care of that question. However, research groups, including the interim tax committee, may recommend minor revisions. These could be ironed out in committees. The legislature is committed to the general plan.

Unemployment insurance may prove the most difficult problem of the session. It will be new and complicated to many solons. However, it, too, can be disposed of quickly. Possible state laws are well restricted and defined by the national social security act.

The conservation issue may crop in a department inquiry but that could be conducted as a sideshow without seriously interfering with the main business of the session.

The program now in process will make it possible for the legislature to move fast once it starts. Whether full advantage of that is taken depends on the inclinations of the lawmakers.

A payroll tax and stiffer levies against public utilities to finance Minnesota's social security expenses are being considered by Governor Floyd B. Olson for recommendation to the legislature, it was reported Tuesday.

Governor Olson opposed on grounds of cost and constitutionality, the $50-a-month pension plan recommended by the Farmer-Labor association for all persons over 65 years of age, irrespective of need.

The association, of which Gov. Olson is titular head but which has engaged in factional Farm-Labor disputes, recommended the pension setup at its conference of executives and county chairmen last week.

Cost of such a pension, estimated at $90,000,000 a year, would be excessive, Gov. Olson said. The constitution also, he said, would prevent it in prohibiting paying state money except for services or commodities or to needy persons.

The governor expressed support of the state industrial commission's stand for an unemployment insurance system financed entirely by employers.

INDEPENDENT CAGE TEAM SPONSORED BY JUNIOR C. & C.

Alvin Christofferson Named Manager and George Lee, Coach

At its meeting last Thursday evening in the Evelyn hotel the Junior Civic and Commerce association voted to sponsor for the coming season the independent baseball team, which has been active locally the past several years.

Alvin Christofferson was appointed manager of the team, and a committee named to assist him in handling arrangements includes Lloyd Bennes, chairman; Archie Hensrud and Harry Moline. The team is starting practice sessions immediately under the direction of George Lee, Lincoln high school athletic coach.

The work of lining up a schedule of games is already getting under way, with the prospect that the local aggregation will furnish stiff competition.

Local Telephone Exchange Handles 6,000 Calls a Day

A considerable number of local residents last Thursday and Friday took advantage of the invitation extended by Manager A. J. Rau to attend open house at the local offices of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company and familiarize themselves with details of the service offered.

The visitors were informed that a staff of nine girls is required to attend to the switchboard, three being on duty during the busy hours of the day, which come in the late morning, late afternoon and early evening. The exchange now serves 1,325 subscribers, while forty more numbers will be added by the middle of January, making the highest total on record.

Mr. Rau stated that an average of 6,000 local calls a day are handled by the switchboard, in addition to approximately 200 long distance calls, some of them to points as far distant as New York City. He added that more than $1,000,000 worth of telephone equipment is involved in handling a call between this city and New York. While in 1915 an average of 25 minutes was required to complete a long distance connection, two minutes is now sufficient.

Mr. Rau, who has been in the telephone business the past 29 years has been connected with the Bell system since 1911, came to Thief River Falls in 1929 to assume the post of local manager.

Old Jack Frost Creates Beautiful Effect Here

California has its orange blossoms and Washington, D. C., has its cherry blossoms, but Thief River Falls and the surrounding area Monday and Tuesday had a spectacle that surpassed them both. Following foggy and misty weather both Sunday and Monday evenings, the following mornings revealed a landscape of rare beauty resulting from an almost inch-thick layer of frost on tree branches. With still, cloudy weather Monday the effect was not spoiled until Tuesday noon when the mercury rose above the freezing mark and melted the accumulated deposit.

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH DAMAGED BY FIRE TUESDAY

Furnace Explosion Cause of Blaze in Basement of Building

The Zion Lutheran church building at the corner of Second st. and Horace av. was threatened with destruction early Tuesday evening when a fire broke out in the basement near the heating plant, presumably from a small explosion in the furnace that threw embers out onto the kitchen floor thru the check draft.

Prompt action by the fire department limited the damage to some holes burned thru the kitchen floor, a hole thru the main floor near a cold air duct and smoke damage to the interior of the basement and main floor. The amount of the loss had not been estimated Wednesday afternoon.

Services will be held as usual in the church next Sunday, Rev. E. L. Tungseth, pastor, announced.

"I wish to urge your generous support of the Christmas Seal Campaign, which starts this week.

"Tuberculosis is still a leading cause of death. Many of us can remember the time when this disease killed more people than any other, and it was considered a death sentence by most people.

"Today there is enough knowledge about tuberculosis to completely control it. Yet it still takes three lives each day in Minnesota alone. It still kills more young people than any other disease. It is still a threat to our children.

"Christmas Seals give us each an opportunity not only to save lives, but to promote protection for our homes. I urge every man, woman, and child to buy and use as many of these penny seals as he possibly can during the coming month."

COUNCIL CALLS FOR FIGURES ON RINK MATERIAL

Bids to be Opened Dec. 13 on Supplies Necessary to Start Project

WORK MAY GET UNDER WAY EARLY NEXT WEEK

Council to Meet Friday Evening to Hire Foreman to Take Charge

Another in the series of steps preliminary to the completion of the enclosed municipal skating rink on West Second st. was taken at a special meeting of the city council Tuesday evening when, acting on the advice of Architect Henry C. Eckland, bids were called for on a variety of materials that will be necessary to start the $25,000 project.

In this issue of the Times appears a call for bids on gravel, sand, cinders, cement, lime, reinforcing steel, nails, wire, lumber for forms, and brick and hollow tile. The bids will be opened in the council chamber Friday evening, December 13.

R. L. Stolte, WPA construction engineer in the St. Paul, last week notified the Detroit Lakes office that he had recommended an authorization to start work, and this is expected to be received in time so that the project can get under way the first of next week. The old buildings on the site have now been razed, and the next step will be the construction of a temporary shed to house tools and supplies.

Mr. Eckland informed the council that in addition to the superintendent engaged and paid for by the WPA, it will be necessary for the council to obtain the services of an experienced contractor to see that necessary supplies are on hand at all times and to attend to other details required to keep the project moving. The council took action to get in touch Wednesday with a group of local contractors and have them submit terms on which they would be willing to serve as foreman. A selection will be made at an adjourned meeting Friday evening.

Men engaged on the project will, under WPA specifications, work seven and one-half hours a day for four days each week, or a total of 130 hours a month. Some consideration was given by the council to a proposal that two crews of men be placed on the job so that it can continue thruout the week without interruption. It was agreed that in the event of extremely cold weather it will be necessary to suspend work for the time being.

Yule Seal Movies at P. T. A. Next Tuesday

Shown by Christmas Seal Sponsors; Dr. Mellby Will Speak

The December meeting of the Parent-Teacher association will be held in the Lincoln high school assembly room next Tuesday evening, instead of Monday, the regular meeting night, to permit the showing of the motion picture "Contacts", produced by the Hennepin County Tuberculosis association in co-operation with the Minnesota Public Health association, sponsor of the Christmas seal campaign.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, president of the Oakland Park sanatorium commission, will also speak briefly, telling of the work being done in this community to combat the ravages of tuberculosis.

The film "Contacts" tells the story of what happens in a typical American home when there is an unsuspected case of tuberculosis within the family circle. The picture emphasizes the fact that the disease is not inherited and that early cases can be located only thru the use of the tuberculin test and the X-ray.

The production was directed by Robert Kissack, director of the visual education department of the University of Minnesota, and the cast is headed by Dr. Malcolm MacLean, director of the general college at the university. Other parts are taken by members of the University Theatre, with accompaniment by campus musicians.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Thief River Falls is getting along to a point where it is fairly well supplied with everything a city of this size should have. Now that the new engine has been installed we have adequate power. At any rate we shouldn't have to worry about a shortage of power for a few years. A few years ago we worried about the cost of replacing the old bridge but that problem has now been solved. We have a fine auditorium and the old horse drawn fire wagon has been replaced with modern equipment. The new skating rink will give us an excellent winter recreational center. The post office, after being on the way twenty or more years, is nearing completion. Progress is being made in the development of our park system. And along with these public improvements there is a long list of private building activities to be credited to the city's advancement during the lean years of the depression. Perhaps the outstanding achievement in this record of progress, however, is the debt reduction that has gone along hand in hand with the building program. Our school district is in very comfortable financial circumstances and the city itself owes considerably less than it did a few years ago. We really are getting along quite well.

There seem to be plenty of satisfactory explanations for Italy's stubborn defense against the retreating Ethiopians and Japan's defensive campaign in China but it does seem that the League of Nations should reprove the Brazilians for killing each other off in a revolution all their own. Such conduct will lose a lot of prestige for Brazil. You would think that if they wanted to fight so badly they could start a defensive campaign against one of their weaker neighbors.

Most depressing thought of the week—only one more pay day before Christmas.

The Christmas Seal Campaign is one that everyone is financially able to contribute to. The price of a Seal is only a penny. And every penny helps in the war on tuberculosis. Three Minnesota people are the victims of this plague each day. It kills more people than any other disease. The Christmas Seal Campaign has been a big factor in the progress that has already been made in checking this plague. Your contribution is a good investment in self-preservation.

There apparently are no further obstacles that stand in the way of the new skating rink project and work on the huge enclosure will probably get under way within a few days. If the present plans are carried out it will be a substantial structure that should serve the community for many years. With such a late start it will of course be impossible to get the building completed for this season's skating. This year it will have to serve the community as a relief project but for many years to come it should provide healthy recreation and entertainment during the months of the year when recreation and entertainment are most needed.

Those who have looked into the matter state without reservation that our educational and conservation departments reek with politics and consequent inefficiency. The forthcoming session of the legislature should place both of these important departments under civil service so that they may be freed from the stifling hand of party partisanship. Politics have their place under our scheme of government but their place is not in our school system, which is conceded to have been among the best in the Union before it was impaired by politics. The same holds true with our conservation department.—Wadena Pioneer Journal.

"PAIR OF SIXES" WINS $700 IN POKER POT

Ceylon—A pair of sixes proved to be the winning hand with no one calling the bet, as two bandits held up a poker game at Armstrong near Fairmont recently and took the largest pot of the evening, amounting to $710. The bandits, armed, broke into the game at about 2 o'clock in the morning, lined up ten players against the wall, bound them with plenty of rope, making the players stand with their faces to the wall, the bandits did an expert job of tying them securely. After leisurely going through the pockets of their victims and relieved them of all the money to be found, the gunmen smashed the light bulb and walked out. Up to this time no trace of them had been found. One player from Dolliver, is reported as losing $400, and the same player is said to have saved $100 by having it hidden inside his pants leg where the bandits failed to locate it. Players in the game are reported to have been from Armstrong, Estherville, Dolliver, Ceylon and Fairmont.

New Law Will Regulate Sale of Christmas Trees

Users of Christmas trees are urged to cooperate with the state division of forestry in its drive against "bootleggers" by refusing to buy trees not bearing the official "Evergreen Tree Tags", Grover M. Conzet, director of the division of forestry, announced. The tags are attached in accordance with the new law passed by the last Legislature which requires all Christmas tree dealers to purchase tags and attach them to their trees. Under terms of the law, it is illegal to transport or sell Christmas trees unless they bear the tags. The tags bear the name and address of the dealer selling the trees and must not be removed until the trees have reached the hands of the ultimate purchaser.

MINNESOTA TEAM ENDS 2D WINNING SEASON SATURDAY

Conquer Wisconsin in Final Contest by Score of 33 to 7

Winning the final game of the year from Wisconsin in Minneapolis Saturday by the decisive score of 33 to 7, the University of Minnesota football team ended its third year without a defeat and shared with Ohio State the conference championship in addition to having a strong claim to the mythical national title for the second successive year.

As in others of their eight victorious battles of the past season, the Gophers started out slowly Saturday, and resorted to a passing attack later on when they failed to gain thru the line. A long run by Dmitro accounted for one of the five touchdowns.

At a university convocation honoring the team Tuesday letters were awarded to members of this year's squad, and announcement was made that Julius Alfonse and Ed Widseth of McIntosh had been selected by their teammates to serve as co-captains of the 1936 eleven.

MINNESOTA ONE OF 1ST U. S. STATES TO ATTAIN WPA GOAL

54,000 From Relief Rolls Are Now at Work, Says Christgau

With 54,000 persons from the relief rolls at work and more than 5,000 others assigned to jobs, Minnesota today became one of the first states in the nation in which the Works Progress Administration had reached its goal.

Within the last week, every employable person on relief not already working received an assignment to a project delivered personally by a relief worker, Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, said.

Those receiving their assignments during the last week were principally "white collar" and skilled workers, and a large group whose certifications to the relief rolls show they have some physical handicap.

In an effort to provide work for the entire WPA quota of 54,000 immediately, the workers remaining on relief rolls were assigned to available projects regardless of their occupational classification.

"We are forced to take this action," Mr. Christgau said, "because of the lack of sufficient approved projects calling for "white collar' services and other skills, but these assignments are temporary and workers will be transferred to projects requiring their particular types of work as fast as approvals are forthcoming from Washington. It is hoped that workers will accept these jobs temporarily so that every employable may be on the pay-roll before direct relief ends."

Among those to get late assignments also were physically handicapped persons for whom every effort was being made to provide light work.

According to reports from all district directors, Mr. Christgau said, practically every unskilled worker, physically able, on the relief rolls has been at work for at least two weeks and has received one or more pay checks which, for the current month, will total close to $2,000,000.

81 of the state's 87 counties share in the 1,003 projects encumbering federal funds totaling more than $4,400,000 on which work has started. In Cook, Dodge, Houston, Lafleur, Scott and Steele counties, where no work has been started, records show present relief loads are almost negligible.

FINE YEAR FOR SKUNKS.. CAPTORS OF 176 FIND

Lake Wilson—The essence of the skunk, perfumers say is used as the basis for the best perfumes. If such statement is true the Van Meverrn brothers will do their bit this fall, in making the gentler sex more attractive than even. Earl and Ted Van Meverrn have secured 176 skunk pelts so far this fall and the end is not yet. The boys get most of their skunks by placing a rubber hose on the end of the auto exhaust pipe and inserting it in the dens. The skunks die a painless and odorless death. Some of the skunks are trapped, however, and while they are being wafted to the happy hunting grounds, leave a distinct memory of their existence here by filling the automobile with an essence that is in a class by itself. Skunk pelts are worth eighty cents.

Annual Sale of Christmas Seals Will Get Under Way This Week

Widespread application of modern knowledge for the prevention, early discovery and cure of tuberculosis with the results that human lives are saved is brought about through the Christmas Seal educational campaign, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, Rochester, president of the Minnesota Public Health Association, stated at the annual meeting of the organization in the twin cities last week, opening the 29th annual sale of the double-barred cross stamps.

The fact that the tuberculin test, one of the newest agents in the campaign, has now been extended to some 100,000 Minnesota children was given as an example of the effectiveness of this campaign. The doctor outlined the various activities promoted by the penny stamps, including health surveys of school children, tuberculosis clinics and follow-up nursing, and the broad and comprehensive educational campaign conducted among children and adults. He pointed out that the tuberculosis death rate had been reduced from 109 per 100,000 population in 1910 to 35.1 in 1934, a cut of two-thirds, but that this disease was still the greatest cause of death between 15 and 45.

In connection with the Christmas Seal campaign opening Thanksgiving day, Governor Olson has issued the following statement:

"As governor, I wish to ask all citizens of the state to do their part in helping to obliterate the dread disease—tuberculosis. The emblem of the Christmas Seal has become the hallmark of human advancement in saving youngsters from early death and giving them years of health. Minnesota has long had the reputation of leading the nation in anti-tuberculosis activity. I ask that the people of our state contribute generously to this worthy cause and help us maintain Minnesota's high rating among the states."

KILLS DEER WITH BOW AND ARROW

Red Wing—Henry Spencer of Balsam Lake, former director of the Red Wing high school band, brought home a buck deer, which he killed in Canada with a bow and arrow. Spencer, an expert at archery, drew his bow at about twenty paces and the arrow pierced the deer's heart. The buck struggled about twenty feet after being hit and then dropped. For several years Spencer has engaged in bow and arrow hunting in the North woods but never met with success until this year. He has had plenty of shots at big game but never before could get the required close range.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

Farming in Early Days

A few days ago the writer was asked to make a speech before a club interested in agriculture and chose for his subject early agriculture in the Red river valley. In assembling the data it was found that the activities to be dealt with involved the Thief River Falls area as well as others in northwestern Minnesota. For this reason we have decided to set down a part of the speech here with such variations as make it more directly pertinent to this locality.

We begin first with the later explorers who were also fur traders. They generally built substantial homes and central structures for defense, naturally called forts, all of logs, of course. Since they remained long intervals it was natural that they should plant gardens. Capt. Alexander Henry, Jr., who maintained headquarters at Pembina and frequently visited this neighborhood, had a garden at Pembina from which he took 420 bushels of potatoes in 1803 and also large quantities of cabbage, carrots, onions, parsnips and other vegetables. These early visitors soon learned of the high fertility of the soil.

Then the traders who settled along Thief and Red Lake rivers maintained gardens to vary their menus, but most interesting of all was the new race that sprang up in northwestern Minnesota shortly after the beginning of the nineteenth century. The early traders, especially the factors of the Hudson's Bay company and the Northwest company, and the Selkirk colony brought in many whites. The principal workers among these; that is, the experienced men whose services were indispensable on the frontier were French-Canadians who, because of their skill as boatmen and woodsmen, acquired in an earlier period and inherited, had been employed by fur companies and others for generations, gradually working westward. Around 1800 there were many of those in northwestern Minnesota, voyageurs, boatmen, coureur du bois and bois brules, or "woods runners" and "men of the woods."

Thrown in direct contact with the Indians and seemingly able to get along well with all tribes, these French-Canadians intermarried with the tribes and about 100 years ago there were nearly 2000 such mixed families in northwestern Minnesota and the Red river valley. They lived an Arcadian existence and developed customs and even dress of their own.

But what is more important, they tilled the soil. They did not farm a large scale, of course, but they had gardens and many of them had some cattle, sheep and horses. There were even a few chickens near the main trading posts. But occasionally a more enterprising member of this group would undertake to raise wheat. The Hudson's Bay Company had brought in wheat and so had the colonists and some had been brought in from Wisconsin by the colonists. So the mixed bloods, who were known as Metis, knew wheat and how to raise it after a fashion.

As there were no markets near at hand at first and not even steamboats for transportation, export wheat was shipped by oxcart and it is a matter of record that before there was a market at St. Paul for even the small amounts available from this source it was transported by oxcart to Fort Garry, now Winnipeg, where French settlers and some of the British there bought it. These Metis were an interesting folk. Father Belcourt, the Catholic priest, who was a familiar figure throughout this region for many years prior to 1859, wrote enthusiastically of them in a letter to Major Samuel Woods in 1849. In that year Woods had headed an expedition through this region to the border on a government mission and sought information about the inhabitants. Father Belcourt said the Metis were not industrious but were honest and happy, which, after all, was a great deal.

Of course, the primitive methods employed in this sort of farming did not produce appreciable results and the whites crowded out the Metis when settlement began. But they were powerful just before the settlement period, for instance, in 1869-70 at the time of the first Riel rebellion and again in 1885 after settlement had begun. If any readers happen to travel north toward the border next summer they may still find traces of this Metis civilization (for it certainly was a civilization for that period) along streams and in wooded areas in the northwest corner of the state. Both Cree and Chippewa strains are represented among the remnants of the old hybrid race, which also is strongly represented in the Turtle mountains.

It is no disparagement of the efforts of the white pioneers of the 70's and 80's to direct attention to this earlier agricultural development and social life, for it was important enough to attract the attention of such a great writer as Washington Irving who made a trip west in the frontier period.

CHEVROLET The Complete Car

THANK YOU, AMERICA, for more than a Million cars in 1935

Once more, at this Thanksgiving season, Chevrolet wishes to express its hearty appreciation of the friendship which America has given to this company and its products in 1935 and throughout the past quarter-century.

This year Chevrolet has two very good reasons for saying, "Thank you, America."

One reason is that people have bought so many Chevrolet cars that production for the year will reach 1,040,000.

And the other reason is that they have placed a record number of orders for new 1936 Chevrolets during the first few weeks these beautiful new cars have been on display.

This is a double gift of friendship, representing, as it does, one of the biggest years in all Chevrolet history, and one of the most enthusiastic welcomes that any new automobile has ever received.

Chevrolet is indeed happy to say, "Thank you, America," and to pledge continued adherence to the manufacturing and service policies which have won and held this friendship.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS WILL OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON FRIDAY

Captain Mickleson Is Only Last Year Regular on Team

The 1935-36 basketball schedule opens tomorrow evening, for the Prowlers when they travel to Greenbush to meet the "Greenies" on their home court. This game, which was not on the original schedule, is expected to show what caliber team Lincoln high school will present this year.

Although the team has not looked too promising in practice so far, it is going as well as can be expected with only three lettermen, only one of whom was a regular starter last year. A very promising candidate was forced out when Helquist was forced to quit due to a knee injury which he received early in the football season. At present four of the five starting places seem to have been taken with Captain Mickleson at center; Art Nelson and Jung guards; and Al Nelson, one forward. In addition to these four Prichard, Lorentson, D. Olson, Nesse, Stadum, and Adkins are expected to see action while C. Mickleson, Lee and C. Olesen may also go.

DECLAM WORK IS UNDER WAY

Twenty Try for Declam; Six Report for Oratory

Those who are out for oratory are Charles Asp, Oscar Bickley, Clifford Olson, Wendell Olson, Robert Smith, and Robert Quale.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS ENTERTAINS

Hosts to Mothers and Faculty at Tea Tuesday

The members of the advanced clothing class were hosts Tuesday to their mothers and the faculty at a tea in the home economics room. The tea was held from four to six o'clock. Assisted by the advanced clothing class, the Home Economics I class served the meal. The girls of the advanced clothing class modeled their woolen dresses.

Audrey Anderson acted as hostess at the tea. Helen Granum and Lois Nelson were in charge of the tea table. Adelia Zavoral, Lois Nelson, Audrey Anderson, Helen Granum, Anna Hermanson, and Dorothy Blanchard were members of the general committee for arrangements.

Miss Lunder and Miss Dahlen, instructors in the home economics course, assisted the girls during the tea.

AMONG THE 600

The seniors made a decision concerning pictures for the 1936 "Prowler" at their class meeting last Monday, November 18. Mr. Salveson was selected as the senior class photographer. A choice of folders was made at the same meeting. When the seniors have their pictures taken, they may have a choice of two folders.

Following the senior class meeting the "Prowler" staff had a meeting regarding the amount of money in the treasury from class dues. The results were astonishing. You know, it costs a great deal of money to produce a "Prowler." How can the seniors class produce this book without some funds to back them? If you want a "Prowler" pay your class dues. Otherwise—no "Prowler" for 1936.

By Friday evening almost every person in Thief River Falls had either seen a ticket or at least knew that there was to be a Junior Class Play Friday evening, Nov. 22. Junior ticket salesmen had already scouted the town, so there was no reason why a large crowd shouldn't have been present at eight-fifteen.

For the past week Miss Olson and the cast of the Junior Class Play have been working very hard, sometimes until midnight. Everybody was hoping that the play would be a great success.

JUNIORS HAVE COOPERATION IN PRESENTING PLAY

Several Business Concerns Lend Aid to Junior Class

During the past few weeks groups of juniors have been busy making and securing material for the play. Those people behind scenes who helped make the play a success were:

Stage managers—Herbert Schroeder, Bruce Green.

Properties—Gordon Neset, Marion Green.

Advertising — Barbara Reep, Vernon Wedul.

Lighting—Dayton Silk

Prompters—Ariel Reidy, Solveig Fjelstad.

In addition to these there were the committee of girls who made the decorations of buttercups and daisies, the committee who made the posters seen about town, and that band of juniors who acted as ticket salesmen.

Ticket sellers who canvassed the town and school included Oline Skaar, Lois Morell, Margaret Aasen, Margaret Paupst, Margaret Gustafson, Evelyn Jorde, Ariel Reidy, Marion Dillon, Mary Margaret Cosgrove, Selma Jensen, Marion Green, Hettie Gustafson, Helen Anderson, Ardith Larson, Vernon Wedul, Ernest Snetting, Herbert Schroeder, Selmer Christofferson, Vernon Erickson, Gordon Neset, Leonard Carlson, Dorothy Johnson, and Olive Holmen. Elizabeth Dahlen was in charge of all the sales.

Many girls spent up to sixteen hours apiece making flowers to cover the huge wreath which hung during the second and third acts. These girls include Margaret Aasen, Avis Samuelson, Merten Ward, Elizabeth Dahlen, Gwenyth Evenson, Eleanor Christofferson, Olive Holmen, and Lois Morell. Barbara Reep, Marion Green, Hettie Gustafson and Olive Holmen made posters.

The properties were furnished through the courtesy of Montgomery Ward and Company; and the costumes through the courtesy of J. C. Penny Company.

"Gadgets"

You will not find the word "gadget" in many dictionaries; perhaps for the reason that most dictionary compilers consider the word to be slang. Yet, the word "gadget" is well known to everyone, and is used in everyday language in connection with some article that has a practical use, and, usually, can be bought at a low price, one that is of a mechanical nature and is supposed to do something that is more difficult without it.

Prowler Production Restricted

Do we want a Prowler this year? Yes, but sad but true, it takes money to put it across. It has been suggested that a "vote" be taken as a response by class dues. Little response came. Why? "Oversight" is the more tactful reason. Then the Prowler staff will probably have to forget to produce a Prowler this year. That would be unforgiveable! But it will be hard to get around without the necessary funds. Let's get the class dues cleared up before Christmas!

"——Credit, Where Credit is Due"

Congratulations! To the Junior Play cast, Miss Olson, and all connected with "Seven Chances." Success was yours in a big way! You are to be complimented.

The play "Seven Chances" displayed one of the best performances ever witnessed in Lincoln High theatricals. The characters were assumed with a surprising degree of adaptability; difficult scenes were the high points in the presentation. Proposing, refusing, accepting, advising—all the separate parts of the play—were well delivered.

When one considers the time and the energy expended to make this or any other play a success, it is well worth while to give the players a chance to show their wares. The large and varied audience last Friday expressed its appreciation by turning out for the performance.

Now, on to basket ball and then another hit in the Senior Class Play!

"Boost Thief River Falls Prowlers"

Everywhere, anywhere, you see those five words of hope, "Boost Thief River Falls Prowlers." We have formerly stated in our comments that school spirit is spontaneous. We repeat it.

Going farther and being more specific, going to a basket ball game shows your school spirit through your vocal support. Don't think that going to a basket ball game is necessary to show your school spirit! It is not! If you think it isn't worth your time and money, stay home and read a book!

But, once at the game, turn yourself loose; now show your school support.

Have you bought your gold basketball with "Boost Thief River Falls Prowlers" on it yet? The purpose of selling these is to create interest in our basket ball team and to help buy new football equipment.

During the last football season, the team suffered minor injuries, such as cracked ribs and irritated "shins", through faulty equipment. By supporting the gold basket ball drive, you are helping, not only to make football safer in high school, but "Boosting Thief River Falls Prowlers."

"SEVEN CHANCES" REVIEW GIVEN

Cast of Junior Class Play Advertise Before Assembly

The preview of "Seven Chances" was held in the high school assembly at three-thirty on Thursday afternoon. At this program Miss Olson, the director, gave us an idea of what the class play would be like.

Miss Olson opened the program by asking us how we would feel if suddenly, after living a quiet life, we were asked to change our whole life by marrying a girl, when we hated girls, in order that we might inherit a large fortune. What is more, this had to be done before you were thirty years of age. Then what if tomorrow was your thirtieth birthday! She assured us that this is what Jimmy Shannon, Robert Wessling, had to do. At this moment Jimmy enters, and does he hate girls (in the play). All Jimmy's friends think that he ought to be married; that is, all but one, Mr. Garrison, Milt Nesse. His reason is his wife, Marjorie Matheson. However Joe Spence, Archie Monson, thinks that girls are all right. His reason is found in Margaret Munt. Mr. Goddard, Jim's grandfather's lawyer, in the person of Alfred Nelson, thinks girls are all right.

Then come the chances: Vivian Havel, Margaret Cosgrove, Helen Anderson and Alice Protz. All these are too hard to please. Don Olson then thinks of a plan, but does it work? Now for the other chance, Madeline Gunderson. All these are all right, but let us take one look at the last chance, Brunell Erickson. What a chance! Jim's butler, Cliff Vevea, and the story teller, James Peterson, completed the cast.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Dahlen's general science classes are studying the unit on heat.

The eighth grade home economic classes are working on their cotton projects.

The home economics I classes, taught by Miss Lunder, are learning the preparations made for Thanksgiving such as making pumpkin pies, cranberry salads, cranberry sauce and other Thanksgiving relishes.

Miss Lunder's home economic II classes have finished a unit on color and are applying the knowledge they learned from this unit to the silk dresses they have begun.

Physical Education classes, taught by Mr. Chalmers are playing basket ball [illegible] preliminary to interclass games. It is estimated that twelve or more teams will be formed.

NORMAL TRAINING NEWS

The students of the training department enjoyed Margaret Paupst's talk on the Junior Class Play Thursday.

The students finished the arithmetic unit of their work this week. They will be starting geography in the next quarter.

The girls in the training department are working in groups on nature study projects, which are to be presented before the class this week.

On Thursday the students took sides in debating whether or not there should be a third reading of a masterpiece for seventh and eighth grades.

DEBATERS WILL GO TO WARREN

Four Two-man Teams Will Represent T. R. F. at Warren

On December 7th a high school debate tournament will be held at Warren. Many northern Minnesota schools will compete for honors. Included in this group are Warren, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Hallock, Thief River Falls, and others.

Coaches and various faculty members will act as judges during the tournament.

Lincoln High School will be represented at the tournament by a squad of four teams. The students making the trip include Flora Schroeder and Malcolm Magnuson, Oscar Bickley and Morris [illegible], Victor Jung and Philip Prichard, and Margaret McKechnie and Fae Belcher. Mr. Montague, debate coach, will accompany the squad. Final arrangements have not been completed.

ETIQUETTE

The time has long passed when the presence of an elderly woman was indispensable to every gathering of young people. The only chaperon a young girl needs is her sense of dignity and pride. The girl who has the right attitude [illegible] needs no chaperon. But [illegible] there are certain conventions to think of, and the convention of propriety demand that on certain occasions a young woman must be with a chaperon, because otherwise she will be misjudged.

Groups of boys and girls must not hold back the traffic by standing on street corners or busy thoroughfares. Loitering is not a habit of well-trained boys and girls. This can be applied in school by passing from room to room instead of talking in the hallways.

Another thing worth considering: Giggling, shouting, and rough-housing are usually the traits of ill-bred boys and girls. Rough-house in a gymnasium, shout at a baseball game, and if you feel like giggling, say your multiplication table or take a course in impulse control. Too many young people believe that such habits will gain attention, but they [illegible] respect. Think these things over but [illegible] popularity [illegible].

Auks as Bait

When great auks were plentiful along the New England coast, cod fishermen used to chop them up as bait, and these birds died out in America [illegible] 1830.

ANNUAL PLAY IS PRESENTED BY JUNIORS FRIDAY

Large Audience Attend Play Presented in Auditorium

On Friday evening, the junior class presented the annual Junior Class Play, which was entitled "Seven Chances," a comedy in three acts by Roi Cooper Megrue. The play was produced by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York, and was under the direction of Miss Helen Margaret Olson.

The cast was as follows:

Earl Goddard	Alfred Nelson
Joe Spence	Archie Monson
Ralph Derby	James Peterson
Billy Meeker	Donald Olson
Jimmie Shannon	Robert Wessling
Henry Garrison	Milton Nesse
Mrs. Garrison	Marjorie Matheson
Anne Windsor	Brunell Erickson
George	Clifford Vevea
Irene Trevor	Vivian Havel
Georgianna Garrison	Margaret Munt
Lilly Trevor	Madeline Gunderson
Peggy Wood	Helen Anderson
Florence Jones	Alyce Protz
Betty Willoughby	Mary Margaret Cosgrove

The play centered around Jimmie Shannon. Jimmie inherited $12,000,000 from his grandfather, provided the former was married by his thirtieth birthday, which was the following day. Because of his hatred for girls, Jimmie refused to marry, even to receive the money. However, his friends planned a dinner party at which he was to propose to seven girls. After much battling with his emotions, Jimmie musters enough courage to propose. Imagine his surprise when they all refused him. Then imagine his feelings when later in the evening they came to him one by one and told him they would accept his offer of marriage. His friend, Billy Meeker, came to his aid, bringing in a telegram bearing the startling news that a new will had been found and Jimmie would not inherit a penny of his grandfather's fortune. Immediately all the girls departed for their homes. That is, all but Anne. When she then realized that Jimmie loved her, Meeker came in with the astounding news that the telegram was a fake to show Jimmie that Anne was the one girl who loved him.

The characters played their parts well and are to be congratulated on presenting a fine performance which was enjoyed by a large audience.

Ah! I've finally determined the reason why all the girls around high school look so glum and sad-eyed. Jeff Fiterman hasn't been to school.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a assurance of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor Times:

I notice state treasurer Schmahl advises our Senator, Rev. Tungseth, that the proposed legislation for a more liberal liquidation policy of the Rural Credit Dept.

As compared with present law for Rural Credit Department liquidation it certainly would be far more practical to enact House Bill 1609 of the regular 1935 Session, which provides for a 3 per cent interest rate and appraisal at the "loanable" value of the security instead of the full value as is provided by the present law.

Practically the only institutions loaning money on farms now, are the Federal Land Bank and the (Federal) Commissioner. They are limited to making loans not exceeding 50 and 75 per cent, respectively, of the value of the security offered.

From these premises, one can easily see that it is theoretically impossible to refinance Rural credit loans through the federal agencies, as there should not be a difference of 25 per cent in the appraisals of the Statemen and those of the federal agencies. Consequently no refinancing can be legally made, except by undervaluation by state appraisers.

The legislature stated in the present law that the purpose of the law is to obtain a speedy liquidation, and yet they made this impossible by the very law they passed, so you see this legislation is 100 per cent impractical, while the legislation that will be proposed by Senator Tungseth will not only be 100 per cent "practical", but, besides, will enable hundreds, yes thousands of our farmers to retain their farms, which mostly are their homes.

Think of the saving to the state by winding up this R. C. department, with their operation of thousands of farms by a large number of employees! Also think of the gain to the state and its subdivisions by having all these farms back on the tax lists! Finally, consider that the opinion of the states treasury department must be heavily discounted by the legislative department, because it is to consider the benefits to the state and its citizens as a whole, while the treasury department is only to look at the immediate direct financial interests, so I trust the senators will take Mr. Schmahl's advice seriously, because saving our home owning farmers is incomparably more important.

Andrew Trovaton.

THE TRUTH IN REGARDS TO RURAL CREDIT LEGISLATION OF THE 1935 SESSION

To the Editor of the Times:

Permit me to use the columns of your paper to answer a news article appearing in the issue of the 21st of November of the Thief River Falls Forum in regards to a meeting called at the court house by T. H. Bjerk on behalf of Rural Credit borrowers.

I was not invited to this meeting nor did I know anything about such a meeting. Being that I was not there, I do not know what took place nor do I know who is to blame for the misleading statement in the news item appearing in the Forum.

I can not see why I was not invited to this meeting being that it was called for the purpose of considering Rural Credit legislation for the coming special session, especially since I also am a representative for the 65th District and was interested in Rural Credit legislation in the last session and introduced bills on behalf of the Rural Credit borrowers. If this news item of the Forum tells the truth about what was said in regards to Rural Credit legislation and when I consider the tone in which this news item was written, I feel that this meeting was called for the purpose of hurting Senator Tungseth, who worked hard and was an earnest friend of the Rural Credit borrowers, and to give credit to Representative Melby. This news item gives him credit for things he did not do. I do not know whether this news item misrepresents what Mr. Melby said or if he took credit for things he did not do.

I am herewith quoting word for word a paragraph of this news item that was printed in the Forum and will afterwards make comments and give the truth about this legislation.

The meeting which was called by T. H. Bjerke, on behalf of many of the rural credit bureau's borrowers was addressed by Representative Melby who explained the bill which he introduced on behalf on the Ninth District delegation in the House at the last session, and which became known as the Melby-Eriksson Bill, in its essential details. The Bill passed the House with an overwhelming majority, but was killed in the Senate and a Bill which became known as the Tungseth Bill substituted. The main points of the Melby Bill were the set-up for local appraisors and a three per cent interest rate, Mr. Melby stated, and these were changed, knocking out the local appraisor feature and increasing the interest rate of 5 per cent.

As you see from this news item, Representative Melby was the principal speaker at which time he explained the so-called Melby-Erickson Bill. The Melby-Erickson Bill never had a 3% interest rate in it. The bill that Melby, Erickson, and a lot of co-authors introduced was H. F. number 661 entitled, "Authorizing the Conservator to Enter Into Composition Agreements to Sell Lands in Certain Cases and Providing for a Board of Arbitration."

I introduced a bill H. F. number 832 entitled "To Appraise all Rural Credit Lands and to Re-adjust the Rate of Interest on all Rural Credit Loans Preparatory to Liquidation." This was the first bill introduced to cut the interest rates. It also provided for a neutral board to appraise the lands. I later introduced H. F. number 1512. There were others who introduced bills, Representatives Friberg of Roseau County and Dixon of Todd county introduced a similar bill with a 3% interest rate. These were the only two bills introduced that carried a 3% rate.

The bill that passed the House was introduced by Representative L. E. Brophy for the Committee on Civil Administration. This bill was H. F. number 1509 and came about by a sub-committee appointed by the chairman, Mr. Brophy. Mr. Melby was not even a member of the Committee on Civil Administration. I, therefore, can not see how he can claim the authorship of this bill, even though the Committee may have taken most of the ideas in this bill out of the so-called Melby-Erickson bill. However, this bill did not contain a 3% interest rate. This was rather late in the session and I was unable to get action on my bill. The same was true with the Friberg-Dixon bill and, therefore, the only thing we could do was to try and amend the committee bill H. F. number 1509 when it came up for consideration. At the time it came up for consideration I placed an amendment at the desk which contained the provisions of my bill, including a 3% interest rate and a neutral board to appraise the lands.

Messrs. Melby and Erickson both fought my amendment to the committee bill. Melby even objected to a roll call. After my Amendments were defeated Mr. Dixon, a Conservative, and Mr. Friberg, a Farmer-Labor, offered an amendment changing the committee bill considerably, including lowering the interest rate to 3%. These amendments carried. These Proceedings can be found on pages 1741 to 1747, both inclusive, of the House Journal. Even though Mr. Melby on the final vote on this last amendment voted for a 3% interest rate after having fought the group who sponsored the changes in the committee bill can not gracefully come out and claim the credit for the 3% interest rate in the committee bill.

I do not know what Senator Tungseth said at this meeting, but I know that he was for a 3% interest rate because we talked this over and had planned on introducing my bill in the Senate until he found that the Senate was lined up with the Conservator of the Rural Credit Department, Mr. Arens. The bill that Senator Tungseth introduced for the committee was the bill of the Rural Credit Bureau, the bill that they lobbied through by promising to give the farmers a square deal. Mr. Tungseth, on behalf of the Senate Committee, introduced two other bills which were supposed to take care of some of the things in the House bill, especially the interest rates. Mr. Gaarenstrom, a former head of the Department and now attorney for same, admitted to me the last night of the session that he drew these bills. Senator Tungseth was most likely too modest to put this blame on the Rural Credit Bureau. I believe, however, that the officials of the Rural Credit Bureau have ample powers under these bills to give the Rural Credit farmers a fair deal if they want to. I really expect that this was the reason why the Senate stood up for the bill that Tungseth introduced for the Senate Committee. I had a talk with many of the Senator and I found that they were in favor of scaling down the mortgages and lowering interest rates. In talking to Senator Rockne, who introduced the first bill to scale down mortgages, he stated that he also was willing to stand for a cut in interest rates. Senator Rockne's bill placed a limit on the amount that the loans could be scaled down. The lands with black loam soil were limited to ⅓% cut and the sand lands to as low as ⅔%. This was the attitude of Senator Rockne, who is considered the most conservative member of the Senate, especially by the Farmer-Labor forces.

Senator Tungseth introduced S. F. 1310 which I sponsored in the House the last night of the session. This was a companion bill to the other Senate bill to reduce the rate of interest and was asked for by the Conservator, Mr. Arens.

The Senator also introduced S. F. 1514, a similar bill to H. F. 989. The House passed this bill before the Senate did. The Senate made some changes in the bill. The bill, therefore had to go to Conference Committee. Senator Tungseth was Chairman of the Senate Conferees, while I was Chairman of the House Conferees. As Chairman of the House Conferees, I passed this bill also, on the last night of the session. This bill related to mortgages held by the Department of Rural Credit and provided for waiving and reduction of interest on mortgage debts and delinquent installments and for securing of the payments of extended installments of taxes and insurance advanced by giving crop mortgages.

I believe that Senator Tungseth, as well as the Senate, acted in good faith when they passed this Rural Credit legislation. I know that I did. I was also on the Conference Committee on H. F. number 1509 which was the bill the House passed that the Senate amended. As I have stated before, this was the kind of legislation that the Rural Credit Department wanted and promised that they would give the farmers a fair consideration under this legislation. I, therefore, as a member of the House Conferees, voted to sustain the Senate amendment, realizing that the Senate would not stand for the House bill as it was passed. I felt it was to take what we could get or nothing. Mr. Erickson was a member of the House Conferees and sponsored the committee report on the floor of the House on the final passage of the bill. This legislation was not what I wanted nor what many of the others wanted, but it was all that the people of the cities and the southern part of the state wanted to give us. They felt that under this legislation the farmers would get all they were entitled to and I feel as Senator Tungseth is quoted to have said at this meeting that the blame lies with the Rural Credit Bureau. The fault is not so much with the law as with the administration of the law.

I am going to introduce a bill along the lines that I did in the last session or along the lines which I tried to amend the committee bill. The main objection that I have to the committee bill as passed is the set-up of the appraisers. This bill provided that if the Conservator and farmer could not agree upon the adjustment of the loan each party should select one man and the two select a third. These three should comprise a board to place the value of the land. Of course, either party would have the right to go to court and in most cases that would be what the farmer would have to do because the Conservator was not limited to whom he was to choose nor where from. He would most likely choose one of his own appraisers who would most likely be instructed not to agree to any third man unless he was favorable to the Bureau; at least that is the way that I feel it would work out. This would mean that the farmer would have to go to court. The big objection that many of them had to both the Melby-Erickson Bill and the committee bill was that they considered it a lawyer's bill because it would drive many of the farmers to court to get just an equitable consideration in reducing their loans. In my bill I proposed a neutral board appointed by three neutral parties. This board should appraise all lands within their county. I feel that this way there would be a more uniform, fair and honest valuation placed upon these loans. Under my bill there would be one board for each county, while in the other two bills there would be one board for each loan.

I was afraid of what was going to happen, but it gave the Farmer-Labor administration a chance to see what they were willing to do for the farmers up north who have so generously supported them in the past elections.

Since Senator Tungseth and myself played the biggest part in passing the so-called Farmer-Labor Rural Credit legislation advocated by a Farmer-Labor Rural Credit Administration, after we failed in getting through the things that we and the people up north wanted, should not be too severely criticized for our actions. Mr. T. H. Bjerke who called this meeting which seems to me to be a frame-up should feel satisfied because the Rural Credit legislation that was sponsored by Senator Tungseth for the committee would surely have been supported by Mr. Paul Harris, his candidate. Mr. Harris would have been duty-bound to support the administration.

I have read many misleading and even untruthful articles in the Forum both in regards to myself and others but I just let it pass as a joke feeling that the people would judge the source from which it comes as well as the motives behind it, but when this article was called to my attention I got a little hot under the collar. Of course, I do not know if the Forum at this time states the truth or not. If it does, Mr. Melby is deliberately taking credit for what was accomplished through my effort.

I have the records of this legislation and shall be glad to show them to any one interested. I shall also be glad to appear before gatherings of Rural Credit borrowers or other gatherings and explain this more in detail and show records.

If the Editor of the Times is good-hearted enough to give me space for this rather lengthy article I shall be most grateful and thankful.
